SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 16. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein: and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

Prayer and Steam.

Not long ago an engineer brought his train to a stand at a little Massachusetts village where the passengers had five minutes for lunch. A lady came along the platform and said, "The conductor tells me the train at the junction in P—— leaves fifteen minutes before our arrival. It is Saturday night, that is the last train. I have a very sick child in the car, and no money for a hotel, and none for a private conveyance for the long, long journey into the country. What shall I do?"

"Well," said the engineer, "I wish I could tell you."

"Would it be possible for you to hurry a little?" said the anxious, tearful mother.

"No, madam, I have the time table, and the rules say I must run by it."

She turned sorrowfully away, leaving the bronzed face of the engineer wet with tears. Presently she returned and said, "Are you a Christian?"

"I trust I am," was the reply.

"Will you pray with me that the Lord may in some way delay the train at the junction?"

"Why, yes, I will pray with you, but I have not much faith."

Just then the conductor cried, "All aboard." The poor woman hurried back to her deformed and sick child, and away went the train climbing the grade.

"Somehow," said the engineer, "everything worked to a charm. As I prayed, I couldn't help letting my engine out just a little. We hardly stopped at the first station, people got on and off with wonderful alacrity, the conductor's lantern in the air in a half minute and then away again. Once over the summit it was dreadful easy to give her a little more, and then a little more, as I prayed, till she seemed to shoot through the air like an arrow. Somehow I couldn't hold her, knowing I had the road, and so we dashed up to the junction six minutes ahead of time."

There stood the other train, and the conductor with his lantern on his arm. "Well," said he, "will you tell me what I am waiting here for. Somehow I felt I must wait your coming to-night, but I don't know why." "I guess," said the brother conductor, "it's for this woman, with her sick and deformed child, dreadfully anxious to get home this Saturday night." But the man on the engine and the grateful mother think they can tell why the train waited.—Watchman.

Oriental Women at the Centennial.

A correspondent of the Graphic, who has been interviewing the various Oriental ladies at the Exhibition, writes as follows:

In the southern aisle of the Main Building a young lady from Jerusalem sells sleeve buttons, napkin rings, paper-knives, cups and boxes of olivewood cut on the Mount of Olives; and in the Turkish department a dark-haired, bright-eyed, rosy-cheeked miss from Constantinople presides over the cigaritos and smoking tobacco for sale. She will chat with you very pleasantly in broken English, but don't pay her any compliments; she evidently distrusts such coin. A gentleman who had been buying something lingered to talk with her, and as she showed her pearly teeth in many smiles, he considered that common gallantry required that he should say "something very sweet." He said it, but the effect was quite different from what he expected. A frown came over the pretty face, and she said, "No you foolee with me." In vain the astonished gentleman protested that he was not "fooling" with her; she would not listen or speak to him again.

In the Turkish bazaar a portly, fine-looking woman of about thirty, dressed in Oriental costume, with a little cap trimmed with gold braid and ornamented with a tassel set sidewise on her black hair, stands behind the counter making change for her husband, chatting with customers and feeding sweetmeats to the little four-year-old boy wearing a blue garment, a yellow sash, and a tasselled cap, who runs about the floor. Her conspicuous position renders her self-conscious, and she fans herself as if she thought the whole roomful were looking at her; but notice her little boy, or speak of him, and her features relax in a frank smile that shows her motherly pride, and moves us with "a touch of nature" which "makes the whole world kin."

In the Tunese cafe, an octagan wooden building devoted to long pipes, black coffee and the festive sounds of a violin, a guitar and a timbrel, played upon by three picturesque rascals in turbans, baggy trousers and braided jackets, may be seen a young girl from Tunis. She would be called handsome if she displayed any vivacity and animation, but her large dark eyes have a dull, dreamy look, and her whole countenance is expressive of ennui. She sits on a divan by the musicians, lazily fanning herself with a braided straw fan shaped like a meat axe. Her long hair falls over her bodice and embroidered jacket, and a cap decorated with gold braid is perched upon her head. You are impressed that she has a great deal of reserve force which is rusting in inaction, that she might be a tragic queen with flashing eye, quivering nostril and uplifted arm in some emergency of life or death.

A spoiled, petted, imperious beauty is the chief attraction in the Algerian bazaar. She is by nature and art a coquette and evidently chafes at the narrow limits of her broken English. She appears to have taken captive the hearts of all the Turks, Moors and other turbaned and red-fezed individuals on the grounds, for their red and yellow and white and green costumes may be seen every day in the crowd that surrounds her counter. She offers for sale photographs of herself in various graceful attitudes and picturesque costumes, and holds up to your notice necklaces of carved wood, bottles of perfumery, and various fancy articles. Her jet black hair is ornamented with bright coins resembling gold, and she wears a similar row about her finely shaped neck. Her Turkish dress is rich and very becoming to her piquant style of beauty—a bodice of gold-striped gauze under a blue silk jacket trimmed with swan's-down, loose silken trousers, like a full skirt fastened below the knee, a broad embroidered sash, and morocco and velvet slippers, ornamented with bright spangles.

FOR PRESIDENT.

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT.

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 28.

There has never been a democratic Presidential canvass in which the standard methods of the Tammany politician were more conspicuously or generally resorted to, to obscure and cover up the semi-treasonable and altogether corrupt and reactionary purposes of the democratic leaders—the men who dictate the party policy—than in this our Centennial campaign; and there never was a time when those methods were more decidedly infamous and subversive of morality and national prosperity, than in this year of grace, 1876. From the very first it was a game of audacious effrontery, cunning and deceit. It is notorious that Tilden's nomination was effected through the debauching influence of his own money, distributed by a corrupt coterie under the personal supervision of John Morrissey, who gained his only notoriety as a "bruiser" and gambler, and who is a favorite with the very worst element of New York democracy.

A system of espionage was early established in every State, hostile to every principal of individual liberty, by which it was sought to place every voter under the guidance and control of Morrissey and men of his ilk; and there is presented the amazing spectacle of a Presidential candidate soliciting the suffrages of American citizens with a brazen impudence and a hardihood never surpassed, as a patriot and a reformer, whose war record is so suggestive of passive treason as to make his name abhorred by every patriot, and who is resting under apparently well-founded charges of gigantic frauds upon corporations and upon thousands of laboring men; of the most confidential personal relations with a band of thieves and conspirators to whose theft this century furnishes no parallel; of perjury, which neither he nor his advocates have dared the proof of; and acquiescence, in common with his party, in the warfare of death waged against the chief reliance for perpetuating the American republic—our common school system—by a foreign priesthood, plotting its destruction.

But from the general tenor of intelligence received in this city, the chances for successfully hoodwinking the American people by such false pretenses do not appear hopeful. From the Pacific coast come premonitions of victory. As everywhere else, the dissensions which have threatened the temporary defeat of the party of progress and National unity have been generously compromised, and with its organization perfected it is moving forward to the pulling down of the strongholds of the enemy.

From Indiana, a point of great solicitude heretofore, there is wafted by every breeze the inspirations of a glorious triumph over the wavering and cowering hordes of the Knights of the Golden Circle, under their old leader, Hendricks. Senator Newton Booth, one of the converts from liberal republicanism, who was brought to this change in his views by his experience in the late Confederate Congress, and General Kilpatric, a Greely orator in 1872, in connection with Senator Morton, General Harrison and others, are waging a warfare that has never been equalled for enthusiasm in any previous campaign.

Even from the South—North Carolina—there come words of good cheer, and encouragement than the State may give the electoral vote to Hayes and Wheeler. Judge Settle appears to have had much the best of it in the joint discussions between himself and Vance, the two rival candidates for Governor.

The consternation and desperation of Southern democracy may be partially estimated from the menaces of their press toward the white republicans of that section, and their unrestrained advocacy of Hamburg tactics in republican counties. The cry of "more bayonet-rule for the South" is their uniform rejoinder to Secretary Cameron's recent instructions to General Sherman. That officer expresses a determination to continue the Indian campaign until a recurrence of Sitting Bull's exploits is rendered impossible. Whether this contemplates the annihilation of that warrior and his band or their permanent banishment across the line into British America, he has not explained. But it may be said that preparations are being made for a vigorous winter campaign.

The admirable work accomplished by the delegates of the party in New York at their recent convention at Saratoga, removes that State from the list of doubtful ones, according to republican estimate, and renders the candidates nominated by that convention "very hard to beat" according to the democratic view.

All ears are strained to catch the ringing words of Hon. James G. Blaine, as he charges resistlessly down upon the ranks of the Maine copperheads, who elected to go into the fight under the leadership of a man who was as malignantly bitter against the loyal participants in the "black republican war" as Hendricks himself, and whose offensive course since has made him unpopular with the more enlightened wing of his own party, and only acceptable to the hopelessly Bourbon element. A majority, ranging between ten and twelve thousand, is confidently predicted in the September election, and one of still larger dimensions in November.

The New York Times' recent publication, showing that Tilden swore that his income from every source for the year 1862, liable to taxation, was less than $8000, and his recent sworn statement that he received that year $20,000 from the St. Louis, Alton and Terre Haute railroad for professional services, has created a decided sensation here.

Our city is alive with enthusiastic Centennial visitors on their way to swell the throng that promises to crowd the Exposition the remaining months of its existence.

Much excitement prevails in the several departments in this city, over the official slaughter to come off on the 10th of October. Some few who are certain that they are among the doomed, will take the two months' pay offered for resignations, and voluntarily retire. But every one believing they can make a successful fight, will remain and have it out with Uncle Sam.

MAXWELL.

Tilden's Civil Service Reform.

The New York Sun, which is supporting Mr. Tilden with the hot and generous enthusiasm that it erstwhile spent in the cause of Greeley, says:

"The republicans propose to elect Hayes President in place of Grant. The whole number of public officers is estimated to be eighty thousand. One is to be changed, and seventy-nine thousand nine hundred and ninety-nine left in! One drop in the pail of sour milk is to be changed; will that make the whole pail sweet?

Whereas, if Tilden is elected, the great majority of the public officers will stand not upon the order of their going, but go at once. This would be civil service reform in earnest; not a reform of one eighty-thousandth part, but a reform of the whole body.

This view of the matter makes it very plain how electors who want to give their support to reform should vote. Those who desire one-eighty-thousandth part of reform can vote for Hayes; while those who are for entire reform will vote for Tilden."

That is a powerful argument, and illustrates the value of democratic promises. One of the planks of the voluminous "reform" platform adopted at St. Louis reads as follows:

"Reform is necessary in the civil service. Experience proves that efficient, economical conduct of the Government business is not possible if its civil service be subject to change at every election, be a prize fought for at the ballot-box, be a brief reward for party zeal, instead of posts of honor assigned for proved competency, and held for fidelity in the public employ."

Political.

One of the democratic candidates for elector-at-large in Indiana, is a man who has been indicted for forgery, has been prosecuted for withholding money collected for his clients, and has had a suit instituted to debar him from practice before the courts; but that man's enthusiasm for Tilden and reform and his earnestness in denouncing republican dishonesty are simply wonderful.

The private secretary of Gov. Tilden explains the difference between the sworn statement of income and the affidavit in the railroad case. He does not pretend that they agree. He says that the money was earned in the course of several years, but was all received in 1862. Gov. Tilden considered as income for 1862, not the twenty thousand dollars which did come in, but only so much of the amount as was earned in that year. The secretary does not say that Gov. Tilden incorporated any of this amount in his income returns of the former years. That is a pretty "thin" explanation. Earnings are not income. An income is money actually received. Government could not have compelled Mr. Tilden to pay on an income he had not received, nor is he, apparently, the man who would pay before he was obliged to. What Mr. Tilden must say about this, is, if he is to stand upon this theory, that he actually paid an income tax on that twenty thousand dollars in one year or another, or during several years. The intimation that he considered that he had earned so much money is not equivalent to saying that he paid a tax upon it. Mr. Tilden is an astute lawyer, but his secretary is not sharp enough to deceive the public by any such ambiguous allegations. On the contrary, so ineffectual and unlawyerlike a defence will lead people to believe, who were in doubt before, that Samuel J. Tilden did deliberately swear to a false return of his income tax. This is, if anything, less satisfactory than the jokes of the World.—Providence Journal.

The charge has been made that Mr. Tilden has "perjured" himself, in that he has made contradictory affidavits on the subject of his income. That charge has not been met by those organs in which the public would naturally look to find an explanation. Mr. Tilden stands before the country as the great "reformer," seeking the suffrages of the people as an honest man who will rout fraud and corruption wherever they are found. Whatever may be true concerning Mr. Tilden, we deem it but fair that a reasonable time should be extended to him in which to meet this charge with a specific denial. Mr. Ottendorfer of the Staats Zeitung has the true conception of the case, and expresses it as follows: "If Mr. Tilden cannot give a satisfactory explanation in this matter he is certainly not a fit candidate for the Presidency." We will only add that delays sometimes prove dangerous. It should be remembered that this is "an aggressive campaign," and the people may not accept the facetious remarks of journals as an answer to the charge.—Albany, (N. Y.) Times. (dem.)

This is the way the democratic Chicago Times talks about Mr. Steward, the democratic candidate for Governor of Illinois: "Here is a man who says he knew Steward in boyhood and ever since, and that he is a profane man and a scoffer of heavenly things, who has been challenged in court because he despised the Deity and laughed preachers to scorn. Furthermore, that he held his mother while his father whaled her, and has been seen to punish his own wife, and is known to tyrannize over his family."

A correspondent of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, who was at the Fourth Missouri Congressional District democratic convention, gives this description of the scene which followed the renomination of R. A. Hatcher, the present member and an officer in the Confederate army. On the announcement of the result there was a spontaneous outbreak of the rebel yell, after which the band played "Dixie," amid great enthusiasm. At this point a delegate proposed three cheers for Jeff Davis, and the proposition was accepted, and three rousing and enthusiastic cheers were given, hats being waved and the wildest of enthusiasm manifested. Throughout the proceedings of the convention the most intense bitterness was manifested toward those who had been Union men, and to the Union cause itself. The speeches, many of them, were of the most violent Southern type, one speaker declaring that no Union man or Union soldier could be trusted as a democrat, while another appealed to the democracy for harmony, on the ground that the cause in which so much had been sacrificed by the South demanded that democracy should gain control of the government.

A democratic campaign orator, General Young, speaking the other day at Centreville, Ga., said:—"It is an act of great forbearance to permit a republican to reside in the South."

The New York Times says: "Conceding the utmost that his newspaper apologists demand, we are quite ready to prove Mr. Tilden a perjurer and a swindler." That is pretty plain talk about a "reformer" who is not only an eminent lawyer but has millions to carry on a suit in a court of law with. The Times talks of him just as it did about the late lamented Tweed. Why does not lawyer Tilden take it up?

We don't believe that story about Tilden stealing a canal. What could a democrat want with so much water.—Norristown Herald.

The time has gone by when a man could boast that he never stole a dollar and still be successful at a democratic primary.—Brooklyn Argus, (dem.)

A new two story house on Hanover street, Manchester, owned by Dr. Daniel Adams, was thoroughly gutted by fire on the morning of August 28. The house was wrapped in flames when discovered. There was no occupant except the Doctor. Loss estimated at $3600; insured at Holyoke for $700. Furniture insured for $300. The fire was evidently incendiary, caused by burglars. Silverware, jewelry and Dr. Adams' pocket-book, found minus its money, clearly indicate the origin of the fire.

The venerable lady, Mrs. Harriet Hawley, so well know to the residents of Roxbury, kept on Saturday the 103d anniversary of her birth, which occurred in Stratham, N. H., August 26, 1773. Her father was Jotham Rollins, and he was a lieutenant in the battle of Bunker Hill, standing beside General Warren when he was cut down. She is in possession of all her faculties, cheerful and even humorous in conversation, and grateful that her life has been prolonged to this day. Mrs. Hawley came to Boston when a young woman, and was employed as cook in several of the aristocratic families of that day. She is still able to prepare her own food, though not compelled to do so. On Wednesday last, in the absence of the family, she cooked a dinner without assistance. She never attended a theatre or any other place of amusement, and never rode in a steam-car. Her birthday reception was very largely attended, and the genial old lady received many tokens of regard.—Globe.

—Lavender went home sometime after midnight, and complained of his tight boots. "If your boots are as tight as you are," said Lavender's wife, "they ought to sleep with you." As Lavender staggered up stairs he muttered: "She's a [hic] keen one! She knows where them bootsh goin' ter shleep."

—A farmer in Lenoir, N. C., who had a lot of meal stolen from him, poisoned a ham and hung it in his smoke house, and now he has torn all the hair out of his head trying to think which one of the ninety-two hams in that smoke-house is the one he rubbed the strychnine into.

—"A dollar is a large price for a watermelon," said a purchaser to a vender of this fruit, as he was paying for one. "You wouldn't think so, mister," said the dealer, "if you had sot on the fence with a shotgun in your hand every night for three weeks, watching the patch."

A Theory Borne Out by Facts.

The theory that lack of vigor is the underlying cause of disease is receiving daily confirmation of the most positive kind in the cure of dyspepsia, liver disorders, and kidney, bladder and uterine complaints by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the ruling remedy for maladies attributable to weakness. This superb tonic is never employed without the most beneficial effects. The liver, the bowels, the organs of urination, and indeed the entire system acquires both vigor and regularity through its action, since it gives a healthful impetus to every failing function. It is an incomparable specific for chills and fever, and other maladies of a malarial type, prevents their attacks, is a reliable means of counteracting the effects of undue exposure or fatigue, and soothes as well as strengthens the nervous organism.

JOTTINGS.

Portsmouth Grange holds its annual picnic at Dow's grove to-day, if fair weather; if not, on the next fair day.

Miss Sara Jewett, late of the 5th Avenue (N. Y.) Theatre, with the Eclectic club of this city, will give "My Uncle's Will" and "The Two Puddifoots" at Franklin Hall this evening. Tickets at Foster's, 50 cents each.

One of the Appledore House guests caught a 75 lb. cod off White Island ledge on Monday.

On Thursday, August 17, Mr. Samuel W. Jenness, of Rye, while gathering sea-weed on the beach picked up a bottle containing two visiting cards, one of them bearing the name of "Geo. A. Comins," written with ink, the other having "Wayman Crow, Jr." printed on it, and "Lost" and "St. Louis" written in pencil. The bottle had evidently been in the water a considerable time, but whether thrown in by some silly practical joker or not Mr. Jenness cannot tell. Neither can we.

We are informed that a meeting of the depositors in the suspended Rockingham Ten Cents Savings Bank is to be held at the Court House in this city on some day or evening next week, not yet decided upon, when the situation of affairs will be discussed, (and we hope none of the unfortunates will leave off the first syllable of this word,) and a proposition to continue the bank be considered, and the interests of the depositors generally be looked after.

The Portsmouth Music Society, which has allowed its harp to hang silent upon the willow for about four years, will resume the practice of sacred and secular music in a short time, at Mercantile and Grange Hall. The Society own a fine piano, and a considerable assortment of both vocal and instrumental music, and are entirely without debt. They have done much good service for our home music in the past, and it would seem are now better than ever prepared to continue their effective work. The annual meeting for election of officers, etc., occurs on the first Wednesday evening in October.

A Manchester correspondent writes us of the misdoings of a former resident of this city, now living in Manchester, charging him with first getting in a fight on the street with a man on whom he made an attack with a knife, and afterward shamefully abusing his wife. As the correspondent neglected to sign his name we cannot publish his communication.

Warlike rumors abound. It is darkly hinted that a revolt of the young democracy against the dictatorship of Messrs. Wendell, Hatch, Marcy and Russell, is being organized and may result in open mutiny at any moment. The disaffected ones mutter ominously and sometimes swear recklessly, but we don't imagine they will do anything serious. They might possibly "screw their courage to the sticking point" and rebel against the first-named three of their rulers, but they will hardly dare face the displeasure of Mr. Russell. Talk is cheap.

Kerosene has doubled in price within two months, in the wholesale markets. On Monday it brought 26 1-2 cents per gallon for refined, in New York, against 13 cents per gallon sixty days previous, and 16 cents a week previous. At the wells, crude oil has advanced to $4.10 per barrel, the daily production of the wells being said to be 15,000 bbls. short of the daily requirements. Whether the advance is speculative or the natural result of the increased use of kerosene in Europe and this country is not clear. It was sold in this city on Monday, at retail, for 28 cents per gallon.

KITTERY POINT.

A Bethel Praise Meeting was held at the Kittery Point congregational church on Sunday evening last. The services were conducted by Dr. E. B. Goodall, of Portsmouth, assisted by Mr. Jones, of Andover, who is at present acceptably supplying the pulpit vacated by the resignation of Mr. Christie. The church on this occasion was filled, and the services were unusually interesting. During the evening Mr. Thomas, of Brooklyn, who has for many summers been the guest of the genial host of the well known Pepperell House, presented a handsome flag to the Bethel Society. The flag is designed for the boat which is used in the service of this society, in bringing sailors from the fishing vessels anchored near the shore to religious services on Sunday, etc.; it is white, having a scarlet cross in the centre as an emblem. Many stirring hymns were sung, "Pull for the shore," "Let the lower lights be burning," and others. The church has been remodelled and is very much improved. On next Sunday evening, Rev. Mr. Foote, of King's Chapel, Boston, will deliver one of his celebrated lectures on music, which he illustrates by song. TRUST.

News and Notes.

Mr. Schuyler's preliminary report of his investigation into the outrages in Bulgaria, is addressed to the Minister of the United States at Constantinople. It fully confirms the worst that has been told of the atrocities. Mr. Schuyler found that much of the slaughter was done by regular Turkish soldiers, and he denounces the report of the Turkish commissioner concerning these outrages as a mass of falsehoods. He declares that sixty-five villages were burned in three districts, and 15,000 men, women and children killed.

Two brothers, named Denham, resisted arrest by a constable at Denver, Cook county, Ohio. The constable procured a posse of citizens to help him, and the Denhams still resisting, they were shot dead.

The campaign against the Indians is virtually at an end, the redskins having broken into two or more parties to keep out of the way of the pursuing troops.

The Molly Maguire murderers, five in number, recently convicted of the murder of policeman Yost at Tamaqua, Penn., have been condemned to death.

Angelina Paolaggi, the soprano singer in St. Columbus' church, New York, committed suicide on Saturday. She was in love with the pianist of the steamer Plymouth Rock, but her parents broke off the match.

The outrages in China upon native Christians continue.

By a runaway accident in Bangor, Me., on Monday, Frank Spaulding was badly hurt and his wife instantly killed. They were in a wagon, and the runaway team ran over them.

The Maine State Fair opened at Portland on Tuesday, with the finest display ever seen in the State.

At Carbondale, Ill., Monday, during an altercation between one Bowman and a man named Dellinger, a little seven-year old girl belonging to the latter was shot and killed by Bowman.

Commodore Slitz, senior naval officer at Port Royal, reports to the Navy Department that he has carefully and thoroughly inspected the ironclads at that station, and finds them all, without exception, in beautiful order.

Louis Londerback, of Trenton, N. J., buried his wife last Sunday and his only child died Monday. He became very much depressed in spirits and shot himself dead.

A New York despatch says over twenty people had their pockets picked, Sunday, while viewing a man drowning in the surf at Rockaway.

Chief Nevins of the Brooklyn Fire Department, a prominent member of the democratic Brooklyn Ring, who outrageously beat Mr. Gordon, a journalist, has offered to settle with money, but Mayor Schroeder insists on a legal investigation, when, if it proves that Nevins disgraced his position, the Mayor will cause his dishonorable dismissal.

George Welch, a seaman on the steamer King Arthur, got drunk in New Haven and wounded five persons with a knife. He got fifteen months in jail for his fun.

—A lady who lived at Martha's Vineyard eighty-eight years died recently, and the ladies who prepared her for the grave found the natural hair to be entirely woven in among the false hair, and so much as to oblige the use of scissors to remove the latter, which had not been removed from the head for more than thirty years. After its removal there were taken from it by actual count 180 common pins that had been put in one at a time to keep the hair in position. In one article of her wardrobe were found 308 pins, put there to hold the article together. There were in bureau drawers 98 new dress patterns, of all kinds and qualities, which had never been made up. Some of these patterns can be traced back to the time of purchase, sixty-four years ago. She left one elegant brocade silk dress which can be traced back two hundred years.

—At the calm, quiet hour of midnight recently some one halted in front of a house on Indiana street occupied by an aged colored man, and, heaving a brickbat against the door, shouted: "Huzrah f'r blazes!" The old man came down to market the next day, and when he met an acquaintance he inquired: "What ticket is dat Mr. Blazes on?" After he had told his story and been posted as to candidates, he remarked: "Well, I doan' have much to do wid politics, an' of course I didn't know. When de feller yelled out so mighty big, and when de brick hit de doah so powerful hard, I made up my mind dat de new candidate was gwine to carry de country by ten million majority."

—A New Orleans wrecker lately undertook to complete a contract in a given time, but, as the final day approached, found that his divers were making little progress with the work, and that his contract was in danger of being forfeited. Procuring a diving armor he descended on a tour of investigation, and, having reached the bottom, found his seven workmen intently watching seven crabs. Close examination discovered that the name of some celebrated race-horse was inscribed upon the back of each of the crustacea, and that they had been matched for a series of races, one of which was in progress at the time. The cause of the delay was explained.

—A horse, no matter how vicious and obstinate he may be when attempts are made to shoe him, can be rendered quiet and manageable by making him inspire during the operation a few grains of the ethereal oil of parsley dropped on a handkerchief. A large number of trials of this substance have been made with the most troublesome and violent animals, and in every case with perfect success.—Suisse Romande.

—A lady wants to know what is the meaning of "ante," and "pass the buck." Her matrimonial companion uses it in his dreams, and she is afraid it indicates typhoid fever.

—An eel weighing 107 pounds less than Tilden was caught at Easthampton, Mass., on Tuesday.—N. Y. Herald.

—The San Antonio (Texas) Express says: "One of the largest droves of cattle ever brought from Texas was, a few weeks since, driven from Capt. King's ranche in Neuces county to Kansas. The herd numbered 30,000 horned cattle, and needed 700 drivers. The outfit alone cost $50,000, and the cattle were disposed of for $320,000."

—A boy has written a composition on the turtle, in which he says: "A turtle is not so frisky as a man, but he can stand a hot coal on his back longer without squalling."

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions Trade Marks or Designs

No. 70 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.

JOHN PEARSON, Jr.,

COOKED CORNED BEEF.

Articles are being published calculated to prejudice the public against using Cooked Corned Beef, and we would say in answer to them that in no instance has positive proof been established to show that such is the case.

Our goods are packed in a manner very similar to that of Corn, Tomatoes, Fruit and canned goods generally, (which have long been tested) and we use nothing whatever of a poisonous nature in their preparation.

In addition to our own statement we have the strong endorsement of Prof. Hosford of Cambridge, one of the most eminent Chemists in the country, who has fully tested and is familiar with the entire details of the preparation of our goods.

We would also state that we use none but the choicest of Beef that our Chicago market affords, and trust that with these statements the rapidly growing popularity of our Corned Beef may be increased.

For the information of those not knowing the fact we would state that in the process of canning there is a liability of imperfect sealing, which causes the can to expand. Meat contained in such cans is unfit for use and will be cheerfully paid for when returned to any grocer selling it.

—A writer in Notes and Queries tells the following good story: Mr. Falls, a well-known Irish sportsman, happened one day to ride down a hound. The irascible but witty master attacked him in no very measured language. "Sir," was the reply, "I have you recollect that I am Mr. Falls of Dungannon." The answer was ready; "I don't care if you are Mr. Falls of Niagara; you shan't ride over my hounds."

—The other day a Detroiter who has a good record of army service took down his revolver to shoot a cat which had been hanging around the house. After looking at him while he fired six shots the cat then walked away. While he was loading up for more destruction the shooter's small boy inquired: "Father, did you ever kill any one while you were in the army?" "I suppose so, my son:" After a long pause the boy continued: "Then you must have got near enough to hit 'em with an ax, didn't you?" It was then discovered to be about school time.

ESTABLISHED IN 1853.

THE OLDEST ESTABLISHED HOSPITAL IN THE UNITED STATES.

No. 9 Beaver Street, - - - Albany, N. Y.

SURE CURES AND LOW PRICES.

Dr. YOUNG,

SUCCESSOR TO

Dr. TELLER,

DECEASED.

The above named private Hospital was established in Albany in 1835 by Dr. Lispenard and for a number of years its affairs were presided over by that gentleman, but for the past 9 years, Dr. Teller, who is now deceased, transacted the business of the Institution.

Owing to the great demand for more spacious apartments on account of the large increase of business, the Hospital has been removed to No. 9 Beaver Street, two doors above its old location, where patients will find magnificently furnished rooms for their reception, and are so arranged that patients do not come in contact with one another, seeing only the doctor, thereby avoiding the unpleasantness of meeting others, which always occurred at the old office.

LADIES will find rooms provided for their especial accomodation and entirely private.

YOUNG MEN, addicted to secret habits, who have impaired their health and destroyed the vigor of their minds, thus depriving themselves of the pleasures of married life and also those afflicted with private disease of any nature, are advised that in consulting Dr. Young they will find a physician fully qualified to cure and restore them to full health and manly vigor.

Dr. Teller's great work for the married, or those contemplating marriage—100 pages—full of plates,—price 25 cents. Sent to all parts, under seal, by mail post paid.

TO THE LADIES—DR. YOUNG still retains the only agency in America for the sale of Dr. Vichol's Italian Female Monthly Pills. Sent by mail on receipt of $1.00, price per box.

DR. YOUNG is the only agent for Dr. La Mott's celebrated Galvanic Belts.

Invalids out of the city can be cured by consulting the Doctor by letter, and enclosing remittance. Medicines sent by mail or express, securely packed from observation. All letters must be addressed to

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have endured all the pain I could endure and live. Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 20th, and twice you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of chronic diarrhœa caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no purpose. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

Wonderful Effect of Four Doses of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills upon Neuralgia of Twelve Years' Duration—Testimony of Rev. J. S. Patton.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, but could only get partly cured. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if you will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lungs trying climate of New England!

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not know ing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Swallowing a Hawk.

One forenoon, when sitting on the hillside behind the house, by the torrent, near the pine wood, deep among the purple heather and fragrant bog-myrtle, and with the children all around me, my attention was attracted by a sparrow-hawk hovering right over the cottage. On the roof-ridge sat the row of young helpless swallows, and they seemed instinctively to apprehend the danger to which they were exposed. To my great amazement, a single swallow suddenly started out to the rescue and boldly attacked the larger bird. It skimmed, rising above the sparrow-hawk, and weaving the air backwards and forwards in its flight, kept ever dipping down and striking the enemy as it passed, manifestly and effectually discomfiting it. Soon another swallow came to the aid of the first, and the hawk was compelled to take itself off. By this time several other swallows had joined in the pursuit, which was successfully continued till the hawk was chased far away, quite to the other side of the glen, where the swallows left it to its own meditation, and returned, twittering joyously, to their young broods sitting on the roof of the dear little cottage in High Glencloy.—Animal World.

A Branch "Stewart's" at Chicago.

The great house of A. T. Stewart & Co. appears to have lost little of its wonderful dash by the death of its distinguished founder. A branch house of the concern is to be opened in Chicago shortly, which in size will exceed their home establishment and far exceed any other establishment in the United States. Indeed the Chicago papers call it the most important commercial movement made in that city in ten years. Commodious quarters have been secured for five years at a heavy rental, and some idea of the magnitude of the business to be carried on in this place may be gained from the fact that the leases bind Stewart & Co. to put in at least $2,000,000 worth of stuffs and keep them there five years; but the parties state that they cannot tell how much more they will find it necessary to put in. They intend to stock the premises to their fullest capacity, and will probably have to bring on from $1,000,000 to $4,000,000 worth of goods to do it. The business is to be, at first any way, exclusively wholesale. They will not stock up with goods left over from the New York house, but will import expressly for this house and send the packages through unbroken. The style of the firm will be "A. T. Stewart & Co." Mr. Wm. Libby, one of the partners, will take up his residence in Chicago, and it is expected that they will be able to open in part of the buildings by the middle of September, but the 1st of October will certainly see them going ahead.

Butler and Bunting.

General Butler has written a letter defining his position on the "bunting question," and explaining how he came to get into the business of supplying the American nation with the stars and stripes at a profit, which he deems necessary in view of the criticisms of some newspapers. The letter is as follows:

When any particularly malignant person desires to make an attack upon me, he insists that I have done something wrong in becoming interested in the manufacture of the worsted fabric known to commerce as bunting. For myself I care nothing for such attacks, but lest those whose property is interested with me in that industry should feel aggrieved, I think it is due to them that a short statement of facts should be made.

The manufacture of bunting was unknown in this country until after the close of the war, so that no American ship ever fought under a yard of American bunting. One or two attempts had been made to make it in America which had failed. It was substantially a monopoly of a few firms in Bradford, England, and although it cost, in the war, an Englishman to make it no more than now, they put up the price upon us to $36, gold, per piece. In 1866, because I lived in a manufacturing city, I was requested by the Navy Department to examine into the subject and see if it could not be made here. I consulted with some friends of mine in Lowell and interested them in the subject, and they agreed to make an attempt, provided I would furnish a part of the capital, which I did. After many experiments, attended by very considerable expense, and by employing English machinery, an article of bunting was made, which, upon competitive trial with the English, was pronounced by a board of experts to be superior. The demand for the article is very limited, except in Presidential years and in this Centennial year. There are now three or four other establishments which manufacture bunting in the country besides the one at Lowell. It is said by a newspaper that the tariff is more than the cost, leaving the inference that that is added to the price. The effect of the manufacture here has been that bunting is produced at $10 a piece, gold, as against $36, which our Government paid for over 11,000 pieces yearly during the war.

As this is the first time that a man has ever been abused for developing a new industry in this country, I have thought it well enough to state the facts, and probably shall never recur to the subject again, as I do not suppose that the newspapers (making the attacks) will have the decency to publish this note. I am yours truly,

BENJAMIN F. BUTLER.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 31, 1876.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

Birds of a Feather, etc.

Is there really any great difference in Grant being the "tool of bad men," "imposed upon by bad men," "in the hands of bad men," and being one of them himself? Most any other man in official position who gets entirely under the control of rogues, and does exactly as they tell him, is accounted a partner in their crimes. The law takes that view of the case.—Courier-Journal.

Very good. Taking that view of the case, what kind of a showing does Mr. S. Jones Tilden make? His chief supporter at St. Louis was John Morrissey, a prize-fighter and notorious gambler; two members of the infamous Brooklyn Ring—and both under indictment for stealing—were Tilden delegates; and the Brooklyn and Canal Rings are solid in Tilden's support, notwithstanding his "war on the rings" concerning which we have heard so much. And Tilden was hand in glove with Wm. M. Tweed too, as is shown by the following letters. The first is the circular sent out by the democratic State committee, of which Tilden was chairman, making the needed arrangements for counting in Hoffman and giving New York's electoral vote to Seymour and Blair, which was done by a fraud of 40,000 votes in favor of the Tammany-Tilden candidates, in New York city.

Rooms of Democratic State Committee, }
October 27, 1868. }

My Dear Sir:—Please at once to communicate with some reliable person in three or four principal towns and in each city of your county, and tell him (expenses duly arranged for at this end) to telegraph to William M. Tweed, Tammany Hall, at the minute of closing the polls, not waiting for the count, such person's estimate of the vote. Let the telegraph be as follows: "This town will show a democratic gain (or loss) over last year of (number.)" Or this one, if sufficiently certain; "This town will give a republican (or democratic) majority of ——." There is, of course, an important object to be attained by a simultaneous transmission at the hour of closing the polls, but not longer waiting. Opportunity can be taken of the usual half-hour lull in telegraphic communication over lines before accurate results begin to be declared, and before the Associated Press absorb the telegraph with returns and interfere with individual messages, and give orders to watch carefully the count. Very truly yours,

SAMUEL J. TILDEN.

We also have the evidence of Mr. Tilden's connection with the Tweed thieves in the following letter, asking for the appointment by the big thief of a little thief who, Mr. Tilden thought, had earned a chance to steal:

The Hon. Wm. M. Tweed.—MY DEAR SIR: I beg to present to your attention the case of Samuel J. Allen, a very old friend of ours, who is in great need of a small appointment in your department, for which he has applied. He would be content with something for a time, of not a very high rank. You know him so well that I need add nothing. He used to be a very efficient and useful worker, and is an entirely reliable man, and I should be personally glad if you could help him. Yours truly,

S. J. TILDEN.

Worse than all this, Tilden, as chairman of the democratic committee, was the figure-head for Tweed's convention at Rochester, in September of the year in which the N. Y. Times had proved Tweed a thief three months previous; and Tilden ruled out the anti-Tweed delegation, representing 299 members of the Tammany organization, and admitted the Tweed delegation, representing ten members,—those admitted including William M. Tweed, Michael Norton, Samuel J. Tilden, Richard B. Connolly, Thomas C. Fields, A. Oakey Hall and Henry W. Genet.

When Tilden was on the witness stand in one of the Tweed suits, the following admissions were drawn from the great reformer: "I knew Tweed in 1864. In 1866 I invited Tweed to a meeting in Philadelphia. In 1868 I invited Tweed to the National Democratic Committee. In 1868 I received from Tweed $5,000 for expenses of the party. I can't recollect receiving another $5,000 from Tweed for the same purpose." The following has some bearing on the question of Tweed's relations to Tilden:

"NEW YORK, Sept. 8, 1868.

The National Broadway Bank will pay to the order of William M. Tweed $5,000.

WILLIAM M. TWEED.

Indorsed: Pay S. J. Tilden or order. William M. Tweed. For deposit in the North America—S. J. Tilden."

To quote the Courier-Journal, "is there really any great difference in" Tilden "being the tool of bad men,' 'imposed upon by bad men,' 'in the hands of bad men,' and being one of them himself? Most any other men in official position who gets entirely under the control of rogues, and does exactly as they tell him is accounted a partner in their crimes. The law takes that view of the case."

News and Notes.

Five hundred thousand tons of coal were sold at auction in New York, August 29th, in lots of 5000 tons. Stove coal sold at from $2.52 1-2 to $3.90 per ton, representing a retail value in Boston of $5.50 to $6.00 per ton. A permanent decline in prices seems inevitable.

The marriage of a white woman and a mulatto, at Newport, R. I., occasioned quite a riot, a mob stoning the house where the ceremony was performed. The bride, Jeannette Burbridge, is the daughter of a Newport business man, but has not lived at home for a long time; and her father, as might be expected, was opposed to the wedding, but took no measures to prevent the union. The bridegroom is a college graduate, very good looking, and respected by all who know him.

The charge that Captain J. S. Grindle, of the ship St. Mark, outrageously maltreated seamen on a voyage from Liverpool to a Chilian port, has been further investigated. Henry Poentz, the carpenter, testified that "Brick-top," one of the sailors, after being handcuffed and tied up to the rigging by the wrists for half an hour, hid himself in the hold, where he was sought by the captain and mate for three days. When he was found he was hung up in the carpenter's shop by a rope attached to his neck so that his toes just touched the floor. Poentz saw "Long Tom" lashed on the bare back with a rope's end, every stroke leaving a black and blue mark. He died five hours afterward in his bunk. "Soldier," another sailor, was also flogged to death, and his body flung into the sea without any religious ceremonies.

A "negro outrage" is reported from Monroe, La., a mob of negroes having made an unprovoked attack upon the houses of several white planters at night, and fired bullets through the windows. Nobody killed or wounded. This is the story as telegraphed, but such stories have in the past been suspiciously apt to finally develope into affairs in which many unscrupulous negroes got themselves killed on purpose to injure the democratic party. It is always safe to wait for the second or third reports before taking any stock in Louisiana stories about "negro outrages."

About 25,000 Spanish troops, with Krupp and Placentia guns, will embark at Santander and Cadiz for Cuba before November 1st.

General Von Moltke is seriously ill.

Lord Ribblesdale, step-son to Earl Russell, committed suicide recently in Switzerland.

By a revolution in Costo Rica the late President has been deposed and a new one appointed. We forget the names of both of them.

The Turkish cabinet council has determined to depose the Sultan.

The Turks again attacked the Servians at Alexinatz on the 28th of August, but were repulsed with heavy loss.

On the 18th of August a little son of Michael Callahan, of Lawrence, Mass., dislocated his wrist, and Daniel McSweeney, a mill operative and "natural bone-setter" undertook to doctor the case. He bandaged the arm so tightly as to cause the child terrible agony, and on the fifth day after the accident two physicians saw him and told the foolish father his son was in a dangerous predicament; but he still had faith in the quack. The poor child died on the evening of the 26th, not having slept an hour after the accident, the torture of his arm keeping him awake.

At this season of the year many people become poisoned either by handling or exposure to the poison ivy, which is very common in the rural districts, and in some cases the poison produces severe illness. Generally all sorts of remedies are tried with little immediate effect, and the poison is slowly thrown off by the process of nature. There is, however, a remedy which is vouched for by a correspondent of an agricultural paper as a sure and speedy cure. The agent is common lime, a small piece of which should be dissolved in water, and the parts affected bathed with the water. This remedy was lately tried by a gentleman of this city with entire success, the application of the lime water affording immediate relief. The remedy is simple, and should be widely known.—Boston Journal.

Political.

Some of Peter Cooper's greenback friends complain that the newspapers do not treat him fairly; that he is much stronger in the West and all over the country than has been generally supposed, and that he will carry Kansas and Indiana in October. They say that six newspapers in Kansas—among them the Fort Scott Pioneer—have hoisted Mr. Cooper's name; that in Indiana fourteen have done so, besides some in other States. Mr. Cooper's prospects are so good that the newspapers ought to take notice of these facts, which will force themselves on the notice of both parties in a very disagreeable manner in October and November.—Advertiser.

John Kelly, the Tammany Chief, comes to the rescue of Charles Francis Adams, and asserts that there is nothing against him in the Fenian case, and so the people of Massachusetts are at liberty to elect Mr. Adams for Governor if they have any desire to do so. Oh, Liberty, what uncommonly queer capers are cut in thy name! This little incident is more effective in the picture it presents of the working of democratic institutions than are the stories of the philosophers. An honest and capable man, of world-wide reputation, who has served the country effectively in one of its highest offices, is named for another office, and he requires a certificate of good character from the head of that chronic conspiracy for the degradation of politics known as Tammany Hall. If Kelly had only added, Mr. Adams is "my candidate," that would have settled it all.—N. Y. Herald.

Gen. Butler has secured delegates enough to assure his nomination for Congress from the Seventh District of Massachusetts.

The Albany Journal publishes calls for meetings in every ward in the city for the organization of Hayes and Wheeler clubs. It says: the calls are signed by nearly four thousand names, and it is noted as a significant fact that not a single republican refused to sign the calls, while in every ward there are democrats openly for the republican ticket, and the names of many of them appear among the signatures.

The Cincinnati Enquirer, (dem.,) is not happy in supporting Tilden, because only last June it said, editorially: "There are a few facts concerning Sam Tilden which we trust will sink into the minds of Western and Southern democrats: He can not carry his own State in November; he can not carry any Northern State; he is a hypocrite, a political swindler, has long been a public plunderer, and is really the only disreputable candidate prominently named on the democratic ticket; he has sought this high office by methods so unprecedentedly shameless and disreputable that it would be an everlasting stigma upon a democratic convention to nominate him, and a reproach upon the American people to elect him if nominated."

Governor Tilden dare not enter the State of Michigan for fear of legal proceedings being commenced against him on account of his swindling mining matters, and yet the man is a reformer.—Cedar Falls (Ia.) Gazette.

Colonel John W. Johnston, an old democratic leader, who represented Halifax county, North Carolina, in the legislature twenty years ago, has declared his adhesion to Hayes and Wheeler.

Edward Kearney, a very influential politician in New York, has resigned from the Tammany committee on organization, giving as a reason therefor that he cannot support Tilden. He proposes to work for the Cooper and Cary ticket. He has bet ten thousand dollars with John Morrissey that Tilden will not carry the State of New York. Mr. Kearney says that thousands of workingmen in New York city who have always voted the democratic ticket will this year support Cooper and Cary, having no confidence in Tilden. It is a fact, the democratic masses in New York State are not at all pleased with the action of the St. Louis convention.—New Haven Union, (inf. dem.)

The New York World, certifying to Tilden's loyalty, reminds us of a story of the convivial Scotchman whose sobriety was in question, and who undertook to satisfy the court by the evidence of a crony of equally drouthy proclivities. "Did you ever see the defendant the worse for liquor," said the court. "John Tamson the waur for liquor! Na, na; but often the better for it." "You never saw him helplessly intoxicated?" "Na, na; I was aye under the table mysel' lang afore that, ye ken."

The New York Herald graciously says: "Mr. Charles Francis Adams can be safely nominated as the democratic candidate for Governor of Massachusetts, now that it is known that in 1872 Mr. John Kelly investigated the Fenian charges against him and pronounces them entirely without foundation. We are now prepared to believe that the Irish republic never had a better friend than Charles Francis Adams."

Eighteen democratic papers in Indiana have bolted Tilden and declared themselves for Cooper and Cary, while the republican press in the State is unanimous for Hayes.

Tenney, the leader of the White Line gang of roughs who called themselves "Vicksburg Modocs," has been appointed by the Governor of Mississippi Chairman of the Registrars of Election at Vicksburg! This is an excellent appointment, as is shown by the fact that while Ex-Senator Pease was addressing a republican meeting at Vicksburg on the evening of August 28, the "Modocs" rotten-egged him from the platform and broke up the meeting. Let us hear no more about the need of "federal bayonets" to protect the republicans of the South.

—"Virginia's greatest belle," the daughter of Judge Ould of Richmond, without his knowledge was recently married to Oliver J. Schoolcraft, a very rich young man, but of mental poverty, who entered Richmond society quite lately. The father was quite incensed when he heard of it.

— Irish moss is suggested as a substitute for flax-seed meal in poultices. It is said to make a superior poultice, as it keeps moist about eighteen hours, and neither ferments easily nor soils the bed-clothes or linen of the patient.

Two Sides to the Same Story.

On Dec. 26, 1863, Mr. Tilden swore to the complaint in the Circuit Court of the United States in the suit under oath, in which he said:

"I hereby certify that the following is a true and faithful statement of the gains, profits, or income of Samuel J. Tilden of the city of New York, and County of New York, State of New York, whether derived from any kind of property, rents, interest, or dividends, salary, fees, or from any profession, office, trade, employment, or vocation, or from any other source whatever, from 1st day of January to 31st day of December, inclusive, and subjection to income tax under the Excise laws of the United States. In one from all sources, $7118."

In his answer to the complaint in the Circuit Court of the United States in the suit of the St. Louis, Alton & Terre Haute Railroad Company against himself and others, which answer was filed recently, Mr. Tilden swore under oath as follows:

"That for such services the defendant Tilden made a charge of ten thousand dollars against said second mortgage bondholders, and said charge was paid, by or on behalf of said second mortgage bondholders, on the 17th of October, 1862; * * * that the defendant, Tilden, for a part of his services aforesaid, also made a charge of the sum of ten thousand dollars on account of professional services rendered to the first mortgage bondholders and the Receivers, which was paid to him by the said Azariah C. Flagg, * * * and which payment appears under date of Nov. 7, 1862, in a statement annexed to the first report aforesaid, as having been receipted for by the said Tilden, 'on account of professional services.'"

—The most powerfully armored ship afloat is the "Thunderer," which met with such a terrible accident recently, but two gunboats have just been finished on the Tyne which will be fitted up by the Armstrong firm with hydraulic machinery working a 38-ton gun. Compared with the "Thunderer," the gun-boats, built for a foreign government, are diminutive, yet each little vessel will carry a gun capable of piercing the thickest armor now on the seas. The smallness of these marine wasps will be their greatest protection, and the steam power will be so applied that not only the gun, but also the vessel, will be under the complete control of the artillerist.—English paper.

—The science of advertising in England has greatly astonished a correspondent of a Gallic contemporary, who records a singular procession he saw recently in England. Two files of men, twenty-five in number, walked up each side of the road, bearing black placards with white letters. They marched along in time, and in the most mournful manner, raising their eyes skywards with despondent looks, wringing their hands, hanging their heads, and uttering exclamations of despair. They were engaged by the proprietors of a newly-opened mourning establishment.

A Theory Borne Out by Facts.

The theory that lack of vigor is the underlying cause of disease is receiving daily confirmation of the most positive kind in the cure of dyspepsia, liver disorders, and kidney, bladder and uterine complaints by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the ruling remedy for maladies attributable to weakness. This superb tonic is never employed without the most beneficial effects. The liver, the bowels, the organs of urination, and indeed the entire system acquires both vigor and regularity through its action, since it gives a healthful impetus to every failing function. It is an incomparable specific for chills and fever, and other maladies of a malarial type, prevents their attacks, is a reliable means of counteracting the effects of undue exposure or fatigue, and soothes as well as strengthens the nervous organism.

Magic of the Mouth.

Odoriferous SOZODONT renders the mouth enchanting. Composed of rare antiseptic herbs, it imparts whiteness to the teeth, and preserves intact, from youth to age, the teeth.

Spalding's Glue, handy, mends everything.

The new Atlas Hotel, Philadelphia, Pa., will furnish meals a la carte from 25 cents upwards, and lodgings at $1.00 per day.

"The colored troops fought nobly." So does Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam in the case of all throat, chest and lung difficulties.

NOTHING IS MORE HARASSING than ulcers or boils. Fortunately they can be quickly healed by the use of Glenn's Sulphur Soap, which purges the sore of its poisonous virus or proud flesh, and thus removes the only obstacle to its healing.

LYON'S KATHAIRON prevents the Hair from falling out or turning gray, renews its growth, and gives strength and vigor. It is delightfully perfumed, and makes a splendid dressing. It is the cheapest and most desirable Hair Tonic ever produced. Used by the elite. Price only 50 cents.

"PRAYER AND STEAM."

Ed. Chronicle: I read the article with the above heading (quoted from the Watchman) in your Wednesday's paper, with some anxiety. I earnestly hope it will not include many people to pray railroad trains off the regular time-tables, or the result may be a smash-up, which will give a good many of the rest of us something serious to pray about.

A TRAVELLER.

THE NEW REBELLION.

We are not sure but we shall yet be compelled to apologize to the young democracy for our want of faith in their independence, for it looks now very much as though they will positively refuse to be whipped into the traces, they not proposing to be longer harnessed to the triumphal car on which the gentlemen who have held or controlled all the offices in the gift of the party for the past twenty years hope to ride into still better positions should the great "reformer" be elected next November. A preliminary meeting, looking to the formation of an opposition Tilden club, was held somewhere by the progressives on Tuesday evening—where we have not heard, but we know it was held somewhere. This meeting of course had not been called in the regular party organ, yet it was attended by between thirty and forty of the active workers of the party; and the temper displayed was not at all favorable to the hopes of the old office-holders who had in prospective seen themselves (in the event of a Tilden victory) rewarded for their eminent services—as exemplified in their leadership of the "Tilden Reform Club,"—with good places in the custom house and post office or at the navy yard, and with full power to distribute all the other government patronage among their friends. The malcontents say that the old Bourbon clique has ruled the party much longer than has been for its good, and that the men who have tor so long a time monopolized the offices in the gift of the party should give way to younger, or at least other, men. Another obstacle in the way of a smooth flow of the current of democratic affairs in this city, is the prominence of Mr. William F. Russell as a party leader; why there should be so bitter a repugnance to following his leadership we do not know; we only know that such a repugnance exists, and that it is almost bitter enough, on the part of some of the old fellows who have all their lives voted the democratic ticket, to make them vote the republican ticket as an indication that they will not accept him as their acknowledged boss wire-puller. After carefully sifting all the rumors we have heard as to the proceedings and composition of Tuesday evening's meeting of democrats, we feel safe in asserting that a new "Tilden Reform Club" will be formed, and will include in its membership quite a number of those who were appointed officers of the original one. We shall see what we shall see.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

Another serious accident happened on the ill-fated Eastern Railroad on Wednesday, by which one man lost his life, another was seriously wounded and much property destroyed. A freight train had just crossed the Mystic river bridge, going into Boston, when a large block of granite fell off a car under the wheels, throwing fourteen cars off the track and most of them down a ten-foot embankment. A man named Colton was killed, and George Sherman seriously wounded. No trains had passed the wreck up to noon. The cars were owned by the Boston & Albany Railroad.

JOTTINGS.

Tickets for the Grangers' Festival at Boar's Head can be procured of Mr. Clarence B. Mason, at 75 cts. each. For particulars see article in another column.

Over four hundred thousand general accident policies have been issued by the Travellers' Accident Company, on which it has paid indemnity damages of over two million, four hundred thousand dollars. "Better be insured."

Station Agent Samuel Barrett is to have a mountain excursion Wednesday, Sept. 6th, over the Eastern railroad. Fare to the Fabyan House and return, $2.25; and to the summit of Mount Washington and return to the hotel, $4. The tickets will be good for seven days.

Mr. Frank L. Burnham, the well known cornet player of the late Marine Band, now plays in the orchestra of the Portland Museum.

Accidents occurring around us every day, safety and prudence requires all active men to call on Morse & Ilsley and take out a general accident policy in the Travelers'. It remedies the evils of accident as far as is possible.

We have received from R. H. Curran & Co., Fine Art Publishers, of 28 School street, Boston, copies of the Steel Engravings of the National Republican Presidential Candidates, engraved and printed by the Continental Bank Note Company, in pure line. They are life-like portraits, executed in a superior manner, and merit a wide circulation. They are furnished at the low price (considering the quality) of one dollar each.

A number of our citizens will go to Philadelphia next month to attend the Centennial, and to witness the great demonstration to be made by the Order of Odd Fellows on the 20th of September. The committee of arrangements have already had notice that eighty thousand of the fraternity will be in line. Reduced rates on railroads and at hotels, for members of the Order and their friends, have been arranged for.

Three accidents injuring five persons, all in one day in our immediate vicinity reported by our local papers, "and no fires;" yet probably all the injured are insured against fire, but none against accidents. Which is of the most value, property or the human body? When injured, which is the easiest repaired? The fact is, people do not yet fully appreciate the cheapness and importance of accident insurance.—Times.

The Republic Magazine for September is one of the most powerful numbers yet issued of this valuable monthly. No public man or private citizen who believes in republican principles should fail to subscribe for this magazine. It has been a power for good in former campaigns, and will so prove in this. The following is the table of contents for the present number: Election Frauds; The Republican Party of the Past and Present; Horace Greeley vs. S. J. Tilden; United States Bonds and Notes; Universal Amnesty and Universal Suffrage; How England Encourages Her Men of Letters; The Chinese Plank; Scandal in the Earlier Days of the Republic; Democratic Inconsistency; The Virtuous Democracy; Tilden's Letter of Acceptance; Free Schools at the South; Work of the Forty-Fourth Congress; verbatim report of the great speech of General Garfield and speech of General Hurlbut. Send $2 to the Republic Publishing Company, Washington, D. C., and subscribe for one year. No better investment could be made in these times.

Grangers' Reunion.

The second annual Reunion and Festival of the Grangers and farmers of Rockingham county will be held at Boar's Head Hotel on Thursday, Sept. 7. The programme of the day will be music, dinner at hotel, speeches, dancing, etc. His Excellency Gov. Cheney, with Gen. Natt Head of Hooksett, Gen. Wm. Sutton, of Salem, Hon. A. R. Hatch, of Portsmouth. Hon. John B. Clarke and Hon. James O. Adams of Manchester, with the State Board of Agriculture, also the officers of the State Grange, and many other leading agricultural men have been invited and are expected to be present. A band of music will be in attendance; also a quadrille band for dancing. Mr. Dumas will furnish the same bill of fare as at the last reunion, which will include fish chowder, clam chowder, bread and crackers, tea, coffee, ice cream, fruit, etc., together with the use of his hotel and the beautiful grounds surrounding it. It is desirable that the members of the several Granges will contribute meats, cake, pastry, etc. Contributions of flowers will be very acceptable. Committee of arrangements,—J. G. Gilman, Exeter; C. B. Mason, Portsmouth; L. T. Sanborn, Hampton Falls. Should the weather prove unfavorable Thursday, the reunion will be held the next fair day.

Battle of the Bees.

A correspondent of a Georgia paper describes a desperate encounter between American and Italian bees. "Bees are very much disposed to rob each other's hives. They don't know what fear is and will fight anything. A swarm gets out of honey, or finds that it has not enough to last through the winter, and it organizes into a raiding party and sallies out on the war path, ready to attack the first hive it finds. A party of these robbers came and sat in one of my Italian hives recently. A good many of my bees were out gathering honey, and the marauders effected a lodging on my hive and fought their way inside the hive, though the home guard of the Italians fought with desperation and contested ever inch of the ground. It was the fiercest fight you ever saw. A regular hand-to-hand Waterloo. A tempest of short, shrill notes and hoarser hums (the war cries of the combatants) were heard fifty yards. The fight is strictly hand-to-hand. An Italian bee throws himself in front of an American bee to stop his progress. Two or three little Americans throw themselves with blind fury on the gigantic foreigner, and nip him with their sharp, snapping beaks in a thousand places. The object with him seems to be to catch them by the tip of the wing and give it a twist, which breaks or splits it, and deprives him of the power of flying. It is then easy for the Italian to bounce him and finish him up. The robbers have just about fought their way into the honey cells when the tide of battle begins to change. A great many of the Italians have come in from their honey hunt, and seeing in a moment how the thing is, pitch in, and being fresh and vigorous, literally cut their way through the ranks of the little Americans. Enough of these have come to turn the fortunes of the fight. The defeat never becomes a rout, though. Though thousands of the soldiers are slain, the balance continue the fight until all are dead except a few dozen of them. They still wage the arrogant war, being determined on "honey or death," and they will struggle until actually the last one is slain. Then, without a moment's rest, the Italians plunge into the mass of the dead and dying and commence carrying the dead out of the hive. I came to their help, and actually took over two quarts of dead bees out of the hive, and the Italians retired to dress their wounds and discuss the combat. I never saw such a desperate fight in my life. I suppose it was a 'ground hog case' with the invading party."

—A Columbus, O., girl has recently accomplished the much-talked-of feat of eating thirty quails in as many days.

—Now we know why Tilden never married. He was opposed to setting the day, for fear it would be a hindrance to his wedding.—Lowell Courier.

—Dr. Dobb says that in the millennium people will feel that it is the highest mark of affection and mutual confidence to say to a friend, "Let us sit down and hold our tongues together."

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.

COOKED CORNED BEEF.

Articles are being published calculated to prejudice the public against using Cooked Corned Beef, and we would say in answer to them that in no instance has positive proof been established to show that such is the case.

Our goods are packed in a manner very similar to that of Corn, Tomatoes, Fruit and canned goods generally, (which have long been tested) and we use nothing whatever of a poisonous nature in their preparation.

In addition to our own statement we have the strong endorsement of Prof. Hosford of Cambridge, one of the most eminent Chemists in the country, who has fully tested and is familiar with the entire details of the preparation of our goods.

We would also state that we use none but the choicest of Beef that our Chicago market affords, and trust that with these statements the rapidly growing popularity of our Corned Beef may be increased.

For the information of those not knowing the fact we would state that in the process of canning there is a liability of imperfect sealing, which causes the can to expand. Meat contained in such cans is unfit for use and will be cheerfully paid for when returned to any grocer selling it.

Daily Chronicle.

—A Wisconsin school teacher had revenge when the board cut her salary down. She licked every scholar in school, destroyed four maps, carried off the keys, and in the lawsuit which followed she beat the board sky-high.

—It is said of the late Gov. Briggs, of Massachusetts, that he requested a lady whom he met at a party, and who took him to task for declining to drink wine at the table, to think over the families of her acquaintance, and note the effects of intemperance, among them. She accepted the challenge, and in a little time responded with, "O, Governor Briggs! how could you ask me to do such a thing at a party? I am appalled. It is so dreadful to find that I do not know a family that does not number one victim, and some have all their brightest and best fall by it—fathers, husbands, children. It is too dreadful to think of; I would not have believed it. You are quite right, and I will never ask you to drink wine, nor even call you fanatical for not taking it."

CONDITION PILLS!
The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaints, Billiousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!
No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:
Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.
WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1
MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.
Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.
WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875
MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 20th, and wrote you February 23d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have no fear but I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.
Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.
WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.
MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.
Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."
EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.
MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another Dollar. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.
Wonderful Effect of Four Doses of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills upon Neuralgia of Twelve Years' Duration—Testimony of Rev. J. S. Patton.
DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.
MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when there came to my residence Mr. H. M. Mills, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.
Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.
LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.
THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who know me. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL
Is the ultima thule o Medical Discovery.
Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.
CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve Your Lungs.
For the terrible diseases engendered by the lungs trying climate of New England;
PULMOCINE CORDIAL
is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.
For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, etc.,
—USE—
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.
The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Messrs. FROTHINGHAM & Co. are very extensive brokers, of large experience and tried integrity. Relief and Health to Your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT EFFORTED IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when duely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in the matter WHAT WE DO KNOW, after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION ON THE TRUTHFULNESS OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be obtained in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in

Thousands of Cases.

LINCOLN BUTTER POWDER.

Good Fresh Butter All The Year Round.

BUTTER IN 20 MINUTES.

Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a celebrated English recipe, and now in daily use by many of the most noted farmers in the better counties across Philadelphia.

In hot weather the Powder makes butter much firmer and sweeter than it usually is, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, weeds, corn stalks, cotton seed, etc.; and the increased yield of butter much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

Nasby in Indiana.

Nasby last week attended a meeting of the leaders of the party and those appointed to stump the State of Indiana, held at Indianapolis, in order that they might be instructed in their duties by the grand organizer. After arranging as to the distribution of offices in case of success, and allaying numerous jealousies arising on that ground, the grand organizer dwelt on the different questions at issue, and the ground to be taken by democratic speakers. The currency question was disposed of as follows:

"Lemme see," he sed, "wat State am I in? Oh, yes, I remember, Injeany. I find, by referrin to my instrucksheas, that in Injeany yoo must be soft-money—modistly in the Northern part of the State, but rampantly in the extreme Southern part, going as fur as Pendleton did, with a strong and decided leanin toward repoodiashun. Also down heer yoo may sandwich in as much of the nigger as yoo kin git in. If yoo hev any old banners left over from former campanes denouncin nigger equality and deprecatin marryin niggers, it wood be well to trot em out agin. Returnin to the currency, if any of yoo shood be called to speek in other States—wich yoo probably won't be," he added, glancin at their faces, "don't tech the topic at all till yoo hev consulted the lokle committee. Be very kerful about this. And in other States don't go on the platform full of likker, so as you shel not hev poor memories. Be kerful about this, for if yoo shood make an Injeany speech in Connecticut it wood rooin us. Don't git drunk till after the meetins, and after the people hev all gone home. Here yoo may do as yoo please, for I shood suppose the drunker the man wuz the more he wood talk to the satisfaction of the Injeany democrisy, but in Connecticut and Noo York it's different. Yoo must keep sober till after the meetins there."

Whereupon the speekers all rose as one man and remarked that if it wuz all the same they didn't want to go to Connecticut or any of them beastly States to speek. They wuz simple sons of nacher, and dispised a bloated aristocracy, sich as the grand organizer wuz describin.

Then I rose.

"Sir," sed I, with a stern and determined look, "one thing more remains. Are we to go out like the Appossels without scrip in our purses? That cood be done in Joodee, for that climit wuz mild enuff to sleep out doors, and the Appossels didn't hev whisky or tobacker to buy, as I hev bin informed. I never saw in any Bible I ever red any account of ther doin' it."

"My friends," sed the grand organizer, "all of this hez ben provided for. Do yoo suppose the great reformer wood let the coz of reform be jeopardized for want of money? Do yoo suppose that John Morrisey wood let us go into the skrimmage unprovided? He is runnin his three faro banks nite and day, and hez pledged all his profits to the coz. We hev assessed all the men to whom we hev promised the Fedrel offices in Noo York, for money to kerry Injeany, and we hev all that we kin yoose."

And he gave each of us enuff to do wat shood be nessessary, and instructed us to draw on the committy in Noo York for more, ez fast as it mite be needed, and went his way.

A Day in Alderney.

The island (Alderney) is held in small, most of them, very small, farms, tilled by the owner, and every available bit of it is under cultivation, the division of the little parallelograms which constitute the different properties, but easily distinguished by the difference of crops. Every plot has its Alderney cow, judiciously tethered so as to admit of its getting enough to eat without permitting waste. At this season of the year the cows are kept out all night, the owners coming out to milk them, and returning to their houses in the town, where every one lives, there being no scattered farmhouses on the island. During the winter the cattle are kept entirely indoors, and, indeed, the little island must be very bleak, exposed to the full force of the Atlantic gales, with no shelter anywhere except on the one road, which is bounded by high stone walls. Such a state of society, of course, affords no room for the middle classes, and except the officers stationed here, the doctor and the rector are the only gentlefolks on the island, which, however, appears equally free from paupers. Everybody is well dressed, and the poorest house is a palace compared with the ordinary cottage of the English peasant. Certainly, if peasant proprietorship is not favorable to the accumulation of wealth in a few hands, it is at any rate hostile to pauperism; and there is probably a much higher average of happiness in Alderney than in any English community of the same size. The clergyman, it appears, has held the living for nearly twenty years, and his children have been educated on the island, never going further than Guernsey—which place, indeed seems to be regarded by the people of Alderney as the embodiment of all that is extensive and magnificent. Truly a curious life to be going on so close to the high pressure of modern times. At Guernsey, with its daily steamer from Southampton, you get your Times only one day old, and the evening Pall Mall on the following day, and plenty of money is spent in the island which has been saved elsewhere; but at Alderney the only communication with the outer world is by means of a very small packet called there "The Cutter," but which is in fact a yawl, which plies to Guernsey, and occasionally arrives at its destination, bringing back the mails and such small cargo as constitutes the import trade. The cutter must have a bad time of it during the long winter nights on that dangerous coast, for it can hardly make the passage in a winter's day.

The only shops in Alderney are the butcher's, the baker's and the grocer's; for the people, although they have enough to live upon, having little or no spare cash, there is no room for commercial development. We did not see a book or print for sale in the place. Another phenomenon which would have interested a political economist was the total absence of the commercial spirit, owing to the want of any stimulating cause to bring it out. At Guernsey and the French ports this spirit was rife enough, and the arrival of a yacht is the signal for boats to put off with the tradesmen's cards, soliciting custom; but at Alderney, where it might have been supposed the appearance of a yacht full of hungry people would have been hailed as an excellent agency for getting rid of their superfluous edibles, there was not only no desire, but an absolute disinclination to sell. The butcher made quite a favor of letting us have some meat, although his unwillingness might be accounted for from the fact that he had only a limited stock for his regular customers, all of which comes from Cherbourg; but there was just the same difficulty about getting butter and milk, the staple produce of the island. After much inquiry, and being passed on from one house to another, we at last came upon one, the owner of which confessed to dealing in milk. When the article had been measured out, however, a difficulty arose about carrying it away, as we had forgotten to bring the yacht's milk can with us. As the lady did not offer to help us out of it, we asked if she could direct us to any place where we could buy an empty bottle. They would sell us a bottle at the house on the left, four doors lower down, she'd dare say, if we asked them, "and they will sell you milk, too," she added, as we were quitting the shop, pouring, as she spoke, the milk we had just purchased back into the can. Scarcity, therefore, does not always create competition. The ways of seller and buyer are very much matters of habit; and from having no market for their wares, the good people of Alderney have lost the desire for one.

Daily Chronicle.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1876.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

Hayes said, in 1861: "This war is a perfect outrage, and I will lend if I was sure I would die in it, rather than live through no assistance whatever and after it, and have no to its prosecution. part in it."

Tilden said, in 1861; "I would go into this war if I was sure I would die in it, rather than live through no assistance whatever and after it, and have no to its prosecution. part in it."

Which is Right?

The Portsmouth (N. H.) Times, democratic, says: "Wherever in the South you find the democrats in power, there you will find peace, prosperity, an unburdened State, the people industrious, and the negro contented, with no rights infringed upon."

The State of Texas has been wholly under democratic control for years; consequently it must be "an unburdened State" in which "peace" and "prosperity" abound. But the Houston (Texas) Age, democratic, says: "Nothing can be more humiliating to the good sense of the people of Texas or to the manhood of the State than the weak and disgusting vacillation of the legislature upon the question of suppressing crime and lawlessness. For weeks they have been debating and filling the halls of power with the most senseless twaddle, while the six-shooter of the assassin is being heard all over the State. Men are being shot down, and the young, tender girls of our homes are being hung up to trees like dogs, and their beautiful forms left to rot in the mud of the creeks, there to serve as feasts for the buzzards of the air." And the San Antonio (Texas) Herald, democratic, says: "In our legislature the characteristic feature is waste and extravagance. Offices are multiplied, salaries increased, and the people's domain squandered in the most reckless manner; and the sacred trust—the school fund, amounting to $800,000—committed to their fiduciary care, is also violently seized and appropriated to the payment of the mileage and per diem, and other expenses of this session of the legislature, and to make good the deficit in the State Treasury. * * They have run the expenditures of the State from about a couple of hundred thousand dollars a year [under republican rule] into millions. * * Our State Government is a curse and our laws are a mockery, and we call upon our people to rouse to action and apply the corrective. By the apathy of the State government anarchy prevails and lawlessness and crime abound. The people must act in their own defense. The Governor and legislature will not!"

From the foregoing extracts we judge that the democratic press of New Hampshire thinks more highly than the democratic press of Texas does of the kind of "peace" and "prosperity" furnished by the democratic government of Texas.

The Times further tells us that wherever the democrats rule in the South the negro "has no rights infringed upon." But the Raleigh (N. C.) Sentinel, democratic, says: "Evidently it needs a democratic administration in the South to keep the negro in his proper place;" the Wadesborough (N. C.) Herald, democratic, says: "Niggers belong in the cotton and rice, tobacco and corn fields, not in political conventions, in legislatures, nor on juries;" the Newton (Miss.) Bulletin, democratic, says: "Radicalism has played out in Mississippi, and it is time the negro was learning that fact;" the Meridian (Miss.) Mercury, democratic, says, under date of August 3: "We called upon the people to 'step upon the platform' which denamed it, and form the White Line beyond it. The summons was music to their ears, and the unconquered and unconquerable Texan race of Mississippi rallied to the slogan. * * We have got the State; we know how we got it; we know how to keep it; and we are going to keep it without regard to race or numerical majority;" the Holly Springs (Miss.) Reporter, democratic, under date of August 3, says: The idea that Mississippi will be carried for Tilden and Hendricks without a united and strenuous effort on the part of the democracy is a mistaken one. It is not wise to create false impressions in a matter of such extreme importance. Mississippi can only be carried by constant, vigilant and powerful exertion on the part of the people who compose the democratic party. Let it not be forgotten that a large majority is to be overcome;" and the other democratic papers of the South all talk in a similar strain.

The Times flatly contradicts the southern democratic papers concerning the condition of the democratic State of the South; which is right?

News and Notes.

The Charleston "Swamp Angel" has been sold for old iron in Trenton, N. J.

A New Jersey farmer has sent twelve tons of currants to the New York market this season.

A two hundred foot cave has been discovered above the river at Decotah, Ia., which retains a floor and a ceiling of solid ice all summer.

A very worthy gentleman, the other morning, pouring over the Eastern news and reading aloud, read about the immediate "accession" of hostilities.

Petroleum speculators do not complain of hard times. Oil has advanced four dollars a barrel within three months, and they making money fast.

Commodore Vanderbilt has sent a letter of condolence to the family of the late Dr. Anthony Bescheit, who was one of the commodore's consulting physicians.

Capt. A. C. Rhind, U. S. N., Lighthouse Inspector of the 3d District, gives the following "notice to mariners," which should rather be headed "Notice to Hotel-keepers:" "A person calling himself Lieut. Charles H. Rockwell, U. S. N., and claiming to be connected with the Lighthouse establishment, has been visiting various hotels near lighthouses and defrauding hotel keepers and others on the strength of his pretentions, leaving his bills unpaid, borrowing money, getting worthless drafts cashed, etc. The impostor is described as about five feet ten inches in height, weighs about 180 pounds, has a heavy dark mustache, which he twirls when speaking, and sometimes wears a navy cap and navy buttons on a sack coat. He is supposed to be a man who was formerly employed in the lamp shop at Staten Island, and in this way acquired the familiarity which he displays with lighthouse work. In other places he may assume other names. The public is cautioned against him."

Political.

The Connecticut republicans at their convention Wednesday renominated the entire State ticket of last year.

The New York democrats on Wednesday nominated Horatio Seymour as their candidate for governor by acclamation, adopted a platform and adjourned until Thursday.

Gen. N. P. Banks comes out squarely for Hayes and Wheeler. It seems that he is not yet quite ready to trust the government with Southern fire-eaters and Northern secessionists. The General made his first speech of this campaign in Waltham on Wednesday which is said to have been an able effort. He denounced the democratic party as a party controlled by violent men and depending on murder and intimidation to secure the united vote of the South in the coming election.

A Hundred Years Ago.

One hundred years ago it took two days to go from Concord to Boston; now it takes three hours. Then the price of supper, lodging and breakfast on the road was a pistareen and a half (thirty cents); now it is three dollars. Then all work was honestly done (as witness two pork barrels in the cellar under the house in which I write, which have been in use since 1731); now honest work, as the term was then understood, is unknown. Then girls were educated to become thrifty and healthy mothers; now it is considered more important to make a good match. In 1722 the average number of children in each family in New Hampshire was seven; now it is two; there was at that time one physician to every four hundred souls; there is now one to every seventy-five; suits at law for all purposes not criminal then averaged one annually for every hundred inhabitants; they now average one for every twenty-four. The expenses which a well-to-do family incurred every year for its support were at that time four hundred dollars, they are now nearly thrice that sum.

When the war of the Revolution began there was but one man in this State who was worth more than thirty thousand dollars; there are now forty-five worth more than a million. There were then thirty-five wheel carriages, and they were all chaises save two; there are now forty-seven thousand. Oxen then did all the agricultural work, and there were twelve hundred and forty-one yokes of them in the State; oxen and horses now equally divide such work, and they number hundreds of thousands.

The Hollering Woman.

There is, says the Burlington Hawkeye, one "hollering woman" in every street. A woman who never goes after anybody, but always calls across the street. Who never looks for her children, but rushes to the front gate and shrieks for them, until, in the pauses of her shouting, she hears them answering from the room she has just left. Every street has one "hollering woman." No street has more, for as soon as two "hollering women" are thrown by pitiless fate upon one street, the neighbors vacate and emigrate until rents come down, or, as it oftener happens, one of the "hollering women" pulls up stakes and goes elsewhere, for they cannot brook opposition. The "hollering woman" generally manages to keep her street in a lively state of elocutionary excitement, and if you happen to live within understanding distance your diurnal serenade is something like this: "Tommy! Tom-mee! Tom-my! Oh, Tommy! You Tom! Come right along here and break up some of this dry wood, or I'll break your back! Mary! You Mar-ree! You get right down off that tree-box this minit, you great tom-boy, or I'll skin you within an inch of your life! Ma-ree! Oh, Miss Pinkhard! Miss Pinkhard! Oh-h-h! Miss Pinkhard! Won't you tell your milk man, when he comes, to stop at my gate? Mine come this morning before we was up. E-ras-mus! E-rasmus! E-e-e-rasmus! E-e-e-ras-mus! Come right home and take this pail of molasses back to the grocer, and tell him if he can't send what I ordered I don't want any! Erasmus, I say! Oh Miss Harralson! How's the baby's measles? Did you try that tea I sent over last night? Who cut your new polonaise? Ma-ree! Mary! Where's Emeline gone to, I'd like to know! Didn't I tell you not to let her get out of your sight a minute? Now, you hunt her up, and bring her right home. Good morning, Miss Barnaby! Did you know they was burglars over to Throopses last night? Got in at the kitchen winder, and took a pair of Mr. Throop's pants with a dollar and a half in 'em, and Miss Throop's big jet breastpin! Where you going? Tommy! Tommee! Oh, Tom! Mary, I say! Erasmus! Oh, Miss Pinkhard!" The serenade continues at random all day long, and is familiar to every one who has lived within a gunshot of the "hollering woman."

Causes of War.

A certain king sent to another king, saying, "Send me a blue pig with a black tail, or else ——"

The other replied, "I have not got one, and if I had ——"

On this weighty cause they went to war. After they had exhausted their armies and resources, and laid waste their kingdoms, they began to wish to make peace; but before this could be done it was necessary that the insulting language that led to the trouble should be explained.

"What could you mean," asked the second king of the first, by saying, "Send me a blue pig with a black tail, or else ——?"

"Why," said the other, "I meant a blue pig with a black tail, or else some other color. But what could you mean by saying, I have not got one, and if I had ——?"

"Why, of course, if I had I should have sent it."

The explanation was satisfactory, and peace was accordingly concluded. This story of the two kings ought to serve as a lesson to us all. Most of the quarrels between individuals are quite as foolish as the war of the blue pig with a black tail.

—A Toronto widow named Goodman was recently reunited to her daughter, Lizzie Goodman, after having lost all trace of her for over a year. Early in May, 1875, the girl suddenly disappeared from her home, and from that time, although much money and time were expended in searching for her, Mrs. Goodman could learn nothing of her whereabouts. At the time of leaving home she was but 12 years old. Her beauty and accomplishments as a vocalist had attracted the attention of the manager of a peripatetic varieties show, who, by offers of a good salary, enticed her away from home. After two months' travel she found herself in Fremont, Ohio, where the show had broken up, the manager having left the party penniless and in debt. Thrown upon her own resources and afraid to go home, Miss Goodman secured work as nurse girl in a respectable family in Fremont, where she worked nearly six months. Then she moved to Toledo, where she secured similar employment and held her place until last June, when she came to Detroit. Having a little money she engaged board at a cheap lodging-house and set out in search of work, and at last accepted a place in a saloon. Four or five weeks ago an officer, attracted by the childish appearance of the girl, found out where she boarded and put the landlady on the trail with the request that she question her boarder and ascertain something of her history. The landlady did her part well, and the result was that the officer was enabled to correspond with Mrs. Goodman, and soon after the thankful girl and still more thankful mother were united again.

A Theory Borne Out by Facts.

The theory that lack of vigor is the underlying cause of disease is receiving daily confirmation of the most positive kind in the cure of dyspepsia, liver disorders, and kidney, bladder and uterine complaints by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the ruling remedy for maladies attributable to weakness. This aromatic tonic is never employed without the most beneficial effects. The liver, the bowels, the organs of urination, and indeed the entire system acquires both vigor and regularity through its action, since it gives a healthful impetus to every failing function. It is an incomparable specific for chills and fever, and other maladies of a malarial type, prevents unpleasant attacks, is a reliable means of counteracting the effects of undue exposure or fatigue, and soothes as well as strengthens the nervous organism.

NOTHING IS MORE HARASSING than ulcers or boils. Fortunately they can be quickly healed by the use of Lyon's Sulphur Soap, which purges the sore of its poisonous virus or proud flesh, and thus removes the only obstacle to its healing.

LYON'S KATHAIRON prevents the Hair from falling out or turning gray, renews its growth, and gives strength and vigor. It is delightfully perfumed, and makes a splendid dressing. It is the cheapest and most desirable Hair Tonic ever produced. Used by the elite. Price only 50 cents.

E. G PIERCE, JR., P. M.

A GOOD THING.

Mayor Broughton, in his inaugural, referred to two important provisions of the late amendment of the city charter, viz.: the closing of the polls in all the wards at a uniform and reasonable hour, and the making up of the check-lists by a board of officers chosen from both parties, instead of as heretofore leaving the checklists entirely in the hands of the majority party in each ward. Both these provisions are unquestionably in the interests of honest dealing, the checklist clause providing that the board shall be in session three entire days before election day, thus effectually doing away with one prolific source of complaint from both parties—that their opponents did not allow sufficient time for proper revision of the lists; while the early closing of the polls will prevent such after-dark proceedings as have sometimes disgraced some wards of the city. But Mr. Broughton did not mention what to us seems the most important provision of the amendment,—that opposite each voter's name on the checklist his residence shall be designated. There is no room for any person or party to complain of this rule, for it is no more a hardship for a voter to have his residence designated on the list than to have his name placed on it, and if he has no residence he can have no right to vote. This provision we do not believe either party will ever dare repeal, for to do so would be an open declaration of intended fraud; and even should the democrats carry the State next year (of which there is no danger) we shall have had the new plan in force at two elections before they can possibly tinker the city charter, which will make it quite respectable for antiquity as city charters go in Portsmouth. We believe the democrats will take the first opportunity, whenever that may come, to repeal the early closing rule and hand the checklists back to the partisans in each ward; but even they will hardly be so reckless of appearances as to throw aside so evident a safeguard of the purity of the ballot as the naming of the voter and his residence on the same list,—a plan which will render "colonization" a matter of both difficulty and danger, and secure to the legal voters of the city full control of its affairs.

EXIT EXODUS.

By a letter from White Island, Isles of Shoals, we receive the melancholy intelligence that the light-house cat, Exodus, has gone to the place where good cats — or pretty good cats — usually go when they are through here, departing full of years and fish and with some honor, and lamented by the entire population of the island, who could remember after he was gone many good qualities they had never discovered in him when he was alive. He went to sleep one day in apparently his usual health, on a beam he had long been accustomed to occupy in warm weather, where he could scrutinize all visitors to the lighthouse in perfect safety, being too high up to be poked with canes or umbrellas; but that evening when the keeper whose watch it was went into the tower to light up, Exodus lay dead on the brick floor of the old tower, having probably fallen from his roost in a fit and broken his unlucky neck. His obsequies were all that could be demanded for a high-toned cat of the greatest—though until he was dead to a great extent undiscovered—merit, the young folks of the island community officiating as mistress and master of ceremonies; he was honored with a coffin, a wreath, and the stars and stripes to cover his bier; and the entire resident population of the island and several visitors joined in the funeral procession, each of the mourners dropping a sprig of green into the grave, which was duly marked with head and foot stones. Many a poor sailor, or worn out human being on shore, has a less imposing funeral and goes to his final rest less sincerely mourned than the old white cat of the light-station, Exodus. Requiescat.

JOTTINGS.

Vespers will be resumed at the Unitarian church next Sunday evening, at which time the Reform club will attend by invitation of the pastor, who is to deliver a special temperance discourse.

Dr. Albion M. Dudley, D. D. S., in a card in another column announces his retirement from practice here, and that he will be succeeded by Dr. Edgar M. Jewett, D. M. D.

The dramatic entertainment at Franklin Hall on Wednesday evening, by the Eclectic club, assisted by Miss Sara Jewett, drew a large and select audience. Miss Jewett was heartily received, and the Eclectics surprised as well as pleased the spectators by the manner in which they fulfilled their several parts.

The friends of Capt. Robinson, of the Appledore, give him a complimentary benefit this evening, when the Appledore will leave the wharf at 6 o'clock, returning from the Shoals at 11. The programme includes a hop at the Appledore. The Cornet Band will furnish music on the boat. Tickets for round trip, including dance at the Shoals, $1,—for sale at Preston's, the Rockingham House, and Rider & Cunningham's. A goodly number of tickets were taken up yesterday, and if but a small proportion of the captain's friends attend the steamer will be crowded. The return trip by moonlight will be "worth more than the price of admission."

The 4:45 train from Boston to this city, Thursday afternoon, was delayed by a hot box, which necessitated the leaving of one car at Ipswich. It was further delayed between the "Knownothing station" and Newburyport, by the obstruction caused by a collision between the Bangor Express and an engine, by which two engines were badly wrecked and the tracks torn up. Mr. John Teague, of this city, was riding on the loose engine and was somewhat injured.

The Times has at last heard of the revolt of the progressive democracy against the rule of the chronic office-holders of the party, and informs us that "the talked-of organization of a Young Men's Tilden Club is not intended to and can in no way interfere with the club already organized, but all members of the party here will pull together for a common purpose." Will they? the young democracy feel certain that the purpose of the managers of the original club is to secure for themselves all the fat offices, should Tilden be elected,—and unless there is some terrible crow-devouring the former won't "pull together" with the latter for any such "common purpose."

"Langdon Park, Portsmouth, N. H.," is the title of a neat and readable pamphlet giving an account of the building of the same, the dedication exercises May 25, 1876, the oration of Rev. James DeNormandie, etc. It was arranged by the chairman of the Board of Trustees, and can be had at J. H. Foster's for 25 cents a copy.

In Police Court, Thursday, John Cox, a dead beat, plead guilty on a complaint of drunkenness. He was fined $6.90 and having no money has gone to Brentwood.

William Devin was arraigned for brawl and tumult. He said he was not guilty, but the officers testified to a great noise, and the Court required him to pay the usual $9.90.

THE ENGLISH SPARROW.

Some one has introduced the English sparrow to this city, or he has introduced himself, which amounts to pretty much the same thing,—he is here. He is a noisy, arrogant, pugnacious little rascal, and though he may be very useful and ornamental in large cities, where the native song birds are rare, we don't think him much of an acquisition to Portsmouth, the numerous large gardens of which have always been liberally patronized by the hanging-birds, native sparrows, robins, etc., which eat insects quite as well as the English interloper and sing a great deal better than he. Most of these birds will be driven away from their old haunts by the new comer. An exchange, under the heading "A Bas le Sparrow," gives the following extract from a private letter written by a Brooklyn lady:

"I might have slept half the heated term away save for the miserable little sparrows. They wake me up as soon as it is light, and keep up their disagreeable chatter all day long. They are simply horrid—worse than inch-worms. The other morning I was so exasperated with them that I got up and wrote a poem—here it is:

What is the sound that greets my ear,
As soon as daylight doth appear,
And makes me wish I could not hear?
The sparrow.

What keeps all day incessant chatter,
And fills the air with noisy clatter,
And tempts me oft to say—no matter—
The sparrow.

What is it makes me spring from bed
To try and ease my aching head,
And wish that they, or I, were dead?
The sparrow.

Can nothing rid us of this pest?
Oh! not a moment should we rest
Till we had cleared from every nest,
The sparrow.

We'll live in hopes that some one may
Soon bring along a bird of prey,
With beak and claw to drive away
The sparrow.

It relieved my feelings but did not stop the sparrow. If you know of any city that contemplates importing these vile creatures, do, for humanity's sake, warn them in time. From early dawn till dark it is one incessant click-clack, with no more music than a mosquito, and forty times as loud."

A Young Girl's Sacrifice.

The name of Balfe in America is connected with a sad circumstance. But in this rapid age people forget things so quickly that I feel very little doubt that the Sir John Crampton matter is unknown to or has slipped from the memory of the great mass of your readers. Balfe's daughter Victoria, a young and beautiful girl, was about to appear on the operatic stage in London, when a man of wealth and title, Sir John Crampton, proposed to her father to marry her. She was a mere girl, he an aged man. "But," as Bella Wilfer says in Dickens' novel, "it is not so much the man as the establishment." In this case the establishment was all right; the man not exactly so. But they were married. And Sir John and Lady Crampton came to Washington, the gentleman representing England at the capital. To be brief, they found they could not live happily together, Sir John being in no sense a companion for so young a wife. Proceedings for divorce were begun by the lady, and the stand taken by Sir John was as exceptional as admirable; he said he desired to make no defence, as he loved and admired Lady Crampton so much that if her happiness would be promoted by being divorced from him, he should further her happiness in that way as in any other. He had not the slightest countercharge to make, not even of frivolity; he acknowledged the truth of the plea made by Lady Crampton; a man at his age should never have thought of marriage, a state impossible to him through age and infirmity. The divorce was granted, and Lady Crampton is now the wife of the Duke de Frias, a grandee of Spain.—London Cor. of Graphic.

—Parson Brownlow still lives, and in writing of the democratic party he is quite as vigorous and plain-spoken as ever. He says "The American people are not yet ready to see their National Government turned over to the tender mercies of the Hamburg-secession-repudiating-democracy, but in November will hurl this nefarious, God-forsaken, hell-deserving old party to that political perdition which it so richly merits."

—That was a shrewd method which an Iowa girl recently adopted to induce all her friends to attend her wedding. She didn't let them know up to the last moment who the groom was to be.

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.

COOKED CORNED BEEF.

Articles are being published calculated to prejudice the public against using Cooked Corned Beef, and we would say in answer to them that in no instance has positive proof been established to show that such is the case.

Our goods are packed in a manner very similar to that of Corn, Tomatoes, Fruit and canned goods generally, (which have long been tested) and we use nothing whatever of a poisonous nature in their preparation.

In addition to our own statement we have the strong endorsement of Prof. Hosford of Cambridge, one of the most eminent Chemists in the country, who has fully tested and is familiar with the entire details of the preparation of our goods.

We would also state that we use none but the choicest of Beef that our Chicago market affords, and trust that with these statements the rapidly growing popularity of our Corned Beef may be increased.

by means of a very small packet called there "The Cutter," but which is in fact a yawl, which plies to Guernsey, and occasionally arrives at its destination, bringing back the mails and such small cargo as constitutes the import trade. The cutter must have a bad time of it during the long winter nights on that dangerous coast, for it can hardly make the passage in a winter's day.

The only shops in Alderney are the butcher's, the baker's and the grocer's; for the people, although they have enough to live upon, having little or no spare cash, there is no room for commercial development. We did not see a book or print for sale in the place. Another phenomenon which would have interested a political economist was the total absence of the commercial spirit, owing to the want of any stimulating cause to bring it out. At Guernsey and the French ports this spirit was rife enough, and the arrival of a yacht is the signal for boats to put off with the tradesmen's cards, soliciting custom; but at Alderney, where it might have been supposed the appearance of a yacht full of hungry people would have been hailed as an excellent agency for getting rid of their superfluous edibles, there was not only no desire, but an absolute disinclination to sell. The butcher made quite a favor of letting us have some meat, although his unwillingness might be accounted for from the fact that he had only a limited stock for his regular customers, all of which comes from Cherbourg; but there was just the same difficulty about getting butter and milk, the staple produce of the island. After much inquiry, and being passed on from one house to another, we at last came upon one, the owner of which confessed to dealing in milk. When the article had been measured out, however, a difficulty arose about carrying it away, as we had forgotten to bring the yacht's milk can with us. As the lady did not offer to help us out of it, we asked if she could direct us to any place where we could buy an empty bottle. They would sell us a bottle at the house on the left, four doors lower down, she'd dare say, if we asked them, "and they will sell you milk, too," she added, as we were quitting the shop, pouring, as she spoke, the milk we had just purchased back into the can. Scarcity, therefore, does not always create competition. The ways of seller and buyer are very much matters of habit; and from having no market for their wares, the good people of Alderney have lost the desire for one.

Daily Chronicle.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1876.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT.

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

Hayes said, in 1861: "This war is a perfect outrage, and I will lend if I was sure I would die in it, rather than live through it, no assistance whatever and after it, and have no to its prosecution." Tilden said, in 1861; part in it."

Which is Right?

The Portsmouth (N. H.) Times, democratic, says: "Wherever in the South you find the democrats in power, there you will find peace, prosperity, an unburdened State, the people industrious, and the negro contented, with no rights infringed upon."

The State of Texas has been wholly under democratic control for years; consequently it must be "an unburdened State" in which "peace" and "prosperity" abound. But the Houston (Texas) Age, democratic, says: "Nothing can be more humiliating to the good sense of the people of Texas or to the manhood of the State than the weak and disgusting vacillation of the legislature upon the question of suppressing crime and lawlessness. For weeks they have been debating and filling the halls of power with the most senseless twaddle, while the six-shooter of the assassin is being heard all over the State. Men are being shot down, and the young, tender girls of our homes are being hung up to trees like dogs, and their beautiful forms left to rot in the mud of the creeks, there to serve as feasts for the buzzards of the air." And the San Antonio (Texas) Herald, democratic, says: "In our legislature the characteristic feature is waste and extravagance. Offices are multiplied, salaries increased, and the people's domain squandered in the most reckless manner; and the sacred trust—the school fund, amounting to $800,000—committed to their fiduciary care, is also violently seized and appropriated to the payment of the mileage and per diem, and other expenses of this session of the legislature, and to make good the deficit in the State Treasury. * * They have run the expenditures of the State from about a couple of hundred thousand dollars a year [under republican rule] into millions. * * Our State Government is a curse and our laws are a mockery, and we call upon our people to rouse to action and apply the corrective. By the apathy of the State government anarchy prevails and lawlessness and crime abound. The people must act in their own defense. The Governor and legislature will not!"

From the foregoing extracts we judge that the democratic press of New Hampshire thinks more highly than the democratic press of Texas does of the kind of "peace" and "prosperity" furnished by the democratic government of Texas.

The Times further tells us that wherever the democrats rule in the South the negro "has no rights infringed upon." But the Raleigh (N. C.) Sentinel, democratic, says: "Evidently it needs a democratic administration in the South to keep the negro in his proper place;" the Wadesborough (N. C.) Herald, democratic, says: "Niggers belong in the cotton and rice, tobacco and corn fields, not in political conventions, in legislatures, nor on juries;" the Newton (Miss.) Bulletin, democratic, says: "Radicalism has played out in Mississippi, and it is time the negro was learning that fact;" the Meridian (Miss.) Mercury, democratic, says, under date of August 3: "We called upon the people to 'step across the platform' which demamed it, and form the White Line beyond it. The summons was music to their ears, and the unconquered and unconquerable Texan race of Mississippi rallied to the slogan. * * We have got the State; we know how we got it; we know how to keep it; and we are going to keep it without regard to race or numerical majority;" the Holly Springs (Miss.) Reporter, democratic, under date of August 3, says: The idea that Mississippi will be carried for Tilden and Hendricks without a united and strenuous effort on the part of the democracy is a mistaken one. It is not wise to create false impressions in a matter of such extreme importance. Mississippi can only be carried by constant, vigilant and powerful exertion on the part of the people who compose the democratic party. Let it not be forgotten that a large majority is to be overcome;" and the other democratic papers of the South all talk in a similar strain.

The Times flatly contradicts the southern democratic papers concerning the condition of the democratic State of the South; which is right?

News and Notes.

The Charleston "Swamp Angel" has been sold for old iron in Trenton, N. J.

A New Jersey farmer has sent twelve tons of currants to the New York market this season.

A two hundred foot cave has been discovered above the river at Decotah, Ia., which retains a floor and a ceiling of solid ice all summer.

A very worthy gentleman, the other morning, pouring over the Eastern news and reading aloud, read about the immediate "accession" of hostilities.

Petroleum speculators do not complain of hard times. Oil has advanced four dollars a barrel within three months, and they making money fast.

Commodore Vanderbilt has sent a letter of condolence to the family of the late Dr. Anthony Bescheit, who was one of the commodore's consulting physicians.

Capt. A. C. Rhind, U. S. N., Lighthouse Inspector of the 3d District, gives the following "notice to mariners," which should rather be headed "Notice to Hotel-keepers:" "A person calling himself Lieut. Charles H. Rockwell, U. S. N., and claiming to be connected with the Lighthouse establishment, has been visiting various hotels near lighthouses and defrauding hotel keepers and others on the strength of his pretentions, leaving his bills unpaid, borrowing money, getting worthless drafts cashed, etc. The impostor is described as about five feet ten inches in height, weighs about 180 pounds, has a heavy dark mustache, which he twirls when speaking, and sometimes wears a navy cap and navy buttons on a sack coat. He is supposed to be a man who was formerly employed in the lamp shop at Staten Island, and in this way acquired the familiarity which he displays with lighthouse work. In other places he may assume other names. The public is cautioned against him."

Political.

The Connecticut republicans at their convention Wednesday renominated the entire State ticket of last year.

The New York democrats on Wednesday nominated Horatio Seymour as their candidate for governor by acclamation, adopted a platform and adjourned until Thursday.

Gen. N. P. Banks comes out squarely for Hayes and Wheeler. It seems that he is not yet quite ready to trust the government with Southern fire-eaters and Northern secessionists. The General made his first speech of this campaign in Waltham on Wednesday which is said to have been an able effort. He denounced the democratic party as a party controlled by violent men and depending on murder and intimidation to secure the united vote of the South in the coming election.

A Hundred Years Ago.

One hundred years ago it took two days to go from Concord to Boston; now it takes three hours. Then the price of supper, lodging and breakfast on the road was a pistareen and a half (thirty cents); now it is three dollars. Then all work was honestly done (as witness two pork barrels in the cellar under the house in which I write, which have been in use since 1731); now honest work, as the term was then understood, is unknown. Then girls were educated to become thrifty and healthy mothers; now it is considered more important to make a good match. In 1722 the average number of children in each family in New Hampshire was seven; now it is two; there was at that time one physician to every four hundred souls; there is now one to every seventy-five; suits at law for all purposes not criminal then averaged one annually for every hundred inhabitants; they now average one for every twenty-four. The expenses which a well-to-do family incurred every year for its support were at that time four hundred dollars, they are now nearly thrice that sum.

When the war of the Revolution began there was but one man in this State who was worth more than thirty thousand dollars; there are now forty-five worth more than a million. There were then thirty-five wheel carriages, and they were all chaises save two; there are now forty-seven thousand. Oxen then did all the agricultural work, and there were twelve hundred and forty-one yokes of them in the State; oxen and horses now equally divide such work, and they number hundreds of thousands. —Cor. Eve. Post.

The Hollering Woman.

There is, says the Burlington Hawkeye, one "hollering woman" in every street. A woman who never goes after anybody, but always calls across the street. Who never looks for her children, but rushes to the front gate and shrieks for them, until, in the pauses of her shouting, she hears them answering from the room she has just left. Every street has one "hollering woman." No street has more, for as soon as two "hollering women" are thrown by pitiless fate upon one street, the neighbors vacate and emigrate until rents come down, or, as it oftener happens, one of the "hollering women" pulls up stakes and goes elsewhere, for they cannot brook opposition. The "hollering woman" generally manages to keep her street in a lively state of elocutionary excitement, and if you happen to live within understanding distance your diurnal serenade is something like this: "Tommy! Tom-mee! Tom-my! Oh, Tommy! You Tom! Come right along here and break up some of this dry wood, or I'll break your back! Mary! You Mar-ree! You got right down off that tree-box this minit, you great tom-boy, or I'll skin you within an inch of your life! Ma-ree! Oh, Miss Pinkhard! Miss Pinkhard! Oh-h-h! Miss Pinkhard! Won't you tell your milk man, when he comes, to stop at my gate? Mine come this morning before we was up. E-ras-mus! E-rasmus! E-e-e-rasmus! E-e-e-ras-mus! Come right home and take this pail of molasses back to the grocer, and tell him if he can't send what I ordered I don't want any! Erasmus, I say! Oh Miss Haralson! How's the baby's measles? Did you try that tea I sent over last night? Who cut your new polonaise? Ma-ree! Mary! Where's Emeline gone to, I'd like to know! Didn't I tell you not to let her get out of your sight a minute? Now, you hunt her up, and bring her right home. Good morning, Miss Barnaby! Did you know they was burglars over to Throopses last night? Got in at the kitchen winder, and took a pair of Mr. Throop's pants with a dollar and a half in 'em, and Miss Throop's big jet breastpin! Where you going? Tommy! Tommee! Oh, Tom! Mary, I say! Erasmus! Oh, Miss Pinkhard!" The serenade continues at random all day long, and is familiar to every one who has lived within a gunshot of the "hollering woman."

Causes of War.

A certain king sent to another king, saying, "Send me a blue pig with a black tail, or else ——"

The other replied, "I have not got one, and if I had ——"

On this weighty cause they went to war. After they had exhausted their armies and resources, and laid waste their kingdoms, they began to wish to make peace; but before this could be done it was necessary that the insulting language that led to the trouble should be explained.

"What could you mean," asked the second king of the first, by saying, "Send me a blue pig with a black tail, or else ——?"

"Why," said the other, "I meant a blue pig with a black tail, or else some other color. But what could you mean by saying, I have not got one, and if I had ——?"

"Why, of course, if I had I should have sent it."

The explanation was satisfactory, and peace was accordingly concluded. This story of the two kings ought to serve as a lesson to us all. Most of the quarrels between individuals are quite as foolish as the war of the blue pig with a black tail.

—A Toronto widow named Goodman was recently reunited to her daughter, Lizzie Goodman, after having lost all trace of her for over a year. Early in May, 1875, the girl suddenly disappeared from her home, and from that time, although much money and time were expended in searching for her, Mrs. Goodman could learn nothing of her whereabouts. At the time of leaving home she was but 12 years old. Her beauty and accomplishments as a vocalist had attracted the attention of the manager of a peripatetic varieties show, who, by offers of a good salary, enticed her away from home. After two months' travel she found herself in Fremont, Ohio, where the show had broken up, the manager having left the party penniless and in debt. Thrown upon her own resources and afraid to go home, Miss Goodman secured work as nurse girl in a respectable family in Fremont, where she worked nearly six months. Then she moved to Toledo, where she secured similar employment and held her place until last June, when she came to Detroit. Having a little money she engaged board at a cheap lodging-house and set out in search of work, and at last accepted a place in a saloon. Four or five weeks ago an officer, attracted by the childish appearance of the girl, found out where she boarded and put the landlady on the trail with the request that she question her boarder and ascertain something of her history. The landlady did her part well, and the result was that the officer was enabled to correspond with Mrs. Goodman, and soon after the thankful girl and still more thankful mother were united again.

A Theory Borne Out by Facts.

The theory that lack of vigor is the underlying cause of disease is receiving daily confirmation of the most positive kind in the cure of dyspepsia, liver disorders, and kidney, bladder and uterine complaints by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the ruling remedy for maladies attributable to weakness. This superb tonic is never employed without the most beneficial effects. The liver, the bowels, the organs of urination, and indeed the entire system acquires both vigor and regularity through its action, since it gives a healthful impetus to every failing function. It is an incomparable specific for chills and fever, and other maladies of a malarial type, prevents their attacks, is a reliable means of counteracting the effects of undue exposure or fatigue, and soothes as well as strengthens the nervous organism.

E. G PIERCE, Jr., P. M.

A GOOD THING.

Mayor Broughton, in his inaugural, referred to two important provisions of the late amendment of the city charter, viz.: the closing of the polls in all the wards at a uniform and reasonable hour, and the making up of the check-lists by a board of officers chosen from both parties, instead of as heretofore leaving the checklists entirely in the hands of the majority party in each ward. Both these provisions are unquestionably in the interests of honest dealing, the checklist clause providing that the board shall be in session three entire days before election day, thus effectually doing away with one prolific source of complaint from both parties—that their opponents did not allow sufficient time for proper revision of the lists; while the early closing of the polls will prevent such after-dark proceedings as have sometimes disgraced some wards of the city. But Mr. Broughton did not mention what to us seems the most important provision of the amendment, — that opposite each voter's name on the checklist his residence shall be designated. There is no room for any person or party to complain of this rule, for it is no more a hardship for a voter to have his residence designated on the list than to have his name placed on it, and if he has no residence he can have no right to vote. This provision we do not believe either party will ever dare repeal, for to do so would be an open declaration of intended fraud; and even should the democrats carry the State next year (of which there is no danger) we shall have had the new plan in force at two elections before they can possibly tinker the city charter, which will make it quite respectable for antiquity as city charters go in Portsmouth. We believe the democrats will take the first opportunity, whenever that may come, to repeal the early closing rule and hand the checklists back to the partisans in each ward; but even they will hardly be so reckless of appearances as to throw aside so evident a safeguard of the purity of the ballot as the naming of the voter and his residence on the same list,—a plan which will render "colonization" a matter of both difficulty and danger, and secure to the legal voters of the city full control of its affairs.

EXIT EXODUS.

By a letter from White Island, Isles of Shoals, we receive the melancholy intelligence that the light-house cat, Exodus, has gone to the place where good cats — or pretty good cats — usually go when they are through here, departing full of years and fish and with some honor, and lamented by the entire population of the island, who could remember after he was gone many good qualities they had never discovered in him when he was alive. He went to sleep one day in apparently his usual health, on a beam he had long been accustomed to occupy in warm weather, where he could scrutinize all visitors to the lighthouse in perfect safety, being too high up to be poked with canes or umbrellas; but that evening when the keeper whose watch it was went into the tower to light up, Exodus lay dead on the brick floor of the old tower, having probably fallen from his roost in a fit and broken his unlucky neck. His obsequies were all that could be demanded for a high-toned cat of the greatest—though until he was dead to a great extent undiscovered—merit, the young folks of the island community officiating as mistress and master of ceremonies; he was honored with a coffin, a wreath, and the stars and stripes to cover his bier; and the entire resident population of the island and several visitors joined in the funeral procession, each of the mourners dropping a sprig of green into the grave, which was duly marked with head and foot stones. Many a poor sailor, or worn out human being on shore, has a less imposing funeral and goes to his final rest less sincerely mourned than the old white cat of the light-station, Exodus. Requiescat.

JOTTINGS.

Vespers will be resumed at the Unitarian church next Sunday evening, at which time the Reform club will attend by invitation of the pastor, who is to deliver a special temperance discourse.

Dr. Albion M. Dudley, D. D. S., in a card in another column announces his retirement from practice here, and that he will be succeeded by Dr. Edgar M. Jewett, D. M. D.

The dramatic entertainment at Franklin Hall on Wednesday evening, by the Eclectic club, assisted by Miss Sara Jewett, drew a large and select audience. Miss Jewett was heartily received, and the Eclectics surprised as well as pleased the spectators by the manner in which they fulfilled their several parts.

The friends of Capt. Robinson, of the Appledore, give him a complimentary benefit this evening, when the Appledore will leave the wharf at 6 o'clock, returning from the Shoals at 11. The programme includes a hop at the Appledore. The Cornet Band will furnish music on the boat. Tickets for round trip, including dance at the Shoals, $1, —for sale at Preston's, the Rockingham House, and Rider & Cunningham's. A goodly number of tickets were taken up yesterday, and if but a small proportion of the captain's friends attend the steamer will be crowded. The return trip by moonlight will be "worth more than the price of admission."

The 4:45 train from Boston to this city, Thursday afternoon, was delayed by a hot box, which necessitated the leaving of one car at Ipswich. It was further delayed between the "Knownothing station" and Newburyport, by the obstruction caused by a collision between the Bangor Express and an engine, by which two engines were badly wrecked and the tracks torn up. Mr. John Teague, of this city, was riding on the loose engine and was somewhat injured.

The Times has at last heard of the revolt of the progressive democracy against the rule of the chronic office-holders of the party, and informs us that "the talked-of organization of a Young Men's Tilden Club is not intended to and can in no way interfere with the club already organized, but all members of the party here will pull together for a common purpose." Will they? the young democracy feel certain that the purpose of the managers of the original club is to secure for themselves all the fat offices, should Tilden be elected,—and unless there is some terrible crow-devouring the former won't "pull together" with the latter for any such "common purpose."

"Langdon Park, Portsmouth, N. H.," is the title of a neat and readable pamphlet giving an account of the building of the same, the dedication exercises May 25, 1876, the oration of Rev. James DeNormandie, etc. It was arranged by the chairman of the Board of Trustees, and can be had at J. H. Foster's for 25 cents a copy.

In Police Court, Thursday, John Cox, a dead beat, plead guilty on a complaint of drunkenness. He was fined $6.90 and having no money has gone to Brentwood.

William Devin was arraigned for brawl and tumult. He said he was not guilty, but the officers testified to a great noise, and the Court required him to pay the usual $9.90.

THE ENGLISH SPARROW.

Some one has introduced the English sparrow to this city, or he has introduced himself, which amounts to pretty much the same thing,—he is here. He is a noisy, arrogant, pugnacious little rascal, and though he may be very useful and ornamental in large cities, where the native song birds are rare, we don't think him much of an acquisition to Portsmouth, the numerous large gardens of which have always been liberally patronized by the hanging-birds, native sparrows, robins, etc., which eat insects quite as well as the English interloper and sing a great deal better than he. Most of these birds will be driven away from their old haunts by the new comer. An exchange, under the heading "A Bas le Sparrow," gives the following extract from a private letter written by a Brooklyn lady:

"I might have slept half the heated term away save for the miserable little sparrows. They wake me up as soon as it is light, and keep up their disagreeable chatter all day long. They are simply horrid—worse than inch-worms. The other morning I was so exasperated with them that I got up and wrote a poem—here it is:

What is the sound that greets my ear,
As soon as daylight doth appear,
And makes me wish I could not hear?
The sparrow.

What keeps all day incessant chatter,
And fills the air with noisy clatter,
And tempts me oft to say—no matter—
The sparrow.

What is it makes me spring from bed
To try and ease my aching head,
And wish that they, or I, were dead?
The sparrow.

Can nothing rid us of this pest?
Oh! not a moment should we rest
Till we had cleared from every nest,
The sparrow.

We'll live in hopes that some one may
Soon bring along a bird of prey,
With beak and claw to drive away
The sparrow.

It relieved my feelings but did not stop the sparrow. If you know of any city that contemplates importing these vile creatures, do, for humanity's sake, warn them in time. From early dawn till dark it is one incessant click-clack, with no more music than a mosquito, and forty times as loud."

A Young Girl's Sacrifice.

The name of Balfe in America is connected with a sad circumstance. But in this rapid age people forget things so quickly that I feel very little doubt that the Sir John Crampton matter is unknown to or has slipped from the memory of the great mass of your readers. Balfe's daughter Victoria, a young and beautiful girl, was about to appear on the operatic stage in London, when a man of wealth and title, Sir John Crampton, proposed to her father to marry her. She was a mere girl, he an aged man. "But," as Bella Wilfer says in Dickens' novel, "it is not so much the man as the establishment." In this case the establishment was all right; the man not exactly so. But they were married. And Sir John and Lady Crampton came to Washington, the gentleman representing England at the capital. To be brief, they found they could not live happily together, Sir John being in no sense a companion for so young a wife. Proceedings for divorce were begun by the lady, and the stand taken by Sir John was as exceptional as admirable; he said he desired to make no defence, as he loved and admired Lady Crampton so much that if her happiness would be promoted by being divorced from him, he should further her happiness in that way as in any other. He had not the slightest countercharge to make, not even of frivolity; he acknowledged the truth of the plea made by Lady Crampton; a man at his age should never have thought of marriage, a state impossible to him through age and infirmity. The divorce was granted, and Lady Crampton is now the wife of the Duke de Frias, a grandee of Spain.—London Cor. of Graphic.

—Parson Brownlow still lives, and in writing of the democratic party he is quite as vigorous and plain-spoken as ever. He says "The American people are not yet ready to see their National Government turned over to the tender mercies of the Hamburg-secession-repudiating-democracy, but in November will hurl this nefarious, God-forsaken, hell-deserving old party to that political perdition which it so richly merits."

—That was a shrewd method which an Iowa girl recently adopted to induce all her friends to attend her wedding. She didn't let them know up to the last moment who the groom was to be.

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.

COOKED CORNED BEEF.

Articles are being published calculated to prejudice the public against using Cooked Corned Beef, and we would say in answer to them that in no instance has positive proof been established to show that such is the case.

Our goods are packed in a manner very similar to that of Corn, Tomatoes, Fruit and canned goods generally, (which have long been tested) and we use nothing whatever of a poisonous nature in their preparation.

In addition to our own statement we have the strong endorsement of Prof. Hosford of Cambridge, one of the most eminent Chemists in the country, who has fully tested and is familiar with the entire details of the preparation of our goods.

We would also state that we use none but the choicest of Beef that our Chicago market affords, and trust that with these statements the rapidly growing popularity of our Corned Beef may be increased.

For the information of those not knowing the fact we would state that in the process of canning there is a liability of imperfect sealing, which causes the can to expand. Most contained in such cans is unfit for use and will be cheerfully paid for when returned to any grocer selling it.

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the root of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 8th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yea, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

Wonderful Effect of Four Doses of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills upon Neuralgia of Twelve Years' Duration—Testimony of Rev. J. S. Patton.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get temporary relief. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; my only hope was to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The improvement here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as these pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend them to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding such other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

—USE—

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 16, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them so deep as to prevent their rising above low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vendor of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for such refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 15. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein: and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a vegetable compound, and now in daily use by many of the most noted farmers in the butter counties around Philadelphia.

A Speech from Prof. Huxley.

At an evening session of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, at Buffalo, N. Y., Professor Huxley was introduced and received a very enthusiastic reception. He then spoke as follows:

"Permit me in the first place to offer you my most hearty thanks for this, I would not say unexpected welcome, because everywhere since I landed in America it has been of this kind; but for this very cordial and hearty welcome; you will forgive me if my phraseology is inadequate, for I have always thought it the highest eloquence to condense whatever there is to be said in the fewest words. I have been told that it would be gratifying to you to have me say something, but emotion will make my speaking a difficult task. Also, I have no scientific matter to communicate, and I am unprepared. Since my arrival I have discovered that the special instinct of curiosity is altogether developed here. I experienced it almost immediately on my arrival in being interviewed by two active and intelligent representatives of your press, who put to me a series of inquiries of deepest and most profound interest, each of which would require a treatise in reply; and I am afraid I had to dismiss them with scant courtesy. It may satisfy their curiosity if I state briefly some of my general impressions of this country.

Since my arrival I have learned a great many things more, I think, than ever before in an equal space of time in my life. In England we have always taken a lively interest in America; but I think no Englishman who has not had the good fortune to visit America has any real conception of the activity of the population, the enormous distances which separate the great centres; and least of all no Englishmen understands how identical is the great basis of character on both sides of the Atlantic. An Englishman with whom I have been talking since my arrival says: 'I cannot find that I am abroad.' The great features of your country are all such as I am familiar with in parts of England and Scotland. Your beautiful Hudson reminds me of a Scotch lake. The marks of glaciation in your hills remind me of those in Scottish highlands.

I had heard of the degeneration of your stock from the English type. I have not perceived it. Some years ago one of your most distinguished men of letters, equally loved and admired in England and America, expressed an opinion which touched English feeling somewhat keenly—that there was a difference between your women and ours after reaching a certain age. He said our English women were 'beefy.' That is his word, not mine. Well, I have studied the aspect of the people that I have met here in steamboats and railway carriages, and I meet with just the same faces, the main difference as to the men being in the way of shaving. Though I should be sorry to use the word which Hawthorne did, yet in respect to stature for fine portly women, I think the average here fully as great as on the other side. Some people talk of the injurious influence of climate. I have seen no trace of the 'North American type.' You have among you the virtue which is most notable among savages, that of hospitality. You take us to a bountiful dinner, and are not quite satisfied unless we take away with us the plates and spoons. Another feature has impressed itself upon me. I have visited some of your great universities and met men as well known in the old world as in the new. I find certain differences here. The English universities are the product of government, yours of private munificence. That among us is almost unknown. The general notion of an Englishman when he gets rich is to found an estate and benefit his family. The general notion of an American, when fortunate, is to do something for the good of the people and from which benefits shall continue to flow. The latter is the nobler ambition.

It is popularly said abroad that you have no antiquities in America. If you talk about the trumpery of three or four thousand years of history, it is true. But, in the large sense as referring to times before man made his momentary appearance, America is the place to study the antiquities of the globe. The reality of the enormous amount of material here has far surpassed my anticipation. I have studied the collection gathered by Professor Marsh at New Haven. There is none like it in Europe, not only in extent of time covered, but by reason of its bearing on the problem of evolution; whereas, before this collection was made evolution was a matter of speculative reasoning, it is now a matter of fact and history as much as the monuments of Egypt. In that collection are the facts of the succession of forms and the history of their evolution. All that now remains to be asked is how, and that is a subordinate question.

With such matters as this before my mind, you will excuse me if I cannot find thoughts appropriate to this occasion. I would that I might have offered something more worthy, but I hope that your association may do what the British Association is doing—may sow the seeds of scientific inquiry in your cities and villages, whence shall arise a process of natural selection by which those minds best fitted for the task may be led to help on the work in which we are all interested. Again I thank you for your excessive courtesy, and I may almost say, affectionate reception."

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1876.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

Hayes said, in 1861: Tilden said, in 1861: "I would go into this war. "This war is a perfect if I was sure I would die in outrage, and I will lend it, rather than live through no assistance whatever and after it, and have no to its prosecution." part in it."

New Hampshire Items.

Five graduates from the last class in the Dover High School have entered Dartmouth College.

S. J. Smith, jail keeper in Strafford county, had his team stolen at Great Falls, but it was afterward recovered and the three boys who stole it arrested.

Arthur Aldrich, eleven years old, was drowned at Manchester on Thursday, while bathing in the river.

It is estimated that 15,000 bushels of blueberries have been taken out of Cambridge swamp, in Coos county, this season.

A thirty-cord pile of wood was burned at East Wakefield on Thursday. It was piled near the railroad track, and delayed a Boston bound train about two hours.

Probable and Possible Figures.

The Boston Globe is an "independent" paper, and is not at all inclined to take a too-rose-colored view of republican prospects; last Spring it warned the republicans of New Hampshire that they were conducting their canvass in a manner that must damage themselves, and evidently expected the democrats to carry the State; and now it is displeased with a "bloody shirt" National campaign, considering that there is no real cause for it and that the republicans are not wise to use it. This gives the following estimate of the electoral vote especial value, we taking it from the Globe:

Everybody admits that the Presidential election this year is likely to be very close, and there is accordingly a great deal of interest in the close and uncertain States. There has been a great change since 1872, when Grant secured 300 out of 366 electoral votes, carrying all the States but Georgia, Kentucky, Maryland, Missouri, Tennessee and Texas. The change was greatest during the first half of Grant's second term, and the States that went democratic in 1874 have an aggregate of 252 electoral votes, while those carried by the republicans have only 114. The republicans have recovered ground rapidly since, and the States, with their electoral votes, may now be classified as follows, making liberal allowances for uncertainty:

Republican.

Illinois	21
Iowa	11
Kansas	5

Indiana	15
Mississippi	8
Nevada	3
N. Hampshire	5
New Jersey	9
New York	35
Ohio	22
Oregon	3
West Virginia	5
Total	124

Now bringing in the factor of probability, suppose we add from the list of uncertain, Connecticut, Florida, Nevada, New Jersey and West Virginia, with their 27 electoral votes, to the democratic column, making the total 133; and add California, Mississippi, New Hampshire, Ohio and Oregon, with their 44 votes, to the republican column, making 183 in all. We shall leave as uncertain only Colorado, Indiana and New York, with 53 votes. The whole number, with Colorado as a State, is 369, and a majority is 185. According to this calculation Colorada alone added to the republican side will give it the election. At the Territorial election of 1874 the democrats carried Colorado, but it had previously been republican. If California, Mississippi and Oregon should have to be carried to the other side, it would raise the democratic total to 150, and reduce the republican to 166. Keeping California and Oregon on the republican side, and allowing the democrats Mississippi, would make it 141 to 175. Taking this latter as a fair calculation, assuming that Ohio is to be carried by the republicans, and granting that the democrats will secure Colorado and Indiana, it stands 175 to 159. In this case, and in any probable arrangement of the smaller uncertain States, it will be seen that New York casts the decisive vote. Reconstructing our table according to what appears to us to be the closest calculation of probabilities, and leaving only New York as the absolutely uncertain and decisive State, and it will stand thus:

Republican.

California	6
Illinois	21
Iowa	11
Kansas	5
Louisiana	8
Maine	7
Massachusetts	13
Michigan	11
Minnesota	5
Nebraska	3
New Hampshire	5
Ohio	22
Oregon	3
Pennsylvania	29
Rhode Island	4
South Carolina	7
Vermont	5
Wisconsin	10
Total	183

Democratic.

Alabama	10
Arkansas	6
Colorado	3
Connecticut	6
Delaware	3
Florida	4
Georgia	11
Indiana	15
Kentucky	12
Maryland	8
Missouri	15
Nevada	3
New Jersey	9
North Carolina	10
Tennessee	12
Texas	8
Virginia	11
Total	151

While this would give the election to the party which carried New York, it would give the republicans a decided advantage, since, if they should lose New York, the gain of any other State without a corresponding loss, or a gain of two more votes than were lost among the smaller uncertain States, would still give them the election, while if the democrats were to lose New York they could hardly hope to make up the loss. We cannot see where the necessary votes would come from.

Political.

That aggressive campaign that Governor Tilden once mentioned, seems to fall heavily upon Governor Tilden himself. Before he was placed in nomination such prominent democratic journals as the New York World, New York Express, Cincinnati Enquirer, and various others of a democratic turn politically, spoke their respective minds quite freely and in a way that caused the supporters of Governor Tilden to wince considerably. It was the New York Express that exposed his connection with the St. Louis, Terre Haute and Alton railway. It was the Cincinnati Enquirer that first exposed his shinplaster operations in Michigan and it was the Enquirer that denounced him previous to the St. Louis nomination. The latest revelation of his perjury in attempting to evade the honest payment of his taxes is but a confirmation of this democratic estimate of the character of the man.

The friends of Stillman B. Allen, Esq., and they are many, desire his nomination as a candidate for Congress from the Third Congressional District. Mr. Allen is a prominent member of the present legislature, an able and ready speaker, and an active, earnest, and energetic man. In pretical views, close application, and hard work, he is more like the retiring member than any other person we have seen named. It is not known whether he would accept the nomination.—Boston Traveller.

The leading democrats of West Virginia agree in admitting that their chances of carrying that State at the coming election are very slim. The republicans are well organized and have an extremely strong candidate for Governor, while the democrats are divided and carrying the weight of the corruptions and defalcations proven against every State administration they have elected since the war.

Kentucky excludes colored voters from juries, imposes a poll tax on colored men a dollar greater than on whites, excludes colored voters from any voice in the election of school trustees, and excludes from the public schools colored children from 16 to 20 years of age, while it admits white children of the same age.

The Atlanta (Ga.) Republican cites the case of a northern gentleman doing business in that city who threw out the stars and stripes from his dwelling on the Fourth of July, whose business has fallen off from that time, and who has been socially ostracised. Says the Republican: "So Georgia drives out another carpet-bagger, and prevents half-a-hundred from coming in. Wise beyond their generation are the chivalric and patriotic Atlanteans and Georgians."

The clerks in the Indian Bureau have accidentally discovered some gigantic democratic frauds based on the removal of the Cherokees from Upper Georgia during Van Buren's administration. Some of the claims were collected when Buchanan was President.

Ex-Sheriff Baughman, of Houston, Texas, was recently shot dead while sleeping in his store. The cause of the cowardly assassination was that Baughman was suspected of being friendly with negroes.

An additional fee of $5,000 has been traced into Mr. Tilden's pockets in 1862, making a total of $25,000 thus far proved. Yet he swore that his income in that year was only $7,118.

A single sentence from a Mississippi paper explains the exact situation in that State. Speaking of the prospect of the State going for Tilden and Hendricks, the Holly Springs Reporter concludes a vigorous appeal in these words: "Let it not be forgotton that a large majority is to be overcome." How overcome? Legally and honestly and justly a "majority," however small, should prevail. But in Mississippi the republicans are conceded to have a "large majority." How then is it to be overcome? Clearly and only as the "large majority" of the republicans at the last election in Mississippi was overcome, by fraud, intimidation and murder.

It is bad for an ardent reformer to steal a quarter of a million from a Western railroad, but to swear to a lie in order to escape the tax upon it argues a degree of meanness that no one but Sam Tilden could be capable of.—Cincinnati Gazette.

The Argus is not opposing the democratic party; it is opposing an insincere sham and government swindler in the party. We are doing just what Tilden pretended to do when he fought Tweed. We are opposing a corrupt man. We believe with Gov. Seymour that the final restoration of fraternal feeling in this country must come through the democratic party; but we also believe that it would be the end of the party's power for good should it mistakenly elevate such a man as Tilden to the head of the nation. Tilden has proven himself to be a venal despot. We had better bear those ills we have than invite worse ones.—Brooklyn Argus (dem.)

Dorsheimer is the democratic candidate for Lieut. Governor of New York.

Horatio Seymour positively refuses to accept the democretic nomination for Governor of New York.

News and Notes.

The poor child Pomeroy, who was impelled to torture, disfigure and ruin for life so many smaller and feebler children in Massachusetts, and to murder two of them, has had his death sentence commuted to imprisonment for life by the Governor and Council of that State. He will next appear as the hero of a dime novel, and his example and escape from just punisment will probably serve as seed for a crop of other "boy fiends."

Luella Martin, of Lowell, Mass., seriously and it is supposed fatally wounded her lover, Charles Ricker, on Thursday night, by shooting him. She then took a large dose of laudanum, but her life was saved by medical assistance. Neither of the parties were of any account.

There was a brutal prize fight in New Jersey on Thursday, between two Philadelphia roughs named Weeden and Walker. Walker was killed, and left on the field. Several of the wretches participating in the affair have been arrested.

The suspension of the Miner's Trust Company, of Pottsville, Pa., looks badly for the depositors. The liabilities are $1,382,000, and the total assets (some of which are not available) $186,000.

William McLaughlin, living in Boston, on Wednesday, August 30, beat and kicked his wife so terribly that she cannot survive. The probable murderer is a worthless, quarrelsome, drunken wretch.

An entire family, consisting of a Methodist minister, Rev. W. G. England, his wife, a daughter and four sons, were murdered near Montague, Texas, August 26th, by a gang of masked men. Plunder is supposed to have been the motive for the butchery.

A Sunday school picnic party, in Brooklyn, N. Y., undertook to race with another vehicle when returning from the picnic, but were overturned, and one woman was killed and several women and children injured. Several of the picnic party had been drinking intoxicating liquors.

The Right Time to Get Married.

One of the things which young people seem to be the most anxious to know is "the right time to get married," as some of them put it.

The great majority of young people are poor, and get comparatively small wages. They naturally suppose that if they get married it will cost more to live than it costs them while they are single. So the question with them is: Shall we marry while we are young and poor, or wait till we get older and better off? And that is the real question in their minds when they inquire as to "the right time to get married."

There can be no rate laid down on this subject which will fit all cases. Some people are naturally so industrious and thrifty that they will get along under almost any circumstances. Others are so lazy and shiftless that they cannot get along under any circumstances. The right time for the first class to get married is whenever they choose to do so, while the right time for the other class to get married seldom comes at all.

A young couple who truly love each other and are willing to work hard and live economically, and patiently build up their fortunes little by little, may safely send for the clergyman as soon as it may be convenient. But young people who are lazy and extravagant, and care more for show than for solid welfare, should wait till they acquire correct notions of life and thrifty habits before marrying.

—The woman who runs the steam engine in the pavilion at the Centennial Exposition says that too work requires far less attention than the care of a child all day.

A Theory Borne Out by Facts.

The theory that lack of vigor is the underlying cause of disease is receiving daily confirmation of the most positive kind in the cure of dyspepsia, liver disorders, and kidney, bladder and uterine complaints by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the ruling remedy for maladies attributable to weakness. This superb tonic is never employed without the most beneficial effects. The liver, the bowels, the organs of nutrition, and indeed the entire system acquires both vigor and regularity through its action, since it gives a healthful impetus to every failing function. It is an incomparable specific for chills and fever, and other maladies of a malarial type, prevents their attacks, is a reliable means of counteracting the effects of undue exposure or fatigue, and soothes as well as strengthens the nervous organism.

The rebellion of the young democracy of this city against the reign of their self-constituted rulers bids fair to be more successful than was the democratic rebellion which aimed to destroy the Union that slavery might be perpetuated. The new-deal democracy have issued their call for a meeting at Washington Hall, to organize. We admire your pluck, boys, but you needn't have feared your old office monopolists were going to get soft places under the Federal government next Spring—the National republican party will obviate all risk of that next November.

Mrs. Jane Hardy, whose death is recorded in another column, was the eldest sister of Thomas Tredick, Esq., of this city. This is the first death that has occurred in their family since the decease of the mother thirty-three years ago. There are still living five brothers and four sisters, all born in Portsmouth, but now scattered.—Journal.

The large iron buoys, forming the compass station, in the lower harbor, are being taken up by the Navy Yard authorities. They have been the cause of much complaint, as obstructing navigation, and their removal will give great satisfaction to the mariners who frequent this port.

John W. Prior and Alfred J. Hill have been drawn as grand jurors and John J. Pickering and Alfred Stavers as petit jurors from this city to serve at the October term of the Circuit Court which commences here on the third Tuesday of October.

A Perilous Adventure.

At the time the report of the operations on the bridge, in these columns, closed on Saturday, the workmen were suspended over the river cutting the lashings of the second working rope between the towers. Those engaged in this work were Thomas Carroll and Patrick Timms.

Their positions were perilous in the extreme, and sensitive persons who are appalled by the antics of "the man on the flying trapeze" in the circus must have been terror stricken as they gazed upon the hardy artisans dangling in mid air, swaying with every breath of air that stirred and every movement of the cables.

As for the mechanics themselves, they did not appear to mind it in the least and sat in their little boatswain's chairs apparently as unconcerned as if they were seated in the family circle at the fireside. They started from the towers simultaneously. Carroll, who is a heavy man, leaving the New York eminence, and Timms working out from Brooklyn.

They went easily down the incline formed by the deflection of the wire ropes, cutting as they progressed the hempen lashing that bound the new section of cable to the one already in order. Carroll experienced some difficulty, owing to the fact that the pulley block which held his chair was too large. After he had cut the first and second lashings he moved along to the third, and there his chair stopped.

He strained at the pulley with all his strength, but was unable to move it an inch. His movements attracted the attention of the hundreds of spectators, who from every available point, were anxiously watching the work along the line. Their gaze was riveted upon him, and many wondered what would be the consequences if he should be unable to make his way back to the tower.

Suddenly a man was seen to leave the top of the New York tower. It was Henry Supple, who had been occupied in cutting the lashings between the tower and anchorage. He was going to the assistance of his imperilled comrade. The brave fellow went along the swaying cable hand over hand, very slowly and cautiously at first, but increasing his speed as he swung clear of the mass of stone and masonry.

There was nothing beneath him to upbold him; he had no support, but his own firm grasp on the wire above his head. He dangled about as though he were only ten feet above the earth and a mattress was below to break his fall. A look through a telescope did not discover any expression of fear on his face. His countenance was that of a determined and fearless man.

He reached Carroll and assisted him in cutting the lashing. Then, when the new section of cable had swung away and fallen down toward the river, he began his journey back to the tower. He had to struggle desperately to get up the slope to the top of the pier, but exerting himself to the utmost he succeeded amid the cheers of his fellow laborers, and expressions of relief from the hundreds of people on the river front and the vessels, who had watched his movements with breathless interest. Meanwhile Carroll cut the fourth lashing and moved on to the fifth, where his pulley again became entangled, and he was obliged to stop and wait for his partner, Timms, who was coming steadily across from Brooklyn, severing each of the lashings as he journeyed.

Two hours after he left this city he reached Carroll, having cut forty-five out of the fifty hempen fastenings. The two men sat close together in their little chairs, and from their signals it was apparent that they could not get up the sloping rope to the tower without help.

Supple again came forward, and in the same way that he had previously done, he travelled out to them, a distance of 100 feet, with a rope about his waist. This was attached to the other two, and the trio were drawn up to the tower. Shortly afterward the "traveller" being in good working order, Timms was pulled over to Brooklyn again.

The remainder of the day the men were occupied in getting the new rope in place. Brooklyn Eagle.

—Jarrett, the theatrical manager, was recently the hero of a moving accident. While taking a dignified stroll in a grove at Rockaway, he observed a large, black bear in his immediate neighborhood, and at once set out for the hotel, with Bruin in hot pursuit. He reached his asylum in safety only a few feet in front of the animal, making the best stage-manager time on record, only to learn the bear was a tame one, which had been trained to run foot-races with his master, and had been roused to emulation on observing the manager's burst of speed.

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, not to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.

COOKED CORNED BEEF.

Articles are being published calculated to prejudice the public against using Cooked Corned Beef, and we would say in answer to them that in no instance has positive proof been established to show that such is the case.

Our goods are packed in a manner very similar to that of Corn, Tomatoes, Fruit and canned goods generally, (which have long been tested) and we use nothing whatever of a poisonous nature in their preparation.

In addition to our own statement we have the strong endorsement of Prof. Hosford of Cambridge, one of the most eminent Chemists in the country, who has fully tested and is familiar with the entire details of the preparation of our goods.

We would also state that we use none but the choicest of Beef that our Chicago market affords, and trust that with these statements the rapidly growing popularity of our Corned Beef may be increased.

For the information of those not knowing the fact we would state that in the process of canning there is a liability of imperfect sealing, which causes the can to expand. Meat contained in such cans is unfit for use and will be cheerfully paid for when returned to any grocer selling it.

Marching Out of Egypt.

In a colored church in Augusta, Georgia, a novel ceremony, called "Marching out of Egypt," has been introducted. The worshippers meet at nine o'clock at night, and amid solemn chanting, march around in a circle hour after hour. Those who held out at this treadmill sort of performance until daybreak are considered the chosen ones, and destined for heaven, while those who fall by the wayside from weakness of the flesh, if not the spirit, are not in a state of grace. A gentleman living in the city was surprised one morning at perceiving that although it was seven o'clock, no preparations were being made for breakfast, and the cook was not visible. Imagining all sorts of things, that Dinah was defunct, or had fled to other regions, he opened her room door, and found her lying asleep. He aroused her, and asked her what she meant by sleeping so late. She replied that she had been "Marching out of Egypt," and explained the ceremony as above. She was one of the elect.

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past four years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.25.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty-four, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure on the hardships they had. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise, so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his head to his bed or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been a free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried other medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mills, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sorrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. F. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is a new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lungs trying climate of New England;

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

In a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

—USE—

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a celebrated English recipe, and now in daily use by many of the most noted farmers in the butter counties around Philadelphia.

"FAITH WITHOUT WORKS IS DEAD."

Reform, as a word, may be written;
As a word may be put into print;
As a word, it may freely be spoken,
Yet practice synonymise stint.

Reform may abound in a platform,
Abound in an orator's talk;
May stare from the headlines of posters,
Yet coming to practice may balk.

Reform may emblazon a banner;
May swell the refrain of a song,
Or rise to the rank of a slogan,
Yet never correct any wrong.

Reform may be purpose projected;
Reform be the cry of the land;
But reform in the hands of the tricksters
Will never be able to stand.

Reform must be wedded to practice,
And not be a symbol of shirks,
Or else we shall have such a failure
As faith unattended by works.

Should democrats rule o'er the nation
Reform would be naught but a name;
The party is quick at a promise,
But slow about keeping the same.

Tildenic reform is a humbug,
No matter how partisans laud—
The word all devoid of its substance—
Disguise for a system of fraud.

A traitor with uniform loyal,
Or rebel enwrapt with our flag—
These image the tactics of Tilden—
"Reform and the national swag."

As well look for truth in a liar,
Or safety in midst of a storm,
As think in the old Bourbon party
To find such a thing as reform.

A Great Lawyer's Infamy.

Last week, I happened to be at a town in the interior of the state of New York, where a hotel was pointed out to me as the home of the unwedded mother of the sons of the greatest of American lawyers. Of course the children were illegitimate. There were two of them, and their grandparents, fairly respectable people, kept the hotel. The parlors and bar were filled with old English hunting scenes and quaint Washingtonian furniture. The father of the woman in question was a long-haired, sad-faced, aged man, absent of look, like one caught by a shameful catastrophe, very slowly moving around among his ales and decanters. His wife, quite aged, had a dauntless look of boldness, coquetry and humor, now in her sixtieth year a sort of Mme. Jumel. Her eye was as black and engaging as a girl's. The daughter of these twain was also a grey-haired middle-aged woman, her children taking her parents' family name. She visited Saratoga many years ago, and the insinuating, pleasing and licentious will of the great advocate prevailed over her forward and feebly resisting nature. He had previously possessed a mistress, captured also amid the frivolities of Saratoga, who had died on his premises and been buried in his garden. He was also married, and his legal children were grown up, but he seemed to have a strange fidelity to his successive lemon, and this publican's daughter has now spent the period of a long wedded life with the counsellor, her father and mother assenting, and harboring him under their roof. The story is known to the legal profession in every part of this State. The advocate, meantime, has been concerned in all the causes celebres of the metropolis. He convicted Stokes, and nearly hanged him, and prosecuted Beecher, but with a fellow-feeling, or apprehension of a counter attack, he allowed that preacher to strike hands with him in the court, where it might have been whispered between them: "Let him that is without sin cast the first stone." There are two portraits in my possession astonishingly like the face of the lawer I have described—Benedict Arnold and Aaron Burr. Burr's nose was rather retrousse or concave and pointed sharp; Arnold's aquiline and pointed sharp. Both brushed their hairs back from smooth, cleanly-shaven faces, wore white cravats and gathered the iron-gray locks behind, so that they looked highly respectable and ministerial, yet defiant. Such is the picture of this lawyer, who, like an English chief justice now living, has a family by a mistress. The splendid opportunities, the ripened fame, the popularity and beauty of diction of the American lawyer are in everlasting shadow because of his unprincipled youth and by the very fidelity of his unhallowed passion.—George Alfred Townsend, in Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Baby.

Who knows not the beautiful group of babe and mother, sacred in nature, sacred also in the religious associations of half the globe? Welcome to the parents is the puny little struggler, strong in his weakness, his little arms more irresistible than the soldier's, his lips touched with persuasion which Chatham and Pericles in manhood had not. The small despot asks so little that all nature and reason are on his side. His ignorance is more charming than all knowledge, and his little sins more bewitching than all virtue. All day, between his three or four hours' sleep he coos like a pigeon-house, sputters and crows and puts on faces of importance; and when he fasts, the little Pharisee fails not to sound his trumpet before him. Out of blocks, thread spools, cards and checkers he will build his pyramid, while with an acoustic apparatus of whistle and rattle he explores the laws of sound. But chiefly, like his senior countrymen, the young American studies new and speedier modes of transportation. Mistrusting the cunning of his small legs, he wishes to ride on the neck and shoulders of flesh. The small enchanter nothing can withstand,—no seniority of age, no gravity of character; uncles, aunts, cousins, grandsires, grandmas,—all fall an easy prey; he conforms to nobody, all conform to him, all caper to make mouths and babble and chirrup to him. On the strongest shoulder he rides, and pulls the hair of laureled heads. Emerson.

Daily Chronicle.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1876.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 31.

Hitherto democratic nominees for the Presidency have been of good repute personally, and the fight has been against their noxious political vagaries, and to avoid the mischievous, not to say fatal, effects likely to follow that party's success, both upon the Government and upon individual citizens; but since the active opening of the present campaign, so many of the astonishing charges made against Mr. Tilden's personal character by democratic organs prior to the St. Louis convention have been substantiated by the most irrefragible proofs, that the great "reformer" has come to be quite as offensive from his moral obliquities as for his positive and negative support of the slaveholders' rebellion against the government, and his close identification with the vilest and most corrupt faction of his party, the leaders of the New York city democracy.

The late exposure of the New York Times, showing his frauds upon the government for a long series of years, has startled the whole country with the perils involved by his election to the place he seeks through the alleged wholesale corruption of voters. The honest men of his own party waver and desert his standard, while the desperate managers of his canvass—Morrissey and others of that ilk—rush frantically to and fro, vainly seeking some mode of release for this political spider from the meshes of a web of his own weaving, and finding none; splitting their throats with hoarse howls of "reform" to direct attention from their fatally disabled chief.

The Times calls Mr. Tilden a perjurer and a swindler, and dares him to bring suit for libel. The Brooklyn Argus, an orthodox democratic paper which supported him for Governor in 1874, being deceived by his plausible professions, prints ten columns in that paper containing more than twenty specific charges of robberies and other villainous transgressions, and says he is the most dangerous man in the country. The campaign has more than two months yet in which to ventilate the exploits of this reformer, the enormity of which are rendered more hideous and repulsive by the additional light being every day turned mercilessly in upon his past career. He is now staggering under such a storm of reproach and such a whirlwind of indignant protest, not only from republicans but from many democrats who were cheated into supporting him at St. Louis, as no candidate for the exalted position of Chief Executive of this Republic was ever before subjected to. The brazen impudence that prompted him to the front as a reformer and a "pure patriot," threatens to desert his strikers and leave him a shattered wreck upon the sands of the political highway to the White House. The country is ringing from Maine to California with the moral deformities of this peerless "reformer," while his competitor marches straight on to the mark of his high calling, unspotted and unstained from the attacks of an unscrupulous enemy—"a temple, standing four square to God and man."

The intelligence from every point is cheering. From Maine, Vermont, New York, Ohio, Indiana, California and North Carolina come reports of an enthusiastic republican canvass, like that of the campaign of 1860, that swept Abraham Lincoln into the White House and drove the slave power from its moorings into realms of outer darkness.

The rumor comes from Indiana that Blue Jeans Williams, Gubernatorial candidate of that State, is finding it extremely difficult to explain away to the satisfaction of his ultra democratic constituencies, his vote in favor of adopting the famous resolutions of his misguided brother, Scott Lord. He hesitates a good deal in framing his rejoinder to the serious indictment of favoring a fair election, but finally stammers that he was absent in the cloak room when the matter was first introduced, and coming in just as the vote was being taken, he voted with his political associates without looking into the merits of the question. The National Republican makes a statement that would seem to invalidate the testimony of this sturdy representative of the reactionary democracy.

The late harmonious action of the New York republican convention and the preeminently high character of its nominees, are other sources of great disquiet to the Confederate democratic leaders, as they relied chiefly upon republican divisions for their own success.

MAXWELL.

News and Notes.

Last January the Liverpool ship San Rafael, from Birkenhead for Valparaiso, with coal, was totally destroyed by fire off Cape Horn. Eleven of the crew were picked up a fortnight later from two of the vessel's boats, after having suffered fearful privations. The longboat, containing Capt. McAdams, his wife, the carpenter, four seamen and three boys, which left the vessel along with the other boats, parted company, and it now appears that the persons above named all landed on New Year's Island, near Cape Horn, and as the island is barren and uninhabited, they evidently starved slowly to death, as a vessel recently arrived at Stanley, Falkland Isles, reports having discovered the bodies of eight men and one woman on the island, and these are supposed to be the missing boat's crew of the San Rafael.—Pall Mall Gazette.

The public debt, according to Secretary McCulloch's report for 1867, reached its highest point in August, 1865, when the total, over the cash in Treasury, was $2,757-689,571.43. The debt statement for August 1, shows the total debt, over the cash in Treasury, $2,098,301,311.06 These statements include the legal tender notes (greenbacks), and all other forms of indebtedness. The reduction, therefore, in the debt which was adjusted at that time, is $659,388,260.37. This was during a period when, Mr. Tilden says, the government did not live within its income, and that its living beyond its income was the cause of the hard times.

Edwin C. Hayden, formerly of Vermont, now of Boston, a profligate, whose wife left him because he did not support her, shot her and his brother-in-law, Charles O. Bridgham, Thursday. He provided himself with a pistol and went to the hotel to demand that his wife live with him. He met Mr. Bridgham, and shot him at once, the ball lodging in his lungs. He then entered his wife's room and shot her twice. He was arrested, and lodged in jail.

Mr. Palmer, City Marshal of Lewisburg, O., was shot and instantly killed by N. A. Wiseman. The latter's wife confessed that she had been criminally intimate with Palmer, and Wiseman shot him at sight. He is now in jail.

By a collision on the Vermont and Massachusetts Railroad, Friday, Louisa L. Crowell, a girl ten years of age, belonging in Chelsea, was instantly killed.

The prospect of peace between Turkey and Servia is not encouraging. Russian influence, and the presence of numerous Russian officers in the Servian army, give the Servians courage to continue the struggle. The Mohammedan tyrants are likely to be despoiled of their European power after all. Glad of it. The new Sultan is called Abdul Hamid II.; how long he is up for is not stated.

The Pittsburg Commercial says that about as fashionable amusement as any this year, is going out in parties of four or five for a boat ride and getting drowned.

A prominent business house of Chicago, sent the following to Congressman LeMoyne: "If this government had counselled with small-fry swindlers it could not have done so more effectually than when it authorized the coinage of the twenty-cent pieces, so near in size and exact in appearance with the silver quarter-dollar. An experiment has just been tried here with a twenty-cent piece, and in every instance it was taken for a quarter. After passing it, it was recalled to victimize the next receiver. This coinage should be stopped immediately."

Israel Washburn, Esquire, died at his residence in Livermore, Me., on Friday, at the age of 92 years. His surviving children are Ex-Governor Washburn of Maine, Minister Washburn at Paris, Cadwalader C. Washburn of Wisconsin, Charles A. Washburn, late Minister to Paraguay, William D. Washburn of Minnesota, Algernon S. Washburn of Hallowell, Capt. Samuel B. Washburn of Livermore, Mrs. Martha Stephenson, of Galena, and Mrs. Carolina A. Holmes of Minneapolis.

Capt. Richard King is king of the Texas cattle kings. He has 60,000 acres under fence near Corpus Christi, is fencing in 60,000 more, and has besides 140,000 acres in the same tract. Last April he sold to a Kansas dealer 26,000 head of horned cattle, and to make sure of the delivery added 5000 to the drove; and still had 50,000 head, besides 25,000 head of sheep and thousands of horses and mules.

New Hampshire Items.

The Connecticut River Valley Agricultural Association have their annual fair at Claremont on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, 6th, 7th and 8th insts. Henry Ward Beecher will deliver the annual address on Friday, 8th inst., at 2 P. M.

Alden E. Colby, Esq., a prominent citizen of Danville, died suddenly Thursday evening, aged fifty years. He was a large lumber dealer and for many years had been prominent as a town officer, representative, etc.

The officers of the Coos and Essex Agricultural Society and Riding Park Association have completed arrangements for the fair and races at Lancaster, on September 12, 13 and 14. Colonel Robert I. Burbank of Boston is expected to deliver the address.

Political.

The democrats of New York cannot yet tell whether or not they have a candidate for Governor. Ex-Gov. Seymour positively refuses to accept the nomination, and the democratic managers insist that he will accept, or that the party must run him whether he accepts or not. They are satisfied that no other democratic candidate will stand a ghost of a chance against Gov. Morgan.

The Concord Patriot asks: "Is it true that this Mr. Parker who heads the list of republican electors at large in New York is the same Mr. Parker who used to be one of Tweed's republican senators, and who, as such, supported the charter of 1870, and the Tweed election law?" We don't know whether he is the same Mr. Parker, or another one; but we do know that the Samuel J. Tilden who heads the democratic National ticket is the same Samuel J. Tilden who was Tweed's chairman of the democratic State committee of New York, and "who, as such, supported the charter of 1870 and the Tweed election law," and who wrote to Tweed as his "dear friend," etc.

Gray, the chairman of the New York democratic convention, has advised the State committee to recall the convention, as Seymour will not accept the nomination.

We three reformers be, Tilden, Tweed, and Morrissee.

The campaign in North Carolina is waging hot. Judge Settle, the republican candidate for Governor, and the notorious Vance, the democratic candidate, are travelling through the State, debating in public, and the former has driven the latter into such corners that he has been forced to declare himself more than once "an unrepentant rebel." The Baltimore Gazette, democratic, concedes the State to the republicans.—Globe (ind.)

Nasby Justifies the Cross Roads Massacre.

Nasby writes that the Confederate Cross Roads has been the scene of an occurrence liable to be misrepresented at the North, six niggers having been killed by the democracy. He hastens to give a truthful account of the circumstances, to show that the latter were not to blame. John Pogram, the deacon's son, had four acres of grass that wanted cutting and tried in vain to hire "a nigger" to do it, as they were busy at their own work.

John hed bin layin on his back in Bascom's fur two hours, argooing that the South wuz going to rooin for want of labor, when some one remarked to him:

"There goes Joe."

Joe wuz (I say wuz, for Joe isn't now) formerly a slave of John's father, and John knew that he hedn't nothin to do that was pressin' and he went out and hailed him:

"Stop, you d—d black son of a ——!"

"What do you want?" wuz his insolent reply.

"I want you to cut that grass of mine, back of the barn, d——n your old black heart."

"I can't do it," wuz the anser.

I will not give the conversation in full, but enuff to say that the nigger wuz as impoodent as he eood be. Finally, when pressed fur a reason fur not cuttin' the grass, the nigger said plumply that he'd do the work if John wood pay him $4.50 that he'd owd him fur work over two years, and pay him for this in advance!

Uv course, John hed but one thing to do. Roused by this insult to madnis, he sailed into Joe, and Joe hed the insolence to strike bak. And the awdashus nigger wood hev whaled him of the rest uv us hadn't come to the rescue.

In the melee thet follered the nigger wuz killed, and we went bak and all took a drink.

It occurred to us that this ackshen uv Joe's wuz intended to bring on a collision betwixt the two races, and we determined to nip it in the bud.

On the way to another nigger's house to search for arms, we diskivered the nigger in his feeld pretendin to be at work. On seeing us he run until Issaker Gavitt, who is death on a nigger at 60 yards, put a ball through him and he stopped.

Uv course that nigger intended to rise agin the whites. Ef he didn't what did he run for?

The next house we cum to we found the nigger a loafin in his front door yard. He hed his hayin all done and was harnessin his mules to come to town. There cood be but one interpretation put onto this move. He wuz a goin to the Corners, to jine the movement agin us. When we asked him "where in h—l he wuz a goin," he answered in the most feendish manner that he wuzn't aware that it wuz any uv our biznis, and went on harnessin his animals.

Ez a measure of safety his hed wuz blowed off, and we went on.

I cannot defend the action of our people after this, except by sayin, that they wuz maddened by wat they had discovered, and shot every nigger they cood find.

Two wimmin wuz killed, but it wuz accidental. Issaker Gavitt hed his rifle ded onto the husband uv one uv em, and the unprudent women rushed afore him and received a ball that wuzn't intended for her. The other aboosed Capt. McPelter by ordrin him out uv her house, and uv course his shot gun went off and she expired.

Instid uv its being yossed ez a reason for votin against Tilden it affords the best reason for supporting the great reformer. Elect him, and he will hev the niggers in sich a shape that they cannot give us reasons for killing uv em. Give us the control uv the governmet four years, and we will make em so valuable to us, that we can't afford to yoose our shot guns on em. For this reason every humanitarian, every lover uv the nigger, ought to work nite and day for our success.

African Pigmies.

According to a correspondent of the New York Evening Post, the African pigmies, captured and brought to Italy three years ago, are now receiving experimental instruction at the hands of royal educators, although the English Geographical Society asserted that they were incapable of instruction. These wild dwarfs have proved otherwise. They are now intelligent, affectionate and grateful. They speak Italian with elegance and clearness of enunciation, and read and write with facility. Their handwriting is good, and their thoughts are expressed in their written compositions with clearness and simplicity and with wonderful originality. They also read Latin with comprehension and intelligence. The eldest, Tibo Tukuba, studies arithmetic, and adds, subtracts and multiplies mentally. He also has a passionate love for music, and from hearing the lessons on the piano given to others is able to repeat them by ear. The Countess Miniscalchi, under whose care the King has placed them, will have him instructed in music. She has placed both children under the tuition of an excellent teacher and his wife, who spare no pains to develop their intellectual faculties. Great patience was required to teach the little savages. In order to discover to what part of Africa their tribe belonged she has showed them pictures of all the animals of tropical regions. They recognized the tiger, goat, serpent and ostrich, but had never seen a horse in their native regions. At the sight of a picture of a tiger, Tibo related that in his country the animal is chased, and its raw flesh, still bleeding, eaten with relish by the tribe. In one of these chases his village was attacked by a hostile tribe which stole his mother, killed, roasted and eat her. The Akkas were baptized in the Roman Catholic Church at Verona, the certificate saying that they were of unknown birth and under the patronage of Victor Emmanuel.

A Theory Borne Out by Facts.

The theory that lack of vigor is the underlying cause of disease is receiving daily confirmation of the most positive kind in the cure of dyspepsia, liver disorders, and kidney, bladder and uterine complaints by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the ruling remedy for maladies attributable to weakness. This superb tonic is never employed without the most beneficial effects. The liver, the bowels, the organs of urination, and indeed the entire system acquires both vigor and regularity through its action, since it gives a healthful impetus to every failing function. It is an incomparable specific for chills and fever, and other maladies of a malarial type, prevents their attacks, is a reliable means of counteracting the effects of undue exposure or fatigue, and soothes as well as strengthens the nervous organism.

NOTHING IS MORE HARASSING than ulcers or boils. Fortunately they can be quickly healed by the use of Glenn's Sulphur Soap, which purges the sore of its poisonous virus or proud flesh, and thus removes the only obstacle to its healing.

LYON'S KATHAIRON prevents the Hair from falling out or turning gray, renews its growth, and gives strength and vigor. It is delightfully perfumed, and makes a splendid dressing. It is the cheapest and most desirable Hair Tonic ever produced. Used by the elite. Price only 50 cents.

Coal is cheapening. See Walker & Co's advertisement.

Miss Brown and Miss Ham open their private schools to-day. See advts.

Dartmouth has conferred the degree of A. M. on George E. Hodgdon, Esq., of this city.

The benefit excursion complimentary to Capt. Robinson, of the Appledore, which was postponed Friday evening on account of the weather, will come off this (Monday) evening, the steamer leaving this city at 6 o'clock and Appledore island at 11. The Cornet Band will go out on the boat, and there will be a dance in Appledore Hall. Tickets for round trip (including hop at Shoals) $1. From the large number who started to go out Friday evening, in spite of the unfavorable weather, it is pretty certain that if this evening is fair the excursion party will be a big one. And it ought to be a rouser, for the courteous beneficiary deserves it. Tickets at Rockingham, Preston's, Rider & Cunningham's and on boat.

The last grand excursion of the season, to the Shoals, has been arranged for Tuesday, Sept. 6th, on steamer Appledore, under directions of the Women's Temperance League. Tickets for the round trip, 75 cents; children under twelve years of age, half-price. Friends of the cause of Temperance are earnestly solicited to aid in making this a success. Tickets may be obtained at the following places: Dr. Kimball's, S. W. Webber's, J. Pettigrew's, Mrs. F. B. Johnson's, at the Seaman's Home and of Mr. C. H. Tucker, corner of Water and Pleasant streets. Boat leaves Railway Wharf at 11 A. M. and 6 P. M.; returning, leaves Appledore at 3:30 and 10 P. M.

The New England Illustrated News is the latest venture in pictorial journalism, the first number appearing Saturday. It is a handsome eight-page sheet, and its illustrations are done by the heliotype process. The current number contains a cartoon representing a gathering of the journals of New England, into which the News, in the guise of Paul Pry, enters with the remark: "Hope I don't intrude." There are illustrations of the Faneuil Hall marketmen's celebration, and the Old South in various stages of its history, artistically done, and the reading matter is bright and spicy. The New England News Company supplies the paper at five cents per copy.

Hon. James G. Blaine, and Col. Robert G. Ingersoll, of Illinois, will address the people of York county, Me., at North Berwick, on Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 7, on the political issues of the day. A special train will leave this city at a quarter past 12 o'clock, stopping at intermediate stations; returning, leave North Berwick at 6 o'clock P. M. Fare for the round trip, from this city or Kittery, 65 cents—half fare. Tickets for sale at the depots, and at Trefethen's drug store in Kittery. The Portsmouth Cornet Band will accompany the delegation from this city.

POLICE COURT.

Saturday, Sept. 2 before Bufford, Associate Justice;

Robert Moulton, for struggling with more bad liquor than he could overcome, was nominated (and elected) for a thirty days' sojourn at Brentwood.

Amos J. Gardiner, colored, and an Indian woman whom he claimed as his wife, were found occupying a shanty near the Eastern Railroad track, and sent up as vagrants.

NOT BORN TO BE DROWNED.

Hon. James Shaw, now of Aurora, Illinois, has had a varied experience in life. He commenced life on his own hook by being born in this city some years ago; learned the printer's trade in the CHRONICLE office, which he left to join the Union army as a volunteer early in the rebellion, rising from the ranks to be a Lieutenant or Major-General or something; settled in Alabama at the close of the war, established the Selma Press, and did what one "square man" could do to straighten things out as a State senator; returned to this city and for a while was editor of the CHRONICLE; then went to Aurora, went on the editorial staff of the Herald, went on a schooner excursion, and went overboard in a lake. What he wanted of all that water we cannot say; we have always understood that the quantity of water required by a western editor was very small; but possibly he wanted to show the western people that a western newspaper man is not afraid of water, provided that he can keep it all on the outside. The Elgin (Ill.) Advocate thus refers to Bro. Shaw's experiment with water by wholesale:

"James Shaw, one of the editors of the Aurora Herald, fell overboard from a schooner at Geneva Lake, on Thursday, and was rescued as he was going down the last time. Mr. Shaw will now be enabled to give the readers of his paper a truthful account of how a drowning man feels."

To this the Herald replies as follows,—from which we gather that the "subsequent proceedings" are worse to an editor than the trifle of being drowned, and that our old friend James will be careful how he fools around with water any more:

"No, he won't, for as he didn't come anywhere near 'going down the last time,' he didn't experience any of the sensations of a drowning man. But he has a lively appreciation of the way a man feels who didn't drown. For a week after he falls to 'go down for the last time,' he has to run the gauntlet of every form and phase of question and comment in reference to the event. Persons of a sporting turn will hail him as the "champion swimmer;" religious people will want to know his views on the subject of baptism, or perhaps will call up that little story about Jonah (such persons ought to be whaled;) agricultural friends will want to know about the character of the soil at the bottom of the lake; envious newspaper men will insinuate that he was kept afloat by one of "those light editorials," you know; real good-hearted people will ask, with flattering emphasis on the pronoun,—"Why, how did you come to fall overboard?" idiots generally will ask, days after, "Are you dry yet?" and of course he says yes; solid men will want to know if he is going to set up a bank—but no, that last question belongs to another issue. Well, this is about the sort of a thing a man has to go through who doesn't drown when he takes a bath with his boots on, until he finally wishes that he—hadn't tumbled overboard."

STRADDLEBUGS FOR SALE.

With all the weary, thankless drudgery of an editor's life, there are some bright spots in his generally unilluminated career. True, he is expected to puff each catch-penny show as the best on earth; to write (or steal) just such articles as shall be most satisfactory to each individual subscriber or borrower of the paper; to support each "ism" in religion and each "opathy" in medicine, and vigorously pitch into all the others; to give full prominence to the "other fellow's" failings or faults, with his name in full as a warning, but to leave out any allusion to "my little affair," as it can do no good to make it public; in short, the country editor must advocate all sorts of opposing ideas (which he cares nothing about) without conflicting with any, or he is voted a pig, a mule and an idiot, and utterly unfit even to sell papers on the street, let alone editing one. But once in a while some honest soul seems to duly appreciate the editor's worth and the difficulties of his position, and lets him know the same in a manner to soothe the feelings so often wounded by popular neglect or animadversion; and of this class is Mr. Wm. Watson, of Lincoln, Nebraska, who recently sent us a postal card with the following liberal offer:

"Please insert the following advertisement as many times as you can for 50 cents and send me one copy and the bill and I will send you the money by the 20th of September. Respectfully, Wm. Watson.

G'HOPPERS! Two Nebraska Locusts sent postage paid, for 25 cents, nicely preserved in Alcohol, by the undersigned, who lost his entire crop of 110 acres of corn by these insects. Address, Box 389, Wm. Watson, Lincoln, Neb.

If you will make local-notice of my advertisement, in return I will send you a bottle of grasshoppers, on whom can be seen with a microscope, many parasites. They have eaten all of my corn and now the bodies of a few must bring me in enough to pay for my advertising, postage and part of our winter's fuel."

We have no particular use for grasshoppers with "many parasites" on them, nor for alcohol with Nebraska grasshoppers in it; but we cheerfully give Mr. Watson the benefit of this notice, hoping it will give him as much pleasure and benefit as his postal card circular has given us.

Despise petty pilfering, for a man is measured by the greatness of his "grab."

Be deceitful and practice dissimulation and you will be noted for your shrewdness.

Endure with meekness the abuse of the borrower, for abuse is your legitimate reward.

If you want to be distinguished for qualities which you do not possess, never act out of your true character.

If you have been guilty of a great wrong to another, always condemn a similar offence committed by others.

If you wish to gain a reputation as an independent man and a reformer, condemn the press for its "venality."

If you like to be envied by "the boys," parade your vices, for virtuous men are always stupid and unattractive.

If you wish to be regarded as "a man of liberal views," ridicule christianity and always refer to the clergy with contemptuous sarcasm.

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, taste and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.]

COOKED CORNED BEEF.

Articles are being published calculated to prejudice the public against using Cooked Corned Beef, and we would say in answer to them that in no instance has positive proof been established to show that such is the case.

Our goods are packed in a manner very similar to that of Corn, Tomatoes, Fruit and canned goods generally, (which have long been tested) and we use nothing whatever of a poisonous nature in their preparation.

In addition to our own statement we have the strong endorsement of Prof. Hosford of Cambridge, one of the most eminent Chemists in the country, who has fully tested, and is familiar with the entire details of the preparation of our goods.

We would also state that we use none but the choicest of Beef that our Chicago market affords, and trust that with these statements the rapidly growing popularity of our Corned Beef may be increased.

For the information of those not knowing the fact we would state that in the process of canning there is a liability of imperfect sealing, which causes the can to expand. Meat contained in such cans is unfit for use and will be cheerfully paid for when returned to any grocer selling it.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is anodyne and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England;

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the time I lived, and could not live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 23, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, 75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was preparing to start to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

How Trotting Horses Are Managed.

The leading specimens of American trotters are cared for and watched as closely, and with as much tenderness and anxiety as a mother cares for her child. Their first meal in the morning is about three pints of oats, and after they have finished it they are taken out walking for about three quarters of an hour in the morning dew. They are led back to the stable, and fed with two quarts of oats. That repast finished, the grooms wipe them off, wash out their feet, and commence to harness them leisurely for a drive. If upon examination the grooms find their pets a little too fat in the jowls or thick in the neck, they envelope the neck and head in a hood made of fine flannel, to reduce the thickness and to make the trotter's wind clear. Then the horse is hitched to the sulky and driven on the track, where he is jogged along for a mile at two-thirds of his speed.

After that he is driven off the track and back to the stable again, when the hood is taken off, and the grooms go at him with wooden scrapers, and scrape the lather or perspiration from the neck and body, working fast and close. Then comes the rubbing-down process. For rubbing, rags made of Ashton salt sacks are universally used, and with these the grooms rub the animal's body, neck, head and legs, till they are as dry as a nut, when he is nicely blanketed and given happy rest for twenty or twenty-five minutes, after which he is again taken from the stable, once more hitched to the sulky, and driven on the track as before. When he is brought back to the stable a second time, the scrapers are once more pressed into service, after which he is again rubbed dry, and his mouth frequently sponged out, when he is given a promenade in the open air over the grass. At the close of his walk they return him to the stable, and soak his legs in hot water, being first sure that they are cool before the hot water is put upon them. After the hot process the groom takes highwines reduced, and washes the animal's legs and back with the liquid. The legs are then bandaged nicely and carefully to keep them from swelling, and also to dry the highwines and to keep the heels from cracking. The horse is then ready for a rest, and his bedding, composed of the best rye straw, is put in good shape, and he is given a little hay.

His regular feed which follows at noon, consists generally of shorts and oats with salt in it, and sometimes a little ginger is mixed with it. This is after a hard drive. He is allowed to remain quiet until 6 P. M., when the bandages on his legs are removed and his legs are again rubbed vigorously, when he is ready for the evening promenade, which he seemingly enjoys greatly. After the evening walk of an hour and a half he is taken back to the stable once more, when again his legs are rubbed, and his feet washed out, when preparation is made for the evening meal of oats or shorts, after eating which he goes to bed early, and sleeps "as sound as a dollar." Trotting horses are fed in some cases five times a day, sometimes four, and sometimes three, and in quantity according to the constitution of the animal.

The best horses are always attended by one man and a boy, the average attendance being one man to a horse. The attendants are never away from the animal. They sleep in the stall with him, in fact, live with him night and day, and the horse knows the groom almost as well as the groom knows the horse. As dogs are generally great favorites with horses, numerous specimens of canines can always be seen in the stables. They fondle each other in their peculiar way and play together at times in a very amusing manner. One dog at the park here always leads its equine companion when he takes his promenade, taking the halter strap between his teeth, the horse following without opposition.

The weights used on horses' feet have been objects of attention. They are covered with leather, symmetrically formed, weighing from three to ten ounces each. They are put upon the forward feet to make a pacing horse trot, or to make what is known as a broken-gaited horse trot squarely. They are also put upon the outside of the hind feet to widen the gait of a horse. The little leather boots often seen upon the ankles or legs of trotting horses are put there because the legs hit and become sore. The boot prevents soreness.—Poughkeepsie Eagle.

The Queen's Tobacco Pipe.

When we are told that the unburned ends of cigars are picked up and sold for the purpose of making cigarettes, we are mightily struck with the deliberate destruction, not to say waste, that goes on day and night in the London docks, in the very centre of which, we are informed, is an enormous kiln, which has a long chimney, known popularly as the Queen's tobacco pipe, for reason that all forfeited tobacco and cigars and other articles said to be too bad for sale are consigned to it. We are told that cart loads of the odoriferous weed are carried to the kiln every day to be consumed. While we conserve cigar ends, this seems like straining at a gnat and swallowing a camel. It is impossible to believe that all this tobacco can be worthless. Even if it were sold for manure, it would be better than turning it into ashes. The maw of this furnace is omnivorous. Tobacco is indeed its chief meal, but every perishable article upon which duty has not been paid is consumed. This certainly is nothing less than disgraceful that good food should be so destroyed, while the poor people in the neighborhood are starving; but this of course we may expect from the cruel mercies of a government department, which was never known to have bowels of compassion for any one. "On one occasion," says Mr. Simmonds, "900 Australian hams were suffered to remain, anticipating the removal of the duty; when it did come off, the customs would not allow them to be removed and they were allowed to remain until they were so damaged as to be unsalable." Nevertheless the attendants upon the oven made merry upon the hams, which they cooked ready for their breakfast. Tea, we are told, is not burned, because on one occasion a load set the chimney-stack on fire. One would have thought that a chimney-sweeper would have removed this difficulty; but the ways of officials are inscrutable. But what shall we say of the fact that on one occasion the Queen's pipe smoked away thirteen thousand pairs of French gloves? On another occasion a large number of foreign watches, said to be of gold, were condemned as spurious, broken up and burned. Surely for the purposes of keeping time, a watch in a sham case would be useful and might have been sold for the benefit of the public revenue; but this was not permitted, but what little gold there was upon them was sold with the ashes, which they disposed of for manure. In France the tobacco refuse is used for making manure and making sheep-wash, and in the other docks in London condemned goods are buried until they are partly rotten, when they are dug up and sold as manure. Possibly some one will find out for the custom-house authorities some more moderate use than the fields for the wonderful assortment that her Majesty consumes in her pipe.—Good Words.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 1.

Evidences multiply showing that the Ku-Klux of the South have determined that the States of their section shall be carried as a unit for Tilden. Nearly all the democratic papers published south of the Potomac come to this city, openly and defiantly boasting that the electoral vote of their respective States will be secured for the democratic nominees at every and all hazards, regardless of law or the presence of United States soldiers. The more indiscreet of these pestilent sheets drop the mask behind which they have hitherto sought to conceal their diabolical purposes; they are filled to overflowing with menaces toward white and black republicans. Were no other evidence attainable, of their purposes to override all law and to carry the November election by fraud, intimidation, violence and bloodshed to the extent necessary to complete the programme, the recent instructions of Secretary Cameron would be amply justified by the gratuitous warnings furnished by their party press. A failure to provide against such sanguinary threats would have been criminal and to the last degree cowardly.

Democratic efforts for the purpose of inciting a feeling of hostility between the President and his probable successor, Governor Hayes, have, apparently, had the contrary effect and strengthened the friendly sentiments that have always existed between them. The President's invitation to General Hayes to visit him at Long Branch is regarded with keen disappointment and many misgivings; and democratic investment in Bluford Wilson is now held to have been a very asinine procedure, as, by the whisky prosecution investigation which grew out of it, the President's character was relieved of every suspicion that an unscrupulous partisanship had sought to create and confirm.

The effective blows that Mr. Blaine is dealing the obstructive democracy in Maine, is another source of disquiet and unhappiness. Ever since the Cincinnati convention his disaffection has been confidently affirmed, and was counted as one of the most reliable indications of their success.

It is hardly known yet how the nomination of the great deliverer in New York is received by the resident managers of the campaign, left over from the debris of the ex-Confederate Congress; but with most people it must appear rather ominous of defeat to his party, even if every other indication pointed in another direction.

No campaign, not even that of 1860, has ever been conducted with more enthusiasm on the part of the republicans than the present one in those States where active work has been undertaken; and notwithstanding the strict impartiality displayed by the rebel copperhead democracy in their cheers for the traitor Davis and the reformer Tilden, the leaders despair of extricating their reform candidate from the trap of his own setting. The rank and file look hopelessly to the managers and the managers in turn cast beseeching glances toward their great captain; but with feet and hands bound, borne down with the weight of his war record, his Tammany associates, "usufruct," credit mobilier, Michigan shinplasters, wrecked railroads, income taxes and other expenses "too numerous to mention," his canvass threatens to break down before fairly under way.

President Grant's confirmation of ex-Attorney General Williams' statement, contradicting Bluford Wilson's sensational testimony relative to Mrs. Williams' agency in the matter of the anonymous letters written to the President's wife and the wives of some of the Cabinet Ministers, aggravates the unpleasant light in which the ex-Solicitor placed himself by his testimony before the committee of investigation relative to the whisky prosecutions.

There is nothing now of local interest, as everything is overshadowed by the absorbing interest felt in the progress of the campaign. A wail of distress comes up from all the Government Departments from the decapitated clerk or other employee. A large number of females, many of them with helpless families, have already been discharged, and more are to follow.

It is now made public that Jesse Pomeroy made another attempt to escape from jail, early in July. He took the wire from the rim of a pail in which his mother had brought him some ice-cream, and with a bit of brick and the wire he sawed off two of the heavy iron bars of his cell door before he was detected. His conduct does not indicate any feeble mindedness. Pomeroy received the intelligence of the commutation with great joy, which he manifested by rubbing his hands and exclaiming, "Ain't that nice; oh! ain't that good!" Mrs. Pomeroy visited the jail on Thursday and was expected again on Friday to congratulate her son upon his escape from the gallows. During his confinement of nearly two and a half years Pomeroy has made four attempts to escape, and the officers are happy in the prospect of being relieved of the responsibility of watching over him.

King Victor Emmanuel's natural son, Count Mantegazza, has been sentenced to eight years penal servitude, by the Court of Assize at Bologna, Italy, for forgery. The young man was charmed by the fascinating Mrs. Blackford, the American adventuress, who led the eldest son of the Czar of Russia astray, and committed the crime in order to procure the wherewithal to gratify the demands of his mistress. He can now repent at his leisure.

In Bulkley, Ill., a wedding was interrupted by the murder of the bridegroom, by a rival lover of the bride.

A Sunday-school picnic at Mount Hope R. I., Thursday, was sadly beclouded by the sudden death of a young girl of Bristol, just as she had reached the summit of the Mount.

The Gun Rock House, a large beach hotel at Hull, Mass., was burned Saturday morning.

Steamer Timmie Baker, lying at Trenton, La., was blown to pieces by the explosion of her boiler. Eight persons were killed or injured.

Charles Cox was arrested at Nashua on Saturday evening, for stealing a horse and wagon from Nashua the same day. The team was captured with him.

The School Board of Manchester had twenty-three ballots for a Superintendent of Public Instruction, Saturday evening, but failed to elect. The salary of that officer was fixed at $1500—a reduction of $300. The Board will meet again next Friday evening.

Mr. John Pepper, aged about fifty years, died quite suddenly at his residence in Lake Village on Saturday morning. He was taken sick at Philadelphia whilst in attendance upon the Exhibition, and returned home Thursday last in a very feeble condition. He was extensively known as an inventor of hosiery knitting machinery, and manufacturer of hosiery.

Candia is excited over the supposed elopement of a married man with another man's wife, on Wednesday last, leaving his own wife with only one dollar.

Kitty Hallman of Plattsburg, N. Y., a domestic at St. Paul's school, Concord, on the evening of Aug. 21 jumped from a carriage with which a horse was running away, and striking on her head on a rock, crushed her skull so that she died the next day.

The house of Joseph Richardson, of Contoocook, was struck by lightning Sept. 1st, and the house and barn consumed. Loss about $3500.

Political.

Arkansas had an election on Monday.

Vermont State election to-day.

The New York World is mad as a hornet over the ridiculous blundering of the democratic State convention. It says a trick was played upon the late convention and on the party generally in the State. "A pre-arranged despatch, understood to mean that Seymour had accepted the nomination, was sent from Utica by a member of the subcommittee, before even Governor Seymour had been notified of the nomination. The convention was thus deluded into going on with its business. The trick was disgraceful and disgusting. The man who sent the despatch and the man who received it, if he knew what it meant, are henceforth useless in the democratic party." It says that Mr. Spriggs, the sender, is dead henceforth in the democratic party, and also Magone, the receiver, unless he can clear himself. It considers the filling of the vacancy by the State Committee as out of the question. The best plan would be to recall the convention. By far the best course, however, it says is to vote for Seymour despite his refusal. He cannot hinder the people from giving him their votes.

Gov. Tilden instructs the Massachusetts democracy to nominate Charles Francis Adams as their candidate for Governor, as it cannot harm the democratic prospects in that State and may help "Tilden and reform" elsewhere. Boss Kelly, of Tammany Hall, endorses Mr. Adams as having done his duty when Minister to England.

Senator Robertson, of South Carolina, has been consulting with the National Republican Committee as to the campaign in his State. He says it is clearly manifest that the democrats, under the leadership of Wade Hampton, intend to carry on a violent campaign and deter the colored republicans from voting. Governor Chamberlain reports that the democrats are in a very excited condition, and seem determined that the republicans shall not carry the State. Senator Robertson says, however, that the republicans are determined to have a fair election, and that Wade Hampton will not be allowed to carry the State by intimidation.

How invariably the democrats wait until they have seen what the republicans are going to do. Even in this State, where they have the administration, and, by supposition, the inside track, they dare not come out until the republicans have acted.—Norwich (Conn.) Bulletin.

The Nation, although this is not its Hayes week, goes so far as to be "puzzled" by the "income" charge against Tilden, and to say that "he ought to make a prompt and candid answer." If he does not the Nation will be under the necessity of explaining for him; and it didn't have very good luck with its explanation of the St. Louis, Alton and Terre Haute Railroad.—Hartford Courant.

Hon. J. B. Grinnell, of Iowa, who became dissatisfied with the republican party some six years ago, has found the democrats bad company, and returned to his former allegiance.

Horatio Seymour is firm in his refusal to take the nomination tendered him by the Saratoga convention. The party has lost fifty thousand votes by the fiasco, which is due to the trickery of Samuel Tilden and his tools. The impudence of some of the tricksters is beyond a parallel. They declare that whether Seymour accepts or not, his name shall head the ticket. Thus they treat with contempt the wishes of a man who is in such feeble health as to cause serious anxiety in his family. They are playing a deep game, and dislike to be beaten. The scheme is to use Seymour's name to carry the ticket through, and Dorsheimer being on for second place, will be sworn in as Governor, Seymour failing to qualify.—New Haven Union.

Tilden money is being spent like water in this State. Tilden clubs are being organized all over the State and uniformed free of charge.—Indianapolis Journal.

The convention of the democracy of New York State, at Saratoga, was in a pitiable condition. It wanted to make success certain for the party, but didn't know how to do it. The whole trouble was over the Governship. There were plenty of aspirants, but not one among the number considered to be of sufficient strength to contest the race with Hon. E. D. Morgan, the republican nominee. The names of such friends of Tilden's as Dorsheimer, Potter and Robinson fell flat upon the convention. The old stagers saw that defeat was certain with either of these, and that the bulk of the delegates were in no mood to cheer any of them. Finally some one yelled out, "Horatio Seymour," and in a second the convention was wild with enthusiasm. The result was the unanimous nomination of the statesman of Deerfield. * * The forcing of Governor Seymour, very much against his will, to take the nomination, is proof positive that New York is a doubtful State. It shows that the republicans put their best foot forward, and that Tilden considers New York the pivotal State in the Presidential contest. Much against his will Tilden is forced to confess that the prestige of his name is not enough in the Empire State—he needs the aid of such men as Seymour and Church.—New Haven Union (inf. dem.)

If the democratic orators, and the democratic press, and the democratic official "investigators" will now bring to bear upon the railroad and income-tax transactions of Gov. Tilden, whom the democrats have nominated, the same kind of treatment that brought to bear against Hon. James G. Blaine, whom the republicans did not nominate, they might possibly render a public service, and would certainly do something toward conveying the impression that they have as much regard for the civil service and purity and disinterestedness in public life, as for party success.

JOTTINGS.

Hon. James G. Blaine and Col. Robert Ingersoll will speak at North Berwick on the afternoon of Thursday, the 7th, and not Tuesday, as we had it in Monday's issue. Particulars are given in another paragraph.

The Board of Checklist Inspectors organized on Thursday evening, by the choice of C. Morris Tredick as Chairman, and the election of Joseph H. Gardiner as Clerk.

Two unlucky fellows were before Judge Bufford on Monday, charged with having been drunk. The offence was proved, and they were assessed $9.90 each; one paid up and the other was sent up.

There is a cat-and-dog poisoner in Portsmouth, who is doing a stiff business. The wretch should be made to eat all his victims, in the form of raw sausages.—Traveller.

Mr. Oliver Lamprey of Hampton dropped dead of heart disease while unloading straw at the stable of the Boar's Head hotel, Hampton Beach, Monday morning. He was about seventy years old and leaves a wife and four grown-up children.

The last grand excursion of the season, to the Shoals, has been arranged for to-day, Tuesday, Sept. 5th, on steamer Appledore, under directions of the Women's Temperance League. Tickets for the round trip, 75 cents; children under twelve years of age, half-price. Friends of the cause of Temperance are earnestly solicited to aid in making this a success. Tickets may be obtained at the following places: Dr. Kimball's, S. W. Webber's, J. Pettigrew's, Mrs. F. B. Johnson's, at the Seaman's Home and of Mr. C. H. Tucker, corner of Water and Pleasant streets. Boat leaves Railway Wharf at 11 A. M. and 6 P. M.; returning, leaves Appledore at 3:30 and 10 P. M.

A cheap mountain excursion from this city to the Fabyan House and return, starts on Wednesday. The fare to go and return is only $2.25, the tickets being good until the 12th, inclusive. The wonderful ride on the famous Frankenstein trestle through the Notch is alone worth the price. Board at the Fabyan and Crawford houses is reduced to $3 per day; dinner $1. The train leaves here at 7:10 A. M., on Wednesday. Butler & Laighton and Station Agent Barrett at the Eastern depot have the tickets.

Hon. James G. Blaine, and Col. Robert G. Ingersoll, of Illinois, will address the people of York county, Me., at North Berwick, on Thursday afternoon, Sept. 7, on the political issues of the day. A special train will leave this city at a quarter past 12 o'clock, stopping at intermediate stations; returning, leave North Berwick at 6 o'clock P. M. Fare for the round trip, from this city or Kittery, 65 cents—half fare. Tickets for sale at the depots, and at Trefethen's drug store in Kittery. The Portsmouth Cornet Band will accompany the delegation from this city.

A large party went on Capt. Robinsons' benefit excursion, Monday evening,—a deserved compliment to a deservedly popular commander.

Damon Lodge, Knights of Pythias, go to Dover this morning to attend a parade and clambake.

Gen. Tom. Thumb and wife, the infinitesimal Miss Minnie Warren, and the "skatorial phenomenon" and comic genius, Maj. Newell, will appear at the Temple on the afternoon and evening of Thursday, Sept. 14, in a variety of new and amusing performances,—songs, duets, dances, comic acts and laughable sketches.

One of the most sensible changes in the new postal law, which everybody will appreciate, is that which allows a person to write his or her name on a newspaper wrapper, and also the word "from," to let the party receiving it know who it is from, without violating the law. It allows the sender to write on a package the number and kind of articles it contains.

THE BROKEN BANK.

The tabulated statement of the condition of the Rockingham Ten Cents Savings Bank, as taken from the Bank Commissioners' report and published in the CHRONICLE of Monday, is interesting if not very agreeable reading for the unfortunate creditors of the concern, showing as it does that the shrinkage of the bank's assets was not wholly or mainly on western bonds, as not a few have supposed, but extended to all the business conducted by the bank, one single item only (a demand loan) standing with the same figures on the bank books and the Commissioners' estimates. The published statement shows that while the shrinkage in the value of western bonds—county, city and town—amounts in round numbers to less than 25 per cent., the small amount of railroad stock held by the bank has depreciated about 75 per cent., the overdue coupons 45 per cent., mortgages 40 per cent., bills receivable 60 per cent., and real estate (bank building) 30 per cent. The largest actual loss on any one item is on mortgages, $63,000, bills receivable coming next with a showing of $55,000 on the wrong side, and western bonds standing third, with $48,000,—the whole list footing up so as to leave but about two-thirds enough assets (estimated) to extinguish the liabilities, even should there be no further depreciation and no sacrifice in realizing on the securities.

THE ENGLISH SPARROW AGAIN.

Ed. Chronicle: The story is well known of the young man who was asked which he considered worse, worms or sparrows, and who replied that he did not know, never having had sparrows. The question which he left open is still unanswered by those familiar with the birds in question, though we think that most of them, like your Friday correspondent, would decide that worms are preferable. Sparrows will eat inch worms, but they will not touch caterpillars, and even as insect destroyers they are inferior to many of our beautiful native birds; while their noise is incessant and harassing, and they themselves are dirty and quarrelsome. We should consider it a real misfortune to our city if they were to multiply among us, but there is hope that the cold winter will drive them away if no one, with mistaken ideas of humanity, puts up boxes for them. They may be necessary evils in large cities, but here they certainly are not, and we hope they will not be encouraged here, at the expense of our own songsters.

ONE WHO KNOWS.

Morrissey and Tilden.

There was an unusually lively scene at the United States Hotel, Saratoga, last week, and of which no notice has appeared in the newspapers. At that grand hotel upon Wednesday evening, the 16th instant, there assembled by appointment Messrs. P. A. B. Widener, William S. Stokley, John L. Hill, F. Theodore Walton and John McCullough, all Philadelphians. Whilst engaged in happy conversation, who should walk in but Hon. John Morrissey. After the exchange of the usual salutations Mr. Morrissey was invited to a private parlor, when the following interview took place. Said one of the parties: "Mr. Morrissey, we understand you desire to wager $20,000 that Tilden and Hendricks will be elected in November, 1876, to the Presidency and Vice Presidency of the United States. Learning this to be the case we have come here to take your bet. Here is the money." The $20,000 was then produced, and, said the speaker, "we would prefer to make it $100,000." Mr. Morrissey smiled and then said, "Gentlemen, what do you take me for—I am no flat or sucker, and as to such a wager, I want none of it. I am not putting up my money on any such matter as that just at present." This, our readers may rest assured, actually took place at Hon. James M. Marvin's United States Hotel at Saratoga. After conversation had ceased in regard to the wager, Mr. Morrissey said he was pleased to meet the gentlemen present, and extended to all a cordial invitation to call on him whenever at the Springs. Thus ended the interview which sets at rest the many rumors that Mr. Morrissey is open for bets on the election of Tilden and Hendricks.—Philadelphia Press.

The Buffalo on a Lark.

A curious fact illustrating the habits of those monarchs of the plains, the buffalo, is cited by the author, and is a leaf from the unwritten history of the buffalo taken from the era when the Pacific railways first spanned the continent. The winter of 1871-72 was unusually severe in Arkansas. The ponds and the smaller streams to the north were all frozen solid, and the buffalo were forced to the rivers for water. The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad was then in process of construction, and nowhere could the peculiarity of the buffalo be better studied than from its trains. If a herd was on the north side of the track it would stand stupidly gazing and without symptom of alarm though the locomotive passed within a hundred yards. If on the south side of the track, even though at a distance of one or two miles from it, the passage of a train set the whole herd in the wildest commotion. At its full speed and utterly regardless of consequences, it would make for the track on its line of retreat. If the train happened not to be in its path it crossed the track, and stopped satisfied. If the train was in the way each individual buffalo went at it with the desperation of despair, plunging against or between locomotive and car, just as the blind madness chanced to take them. Numbers were killed, but numbers still pressed on to stop and stare as soon as the obstacle was passed. After having trains ditched twice in one week, conductors learned to have a very decided respect for the idiosyncracies of the buffalo, and when there was a possibility of striking a herd "on the rampage" for the north side of the track, the train was slowed up and sometimes stopped entirely.

—A few days since a dun called on a young gentleman and presented him a bill, when he was somewhat taken aback by the agent taking him aside and blandly saying, "My dear sir, call next Thursday, and I'll tell you when to call again."

—A negro being asked what he was in jail for, said it was for borrowing money. "But," said the questioner, "they don't put people in jail for borrowing money." "Yes," said the darkey, "but I had to knock de man down free or fo' times before he would lend it to me."

COOKED CORNED BEEF.

Articles are being published, calculated to prejudice the public against using Cooked Corned Beef, and we would say in answer to them that in no instance has positive proof been established to show that such is the case.

Our goods are packed in a manner very similar to that of Corn, Tomatoes, Fruit and canned goods generally, (which have long been tested) and we use nothing whatever of a poisonous nature in their preparation.

In addition to our own statement we have the strong endorsement of Prof. Hosford of Cambridge, one of the most eminent Chemists in the country, who has fully tested and is familiar with the entire details of the preparation of our goods.

We would also state that we use none but the choicest of Beef that our Chicago market affords, and trust that with these statements the rapidly growing popularity of our Corned Beef may be increased.

For the information of those not knowing the fact we would state that in the process of canning there is a liability of imperfect sealing, which causes the can to expand. Meat contained in such cans is unfit for use and will be cheerfully paid for when returned to any grocer selling it.

—A New Jersey church-building committee thought an appropriate motto to put over the church door would be: "My house shall be called a house of prayer." So one of the committee, in his haste, directed the stone-cutter to chisel on the slab the 13th verse of the 21st chapter of Matthew. Obedience to orders is a point of honor with the stone-cutter, and he at once inscribed upon this stone, "My house shall be called a house of prayer, but ye have made it a den of thieves."

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.]

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Billiousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the luxurious and trying climate of New England.

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS!

is a new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all that are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 8th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldier, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 16, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be bought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to the Doctor's bills. I thought, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills. MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

Relief and Health to Your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT F LLED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did w know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in

Thousands of Cases.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY and DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudices, nor the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief it will be SURE—yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle.

Good Fresh Butter All The Year Round.

BUTTER IN 20 MINUTES.

Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a concentrated English recipe, and now in daily use by many of the most-to-market farmers in the butter counties around Philadelphia.

In hot weather this Powder makes butter much firmer and sweeter than it would be without it, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, weeds, corn stalks, cotton seed, etc., and the increased yield of butter much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

A Dog Story.

A letter from Columbia, Tenn., to a New York paper, tells this story:

There is in this county an Alderney suckling calf which is confined in a small lot during daytime, while its mother is turned out to grass. On the same premises is a young dog, not yet grown. Between the calf and this dog a wonderful attachment has developed itself. They play together, sleep together, and seem to enjoy each other's society at all times, but the most remarkable evidence of this attachment is what follows: The owner of this dog and calf carried home a few days ago a basket of potatoes, and placed them in the kitchen, which is several steps from the ground, on the calf-lot side.

Later in the day he had occasion to go into the kitchen again. He found several potatoes on the floor, and upon looking into the basket, he saw that at least half of them were gone. He went to the house and spoke to his wife and she said she had not moved one of them, nor had any other person been in the kitchen.

This excited the curiosity of the husband, who returned to the kitchen to see "how these things could be." He had not long to wait before the dog came into the kitchen, went directly to the basket and got his mouth full of potatoes, and darted over to the calf-lot, and, going up to his friend the calf, laid them before him. While the calf was eating the potatoes, the dog stood by, wagging his tail, and giving other evidences of pleasure.

As soon as the potatoes were eaten, he would go for another supply. Sometimes he would attempt to take more than he could carry, and they would drop, hence the loose potatoes on the floor that first attracted attention. A close watch was then kept on the dog, and he was seen to seek his opportunity when the crib was open to seize a nubbin and carry it to the calf as he had done the potatoes.

—When a Saratoga lady called her son to account because he had a golden hair on the lappel of his coat he explained that his girl had put a head on him.

—This chap was from Derby, Indiana. He bought a $2 accordeon, and was sitting on the levee pumping "Mollie Darling" out of it, when the goat came along. The music stopped, the man fell, and the accordeon looked as if an elephant had tramped on it. Goats, as a general thing, don't like music that has to be squeezed out of a snuff-box.

—A curious case of "hereditary birthmarks" is reported from Kentucky. For several generations the ancestors of Mr. Alfred McCrocklin, of Spencer county, have marked their hogs with a cross and slit in the ear. The same stock has remained in the family through the lapse of all these years, and now the ear marks appear at the birth of the piglings belonging to Mr. McCrocklin. This saves him the trouble of remarking his hogs.

—It is a well known fact that a hawk will always light on some conspicuous place close to the poultry yard, from which to sweep down on his victims. Taking advantage of this, erect a pole with a flat surface at the top just enough to hold a strong steel trap. Fasten this trap with a chain to a staple in the pole, and await results. No bait will be needed, for the hawk will be quite certain to light on the trap and be caught.

—A wealthy Chicago merchant being ill, a clerk sent to the house to get the number by which the combination lock of his safe was opened, and received the reply "1876." The clerk labored on till he was tired out, and then sent up again, receiving the same reply. Finally he went to the merchant's house himself, and asked if he weren't mistaken. "Mistaken!" he replied; "does this look as if I were mistaken?" And he showed the clerk his note book, in which was written: "Number of Safe eighteen hundred and seventy-six—1800706."

—Never offer a boa boa to a boa constrictor. M. Laurent, aged twenty-three, the brother of a professional snake-charmer at Lyons, Mlle. Laurent, the other day extended some civility to a serpent of this sort, seven yards long, belonging to his sister. The ungrateful animal seized him by the wrist and began to coil itself around his body and stifle him. The youth shouted for help. His sister ran up with three other persons, and—see what it is to know how to handle a snake—she instantly caught up a bucket of water and poured it over the arm on which the boa had fastened. The boa opened its jaws as the water flooded it, and the nimble youth escaped.

—An important discovery has just been made at Pompeii. It consists of a number of objects of gold and silver, and close to them the carbonized skeletons of two men, who would seem to have been borne down in the storm of ashes while endeavoring to escape with their valuables or plunder. Among the things found are eight rings, six pieces of gold money, two pairs of earrings, one single earring, two large armlets, each ornamented with thirteen pairs of ball globes, with little shells upon them, held together by chain-work, and a necklace also of chain-work, all of gold; a silver ring, three hundred and thirty-two pieces of silver money, a casserole of the same material, broken in pieces, and three large bronze coins.—London Times.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

News and Notes.

A pneumatic railway, for the despatch of messages between Paris and Versailles, just completed, is nearly thirteen miles and a half in length. The tubes, made of brass, are 3 1-2 inches in diameter, and two-fifths of an inch thick. They are laid at a depth of 8 feet from the surface, on a flooring of wood, and are pitched both inside and out.

The republican convention at Worcester on Thursday nominated Gov. Rice by acclamation, with but one dissenting voice.

Ex-Gov. Horatio Seymour, positively declines to be a candidate for Governor, and the democrats are to call another Convention.

A good story is told of Chivac, the Duke of Orleans' physician. He never noticed that he was ill, being so anxious about the health of others; but one day he felt his own pulse and said, "He's a dead man. I have been called in too late."

Political.

The well intended efforts of a few patriots to kindle a July enthusiasm yesterday met with indifferent success. One single flag was displayed on a rope stretched across Rodes street, opposite the European House, and a pretty display of little flags about the entrance of the European constituted the display of bunting. We saw but one man who had imbibed patriotic whiskey enough to get staggering drunk. After the Stars and Stripes were displayed, there was a purpose which came of a sudden impulse to fling the Confederate flag to the breeze by the side of it. Prudence prevailed, however, because, you know, Phil. Sheridan is on horseback in this riding. But, had that glorious banner been unfurled, there would have been such a bubbling, boiling, bursting enthusiam as would have set this town aglow. The liberty our people love is the liberty the Confederate flag represented—State rights and local self government.—Meridian (Miss.) Mercury. (dem.)

A New York sculptor—a young lady at that—has undertaken a portrait bust of Governor Tilden. It is thought she will succeed, although she is a very young lady. This æsthetic admiration for Tilden is said to be very general among the people, and they have determined to make another "bust" of him on the 7th of November. It will be a colossal one.

One of Tilden's papers says: "The Charlestown News declares, what we have no doubt is true, that the Democrats in the State (South Carolina) have never deceived the colored people, nor will they. Whatever they have promised to do they have done." At Hamburg, for example, they said to their unarmed negro prisoners: "Now run, while we shoot you." The negroes ran, and what the democrats had promised to do they did.

The Richmond, (Va.) Dispatch, a Tilden organ, sneeringly asks: "Why should the democrats waste either time or money on Vermont? It would be a hopeless undertaking—that of endeavoring to enlighten the ignorant republicans who eke out a precarious livelihood in the hills and vales of that benighted State." Possibly this sort of talk might have been relished by enlightened Virginians twenty years ago. We doubt if it is now.

There is said to be a church in Kentucky which is so out of temper over Scott Lord's resolution of Congress that it won't suffer its members to repeat the Lord's prayer.

The Louisville Commercial says that the St. Louis delegates are panning out rather badly. One of the Wisconsin delegates has since ran off with $50,000 of the county fund, and now it is stated that one McBridge, a delegate to the St. Louis convention, and a member of the committee to inform Tilden of his nomination, has stolen all the public funds at Pueblo, Colorado. There is not a set of men living who need reform as badly as these reformers.

Odd, isn't it, that the nicknames applied to Governor Tilden, as "Railroad Wrecker" and "Slippery Sam," originated with democrats?

A Tale of True Love.

A lawyer's office after midnight does not sound particularly like an attractive place, but it wasn't so dull after all. The carpet was worn and dingy, after the prevailing style of lawyer's offices, but the leather-cushioned easy chairs were as cosy as if they had been upholstered in satin, and the low, clear fire burned in the grate, while, through the blue clouds of wreathing smoke, two cigar-tips shone with festive glow.

For Charley Hale and his friend Meredith Pike were "unbending" after an evening spent at a fashionable soiree. Hale was tall and handsome, with dark eyes and rich brown hair, and a moustache which was the envy of half the jeunesse doree about town. Mr. Pike, though his features were sufficiently regular, and his eyes of a romantic shade of blue had something sinister and disagreeable in the expression of his face, while an almost invisible wrinkle between his brows bespoke the steady earnestness with which he looked after "the main chance" in life.

"My dear fellow," said Hale, stooping to light a fresh cigar, "pardon my stupidity. I have been so busy raving about Barbara Selden that I have quite forgotten to congratulate you."

"To congratulate me?" echoed Pike, "and what for, in the name of all the heathen divinities?"

"On the impression you have so evidently made on Miss Belinda Orr."

"Pshaw!" exclaimed Pike.

"And why that contemptuous monosyllable? Weren't you flirting with her half the evening?"

"Because she wouldn't let me go."

"Come, now," laughed Hale, "that's a little too transparent. Why, man, half the people were laughing about it."

"Then all I can say is that they had better have been minding their own business. Why, she's forty, if she's a day."

"Forty is the golden hey-day of life—a peach flushed with roseate bloom, a lily open to the noon-day sun."

"Then why don't you marry her yourself?" misanthropically demanded Meredith Pike.

"Because I'm engaged to blue-eyed Barbara," was the answer. "I prefer eighteen years and a rosebud complexion to money, but you are of a more practical turn of mind."

"What do you mean?" asked Pike.

"I mean that Miss Orr has money."

Pike's blue eyes scintillated; his companion had at last struck the right chord.

"Has she? How much?"

"Nobody knows, I suppose. At least I don't."

"That makes a difference," said Pike, looking thoughtfully into the fire.

"Pike," cried Charley Hale, "what a mercenary scoundrel you are. There will be a judgment on you for that trait of your very interesting character."

"A man must look out for Number One," said Pike, coldly shrugging his shoulders, "and if Miss Orr is rich, why——"

Hale jumped up and tossed his half-smoked cigar into the grate.

"I won't stay to hear that sort of thing," he said, half jestingly, half in earnest.

And he went out into the clear, starry freshness of the winter's night, leaving Mr. Meredith Pike to the companionship of his own thoughts. Miss Belinda Orr sat in her parlor the next morning, yawning over a newspaper—a tall, rather angular lady, with high cheek bones, muddy hazel eyes, and hair painfully verging upon red. But she had a very artistic complexion, not to say artificial, and her dress was very elegant and expensive, and she had a juvenile lisp, and a pretty way of holding her head on one side, like a child listening to a fairy story, and, after all, one can't expect perfection. She had just opened her mouth for the thirteenth yawn in fifteen minutes when a card was brought up.

"A visitor? For me?" cried Miss Belinda. "As I live, it's that very agreeable and interesting young lawyer. Show him up, Sarah, by all means."

Meredith Pike did not stay long, but he made himself exceedingly agreeable, and Belinda fell into a deep reverie after he had gone, that lasted full five minutes.

"I think I've made some impression on him," thought the mature damsel. "Yes, I do really think so—and if I could only be married before that insolent little chit, Barbara Selden, I should have nothing left to wish for."

For twenty years' fruitless pursuit of matrimony had rendered our fair heroine perfectly reckless on the subject. It was scarcely a week subsequent to this morning call when Mr. Pike was astonished, in the legal solitudes of his office, by the fair vision of a lady.

"Walk in, ma'am, and take a chair," said Meredith, rising and bowing politely. "Why—it's Miss Orr?"

"Yes," said Belinda, laughing girlishly, and trying to blush, "it's really I. And I hope you won't think my visit so very strange."

"Not at all," said Mr. Pike; but he did think it strange, nevertheless.

"It's on business," said Belinda.

"Indeed?" commented Meredith.

"I haven't felt very well lately," said Miss Orr, pathetically, "so——"

"I regret exceedingly to hear it," said Mr. Pike, in accents of the tenderest commiseration.

"Oh, it's nothing," said Belinda; "only it has called my attention to the necessity of making a will. And I prefer to have you, Mr. Pike as a friend"—Belinda's voice softened a little on this monosyllable—"execute the instrument."

"I appreciate your confidence," said Mr. Pike. "Believe me, it is not misplaced."

"Please put down the items at once," said Belinda, "for I am such a child in business matters that I can only tell you what I want done, and leave the legal forms to you."

Mr. Pike drew pen, ink and paper toward him.

"I await your pleasure," he said, deferentially.

"Well," said Belinda, checking off the heads on her fingers. "I would like to leave fifty thousand pounds each to my two sisters, Sarah Smith and Celestia Bellfield, and fifty thousand to the Old Maids' Refuge, and ten thousand to the Orphans' Home, and all the rest without reserve to my brother, Simon Orr of Westbrook."

"Yes, exactly so; all the rest without reserve," noted down Mr. Pike, his eyes glittering as they followed the rapid course of his pen.

"How soon will the instrument be ready for me to sign?" asked Belinda, demurely.

"As soon as it is possible for me to prepare it," said the lawyer. "But, Miss Orr, it is getting dark; surely you will allow me to see you home."

"I'm afraid it's too much trouble."

"Trouble!"

Meredith Pike caught his hat from the peg, and never once, in his enthusiasm, thought of his overcoat. He woke up next morning in possession of two new things—one was a bad cold in the head, the other, Miss Belinda Orr's promised hand and heart. For Mr. Pike was not one to let the grass grow under his feet. The golden items in Miss Orr's projected will had fanned the dormant embers of love into an ardent blaze. Belinda had her wish. She was married before Barbara Seldon after all. For Barbara had no fortune of her own, and Charley Hale was wise enough to wait until he had a cage of some sort before he brought home his little sweet bird. * * * *

Mrs. Meredith Pike poured out another cup of chocolate, and helped herself to a slice of hot buttered toast before she made answer, slowly—

"Well, to tell you the truth, Merry, my love, it is mostly invested in my wedding clothes. The dressmakers do charge so dreadfully now-a-days."

"Yes, yes, I know," said Mr. Pike; "but I mean the money that was to have been left to the sisters and Mr. Simon Orr, and the Old Maids' Refuge and the Orphans Home."

Belinda laughed a little discordantly, Mr. Pike thought.

"That was all nonsense; Meredith."

"Nonsense!"

Mr. Pike grew green.

"Why, of course. I never had any money."

"Woman!" gasped the outwitted limb of the law, "you have basely deceived me. You have married me under false pretences! You—"

"Don't make a noise, Meredith, or we shall have the police in here," observed his wife calmly; "you don't mean you did not love me for myself alone?"

"Do you suppose I would have married you if you hadn't led me to believe you were rich?"

"Ah," said Mrs. Pike, with a fresh draught of chocolate, "then we're even, Mr. Pike. You deceived me about love and I deceived you about money. It is not worth while to spend any more time in calling each other names, is it?"

But Meredith Pike felt bitterly that they were not even. Mrs. Pike had the best of her bargain, bad though it was. She had got a husband, and he—had got his match. He had out manoeuvred himself.

"He can't help himself," cried Mrs. Pike, gleefully to herself, as her bridegroom banged out of the door, and went down stairs like a hyena broken loose from his cage. And Mrs. Pike was right. There are some corners of life from which a man cannot escape, and does not deserve to.

—At a camp meeting of one of the New York uptown churches, the pastor is said to have made the following announcement: "Let us continue our worship by listening to a piece of sweet music performed by the operatic quartette, who have been secured regardless of expense."

—It was a New Jersey wife who said, "My dear, if you can't really drink bad coffee without abusing me, how is it that you can always drink bad whiskey without abusing the bar keeper!"

A Theory Borne Out by Facts.

The theory that lack of vigor is the underlying cause of disease is receiving daily confirmation of the most positive kind in the cure of dyspepsia, liver disorders, and kidney, bladder and uterine complaints by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the ruling remedy for maladies attributable to weakness. This superb tonic is never employed without the most beneficial effects. The liver, the bowels, the organs of urination, and indeed the entire system acquires both vigor and regularity through its action, since it gives a healthful impetus to every failing function. It is an incomparable specific for chills and fever, and other maladies of a malarial type, prevents their attacks, is a reliable means of counteracting the effects of undue exposure or fatigue, and soothes as well as strengthens the nervous organism.

On Tuesday afternoon, two fishermen, Edward Watkins and George David, coming in from the Shoals with a boat-full of fish, prompted by a fear of the squally weather, solicited a tow of Capt. Robinson of the Appledore on her inward trip. Being loaded deep and the sea rough, the boat commenced to fill when about one-third of the way across and the men were obliged to bail. Captain Robinson seeing that the boat must go down, stopped the steamer, and commenced to haul in on the towing line. When within about twenty feet of the steamer the boat sank, but the men clung to the line and in this manner were saved, although it was with no little difficulty that their rescue was accomplished. A purse of $15.50 was collected for the unfortunates by the passengers.

Mr. John I. Rand, of Rye, has given us a couple of russet apples picked from the tree two years ago, and kept in his cellar ever since, without any particular care. Though somewhat withered, they were of good flavor still. We have also received a very handsome apple, large and fair, picked this year from a tree imported from England and set out one hundred and one years ago, —before the Centennial was born.

Coal can be obtained in New York (2240 lbs. to the ton) for $3.35. The bottom has really dropped out, and we may confidently expect to buy our winter stock of fuel for $5.00 or $5.50 per short ton.

The high wind of Tuesday blew off many apples and much other fruit that had not yet grown to maturity.

If cucumber, squash and melon vines did not catch H-ail Columbia last night it was not the fault of the cold weather.

A GOOD LECTURE.

Editor Chronicle: I failed to find in the CHRONICLE of Monday a notice of the valuable lecture of Mr. DeNormandie at vesper service last Sunday evening. His subject was the power of law in relation to intemperance, and it is almost unnecessary to add that it was full of sound thought and practical suggestions. Mr. DeNormandie believes in the law, that now stands as a dead letter on our statute books, and he can see no good reason why it should not be enforced, as are other laws: such as those relating to theft, murder, arson or similar crimes against society. Whether one agrees or not with the reverend gentleman in the views thus expressed, he cannot help admiring the boldness of his position and the fearless and unsparing manner in which he strikes at criminal offenders, even though they may be sanctioned or winked at by respectability and wealth.

The Unitarian church was filled with an interested audience, many of whom were reformed men, the Reform Club having been invited to attend. We were pleased to observe that the kind invitation so cordially extended by the pastor, was so well responded to by those who are battling against the vice of intemperance.

ONE OF THE CLUB.

POLICE COURT.

Tuesday, before Hackett, Special Justice. The officers brought in a Mr. Walker, who formerly resided in Biddeford and who yielded to the importunities of half a dozen sons of Neptune on Monday evening and opened his saloon at the corner of Charles and Water streets, to receive the company after eleven o'clock in the evening contrary to the form of the city ordinance. The defence was not satisfactory to the Court and a fine of ten dollars and costs was ordered.

The keeper of another establishment at the North End who inadvertently had left his shop door open with gas lights in full blaze was arrested by officers Johnston and Webster and remonstrated with. He contended that his shop had been closed at an early hour, but he had revisited it on returning from a night excursion to the Shoals, and had lit up to count the cash in the till. The Court held that persons in the shop with the shop open and lit up brought the case within the meaning of the statutes and imposed the usual fine of ten dollars and costs. In this case an appeal was claimed.

The Dory "Centennial."

The boat Centennial arrived at Liverpool August 21 after a voyage across the Atlantic. She was sailed by a man named Alfred Johnson, a Dane, and left Gloucester, Mass., on June 18. Johnson is in good health, but suffers from want of sleep, and his legs are stiff and weak, owing to the confinement of the voyage. He is a smart, intelligent man of about 35. On arriving at New Brighton he was cheered by the passengers on a ferry-boat. He did not land at the landing stage, where a number of people had assembled to meet him, but sailed up the river and was ultimately met by the proprietor of the Rock Ferry Hotel, with whom he arranged to exhibit his boat in the grounds. The Centennial was accordingly taken up, and will be shown to the public to-day. The Centennial is a boat of the kind known in America as a dory. She is twenty feet long, partially flat-bottomed, and has a centre-board. She is decked over, is built in three water-tight compartments, and was supplied with provisions for ninety days. She was built expressly for the trip, and is of pine, extra timbered with oak. She carried one mast, and can set a mainsail, two jibs and a square-sail. Johnsen left Gloucester on the 18th of June, the people cheering him heartily as he sailed away. The weather was fine at first, but it afterward changed to fogs and head winds, which lasted until the 22d, when he put into Shake Harbor, his compass being affected by his iron ballast.

He started again on the 25th, and had a fine passage and fair winds until the 7th of July, when in latitude 41.50 north, longitude 54 west, a heavy gale from the southwest sprang up, during which the boat shipped a heavy sea, which started the combing of the hatchway, and the water got in and spoiled some of the provisions. At this time he spoke a bark from Mexico to Liverpool, and the Captain invited Johnsen to go on board, saying he would drop him off Cape Clear, and not mention anything about it; but Johnsen declined. The gale passed away, and he had fine weather until the 16th of July, when a very strong breeze came from the southwest, and he made a good run until the 2d of August, on which day, being then about 300 miles from Cape Clear, he spoke the brig Maggie Gander, from New York to Swansea. After running for a couple of hours with the brig, which shortened sail to keep company, Johnson hove his boat to in order to ride the gale, which had greatly increased. He unshipped the mast for this purpose.

About half an hour after being hove to the boat got broadside on to a heavy sea and capsized, but Johnsen got on the bottom and remained there about twenty minutes, when another sea struck her and he succeeded in righting her. This was about three o'clock in the afternoon. Just after getting into the boat again he saw a shark alongside, and its fins struck against the bottom of the boat. He fastened a knife to an oar and cut at the shark, which then went away. The boat was half full of water, but he pumped it out and weathered the gale, which lasted till next day. Everything was wetted, and he lost his kerosene stove and his square sail by the upset. The weather continued rainy and foggy for four days, during which time he could not dry anything.

On Monday, August 7, about 100 miles off Cape Clear, he spoke the brig Alfredon, from Liverpool to Baltimore, and got some bread and water, his own bread having been damaged by the salt water. Next day he got soundings to the south of Cape Clear, but it was foggy and he could not see land. On the 9th he spoke the ship Prince Lombardo, which gave him the bearings of Wexford Head as fifty-three miles east by north. On the 10th he sighted Milford, but the wind became contrary, and he put into Abercastle. He sailed again on the 12th, and reached Holyhead last Friday, and Liverpool Saturday morning. Johnsen estimates that his average run during the voyage was seventy miles a day. He was provided with medicines before starting. When asked if he would care to repeat the voyage, Johnsen replied that he "thought he had about enough of it."—Lon. Daily News.

—"Do you take trade-dollars at par?" asked a stranger of a bar-keeper in a Main street saloon the other morning. "Certainly; take anything," replied the accommodating tumbler-slinger. "Well, then, give me some whisky," said the stranger. The bar-keeper set out the bottle and glass, and the stranger poured out his drink and started for the door. "Hold on there; where's that trade dollar?" asked the bar-keeper. "Oh, I haven't got any trade dollars," replied the stranger; "I only asked you if you took them at par for information." A shade of sadness stole over the bar-keeper's face as he discovered that somebody had borrowed the pick-handle he keeps under the bar for such emergencies—and the soda water bottle that swished through the air only came within about six feet of where the stranger had stood the moment before.—Austin (Nev.) Reveille.

—A lady had her dress trimmed with bugles before going to a ball. Her little daughter wanted to know if the bugles would blow when she danced. "Oh, no," said the mother, "papa will do that when he sees the bill."

—When Chief Justice Holt, of England, who had been somewhat of a graceless scamp in his youth, recognized an old acquaintance in a prisoner brought before him, he cautiously questioned him as to what had become of his comrades. He supposed that he was not recognized by the prisoner, but the reply convinced him to the contrary, "They are all hanged, my lord, except you and I."

COOKED CORNED BEEF.

Articles are being published calculated to prejudice the public against using Cooked Corned Beef, and we would say in answer to them that in no instance has positive proof been established to show that such is the case.

Our goods are packed in a manner very similar to that of Corn, Tomatoes, Fruit and canned goods generally, (which have long been tested) and we use nothing whatever of a poisonous nature in their preparation.

In addition to our own statement we have the strong endorsement of Prof. Hosford of Cambridge, one of the most eminent Chemists in the country, who has fully tested and is familiar with the entire details of the preparation of our goods.

We would also state that we use none but the choicest of Beef that our Chicago market affords, and trust that with these statements the rapidly growing popularity of our Corned Beef may be increased.

For the information of those not knowing the fact we would state that in the process of canning there is a liability of imperfect sealing, which causes the can to expand. Meat contained in such cans is unfit for use and will be cheerfully paid for when returned to any grocer selling it.

—"It is easier for a camel to go through the knee of an idol than for a rich man to enter heaven," is the interpretation which a colored preacher gave to the Scriptures in Richmond, the other Sunday.

—A resident of Detroit, who has a thrifty fruit tree in his yard, borrowed a stone dog and placed the imposition at the foot of the tree, to scare away sad bay bad boys who might want a feast of fruit after dark. The other morning he went out to find the legs and tail broken off the image, and the body sticking in the ground and labelled "This 'ere dorg feels sick." So does the citizen.

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but is price, all things being equal, I pray no competition.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is a new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lungs, trying climate of New England;

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 23d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 16, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know it will be glad tidings of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.
MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

LINCOLN BUTTER POWDER.
Good Fresh Butter All The Year Round.
BUTTER IN 20 MINUTES.
Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a celebrated English recipe, and now in daily use in many of the most noted farmers in the butter counties around Philadelphia.
In butter this Powder makes butter much firmer and sweeter than it usually is, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, weeds, onions, garlic, cow seed, etc.; and the increased yield of butter much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

FORGOTTEN.

Once, looking through a little sheaf
Of papers stored from girlhood's years,
I chanced upon a faded leaf,
And read, half smiling, half in tears,

This legend on the wrapping set
In delicate girl's writing small;
"Never this day, this leaf forgot;"
And, lo! I had forgotten all.

Nor could I think with all my care
What it did ever mean, and so
I slowly let the summer air
Waft it away, and watched it go

With dream my gaze. And is it thus,
I mused, with this world's joy and grief?
"Never forgot," it seems to us,
As I wrote on my little sheaf;

When, lo! without our knowledge, curled
Our scroll of earth; its story small
Comes not into that higher world;
Besides we have forgot it all!

The Tramp Who Hungered and Thirsted for Work.

A robust tramp called at a house for something to eat, averring that he had not tasted food this week.

"Why don't you go to work?" asked the lady to whom he preferred his petition.

"Work!" he ejaculated. "Work! And what have I been doing ever since the middle of May but hunting work? Who will give me work? When did I ever refuse work?"

"Well," said the woman, "I guess I can give you some employment. What can you do?"

"Anything?" he shouted, in a kind of delirious joy. "Anything that any man can do. I'm sick for something to fly at. Why, only yesterday I worked all day, carrying water in an old sieve from Flint River and emptying it into the Mississippi, just because I was so tired of having nothing to do, that I had to work at something or I would have gone ravin' crazy. I'll do anything, from cleaning house to building a steamboat. Jest give me work, ma'am, and you'll never hear me ask for bread agin."

The lady was pleased at the willingness and anxiety of this industrious man to do something, and she led him to the wood pile.

"Here," she said, "you can saw and split this wood, and if you are a good, industrious worker, I will find work for you to do nearly all winter."

"Well, now," said the tramp, while a look of disappointment stole over his face, "that's just my luck. Only three days ago I was pulling a blind cow out of a well for a poor widow woman who had nothing in the world but that cow to support her, and I sprained my right wrist till I hain't been able to lift a pound with it since. You kin jest put you hand on it now and feel it throb, it's so painful and inflamed. I could jest cry of disappointment, but it's a Bible fact, ma'am, that I couldn't lift that axe above my head ef I died fur it, and I'd jest as lief let you pull my arm out by the roots as to try to pull that saw through a lath. Jest set me at something I kin do, though, if you want to see the dust fly."

"Very well," said the lady, "then you can take these flower beds, which have been very much neglected, and weed them very carefully for me. You can do that with your well hand, but I want you to be very particular with them, and get them very clean, and not injure any of the plants, for they are all very choice and I am very proud of them."

The look of disappointment that had been chased away from the industrious man's face when he saw a prospect of something else to do, came back deeper than ever as the lady described the new job, and when she concluded he had to remain quiet for a moment before he could control his emotion sufficiently to speak.

"If I ain't the most onfortinit man in Amerikky," he sighed. "I'm jest dyin' for work, crazy to get something to do, and I'm blocked out of work at every turn. I jest love to work among flowers and dig in the ground, but I never dassent do it, fur I'm jest blue ruin among the posies. Nobody ever cared to teach me anything about flowers, and it's a gospel truth, ma'am, I can't tell a violet from a sunflower, nor a red rose from a dog fennel. Last place I tried to get work at, the woman of the house set me to work weedin' the garden, and I worked about a couple of hours, monstrous glad to get work, now you bet, and I pulled up every last livin' green thing in that yard. Hope I may die ef I didn't. Pulled up a vine wuth seventy-five dollars that had roots reaching clear under the cellar and into the cistern, and I yanked 'em right up, every fibre of 'em. Woman was so heart broke when she came out and see the yard just as bare as the floor of a brick yard that they had to put her to bed. Bible's truth, they did, ma'am; and I had to work for that house three months for nothin' and find my board to pay fur damage I done. Hope to die ef I didn't. Jest gimme suthin' I kin do. I'll show you what work is, but I wouldn't dare to go foolin' around no flowers. You've got a kind heart, ma'am, gimme some work; don't send a desparin' man away hungry for work."

"Well," the lady said, "you can beat my carpets for me. They have just been taken up, and you can beat them thoroughly, and by the time they are done I will have something else ready for you."

The man made a gesture of despair, and sat down on the ground the picture of abject helplessness and disappointed aspirations.

"Look at me now," he exclaimed. "What is goin' to become o' me? Did you ever see a man so down in luck like me? I tell you, ma'am, you must give me somethin' I can do. I wouldn't no more dare for to tech them carpets than nothin' in the world. I'd tear 'em to pieces. I'm an awful hard hitter, an' the last time I beat any carpets was for a woman out at Creston, and I just welted them carpets into strings and carpet rags. I couldn't help it. I can't hold in my strength. I'm too glad to get to work, that's the trouble with me, ma'am, it's a Bible fact. I'll beat them carpets if you say so, but I won't be responsible for 'em; no makin' me work for nothin' for five or six weeks to pay for tearin' 'em into slits, yer know. I'll go at 'em if you'll say the word and take the responsibility, but the fact is I'm too hard a worker to go foolin' around carpets, that's just what I am."

The lady excused the energetic worker from going at the carpets, but was puzzled what to set him at. Finally she asked him what there was he would like to do and could do with safety to himself and the work.

"Well, now," he said, "that's considerit in ye. That's real considerit, and I'll take a hold and do something that'll give ye the wuth of yer money, and won't give me no chance to destroy nothing by working too hard at it. If ye'll jest kindly fetch me out a rocking chair, I'll set down in the shade and keep the cows from lifting the latch of the front gate and getting into the yard. And I'll do it well and only charge you reasonable for it; for the fact is, I'm so dead crazy for work that it isn't big pay I want so much as a steady job."

And when he was rejected and sent forth, jobless and breakfastless, to wander up and down the cold, unfeeling world in search of work, he cast stones at the house and said, in dejected tones—

"There, now, that's just the way. They call us a bad lot, and say we're lazy and thieves, and won't work, when a fellow is just crazy to work, and nobody won't give him nary job that he kin do. Won't work! Land alive, they won't give us work; and when we want to, an' try to, they won't let us work. There ain't a man in Ameriky that 'ud work as hard an' as siddy as I would if they'd gim'me a chance."—Burlington Hawkeye.

Daily Chronicle.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 7. 1876.

Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 5.

"What enemy hath done this thing?" was the natural inquiry upon the lips of many of our resident Bourbons as the first intelligence reached us of the trickery that sent the democratic delegates at the Saratoga convention on their way home, shouting for Seymour, to be followed in a few hours by the exasperating and humiliating discovery of their betrayal by a knot of conspirators, acting as many believe under the inspiration of their "reform" candidate for the Presidency. Others, and perhaps a majority of our local democratic politicians, were absolutely dumbfounded by the unexpected turn of events in New York, which had been watched with unusual solicitude. All agree that the treachery of the committee which reported Seymour's acceptance, has blighted the last hope of securing the electoral vote of the State for Tilden.

The managers of the democratic canvass stationed here to supervise this portion of the vineyard, maintain the same ominous silence relative to the overwhelming charges of perjury now resting against and crushing the reformer into a shapeless mass, as is observed by the faithful elsewhere. They had been overtaxed and exhausted by the constant calls upon them to relieve their candidate from the odium of fresh accusations of criminal practices which have appeared successively against him since his nomination; and when that one by the Times, accompanied by the most convincing proof, first reached them, they folded their hands with a defiant resignation and await the next with bowed heads, and "clothed with humility as a garment."

Every new political development in the South shows that no stone will be left unturned to give the united vote of that section to Tilden. The importation of arms into the country districts is general. The Ku-Klux democracy attend political meetings armed to the teeth, and acting as one man. In many portions of the South whole communities of the whites seem banded together under semi-military organizations. Republican meetings are dispersed and their speakers insulted, derided and subjected to every indignity that this brutal and savage element of the chivalry can devise. This is notoriously the case in South Carolina, where it is proposed to again establish a "white man's government" under the lead of Wade Hampton. A striking similarity is apparent in the spirit which dictates the nominees of Northern and Southern democratic conventions in the present campaign. No name is received with such marks of approval by Southern conventions as that of the most extreme, unrelenting fire-eater of ante-bellum times, who proved his devotion by service in the rebel armies. Vance, Hampton, Colquit and Coke are illustrations of this, while in the North and West the favorites of nominating conventions are those only who were most conspicuously offensive to the loyal sentiment during the war, as rampant copperheads. Tilden, Hendricks, Seymour, Williams and Talbot are selected in New York, Indiana and Maine to placate the Southern leaders and to put at rest all doubts of the submission of the Northern democracy to their dictum.

As the campaign advances new issues which promised to change its character from the two preceding it, have one by one dropped out of sight; and the old war feeling is correspondingly aroused by the defiant attitude and the arrogant demands of the secession plotters and abettors of 1861 and their complaisant allies. The character of the advices from the North, South, East and West received daily in this city, unmistakably indicate that the present struggle is to turn almost exclusively upon the issues raised,—and it has been erroneously supposed, settled,—by the war.

There appears to be some hitch in the matter of resuming work on the Washington monument. It was supposed that after the adjustment of a few necessary preliminaries, the work would be at once commenced and vigorously pushed to completion. It is now said that doubts are entertained as to the strength of the foundations and that nothing will be done looking to a resumption of work until competent engineers shall have decided upon the sufficiency of the stonework upon which the shaft is built.

Residents of our city are also anxiously inquiring when the work of repairing Pennsylvania avenue is to be inaugurated. The street is and has been practically impassible for more than a year. It is the same with nearly every street laid with the wood pavement, whereby many swindling contractors waxed rich. On the contrary, most of the streets paved with concrete, where it was properly prepared, are in excellent condition, and may be kept so for an indefinite time by occasional repairs. MAXWELL.

Vermont Election.

The republican majority in Vermont is about 26,000, a decided republican gain. The canvass has been hot on both sides; a good lot of Tilden's money has been expended, and the democrats loudly proclaimed that they were going to make a glorious reduction in the republican majority. Now, they don't seem to care anything about Vermont. At the last State election, in 1874, Vermont gave a republican majority of 20,325 for Governor; for Congressmen, in 1874, the republican majority was 8,217. In 1872, on the Governor vote, the republican majority was 25,000; Grant's majority over Greeley, same year, 30,000.

Massachusetts Democratic Convention.

Tilden's instructions to the Massachusetts democrats, to throw Gaston overboard and nominate Charles Francis Adams for the sake of its effect in other States, was dutifully obeyed on Wednesday, when Adams was nominated for Governor, and Wm. R. Plunkett of Pittsfield for Lieut. Governor.

Republican Electoral Conventions.

Republican conventions for the nomination of Hayes and Wheeler Presidential Electors will be held for all the Councilor Districts of the State at Concord, on Thursday, the 21st day of September at 11 o'clock A. M.

Each town and ward will be entitled to twice as many delegates as it sends representatives to the General Court; and all voters who believe that the election of Rutherford B. Hayes and William A. Wheeler will best promote the welfare of the whole country, are invited to join in the selection of such delegates.

The electoral conventions will be followed by a Grand Mass Meeting, which will assemble at 12 M., at the State House, and be addressed by some of the most distinguished republican orators of the United States. Half-fare arrangements will be made with all the railroads, and be announced seasonably.

Let the republicans of the entire State come forth in their strength, and make this what it is confidently expected to be, the largest political gathering ever held in New Hampshire. DANIEL HALL,

Chairman Republican State Committee.

B. F. PRESCOTT, Secretary.

News and Notes.

Arkansas went democratic on Monday by about its usual majority.

The ship Sonora, of Boston, from San Francisco for Liverpool with wheat, and the steamship Vivar, a British vessel sailing under Spanish colors, sank each other on Monday in the English Channel. One seaman was drowned.

A gang of Kansas horse thieves, eighteen in number, were routed by a Sheriff's posse, their leader killed, twelve thieves captured and most of those who escaped wounded. About sixty horses were re-taken from the thieves.

An employe of the government works at Hell Gate on the 5th dropped a dynamite cartridge on the deck of the scow, when it exploded, tearing him in pieces and throwing his body two hundred yards. Three other men were instantly killed and six more fatally wounded. The remaining two men of the scow's crew were badly but not mortally injured.

There have been 256 cases of yellow fever in Savannah since August 21, and 40 deaths. All who could leave the city have done so.

New Hampshire Items.

Hiram Doolittle and Helen Boarne have been arrested at Winchester for the murder of their illegitimate child by suffocating it immediately after its birth.

The Supreme Circuit Court for Strafford county, W. H. H. Allen, Justice, presiding, met at Dover, on the 5th, Hon. Mason W. Tappan, Attorney-General, in attendance. Judge Allen presented an able charge to the Grand Jury on the sanctity of the official oath, and turning them over to the County Solicitor, proceeded to call the docket.

At a meeting of the Governor and Council, at Concord on the 5th, E. L. Goodale of Claremont was appointed Trustee of the State Normal School, and Albert Scott of Peterboro' Trustee of the Agricultural College.

Three stores in Claremont were entered by burglars Monday night, the 4th. Entrance was effected in each case by breaking glass. Small amounts of money were taken from two of them, but nothing is missing from the other.

The Connecticut River Valley fair opened at Sullivan County Park, Claremont, on the 6th, to continue three days. Entries were very numerous and recent rains had put the grounds in fine condition.

An Aggressive Campaign.

The Louisiana and South Carolina democrats are prosecuting the campaign vigorously on the Mississippi plan, and the Mississippi democrats are doing well at it too. Republican meetings in Mississippi and South Carolina are regularly broken up by armed and organized gangs of democratic "regulators," who recognize that intimidation and murder are the only lawful and peaceable means whereby the democrats can overcome the large republican majority in those States. In Louisiana, the New Orleans Democrat's advice to the people in the country to act with coolness and discretion, leave the poor negroes alone and go for the white leaders, appears to be faithfully followed. On Sunday evening, Sept. 3d, Mr. Webster, Clerk of the District Court for Red River parish, was waylaid and shot in Coushatta—a town already infamous for the political assassinations of republicans by white democrats, not one of the murderers having been molested. This is the fourth republican parish in which the leading white officials have been shot since the campaign opened. Mr. Lavier, Tax Collector of Carroll parish, was badly wounded a few weeks since, and Mr. King, Deputy Tax Collector of Vermillion parish, killed. The Sheriff of the latter parish applied to the rifle clubs for a posse to follow the assassin. They replied: "We are home guards, we are not Sheriff's officers," and in every way thwarted his efforts. He adds: "Unless we have help here soon, we must all turn democrats to save our lives and our families." Special dispatches to the New Orleans Democrat report that negroes are under arms near Barstup, and give an account of an engagement between "a band of negroes and three white scouts," in which the former are represented as making the attack, but, as usual, the killed and wounded are all on the negro side; one negro being killed, one taken prisoner, and three wounded. The democrats are determined to carry "a solid South" for Tilden and reform and the payment of all rebel claims, even if they have to assassinate every republican in the republican States.

A Philosopher.

About two o'clock the other afternoon, a house painter, swinging on a scaffold attached to a high building on Woodward avenue, heard some one calling upon him to come down. Thinking it was the owner of the block, he descended and met a wrinkled-faced old chap who was holding an ancient umbrella over his head.

"Is your name Duke?" inquired the old man in a soft voice.

"No, sir," was the reply. "My name is Ogden."

"There it is, you see!" cackled the old stranger. "Your name isn't Duke because it is Ogden. A plainer case never came to my attention. If your name was not Ogden it would be Duke."

"Did you want to see me?" asked the painter.

"Nominally, yes. Did you ever devote any time to the study of philosophy?"

"Philosophy be hanged!" growled the painter. "If you didn't want me what did you call me down here for?"

"You now illustrate another principle!" chuckled the old man. "Why do you betray vexation? Simply because you are vexed. If you were pleased you would smile. Let us go back 1800 years, to the first principles of mind formation."

"You'd better go back to the lunatic asylum!" muttered the painter.

"Why are lunatic asylums necessary?" asked the old man. "Because we have so many lunatics. Why do we have so many lunatics?"

"Don't talk to me," replied the painter, starting to enter the building.

"Why do I talk?" inquired the quaint old character, barring the doorway. "I talk because I have a voice. Fish do not talk, and why not?"

"I don't want any more fooling around!" exclaimed the painter, trying to pull the old man out of his way.

"We will go back to what is known as the stone age," said the stranger, spitting on his hands, as if he meant to resist. "Did you ever reflect that you might have been a hill or a valley as well as a man! Suppose you had been a side hill. What would have been your policy?"

"Just about this!" gasped the painter, as he got a collar-hold and jerked with all his might.

"I sometimes think," said the old man, as he kicked the painter in the stomach twice in succession, "that man may have descended from earth. I may have been a hill, you a knoll, that man over there a glade."

There was a pause for a minute, as the painter hit him on the mouth. He retaliated by a left-hander on the nose, and securing a hold on the painter's hair, he held him against the wall, and went on:

"Why do we fight? Because we are mad! Now go back to the days of Adam and let us see how madness came to exist."

They were about half way back there when a policeman came along and collared the old philosopher and marched him off. He was recorded as John Horker, and as he was placed in a cell, he remarked:

"Why this prison jug? Because there are juggers. Let us retrace our steps to the drift period and discover who was first incarcerated in a coole."

The painter looked after the old coon as he was walked off, and giving his bleeding nose another wipe, he said:

"If that's what they call philosophy I'm going into training to-morrow morning."—Detroit Free Press.

—"Mr. Tomkins," said the young lady who had been showing off her wit at the expense of a dangler, "you remind me of a barometer that is filled with nothing in the upper story." "Divine Julia," meekly replied the adorer, "in thanking you for that compliment let me remind you that you occupy my upper story."

The Misdirection of the Bile.

The misdirection of the bile, a consequence which ensues when the liver is inactive and the bowels torpid, produces a number of bodily evils. The blood becomes contaminated with the bilious fluid, causing the skin and the whites of the eyes to assume a yellowish tinge; dyspepsia and nausea supervene, the tongue becomes furred, the breath fœtid, there are pains in the side and between the shoulder blades, the urine is high colored and scalding, and in aggravated cases jaundice and inflammation of the liver ensue. All these consequences may be prevented or obviated by using Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a vegetable alterative tonic which stimulates the inactive liver to exert itself in secreting and directing the bile, acts naturally upon the bowels and removes every trace of indigestion.

DIE-HARDS VS. NEW-DEALERS.

There were two democratic assemblages in this city on Tuesday evening, the 5th, the old die-hards having a meeting of their private Tilden Reform Club in the sky-parlors over Bufford's store, while the new-deal wing of the party met in Washington Hall on Market street to form a new club. The question at issue between the die-hards and the new-dealers is not one of politics at all; they agree that it is necessary to elect Tilden and reform, and that after he is elected the twaddle of the St. Louis platform over civil service reform must be emphasized by a prompt distribution of the custom-house, post-office and navy yard patronage among Tilden's supporters. Where the two factions clash is in deciding who shall hold the good paying offices and give to their friends the inferior ones. The die-hards, having held the federal offices before the republican party won its first national victory, and a generous proportion of the local offices in the gift of the democratic party ever since, do not feel inclined to tamely give up their leadership now; and their first move in the game which was intended to place them in the front as the only simon-pure democratic leaders, with all the rest of the local democracy as the not-worth-considering tail, was an apparent success, they having so cleverly managed things that no effective opposition to the scheme was practicable at the time their patent Tilden and Reform Club was organized. But this success was only apparent, for though the plan might have worked well enough at other times, the possibility of a grand division of federal offices among the unterrified next year spurred the younger members of the party to an open rebellion against the continued monopoly of office by the die-hards. So a scheme was at once started, by those in favor of a new deal, for the formation of another democratic club, and this club was duly organized on Tuesday evening. The die-hard managers worked gallantly though indirectly to prevent it, but it was of no use; they had a young, active and personally popular canvasser at work last week, endeavoring to beat up recruits for their club from among the democratic voters, yet in spite of this special effort the regular meeting of the "regular" club, Tuesday evening, was slimly attended and the reverse of jolly. At Washington Hall the new-dealers mustered to the number of seventy or more, and effected a permanent organization as the Young Men's Tilden and Hendricks Reform Club, with officers as follows:

President—J. Albert Sanborn;

Vice Presidents—Deren F. Stoddard, Samuel R. Gardner, William Marvin, Jr., Benjamin Russell, William J. Moat;

Recording Secretaries—Charles E. Rand, Nathaniel K. Raynes;

Corresponding Secretary—Michael R. Perkins;

Treasurer—George E. Hodgdon;

Executive Committee—Ozro J. Hobbs, J. Frank Shannon, Charles W. Stimson, Richard T. Call, Daniel P. Pendexter, Nelson Goodrich, Samuel Langdon, Jr., John W. Huntress, William Alton, William H. Phinney, Thomas R. Moore, Thomas Watkins.

Quite a number of the members of the Tilden Reform Club, it is asserted, will withdraw and join the new organization; and—hoping our democratic brethren will not consider it impertinent for an unregenerate republican to express an opinion on such a matter of democratic "reform"—we must say it now looks as though the democrats voters, in case Tilden is elected, (which he won't be,) will have to apply to Capt. J. Albert Sanborn, Mr. Michael R. Perkins and George E. Hodgdon, Esq., for billets on the navy yard, instead of to Col. Henry F. Wendell, Hon. Albert R. Hatch and Mr. William F. Russell.

But, will the "great reformer," Tilden, pay the expenses of two clubs in a town no larger than Portsmouth?

JOTTINGS.

The republican mass meeting to be held at North Berwick this day, Thursday, Sept. 7, promises to be a rouser. Fare to go and return only 65 cents. It is said that Ingersoll has no superior in the country as a stump speaker. Train leaves here at 12:15 P. M.

The second annual reunion and festival of the Grangers and farmers of Rockingham County takes place at the Boars' Head Hotel, Hampton Beach, to-day, if fair weather. Tickets can be obtained of Mr. Clarence B. Mason, at 75 cts. each. If the weather is not favorable to-day the festival will be held the next fair day.

George E. Hodgdon, Esq., of this city, is known to the readers of the Boston Herald as "George E. Hodge, M. D."

Nehemiah Moses, Esq., gives the use of Washington Hall to the democratic club with the long name, free. The first Jackson club met in this hall, in 1492, or 1620, we forget which; and then, as now, its use was free of expense to the unterrified.

Hon. Peter Marcy, of New Orleans, is now on a visit to his brother, Hon. Daniel Marcy, of Portsmouth. They are maturing plans for immediately commencing the building of a large ship, at the old Neil yard at Kittery Foreside. This will be good news to the large number of ship carpenters at Kittery, many of whom have been out of work for a long time.—Globe.

The Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals is no longer "the society with the long name;" the Portsmouth Young Men's Tilden and Hendricks Reform Club beats it all hollow. One advantage of this is that the managers of the old club can't swear at the new one more than three times in a day of ten hours.

By an advertisement in another column it will be seen that the rates at the Rockingham House have been reduced to $3 per day for transient custom; to $2.50 for commercial travellers; and to from $8 to $16 per week for regular boarders, according to size and location of rooms. The claim made that "the fittings, appointments, and cuisine of the 'Rockingham' are unsurpassed by those of any hotel in New England," is a pretty "tall" claim, but an inspection of the house and a practical test of its victualling department will satisfy any one that it is nothing more than can be maintained.

POLICE COURT.

Wednesday, Sept. 6, before Bufford, Associate Justice.

Patrick Cronan, for drunkenness, was sent to Brentwood.

John Mills and William Rogers, charged with selling liquor to a man named Chapman, of Newmarket, gave bonds to appear on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, for trial.

Icebergs in the Atlantic.

Captain Kengut of the steamship State of Pennsylvania, from Liverpool, reports that at about 3 o'clock on the morning of the 12th ult., while the steamship was in latitude 48 degrees 50 minutes north, longitude 49 degrees 58 minutes west, the cry of "sail ahead!" came from the sailor on watch. In an instant all eyes were turned to the horizon, where a large white object, apparently a vessel under full sail, was outlined against the cloudless sky. As the steamer gained upon it it seemed to be an iceberg. The night was clear and illuminated only by the faint light of the stars. Towering fully 150 feet above the sea, and sweeping majestically onward in the current, the iceberg glittered like a huge diamond as it reflected back the faint light of the stars above, and borrowing an additional charm. The iceberg had evidently been subjected to the heat of the sun's rays for some time, because, to quote the captain's expression, "it appeared to be literally rotting away," and chunk after chunk, all perforated with crevices from which miniature rivulets were streaming, became detached from the main body of the iceberg, tumbled down its side with a loud crackling noise, and disappeared in the depth of the ocean. To the north of this iceberg were many similar ones, forming a very pleasing picture. This group of icebergs lay directly in the track of the steamer, which was consequently obliged to make a detour in her course to avoid them. They were safely passed, however, and had almost ceased to form a topic of conversation among the passengers, when word was again sent from the sailor on watch that another iceberg was visible on the larboard bow. This iceberg was fully twenty miles off, but was such an immense one that it could be distinctly seen from the deck of the steamer. It had a wild, unearthly appearance, and looked for all the world like a mountain that was rent and torn by fissures and chasms. It was tipped with snow, which sparkled in the beams of the morning sun so bright as to render a good long look at it exceedingly painful.—N. Y. Sunday Mercury.

—The announcement of the peculiar social relation entered into about a year ago by Mattie Strickland, a daughter of ex-Congressman Strickland of Michigan, and Leo Miller, two believers in "social progress," is now supplemented by the following notice communicated to the Chicago papers by the two parties to the partnership, and dated at Castle Rock, Minn.: "Edwin Miller Strickland is the name given to a son born to Leo Miller and Mattie Strickland, at Castle Rock, Minn., the 14th inst. The new social order proposes to compound the terminating surnames of parents in their children, and perpetuate the name of the mother instead of the father. Every child would thus bear its father's and mother's name, but in the next generation the father's name would be dropped. This arrangement is claimed to be in harmony with nature, and far more just than the present system. The pain and suffering and the cares and responsibilities of maternity, it is believed by friends of social freedom, give the mother a title in her children that the father can never possess." The "social freedom" that thus brazenly glories in its shame is quite worthy of the rotten eggs with which the aforesaid Leo Miller was greeted on an occasion not long ago when he attempted to advocate his "order" in public.

—A notable feature of the dinner of the Faneuil Hall marketmen at Boston was the entire absence of all wines and liquors, which was resolved upon by the committee of arrangements after a careful discussion. The Journal suggests that the alumni associations of the various colleges at their reunions in Boston and elsewhere take the hint, and enforces the advisability of it by this incident: "There was a class-supper, not long ago, in this city, which the papers next morning characterized as brilliant and successful, but they omitted to mention that some of the young men who attended it were carried away in such a state of intoxication that they made their journey back to college lying prone upon the floor of the car."

—Paris has one public drinking fountain to every 40,000 persons, and one liquor shop to every 80.

—An Indiana man, who saw his wife fall off the bridge into a mill-pond, never hesitated a moment about his duty, but with that noble impulse so characteristic of the sex darted down the road and prevented anybody from coming up to witness the harrowing spectacle.

COOKED CORNED BEEF.

Articles are being published, calculated to prejudice the public against using Cooked Corned Beef, and we would say in answer to them that in no instance has positive proof been established to show that such is the case.

Our goods are packed in a manner very similar to that of Corn, Tomatoes, Fruit and canned goods generally, (which have long been tested) and we use nothing whatever of a poisonous nature in their preparation.

In addition to our own statement we have the strong endorsement of Prof. Hosford of Cambridge, one of the most eminent Chemists in the country, who has fully tested and is familiar with the entire details of the preparation of our goods.

We would also state that we use none but the choicest of Beef that our Chicago market affords, and trust that with these statements the rapidly growing popularity of our Corned Beef may be increased.

For the information of those not knowing the fact we would state that in the process of canning there is a liability of imperfect sealing, which causes the can to expand. Meat contained in such cans is unfit for use and will be cheerfully paid for when returned to any grocer selling it.

—Horace Greeley used to tell this story: He once sent a claim for collection to a Western lawyer and, regarding it as rather a desperate claim, told the attorney if he collected it he might reserve half the amount for his fee. In due time Mr. Greeley received the following laconic epistle: "Dear Sir—I have succeeded in collecting my half of that claim. The balance is hopeless."

—A gentleman conversing with a Brooklyn lady about the absurdity of female apparel and the ridiculousness of fashionable life, exclaimed: "Is there on earth a bigger fool than the mere woman of fashion?" Her questioner considered himself shut up and put down, like a disagreeable book, when the lady answered: "Yes, the man who admires her."

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

s no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Cordial he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating, it increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the luxurious trying climate of New England,

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

—— USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

MAGIC

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 23d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, 75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. They told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills. MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS are put up only by the AMERICAN MEDICINE CO., Manchester, N. H., THOMAS W. LANE, Agent.

SEC. 5. The contes. of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any seller of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person from m he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 16. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

BUTTER IN 20 MINUTES.
Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a celebrated English recipe, and now in daily use by many of the most noted farmers in the Dutchy counties around Philadelphia.
In hot weather this Powder makes butter much firmer and sweeter than it usually is, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, weeds, corn stalks, cotton seed, etc.; and the increased yield of butter much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

THE PRIDE OF BATTERY B.

BY F. H. GASSAWAY.

South Mountain towered on our right,
Far off the river lay,
And over on the wooded height
We held their lines at bay.

At last the muttering guns were still,
The day died slow and wan.
At last the gunners' pipes did fill,
The Sergeant's yarns began.

When,—as the wind a moment blew
Aside the fragrant cloud
Our brierwoods raised,—within our view
A lite e maiden stood.

A tiny tot of six or seven,
From dreside fresh she scened,
(Of such a little one in heaven
One colder often dreamed.)

And, as we stared, her little hand
Went to her early head
In grave salu e: "And who are you?"
At length the Sergeant said:

"And where's your home?" he growled again.
She lisped out, "Who is me?
Why, don't you know? I'm little Jane,
The Pride of Battery 'B.'

My Lome? Why, that was burned away,
And pa and ma are dead,
And so I ride the guns all day
Along with Sergeant Ned.

And I've a drum that's not a toy,
A cap with feathers, too,
And I march beside the drummer boy
On Sundays at review;

But now our 'baccа's all give out.
The men can't have their smoke,
And so they're cross—why, even Ned
Won't play with me and joke,

And the big colonel said, to-day,—
I hate to hear him swear—
He'd give a leg for a good pipe
Like the Yanks had over there.

And so I thought when beat the drum,
And the big guns were still,
I'd creep beneath the tent and come
Out here across the hill,

And beg, good Mister Yankee men,
You give me some Lone Jack,
Please do—when we go home—says he
I'll surely bring it back.

Indeed I will, for Ned—says he—
If I do what I say
I'll be a general yet maybe,
And a prancing boy."

We brimmed her tiny apron o'er,
You should have heard her laugh
As each man from his scanty store
Shook out a generous half.

To kiss the little mouth stooped down
A score of grimy men,
Until the Sergeant's husky voice
Said "Tention, squad!" and then

We gave her escort, till good-night
The pretty waif we bid,
And watched her toddle out of sight,—
Or else 'twas tears that hid

Her tiny form,—our turned about
A man, nor spoke a word
Till after a while a fierce, hoarse shout,
Upon the wind we heard!

We sent it back,—then cast sad eye
Upon the scene around,
A baby's hand had touched the tie
That brothers once had bound.

That's all—save when the dawn awoke
Again the work of hell,
And through the sullen clouds of smoke
The screaming missiles fell,

Our general often rubbed his glass,
And marveled much to see
Not a single shell the whole day fell
In the camp of Battery "B!"

Keeping Step.

Among the first things that a couple have to do upon getting married, is to accommodate themselves each to the other's walk, and in this matter of accommodation they don't always succeed well. Mr. and Mrs. McNabb, of the second ward, have had an especially hard time in this respect, and are really little petter off than they were at the beginning of the honeymoon. Mr. McNabb is tall and lean, with a stride about a yard, and Mrs. McNabb is short and dumpy, with a step carefully estimated by her husband at about six inches on the average; so when they first began walking together the effect was odd. There was the "patter patter," of Mrs. McNabb's short paces, with the heavy "thump" of her husband's footsteps coming in at intervals, and the effect was ridiculous. At first the conversation between them was this way:

"Oh, Augustus, dear, please do take little shorter steps."

"Why, Angelina, I'm walking as usual; can't you step a little longer, darling?"

But he didn't take shorter steps, nor she longer one, because it was a practical impossibility in either case, and after a month or two their conversation ran more interestingly.

"Augustus don't take such horrid strides. I'm not a giantess."

"No, evidently, you're less like a giantess than a beetle. Do you suppose I can patter along to keep time with you in six inch hops? Nonsence!"

At the end of the first half year the two never went out without a quarrel. She'd break out every time:

"You're a beast, Augustus? I'd as soon walk with a big pair of shears! No gentleman would straddle so with a lady on his arm, you brute!"

"That'll do, madam! It's hard enough to force a man to literally carry you, without insulting him! You'll die of inanition yet, and next time I'll marry a woman with more legs and less tongue! This thing's an infernal nuisanse!"

And then they gave up walking for a year or more. Finally, as necessity sometimes compelled them to go out together, it was arranged between them that in walking he should keep time with every third step of hers, and the plan works, after a fashion. As they go along the sidewalk the sound is "patter, patter, thump!" "patter, patter, thump!" and its funny. The only difficulty about the device is that three of her steps fall a fraction short of one of his, and every other minute she has to wriggle and hop or he has to halt and stumble to allow her to catch up. They are an unhappy couple, and all because the distance from their bodies to the ground vary so much.

Daily Chronicle.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1876.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

Republican Electoral Conventions.

Republican conventions for the nomination of Hayes and Wheeler Presidential Electors will be held for all the Councilor Districts of the State at Concord, on Thursday, the 21st day of September at 11 o'clock A. M.

Each town and ward will be entitled to twice as many delegates as it sends representatives to the General Court; and all voters who believe that the election of Rutherford B. Hayes and William A. Wheeler will best promote the welfare of the whole country, are invited to join in the selection of such delegates.

The electoral conventions will be followed by a Grand Mass Meeting, which will assemble at 12 M., at the State House, and be addressed by some of the most distinguished republican orators of the United States. Half-fare arrangements will be made with all the railroads, and be announced seasonably.

Let the republicans of the entire State come forth in their strength, and make this what it is confidently expected to be, the largest political gathering ever held in New Hampshire. DANIEL HALL,
Chairman Republican State Committee.
B. F. PRESCOTT, Secretary.

Democratic Electioneering.

The tactics of the Mississippi "reformers" are not confined to the South. Accounts of attacks on republican processions by democratic roughs are frequent throughout the North, and are quite common even in New England. At St. Albans, Vt., several persons were badly injured by stones thrown at the carriages by the democrats; at Biddeford, Portland and other places in Maine the republicans parade at the risk of having their heads broken by stones from the hands of the democratic denizens of the back slums, and the same is true of Lowell and other cities in Massachusetts. The latest instance of the exhibition of the true Mississippi-Louisiana-Hamburg spirit by the New England supporters of Tilden, Tammany and reform, occurred at Worcester, Mass., on Tuesday evening, when several members of a mounted Hayes and Wheeler club which had visited that city to take part in a parade, were assaulted on their way home by a mob full of whiskey and zeal for Tilden and reform and good government, and one man seriously and ten or fifteen others slightly injured. A pistol shot from one of the assaulted party finally dropped one of the Tilden roughs, after which the scoundrels bravely took refuge behind buildings, from which retreats they kept up a volley of stones until the republicans left. When this spirit of intolerant ruffianism is so commonly displayed by the democracy of New England, what may reasonably be expected from the ignorant and brutalized "poor white trash" of the South?

Since the above was in type an example of democratic "reform" ruffianism has occurred nearer home. On Wednesday night a Hayes and Wheeler club paraded the streets of Manchester in honor of the Vermont election, and the Manchester democracy indicated their disapprobation of such infamous tyranny on the part of the radicals by stoning the procession. Mr. Charles Dodge, one of the club, was struck on the nose and over one eye by stones, and badly wounded; and a transparency borne by one of the club was broken by a brick thrown by an enthusiastic supporter of Tilden and reform.

At Kingston, N. Y., on Wednesday evening, a republican meeting was attacked and broken up by the democrats, who afterward felled a republican flagpole and attempted to steal the flag. A fight ensued, in which many republicans were badly hurt with stones and four wounded (one mortally) with pistol shots.

News and Notes.

The Turks have occupied Alexinatz, and things look blue for the Servians. Turkey refuses to consent to an armistice, but is willing to make peace on terms to suit. The Montenegrins seem to hold their own pretty well against the Turks. A war between Turkey and Russia is considered inevitable,—and if it wipes Turkey off the map of Europe it will be a good thing, no matter what nation gets the most of the spoils.

A serious riot is reported at Charleston, S. C., in which many whites were injured, colored republicans being the aggressors.

Mrs. Hayden, who was shot by her worthless husband at Derby Line, Vt., some days ago, died on the 6th inst. Her brother-in-law, Mr. Brigham, who was wounded by Hayden at the same time, is recovering. Hayden, who is a drunken, low-lived wretch, is in jail.

Yates and Shaw's ice-house, at Biddeford, with 5000 tons of ice, was destroyed by fire on the evening of the 5th.

The Old South will be saved after all. The preservation committee has offered $400,000 for the site, and it will be accepted; the money has all been raised.

A duel took place near New Orleans on Tuesday night between Gustave Margy and Lucien Bachemin. The latter was shot in the thigh. The affair was amicably settled by the two idiots without further damage.

Gen. Jeff Thompson, of New Orleans, died at St. Joseph, Mo., on the 5th.

Implicit obedience, undirected by common sense, is sometimes almost as disastrous as rank insubordination. The keeper of Thomas' Point light-house, eight miles from Annapolis, reports that one hundred and fifty dollars damage was done to the iron piling by a schooner, which ran into it on Monday night. The captain of the schooner had gone below, leaving instructions for the man at the wheel to steer for the Thomas' Point light. The man obeyed his orders literally, and made a sure shot at the light-house. The schooner broke her bowsprit, but was not seriously damaged. The wind was only three or four miles an hour, but if a stiff breeze had been blowing, the keeper thinks the schooner would have struck with such force as to have split her in two.

Attention is directed to the card of Grand Union Hotel, opposite Grand Central Depot, New York. This hotel is one of the largest and most popular of the New York city first-class hotels. It is so conveniently located to the Grand Central Depot, that all expense of carriage and baggage expressage is saved its guests. An indisputable recommendation of this house is the fact that guests who stop there once become regular patrons thereafter. Persons contemplating visiting or passing through New York, or attending the Centennial, will do well to give the Grand Union a trial. The Grand Union supplies every advantage afforded by a first-class hotel, while the rates of charges are moderate, being suited to the stringency of the times.

Commander C. C. Carpenter and Lieut. Marcus B. Buford are detached from the U. S. S. Huron, and placed on waiting orders.

All the lieutenants at the torpedo station at Newport have been placed on waiting orders.

Jacob Stauffer, his wife and five children, living near Harrisburg, Pa., are dangerously ill from the effects of arsenic that somebody put in a fish, of which they all partook. Another attempt to poison them in a similar manner was made about three weeks ago.

On Sunday evening, at Baxter Springs, Kansas, a young man named Elliott was married to a Miss Cregg. Her father was violently opposed to the match, and rendered desperate by his failure in his efforts to prevent the marriage deliberately shot his son-in-law through the heart. Cregg fled, but was hotly pursued by the Sheriff and a number of citizens, who overtook him, and when commanded to surrender, fired on the Sheriff and party. The fire was returned and Cregg fell shot through the head and breast, expiring in a short time.

In the Essex (N. J.) county court Judge Depew charged the grand jury concerning the killing of the Thielhorns, the roughs who murdered several men in a foundry and were stoned to death in the river by the enraged workmen, some months ago, that the law does not hold responsible those taking the life of persons escaping from the action of the law. This is at variance with the verdict of the coroner's jury.

The steamboat Connecticut went down to Sandy Hook, with a large party of excursionists from New York, to meet the steamer John H. Starrin on its first trip. They met and salutes were fired from each steamer. A premature explosion on the Connecticut dangerously injured William Bushey, of Jersey City, the gunner. He is probably totally injured. Another man then acted as gunner, carelessly leaving the ammunition box open. A spark entered and exploded twenty-five pounds of powder, injuring a large number of persons, four of them seriously.

New Hampshire Items.

Among the speakers at the mass meeting at Concord on the 21st, (the day of the Electoral conventions) will be Hon. James G. Blaine, the foremost champion of republicanism. Hon. B. H. Bristow, Col. Robert C. Ingersoll, Gen. Noyes, Geo. Wm. Curtis, Esq., Senator Conkling, Ex-Gov. Morton and other prominent men and brilliant orators have been invited, and the meeting will doubtless be the greatest demonstration seen in this State for many years.

At Manchester, on the evening of the 5th, one hundred Hayes and Wheeler men organized as Granite State Guards, with officers as follows: President, Henry E. Burnham; Vice Presidents, William R. Patten, William H. Maxfield, Horace Pettee; Secretary, J. C. Bickford; Treasurer, L. B. Bodwell.

The Governor and Council have resolved not to remove Sylvester Dana, Police Justice of Concord, for whose removal an address was passed at the last session of the legislature. Herman W. Greene was appointed Solicitor of Merrimac county, in place of Daniel Barnard, who declined the position. John R. Varney was appointed Special Justice of the Police Court of Dover.

The Grand Army posts of the State have had a two days' camp at Great Falls, commencing on the 6th.

The "Dublin" Baptist Association was held at East Jaffrey on the 6th. The attendance was quite large, delegates being present from Peterboro, Dublin, Troy, Pottersville and other places. The exercises were of a very interesting nature and indicate that this association is in a flourishing condition

The annual meeting of the Union Manufacturing Company at West Peterboro was held on the 6th. The report of the Treasurer and Directors did not favor starting up the mills.

At a recent meeting of the directors of the New Hampshire State Agricultural Society, for the purpose of perfecting arrangements for the State fair to be held in Manchester October 3d, 4th and 5th, the following officers of the fair were chosen: Superintendent of Grounds, A. W. Quint; Horses, John Wiggin; Cattle and Sheep, Daniel W. Fling; Hall No. 1, Thomas J. Offerson; No. 2, W. D. Page; No. 3, W. Brown; Poultry, William T. Evans; Art Hall, A. G. Stevens. Special attention will be paid to the Centennial exhibition part of the fair; many ancient articles are to be exhibited and the show will be very large. The prospects are of a grand success. Admission is reduced from fifty to thirty-five cents. The usual arrangements in regard to railway transportation free have been made. The Chief Marshal will be C. C. Shirley of Goffstown. A purse of $1000 will be offered for New Hampshire horses. Farmers' meetings will be held each night.

A. M. Foss had his leg had completely cut off by a circular saw, while at work in the steam mill of B. F. Brown, at West Rumney.

Political.

The democratic press is virtuously indignant at the New York Times for stigmatizing Tilden as a perjurer and a swindler, and proving him to be such by his own sworn statements; but the same democratic papers could see nothing wrong in democratic investigating committees' attempts to blast the previously unsullied reputations of republicans on the unsupported testimony of prostitutes, lunatics, convicted thieves and acknowledged perjurers and blackmailers.

Uncle Sammy claims that he was the friend of the Union soldiers. He didn't want any of them to go to the war, where they might get killed.—Burlington Hawkeye.

Scott Lord, the democratic Congressman who introduced the resolution under which the recent orders were issued placing troops at the disposal of the United States marshals in the Southern States, has been renominated for Congress by acclamation in the Utica, N. Y., District. His democratic neighbors in the district approve his conduct, and well they may, for it is said that the resolution was offered and carried by Mr. Tilden's special request.

Tilden made a terrible blunder when he nominated Seymour for Governor of New York, but he is managing the democratic campaign in Massachusetts much better. Mr. Adams, though a candidate for the republican nomination two years ago, will doubtless run as well a Bourbon democrat, he having been endorsed by Boss Kelly, of Tammany Hall, as a man for whom the Feinians can vote without stultifying themselves.

The democratic politicians at Washington are very much disturbed over the situation in New York State, and are candid enough to admit that Seymour's declination will greatly strengthen Morgan, no matter who may be substituted at the head of the State ticket. The confidence of being able to carry New York, which was expressed at the democratic headquarters two weeks ago, has given way to a feeling of despondency.

In spite of Kilpatrick—who has apparently injured no one but himself—the republicans are gaining in Indiana. The Indianapolis News, surveying the field from the calm summit of the fence, says: "The progress of General Harrison in the canvass of the State is very much in the character of a triumphal procession. The people turn out en masse to hear him, and when there they stay to applaud. The evidence of his strength with the people increases daily. There is a freshness and vigor in his speeches which charm and convince."

The democrats of Connecticut have nominated Richard Hubbard for Governor and Francis B. Loomis for Lieut. Governor.

Manchester has four republican organizations,—the Hayes and Wheeler Guards, 125 men, the Hayes and Wheeler Granite State Guards, 100 men, the Soldiers' Hayes and Wheeler Club, and the Young Men's Hayes and Wheeler Club, 55 men. The democrats have but one club, numbering 44 men.

—Not long since a gentleman from Strathbam, while waiting at a railway station in one of the adjoining towns for the eastward bound train, had his attention attracted toward a boy some four or five years old, who with legs crossed was leaning against a telegraph pole, very composedly pulling a cigar. While the gentleman's thoughts were occupied on the depravity of Young America, a bright-eyed young miss came tripping along. When opposite the promising youth she halted and in a silvery voice accosted him thus: "Willie, how is your mother's health this morning?" The young smoker very leisurely removed his cheroot and ejected a volume of smoke that would have done no discredit to a small locomotive, and replied: "Well I rather guess the old woman's goose is about cooked."

— "Mary, I do not approve of your entertaining your sweetheart in the kitchen," said a lady to her servant. "Well, ma'am, it's very kind of you to mention it; but he's from the country, you see, ma'am, and I'm afraid he's too shy and orkard in his manners, ma'am, for you to like him to come up into the parlor," replied Mary.

—There is a goat in Covington, Ky., that chews tobacco, drinks whisky, and would die before he'd vote the republican ticket.

The Misdirection of the Bile.

The misdirection of the bile, a consequence which ensues when the liver is inactive and the bowels torpid, produces a number of bodily evils. The blood becomes contaminated with the bilious fluid, causing the skin and the whites of the eyes to assume a yellowish tinge; dyspepsia and nausea supervene, the tongue becomes coated, the breath fouled, there are pains in the side and between the shoulder blades, the urine is high colored and scalding, and in aggravated cases jaundice and inflammation of the liver ensue. All these consequences may be prevented or obviated by using Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a vegetable alterative tonic which stimulates the inactive liver to exert itself in secreting and directing the bile, acts naturally upon the bowels and removes every trace of indigestion.

Adamson's Vegetable Pills should be used in connection with Adamson's botanical Cough Balsam. For sale with the balsam everywhere.

SULPHUR AND MOLASSES, the old-fashioned internal remedy for the itch, is obsolete. That and other obnoxious skin diseases are cured in half the time, without disordering the stomach, by GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP, the great external anti-scorbutic.

A Fragrant Breath and Pearly Teeth are easily attained, and those who fail to avail themselves of the means, should not complain when accused of gross neglect. The SOZODONT will speedily eradicate the curse of a foul breath, beautifying and preserving the teeth to the oldest age.

LYON'S KATHAIRON prevents the Hair from falling out or turning gray, renews its growth, and gives strength and vigor. It is delightfully perfumed, and makes a splendid dressing. It is the cheapest and most desirable Hair Tonic ever produced. Used by the elite. Price only 50 cents.

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD, the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to deteriorate, the past with the present is my best pledge. "ATTENTION!"

All voters intending to support the republican nominees in the present Presidential campaign are hereby invited to meet at Franklin Upper Hall, on Saturday evening, Sept. 9th, at 7:30 o'clock, for the purpose of forming a Hayes and Wheler Club. PER ORDER.

JOTTINGS.

Charles E. Batchelder, Esq., has received his commisson as Justice of the Police Court, and will enter on his duties this morning, if any business should be presented.

The Portsmouth Light Artillery, Capt. T. E. O. Marvin, accompanied by the Kearsarge Fife and Drum Band and a number of invited guests, start for the Centennial on Monday. Camping ground has been secured in Fairmount Park, not far from the Exhibition Buildings.

A dangerous counterfeit of the silver half-dollar of 1875 is in circulation. It has a fair ring, but can be detected by rough workmanship, especially of the milling on the edges. The stamped figures are not deeply or smoothly cut.

City Missionary Wm. A. Loyne on Thursday received a quantity of very useful furniture for the Old Ladies' Home, from friends preparing to leave the city: from one lady a parlor lounge, four parlor chairs, a parlor table, mahogany bureau, rocking chair, caneseated chair, looking glass, bedstead, washstand, and a quantity of kitchen utensils; from another lady a three-ply carpet, four barrels of furnace coal, and a quantity of kindling wood. Mr. Loyne expresses his gratitude to the friends who thus remember the work.

We understand that the democracy of that portion of Rockingham which belongs to this Councillor District will offer the name of John S. H. Frink, Esq., of Greenland, as a candidate for Elector in the coming convention.—Dover Democrat.

POLICE COURT.

Thursday, Sept. 7, before Bufford, Associate Justice.

John Mills and William Rogers appeared at 10 o'clock, A. M., to answer to a charge of selling liquor to a Newmarket man named Chapman. The Court adjudged the defendants probably guilty, and they were required to recognize in the sum of $200 each for their appearance at the October term of the Circuit Court to further answer to the charge.

In the afternoon, George Peirce, for drunkenness, was fined $7.07, and costs.

A GRAND RALLY.

A large and enthusiastic republican mass meeting was held in Hill's grove in North Berwick on Thursday afternoon, and was addressed by Hon. J. G. Blaine and Col. R. H. Ingersoll of Illinois; Mr. Blaine spoke an hour and a half and Col. Ingersoll one hour and a quarter, the audience numbering upwards of five thousand men and women who gave the closest attention to all that was said. To say that the speeches were good don't half tell it, but to claim that Ingersoll is the most effective and eloquent speaker on the stump is not far from the truth. A large delegation started from this city, and it was reinforced at every station, so that thirteen carloads were emptied at North Berwick.

The hour set for the departure was six o'clock, and though Col. Ingersoll spoke to within a minute or so of the clock's striking, not one left the audience. Fears were expressed on leaving the grounds that there would not be cars enough to take the immense crowd of people that filled the avenue leading to the station, but the Eastern railroad management here, with a wise foresight sent up sixteen cars, so that all were provided for and all made happy by a comfortable ride home. Besides those who arrived by rail, hundreds went in carriages and on foot, insomuch that the roads were lined in every direction by the sturdy yeomanry of Maine seeking their respective homes. Four bands were in attendance, the Portsmouth Cornet Band accompanying the Kittery and Portsmouth delegation, giving better music than we ever heard them discourse before, though their poorest has never been poor.

A Ridiculous Fashion.

The London correspondent of the Bazar gives a pertinent illustration of the extremity to which the tying-back fashion is carried. A woman whose veracity is unquestioned was invited to inspect the wedding trousseau of a young fiancee of high rank. The dresses were of the most costly materials, sufficient in number to be adapted to every possible occasion, and gotten up regardless of expense in the height of fashion. "But where," said the looker-on at the display, "is the under-clothing?" "Oh!" replied the modiste, "women wear none now-a-days. They wear these instead," showing at the same time three complete suits of chamois leather.

It is said by the same authority, that Worth's skirts all require undergarments of chamois leather to allow the requisite tying-back. The following story is a good caricature of this deplorable fashion. The Mayor of Bristol recently gave an entertainment to the Mayor of London, and one of the invited guests sent to Paris for her dinner-dress. When it came home she had to take off garment after garment before she could get into it at all. The feat was however accomplished with infinite pains, but the misery did not end here. By dint of strategy she managed to sit down at the table, and was, during the continuance of the dinner, tortured with the thought of how she should manage to get up again. The gentlemen on each side of her helped her out of this trouble by pulling down the refractory garment by main force. Punch hits off the prevailing style with a ridiculous illustration. A young man and maiden are walking out by the seashore, dressed precisely alike with one exception, he has two legs to his trowsers, while she has but one. The absurdity, immodesty and extremity of tie-backs could not be more happily caricatured. The great lengths to which this fashion is being carried will, however, work out a remedy. Tie-backs can be strained too far as well as other things, and it is time that the fashionable world returned to its senses in this respect. We must own that the only apparent symptom of a reform is seen in the lamentable length which the style has reached and in the utter impossibility of its being carried any farther.

Tweed, Tilden and Morrissey.

Mr. John Morrissey was the most prominent champion of Mr. Tilden at St. Louis, and the New York Sun is his most efficient organ. Last Winter the Sun related the following anecdote, which we know to be true:

During a visit paid by Senator Morrissey to Governor Tilden recently, one of the Governor's friends spoke of William M. Tweed's escape from jail. "I'm glad that Tweed got away," said Mr. Morrissey.

"Why do you say that?" asked Governor Tilden.

"Because," replied the Senator, "I think he has suffered enough for his crimes."

The Governor looked sharply at the Senator, and said, "Morrissey, you don't dare express that opinion publicly."

"Oh, yes, I dare," answered Mr. Morrissey, smiling. "I cut loose from Tweed, in 1868, before it was known that he had done anything wrong. But you stuck to him until 1871."

The Governor scowled and changed the topic.

Mr. Morrissey is Mr. Tilden's bosom friend. He is one of the leaders of "reform." He is now Mr. Tilden's chief pillar in New York, as he was at St. Louis, and his testimony as to Mr. Tilden's connection with Tweed is authoritative. When he declares that "Tilden stuck to Tweed until 1871"—when Tweed was down—he tells the whole story, in a nutshell. And Morrissey knows.—Albany Journal.

A Hopeless Search.

There is a young lady in Chicago, who has been engaged five times since New Year's, but who is now free once more. She is an heiress in a small way, her father having a snug sum and owning considerable property in the Eighth ward. Her suitors have always been prosperous young men, as he will not have any other wooers save those who can show signs of capability and worldly wealth. But she had an ambition to be loved for herself alone, and puts all her intended husbands to the test in this wise: She takes an opportunity of confiding to them, with injunctions of perfect secrecy, that her father has lost a great deal of money, and has been obliged to mortgage his dwelling-house and furniture. The latter, however, she represents, is not mortgaged for more than one-half its worth, so she asks, as a favor, that her intended advance a sum of money on a second chattel mortgage. The effect of this ruse, so far, has been that each young man has promised to advance the money and afterward has broken his promise and acted in such a manner that the engagement is broken also. The young lady will keep her hands nice for some time, if she does no house-work until she does it for a husband who has stood this test.

—Of all the places in the world that have been appropriately named, Ishpeming, Mich., ranks highest. It consists of iron mines, tumble-down miner's shanties, a few saloons, one poor hotel, the bar of which is the best patronized part of the house, and a ragged, motley population of about 3,000. Ishpeming is Indian for "Helltown," and the Indians must be credited with having hit the nail on the head when they christened it. As the conductor on one of the trains bound toward Ishpeming was going through the cars one day, he came upon a fellow who was so drunk that he barely knew where he was. "Tickets!" said the conductor. "I ain't got no tickets," was the reply. "Well, then, you'll have to pay your fare. You can't ride free on this train." "Who wants to ride free? I don't. I ain't no slouch, I allus pays my way." "How far do you want to go?" "I want to go to h——l." "All right," replied the conductor; "Give me seventy-five cents, and get off at Ishpeming."

—An observer who has lived long among the Mongolians says that the strongest point of the Chinese character is his settled habit, or firm principle of non-intervention. He believes in allowing everybody, friend and foe, to fight their own battles. To move in any matter there must be some strong circumstances affecting him personally to urge him. He will stand by and gaze at a Chinaman killing a foreigner with the same indifference as at a foreigner beating a Chinaman.

COOKED
CORNED BEEF.

Articles are being published calculated to prejudice the public against using Cooked Corned Beef, and we would say in answer to them that in no instance has positive proof been established to show that such is the case.

Our goods are packed in a manner very similar to that of Corn, Tomatoes, Fruit and canned goods generally, (which have long been tested) and we use nothing whatever of a poisonous nature in their preparation.

In addition to our own statement we have the strong endorsement of Prof. Hosford of Cambridge, one of the most eminent Chemists in the country, who has fully tested and is familiar with the entire details of the preparation of our goods.

We would also state that we use none but the choicest of Beef that our Chicago market affords, and trust that with these statements the rapidly growing popularity of our Corned Beef may be increased.

For the information of those not knowing the fact we would state that in the process of canning there is a liability of imperfect sealing, which causes the can to expand. Meat contained in such cans is unfit for use and will be cheerfully paid for when returned to any grocer selling it.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

—USE—

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 29, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all that you are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 20th, and words you February 23d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I hope to gain flesh. I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 16, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; and I send you another testimonial. My wife has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head, or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, 75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One said he could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get money to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as these pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend them to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills. MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

Gambling In Nevada.

They still buck the tiger in the most approved fashion out in Nevada, and that expensive beast couldn't have a more convenient jungle than Virginia City. He is not only tolerated, but the best people of the city are on familiar terms with him. Judges, lawyers, mining superintendents and even clergymen do not find it at all necessary to fold secrecy around their somewhat frequent visits to his lair. Faro is one of the recognized and legitimate industries of the town. The high licenses which the owners of games are compelled to pay constitute a rich source of revenue to the city and form the strongest possible argument with the lawgivers for allowing the tiger to flourish. Mere moral objections are weak by the side of stacks of twenties. The city has at present sixteen faro banks, and the proprietor of one of the most flourishing faro banks reports that the expenses of running the games, exclusive of license, foot up $27,400 per year. One of the two banks with which the Gold Hill is blessed clears regularly every month $5,000. Yet the average Comstocker feels rather insulted when one who is not to the manner born hints that one does not get fair play at faro. A popular idea prevails that faro is conducted on the square in Nevada. The fact that the owners of the games live, as a general thing, in about as handsome houses as can be seen in the city, and that they are themselves behind fast horses, counts for nothing with the gambling Comstocker, who invariably has his "system" nearly perfected, and is sure to "bust the game" before long. This ardently longed for triumph is occasionally achieved. Within the past six months no less than four games have been cleaned out. They were, however, comparatively poverty stricken concerns, having but $2,000 or $3,000 capital. Most of the banks now running have a backing of from $50,000 to $100,000, and one institution has $400,000 as a foundation.

Origin of Fashions.

Trace fashion to its origin, and you will nearly always find that it springs from the consciousness of a defect and a wish to mask it. The fatherland of crinoline is Spain, and a Spanish queen first wore hoops to dissimulate unequal hips. An actress of the Boulevards, who committed suicide by throwing herself over a balcony a few years ago, revived the high-heeled shoes, which Louis Quatorze originally brought into fashion to appear taller than the King of Spain at the meeting in the Isle of Pheasants. A French lady, who derives a prestige from rank, fortune, and striking beauty, scalded her arm three winters back. An ugly mark bore witness to the accident. She thought of wearing, to conceal it, those long-armed gloves which, out of mercy to the plebeian wives of Napoleon's marshals and generals, the Empress Josephine adopted. The hats slanting down over the eyebrows were the result of a lady of exalted rank losing her front hair. Queen Elizabeth's neck was yellow and thin; hence the "stiff muslin mane." The double veil of white and black tulle was contrived by a lady with a bad complexion. She used pearl-powder to hide her red skin, and the white and black veil to dissimulate the pearl-powder, which would have shown on the black net. An old Parisian beau, with an experience of more than half a century of fashionable society there and at the Continental gambling and watering places, maintains that when a fashion is not traceable to a deformity, it must have originated in the desire of a reigning or rising belle to crush a rival.—Yonkers Gazette.

How Pins Are Made.

A snappish, voracious little dwarf of a machine pulls in the wire, bites it off by inches incessantly, 140 bites a minute, and just as it seizes each bite a saucy little hammer with a concave face hits the end of the wire three taps and "upsets" it to a head, while he grips it in a countershank hole between his teeth and lays it sideways in a groove, where levers and springs, playing like lightning, point the pins, and whence they are dropped into a box. The pins are then polished, and two very intelligent machines reject every crooked pin. Another automaton assorts half a dozen lengths, and a perfect genius of a machine hangs the pins by their heads and transfers them to slips of paper, and by one movement sticks them all through two corrugated ridges in the paper, when the work is finished. The pin machine is one of the nearest approaches to the dexterity of the human hand that has been invented. It is about the size of a sewing machine, which it closely resembles.

—We hear the misfortunes of other people with heroic constancy.

—Could anything be neater than the old darkey's reply to a beautiful young lady whom he offered to lift over the gutter, and who insisted that she was too heavy. "Lor Missus," said he, "I'se used to lifting barrels of sugar."

—An experienced old lady says "I can't tell why it is, but what with the fatigue and the heat, and the rain and the red faces, and the things that happen, a picnic tries young people's temper more than anything else I know, and it ain't safe for a young woman to try one with her steady company, unless she has enough property to be sure of him under any circumstances."

Daily Chronicle.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1876.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayc ,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

Republican Electoral Conventions.

Republican conventions for the nomination of Hayes and Wheeler Presidential Electors will be held for all the Councilor Districts of the State at Concord, on Thursday, the 21st day of September at 11 o'clock A. M.

Each town and ward will be entitled to twice as many delegates as it sends representatives to the General Court; and all voters who believe that the election of Rutherford B. Hayes and William A. Wheeler will best promote the welfare of the whole country, are invited to join in the selection of such delegates.

The electoral conventions will be followed by a Grand Mass Meeting, which will assemble at 12 M., at the State House, and be addressed by some of the most distinguished republican orators of the United States. Half-fare arrangements will be made with all the railroads, and be announced seasonably.

Let the republicans of the entire State come forth in their strength, and make this what it is confidently expected to be, the largest political gathering ever held in New Hampshire. DANIEL HALL,
Chairman Republican State Committee.
B. F. PRESCOTT, Secretary.

News and Notes.

Tom Allen and Joe Goss, two notorious bruisers, had a prize fight in Kentucky on Thursday. Goss was declared the winner owing to a foul blow by Allen, though the latter was but little hurt while the former was badly battered. It is feared neither of them will die from the effects of the fight.

Eight masked robbers on Thursday attempted to rob a bank at Minneapolis, Minn., in broad daylight. They murdered the cashier and wounded the teller, but got no money. Two of the thieves were shot dead by the citizens and a third one wounded, when the others fled, and were soon pursued by the Sheriff with a large posse.

Jack McCall, alias Sutherland, who killed the noted scout Wild Bill, has been arrested for the murder. His own confession is that he killed Wild Bill because the latter stole some dust from him in a game of poker; and the principal witness against him is a man whom he met at Horse Creek, and told that Wild Bill had never killed a brother of his, but that he killed Bill because he snatched a card from his hand in a "poker game" they were playing.

The roughs who attended the Goss-Allen prize-fight, robbed two hotels and shot the proprietor of one, stole watches and went on the rampage generally. Several of the scoundrels are under arrest.

The Pope is reported to be dangerously ill with gastric fever.

Political.

Gov. Tilden, in common with the democratic party, sternly reprobates the republican centralization of power; but then it is nice to be able to dictate to the "home rule" party in one State whom they shall nominate for governor, to help along in another State the good cause of Tilden and reform, and decentralization.

At Farmington, Me., Wednesday night, two republicans who had been addressing a meeting, on leaving the building where, it was held were assailed with eggs, cabbage stumps and other missiles, by a crowd thus had been standing outside and shouting for Tilden and reform. Another mob was waiting for them in ambush on the road they were expected to take on going home, but the republicans were warned and took another road, on perceiving which the ambushed ruffians gave chase, but were fortunately unable to overtake the men they wished to maltreat.

The democrats have had matters in their own hands in the city of New York since which time the memory of a few men runneth to the contrary. Not many years ago the city debt was $30,000,000. It is now $130,000,000. This is a specimen of democratic "reform" in a locality where they had no restraint upon their natural proclivities. —Albany Journal.

Talk about the "one man power!" If Samuel J. Tilden is able, (with a little help from Tammany Hall Kelly) on the strength of a nomination only to force the Massachusetts democracy to throw overboard their favorite candidate and try the Greeley dodge over again, what could he not do should he manage to reach the position he has worked so hard to gain?

A little crippled boy who sells the Biddeford Star, a republican paper, was assaulted and beaten on Main street in Biddeford on Monday evening, by democratic gentlemen who don't propose to allow the open sale of papers that oppose Tilden and reform if they can prevent it.

William P. Thompson, Esq., of Vassalboro', Me., who has acted with the democratic party, and was a member of the last House of Representatives, has abandoned the democratic party. He takes the stump for Connor, Hayes and Wheeler.

There was an immense republican procession in Portland on Thursday evening, there being nearly 3000 torches in line, and fifteen bands. The procession was fifty minutes in passing a given point. A large number of prominent citizens bore torches and clubs were present from Bangor, Augusta, Lewiston, Biddeford, Saco, Bath and other places. A large number of houses were brilliantly illuminated and much enthusiasm prevailed. There was no speech making.

A Frank Confession.

The democratic party of New York is in a deplorable condition, according to the New York Sun, which is good Tilden authority. Yesterday it published an editorial letter from Saratoga (probably written by Henry B. Stanton), in which "plain talk" predominates and altogether a discouraging condition of affairs for the "reformers" is revealed. The writer says the party in New York is in the keeping of weak, senseless men, and Governor Tilden is by inference blamed for it. It is well known that the "great reformer" has managed to kick overboard all the old leaders because he could not use them as tools, and has substituted in their places a pack of subservient republican converts and foppish young democrats, who rule with an authority that is autocratic. These tools of Tilden managed the Saratoga fiasco and made certain a republican victory in New York. This explains the outspoken and critical course of the Sun. The article of yesterday declares that the recent Saratoga convention was the weakest ever seen in New York, containing "not one man of eminence, not ten of much distinction, and not thirty who rose above the level of the ordinary politicians who lead in ward and town caucuses." Such is the fruit of Sammy Tilden leadership! The writer says that if there are not a liberal number of substitutions in the re-assembled convention another blunder is inevitable. There is a demand for such men as Sanford E. Church, Judge Allen, DeWitt C. West and Samuel Hand—all men of ability, and democrats of old standing who were driven from the councils of the party by the "great reformer," because he could not use them in the furtherance of his ambitious schemes. These men are asked to come to the front by men who are disgusted with Tilden and his tools, "who grate their teeth and do not seem to care whether school keeps or not" under the present regime. The complaint is loud that the canvass has been entrusted to "light heads and feeble hands," and in consequence two months have been practically wasted. The article from which we quote above is significant. It is a confession from a very sincere and able Tilden organ that the jig is up, and that nothing can save Uncle Sammy. It is a hint to Tilden and his crowd that if the old leaders of the party are not at once restored the defeat in New York State will be overwhelming and so disastrous as to cause the breaking up of the party. The Sun is afraid that the demoralization will spread and make the election of Hayes and Wheeler so easy that people will consider Tilden's candidacy a burlesque. It wants to keep the democratic forces together in other States so that an election by the people may be avoided through the aid of Cooper and Cary, and thus leave the election to the House.—New Haven Union (inf. dem.)

Cases of Alleged Drugging.

It is quite common to read in the newspapers of cases of alleged "drugging" in which the victim is placed in a state of helplessness, or unconsciousness, by the use of some agent, as a preparatory step to robbery or personal outrage. Many of these victims are represented to be persons of "respectability," and they are of both sexes. These occurrences are stated to have taken place in the cars, while parties are travelling on steamboats, in private dwellings, in lecture halls, and even in ball rooms. So frequently have they been reported of late, that a general belief prevails that any one is liable, at any moment, to be rendered unconscious by the use of some vapor, or solid, well known to vile men, and which they have the power to use. Now, this is an important matter, and needs to be more distinctly understood by every one, whether travelling or at home.

If it is true that any drug exists possessing the power of rendering human beings, under the ordinary conditions of life, instantly oblivious to all external acts, without producing death, and also if it is true that this agent is so far tasteless, odorless, or unrecognizable by any of the senses that one is not put on his guard against it, why, then, the condition of the race is indeed pitiable; we have no surety that our pocket-books are safe anywhere, or at any time, and the honor of woman is in jeopardy every hour of her life. But we need not worry ourselves in this regard. No "drug" or agent exists capable of accomplishing such horrible ends under usual conditions, and we think chemistry is incompetent to ever supply such an agent. We do not believe that any respectable, sober man or woman was ever "drugged," so as to pass into the power of another, against his or her will, under any ordinary conditions, whether awake or asleep, at home or abroad.

In carefully considering the list of sedative and narcotic agents known to modern chemistry, such as opium, hasheesh, cicuta, belladonna, nicotine, chloral, chloroform, ether, etc., we find no one that can be used by a villain, with any prospect of success, upon a person of sound mind, for the purpose of producing involuntary unconsciousness. Any of the anæsthetic vapors when liberated will put one on his guard instantly, if awake, as the odors are pungent and peculiar, and usually disagreeable. If asleep, not one person in a million can be placed in the anæsthetic state without awaking. The first inspiration of chloroform, ether, or any of the ethyl or methyl compounds, will produce strangulation and awaken the sleeper. The mixing of the sedative or narcotic agents with beverages confers upon them, even when the quantities are small, peculiarities of taste sufficient to lead any person not intoxicated, or a fool, to reject the draught. They are all acrid, bitter, or nauseous in a high degree.

This, no doubt, is a wise provision of nature, and designed for our protection.

Of all known agents, the active alkaloidal principle of opium, morphine, is undoubtedly the most dangerous for the purposes indicated. This is a bitter principle, and changes the taste of liquids in which it is dissolved. In the case of persons partially intoxicated or not of sound mind, it is possible that a grain of morphine might be dissolved in beer or ale and drank by them, but sensible men or women do not drink ale with strangers, and there is no good reason why it should be drank at all, alone or in company. The sedative effects of morphine do not come on instantly, but gradually; so if it were possible to administer the drug unsuspiciously to a sober person, the first symptoms of abnormal drowsiness would excite suspicion, and time enough would elapse before complete insensibility could occur to cause the arrest of the suspected person. We repeat, there is no drug capable of producing instant insensibility, as has been often alleged, without causing death.

The statements so frequently made by "highly respectable" persons regarding their being "drugged" are very absurd, and not worthy of belief. The "drug" that renders them helpless is usually alcohol, and if other agents have been used to produce more complete insensibility, they could not have been effective without the previous voluntary use of alcohol in some form. The world of sober men and women have little to fear from any drug forcibly administered for wicked purposes.—Boston Journal of Chemistry.

Gallant Rescue by a Lad.

A gallant rescue of two ladies, at Annisquam, Cape Ann, by Master F. Gale Bufford, seems to merit more than passing notice. The lad who was the means of saving two lives is the son of Mr. Frank G. Bufford, of the well-known firm of J. H. Bufford & Sons, lithographers and publishers, of Boston, and is between eleven and twelve years old.

He is remarkably expert as a swimmer and his skill stood him in good stead in being the saving of two human beings from death. While bathing at Annisquam a few days ago, his attention was attracted by two ladies in the water but a short distance from him who, having unfortunately got into the current, called upon him for assistance. Without hesitating a moment the brave little boy at once rushed to their rescue.

Taking the lady nearest to him he managed, with much exertion, to get her to the shore in safety, being compelled to push her before him part of the way. Upon reaching terra firma she called upon him to save the other lady, her sister, who was by this time drifting out with the current. He at once proceeded to the assistance of the second lady, who had by this time sunk twice, and who upon his approach seized both his hands with the convulsive grasp of the drowning. Thus fettered, others would have perished in the task or abandoned it altogether, but the lad, at once comprehending the situation, wrenched one hand free and paddled to the shore with the other, pulling the now senseless woman with him.

Upon being taken ashore the lady seemed lifeless, but after a little while, and by resort to the usual expedients, animation was restored. The two ladies who thus owe their lives to the courage and activity of a boy of eleven, are Mrs. John E. Blakemore, of the West Roxbury District, and her sister. This rescue by so young a lad is one of the bravest acts recently placed on record, and it does not in the slightest degree detract from the credit justly due Master Bufford, to say that it is another evidence of the importance of more general expertness in the art of swimming.

—The intermarriage of two families in Maine is remarkable. One consisting of four sons and one daughter has married all of a neighbor's children, four daughters and a son!

The Misdirection of the Bile.

The misdirection of the bile, a consequence which ensues when the liver is inactive and the bowels torpid, produces a number of bodily evils. The blood becomes contaminated with the bilious fluid, causing the skin and the whites of the eyes to assume a yellowish tinge; dyspepsia and nausea supervene, the tongue becomes furred, and beneath fetid breath, pains in the side and between the shoulder blades, the urine is high colored and scalding, and in aggravated cases jaundice and inflammation of the liver ensue. All these consequences may be prevented or obviated by using Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a vegetable alterative tonic which stimulates the torpid liver to exert itself in secreting and directing the bile, acts naturally upon the bowels and removes every trace of indigestion.

Adamson's Vegetable Pills should be used in connection with Adamson's Botanical Cough Balsam. For sale with the balsam everywhere.

The new Atlas Hotel, Philadelphia, Pa., is located at the centre of railroad and telegraphic communication, near the Exhibition grounds.

RAPID TRANSIT.—One of the best solutions of this difficult problem, combined with economy, has been solved by the New York and New England Railroad, which now lands passengers from Boston at 9 A. M. in Philadelphia at 6 P. M. The fares are very reasonable, the rolling stock first-class, and the scenery sufficiently varied to suit all tastes.

SULPHUR AND MOLASSES, the old-fashioned internal remedy for the blood, is obsolete. Tetter and other obnoxious skin diseases are cured in half the time, without disordering the stomach, by GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP, the great external anti-scorbutic.

A Fragrant Breath and Pearly Teeth

Are easily attained, and those who fail to avail themselves of the means, should not complain when accused of gross neglect. The SOZODONT will speedily eradicate the causes of a foul breath, beautifully and preserving the teeth to the oldest age.

Spalding's Glue; stickiest thing out; ready.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot.

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. "ATTENTION!"

All voters intending to support the republican nominees in the present Presidential campaign are hereby invited to meet at Franklin Banquet Hall, (entrance on Fleet street,) this Saturday evening, Sept. 9th, at 7:30 o'clock, for the purpose of forming a Hayes and Wheler Club.

PER ORDER.

POLICE COURT.

Friday, Sept. 8, before Batchelder, Justice:

In the forenoon two cases were brought up. William Buck looked upon the wine when it was red, or upon the beer when it was brown, or upon some other fluid when it was of some other color, until his head swam; for this amusement the Court considered $9.90 about the fair thing for William to pay, and told him so.

James Murphy, a young man, was displeased with Charles Roberts, an elderly one, and expressed his displeasure in a striking manner. The Judge decided that a contribution of $8.04 was needed to mend the hole made in the peace by James' action.

A GOOD RIDDANCE.

The huge iron buoys which formed what has been known as the government compass-station, in the lower harbor, and which have occasioned much growling and some swearing on the part of fishermen and coasting skippers when they have had to alter their vessels' courses to avoid running into them, or to slip their anchors when they got foul of them, have all been removed, the last one having been taken up on Thursday. The work has been done by a gang of men under direction of Mr. Choate, Boatswain of the navy yard, with the big derrick-carrying scow called the anchor-hoy; the job was quite a heavy one, as each buoy was held in place by a mushroom weighing about twelve tons. One of the buoys some time ago sprung a leak and sank, and was the last one to be taken up; all attempts to sweep it having failed, divers went down and hooked on to it on Thursday.

GRANGERS'S FESTIVAL.

The second annual reunion and festival of the grangers and farmers of Rockingham County was held at Boar's Head, Hampton Beach, on Thursday, 7th inst., and was a very successful and enjoyable occasion, although the gathering was not so large as last year. The day was lovely, and the location fine for such a gathering. The arrangements were complete and well carried out, for the accommodation both of man and beast; and W. Deputy C. B. Mason, of Portsmouth Grange, who was assiduous in attending to most of the details, very properly received a unanimous vote of thanks from the assemblage, as also did mine host Dumas of the Boar's Head Hotel, for his courtesy and attention to the visitors.

The happy company of men, women and children, from far and near, continued to increase till well into the afternoon; and after all had tried the excellent clam and fish chowder served at the hotel, and found them not wanting either in quality or quantity, and no lack of choice edibles furnished by the hotel for the lady grangers—the assemblage was called to order by Mr. John J. Gilman of Exeter Grange, in a few well delivered remarks, appropriate to the occasion and this centennial time; at the close of which he introduced as president of the day, Hon. John D. Lyman of Exeter, who was the first Master of the first Grange in the State, and has always evinced a deep and effective interest in agricultural subjects. His remarks, also, were well put, and pertinent, and his pleasant and happy manner of introducing the several speakers made much merriment.

General Luther McCutchins of New London—a man every inch of him,—and we should judge by his tallth that he is nearer seven feet than six—and the one whom the republican party ought to have elected Governor, but didn't,—was the first speaker, —and made a downright, out-and-out granger's speech, placing the farmers far ahead of all the rest of creation, in usefulness and merit, opportunity and deserts.

Gen. Natt Head, president of the N. H. State Agricultural Society, was next called upon and spoke pleasantly and acceptably, as he always does, especially urging more sociability and concert among farmers generally, for their own benefit and enjoyment. He rejoiced in this and all such occasions.

Hon. A. R. Hatch was next introduced, and by his eloquent and sensible remarks, showed, as his actions through life in this regard have always shown, that his love and regard for his own home farm, and for the soil generally are more like those of a farmer and granger than many of those who, like him, were to the manor born, but who, unlike him, would be as glad to leave the farm as he would be to return to it were it practicable.

Hon. James O. Adams, the farmers' friend and advocate always,—and who has done and is still doing much effective work in their interest with voice and pen, as well as not a little in the soil with his own hands,—came next, and his talk, while often funny and amusing, was as full of good sense and good advice as an egg is full of meat. While evincing much thought, observation and research himself, his remarks were well calculated to excite much thought and action in others.

Mr. Stephen O. Holt of Epping, next amused the audience with his usual mixture of sound sense and nonsense—which, as a little nonsense is relished even by the wisest, you know, and so those who are not so wise can stand a good deal—was of course well received. Mr. Holt is a good and successful farmer, and can both raise a good crop and tell a good story—but this last would seem to be "his best Holt."

Hon. Frank W. Miller, of Portsmouth Grange, was next called upon, as "one of our millers," but protested that this was the very first intimation he had that he was to make a speech and it was hardly fair to expect a miller to grind without having a grist ready and his clapper in good order. Having first called for a grangers' song, which was well given by audieuce and band, Mr. Miller spoke in favor of the Grange, of farmers and farming, and especially of the need of more tidiness and beauty in the arrangements and keeping of our roads, farms, houses and homes generally; and urged all to stand firm for the farm and the grange and for old New England. He hoped that at the next grangers festival, all members of the Order, matrons as well as patrons, would wear their regalia, as do the members of the merely ornamental Orders on all such occasions. Mr. Miller closed by calling for "auld lang syne," which was sung by the audience, to the accompaniment of the Band, the Rye Cornet, which furnished the music, and good music, for the day.

Mr. John F. French of North Hampton, one of the very best farmers and also one of the best speakers in the county, next entertained the audience with one of his sound and sensible homilies on the farmer—his opportunities, responsibilities, advantages and burdens. He glorified America and especially New England, New Hampshire and more especially Rockingham county; and most especially North Hampton—but none of them a whit more than they can bear; and as his life has shown that he has a full reason for this faith that is in him, his speech was well worth going a long distance to hear.

The speaking was closed by a few remarks by a Mr. Barnard, a New Hampshire man, but of late years a resident in Michigan—though the chairman, Mr. Lyman, said that they should have to hold a camp-meeting next year, as he had plenty more speakers yet, did time permit.

The following motion, made by W. Master Lewis T. Sanborn of Hampton Falls Grange, was then put by the chairman, and passed unanimously by the meeting:

Voted, that the time and place of our next annual meeting be left to the Masters of the Rockingham County Granges, and that they constitute a committee to make all necessary arrangements for the same.

The following resolution was also put and passed unanimously:

Resolved, that the thanks of the grangers and farmers of Rockingham County be presented to C. B. Mason and the committee of arrangements—and also to Mr. Dumas of the hotel—for the instruction, pleasure and festivity enjoyed by all on this anniversary.

Mr. Mason being called for, responded very briefly in acknowledgement of this well deserved compliment, and thanked all who had co-operated to render this gathering so successful. He also read letters or telegraphic dispatches from Gen. Wm. Sutton, Hon. Geo. B. Loring, Maj. Ben. Perley Poore, Gov. Cheney, and other prominent gentlemen, regretting their inability to be present, as they had hoped and expected.

The dancers were then given the floor, and when our reporter left they were still at it, and doubtless danced until they got enough of it—if dancers ever do get enough of it. And thus endeth the grangers' second public lesson.

A CARD.

TO my patients and the patients of Dr. Stevens: deeply regret being compelled to abandon practice in Portsmouth owing to threatened ill-health, and feeling obliged to return to Salem I have secured for you a successor who I trust will merit the same kindness which has been shown to me since Dr. Stevens' departure from Portsmouth. I know of no one whom I could get to take my practice here, whom I can better recommend than my successor,

Edgar M. Jewett, D. M. D.

DR. JEWETT has been with me in Salem for three years and is a graduate of Harvard University Dental School. He is a young man of much promise in the dental profession. He will take up his residence here and be in the office daily after Sept. 1st.

COOKED CORNED BEEF.

Articles are being published, calculated to prejudice the public against using Cooked Corned Beef, and we would say in answer to them that in no instance has positive proof been established to show that such is the case.

Our goods are packed in a manner very similar to that of Corn, Tomatoes, Fruit and canned goods generally, (which have long been tested) and we use nothing whatever of a poisonous nature in their preparation.

In addition to our own statement we have the strong endorsement of Prof. Hosford of Cambridge, one of the most eminent Chemists in the country, who has fully tested and is familiar with the entire details of the preparation of our goods.

We would also state that we use none but the choicest of Beef that our Chicago market affords, and trust that with these statements the rapidly growing popularity of our Corned Beef may be increased.

For the information of those not knowing the fact we would state that in the process of canning there is a liability of imperfect sealing, which causes the can to expand. Meat contained in such cans is unfit for use and will be cheerfully paid for when returned to any grocer selling it.

Who are you, Sir! No, Sir, I can't Sir!" exclaimed the citizen. "Couldn't possibly do it, eh?" "No, Sir." "Tell you what you might do," suggested the tramp. "You might hand me fifteen cents now, and lend me the balance when times get a little easier." "I can't lend you a shilling, Sir, or a cent, Sir, and I won't give you a penny, Sir." "Sorry both of us happen to be hard up at once," sighed the tramp, and he continued his walk.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is endorsed and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England!

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or Inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure, and have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of the wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years; When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eight-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get a box of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, 75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for the last twelve years, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered much intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have live applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars, send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.
MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a celebrated English recipe, and now in daily use by many of the most noted farmers in the butter counties around Philadelphia.
In the winter this powder will make butter much firmer and sweeter than it usually is, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, weeds, corn stalks, garlic, cow seed, etc.; and the increased yield of butter much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

Campaigning in South Carolina.

We take the following from the Boston Traveller:

Wade Hampton and his South Carolina democratic friends, in their secret State Convention, arranged for a campaign to overcome the twenty-five thousand republican majority in that State, on what is known as "The Mississippi Plan," with improvements suited to their State. Brief accounts have been published in the Traveller and other Northern republican papers, showing something of the method of operations, but under the system of terrorism existing in that State people hesitate to write about outrages, just as they hesitate to complain of them, or resist them, for assassination is pretty sure to follow a revelation that a report of such infamous doings had been sent to the North. A private letter to General Butler, which we copy below, shows more fully the character of these proceedings than any published accounts we have seen, and it shows that there is as urgent necessity for decisive action now, on the part of the national government, as there was in 1860, when the weakness of James Buchanan gave the rebellion its hold upon the whole Southern territory. If elections are to be carried in the manner proposed, if majorities are to be thus overthrown, and the rights of communities to be thus disregarded, the war has been, what Tilden declared it to be, "a failure," the South has secured the right to be "let alone," and the rebels have triumphed. The letter comes to us with a note from Gen. Butler, as follows:

Dear Sir,—I enclose a copy of a letter from a gentleman of honor and truth in the South with whom I am well acquainted. I have struck out, for obvious reasons, not to bring down upon him the shot guns of the armed mob which attends republican meetings, everything that would tend to lead to identification. I have the original letter, which is at your service, or that of any doubter. Yours truly,

BENJ. F. BUTLER.

[Private.]

——, S. C., Aug. 28, 1876.

Hon. Benjamin F. Butler. My dear Sir.—Knowing you to be an unfaltering republican, a man who has convictions and dares express them, I take the liberty of addressing you a few lines upon the condition of affairs in this State. Being personally acquainted with you I do not feel it necessary to apologize further than I have already done.

We are now in the midst of one of the squallicst campaigns that I have experienced in this State, and I have been here ever since reconstruction. In 1868 it was stormy and unpleasant, but nothing to be compared to the campaign of this year. You are of course aware of what has been done by the democrats toward making up their State ticket. Every man upon that ticket, from Hampton down, was once an officer in the rebel army, and most of them are of the violent class, as Hampton himself was in 1868, when he made his anti-reconstruction speech at Tammany Hall,—when Seymour was nominated for President.

They have begun their campaign upon what is commonly known as the "Mississippi plan." So far as that plan has yet been developed, it amounts to just this: A republican meeting is called in some county in the State, at which, of course, it is expected that few besides republicans will be present. But what is the fact, and what the modus operandi, let me tell you from my own experience, for I have now been present at five of these meetings during the past three weeks.

About the time the hour for meeting arrives hundreds of mounted, armed white democrats ride into town, surround the stand, and to all intents and purposes take virtual possession thereof. You are, of course, aware of the fact that the great bulk of the republican party of this and all other Southern States is made up of colored men. These men attend the meetings unarmed, and consequently are in no condition to defend themselves from the insults and jeers of the democracy. Even if they were armed, as undrilled, uneducated and uddisciplined as they are, you can at once see that they would never stand before the trained veterans of the Confederacy, for these are what make up the democratic party in this State at least.

I was at ——, at ——, at ——, at ——, and ——, as one of the invited speakers. Governor Chamberlain being present, also, at all the gatherings. In every instance the democrats were present "in force," and took what may be really called "forcible possession" of the meeting. They always come in compact bodies of from 300 to 1000 mounted, and every man armed with pistols. They do not ask to be heard, but they demand it, and say if we do not agree, they will be heard anyway. I will take the last meeting we attended, on Thursday last, the —— instant, at ——, as a fair specimen of the others; although the farther we advance in the campaign, the more boisterous and turbulent the democratic rabble becomes.

At least 600 mounted armed white-liners were present, and about the same number of colored republicans. Gov. Chamberlain was the first speaker, and every person who knows the Governor knows that he is not a man to use harsh language of any character. After the Governor sat down, and he was several times interrupted, one ——, son of the poet ——, followed in an abusive, insulting harangue of twenty minutes, during which time he called the Governor a "carrion crow," a "buzzard who had come here to rob and steal from decent people; a seedy adventurer from Massachusetts, where he soon would have to go as a partner of the thief Ames." His talk was of this vile character from the moment that he began. —— followed —— and was frequently insulted in the same way, but not quite so pointedly. After —— came one ——, of ——, who has been nominated on the Hampton ticket as Congressman from the —— district, now filled by ——.

—— made the most treasonable and inflammatory speech ever listened to by any one and was cheered by his rebel rifle-clubs to the echo, with the old "rebel yell" which you have so often heard on the battle-field. Turning to his rebel horde he said, "Why don't you hang them?" (pointing to the Governor and —— seated behind him on the stage,) "hang them here, and now! If you, people of ——, are too cowardly, send a telegram to ——, and I will guarantee enough trusty men to do it for you. Shoot them down like dogs, as they are!"

Remember, this was at a meeting called by republicans in a strong republican county. When this appeal was made the democrats yelled frantically, but made no movement toward us. The Governor was frequently insulted by such expressions as, "You G—d d—d bald-headed son a b—h, get away from here." "Go to Massachusetts, you d—d carpet-bag thief."

The republicans of the North ought to understand these thing as they are. I cannot describe them with my pen as I should orally.

How much longer are we expected to stand here upon the outposts of political civilization, to hold up the republican flag?

My life has been repeatedly threatened, and it is not unfrequently that you can find colored pickets from my home to my office, until it is found that I am safely at home. I have a wife and family of children dependent upon me, and I have no right to peril their interests, and their future, in order to uphold what it seems to me is regarded in the North as a sentiment.

I as firmly believe as I believe in my existence, that if the democrats carry the entire South in the pending election, we will again be called upon to defend the old flag upon the field of conflict.

Mr. ——, the man who has been nominated for Congress by the democrats from the —— district, said at —— the other day, that he had "faced the U. S. army without flinching once, and was not afraid to do so again. They might send all the troops here they desired, he did not care for them, as they dared do nothing."

This is the position in which we are placed here, and what will our republican friends of the North do about it? Yours respectfully.

Daily Chronicle.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1876.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

Republican Electoral Conventions.

Republican conventions for the nomination of Hayes and Wheeler Presidential Electors will be held for all the Councilor Districts of the State at Concord, on Thursday, the 21st day of September at 11 o'clock A. M.

Each town and ward will be entitled to twice as many delegates as it sends representatives to the General Court; and all voters who believe that the election of Rutherford B. Hayes and William A. Wheeler will best promote the welfare of the whole country, are invited to join in the selection of such delegates.

The electoral conventions will be followed by a Grand Mass Meeting, which will assemble at 12 M., at the State House, and be addressed by some of the most distinguished republican orators of the United States. Half-fare arrangements will be made with all the railroads, and be announced seasonably.

Let the republicans of the entire State come forth in their strength, and make this what it is confidently expected to be, the largest political gathering ever held in New Hampshire.

DANIEL HALL,
Chairman Republican State Committee.
B. F. PRESCOTT, Secretary.

News and Notes.

By a storm at Meadville, Ill., many houses were blown down and six persons killed.

H. L. Smith, a reporter of the New Orleans Times, on Friday shot and killed a republican member of the Louisiana legislature.

Nicholas St. John Green, a prominent lawyer of Boston but residing in Cambridge, was found dead in his room Friday morning, having poisoned himself. No cause is assigned for the act. He leaves a wife and two children.

China advices confirm the report that at Ning Kow Fou, a native mob, comprising many officials, destroyed the Catholic church, tortured and killed the priest, and slew over one hundred of his congregation. The French minister is taking active steps in the matter of this barbarous outrage.

An armistice of twenty days has been agreed upon between Turkey and Servia. The Servians still hold Alexinatz.

The London Telegraph says: "It is stated that double the amount of the new American funded loan has already been placed, and that the further redemption of the bonds of 1865 may soon be looked for. When once the public are familiar to the new issue it will become a favorite security."

Base ball, Friday: Bostons 6, Louisvilles 3; Chicagos 15, Mutuals 0; St. Louis 20, Athletics 5.

Boss Tweed has been arrested at Vigo, Spain, on board a Spanish vessel. What he was arrested for, or at whose instance, is not stated. And of what use his arrest can be it is hard to tell, for Sharkey, the murderer, was not given up by Spain, nor will Tweed be,—and if he should be given up, and returned to prison, Mr. Tilden has still in office the accommodating sheriff who let him out before.

The brig Baltic has arrived at Dublin, Ireland, with Capt. Jackson and the crew of the steamer Arbitrator, which was lost at sea. Capt. Jackson reports that the Arbitrator left New Orleans Aug. 12 for Liverpool. On the 23d she struck an iceberg and foundered in twenty minutes. The Arbitrator had a cargo of produce and $7000 in specie. The total loss is estimated at $350,000.

The Paris Figaro publishes a telegram from Nice, under date of the 8th inst., reporting a mutiny on board the United States frigate Franklin at Leghorn. The dispatch says the commander of the Franklin, in order to save the lives of the officers, fired with a mitrailleuse (Gatling gun) upon the mutineers, nine of whom were killed before order was restored. The Boston Sunday Herald says the whole story is a canard.

The "Negro Riot."

The latest reports concerning the "negro riot" in Charleston, S. C., where the first accounts said the "colored republicans" "were the aggressors," are to the effect that the trouble was occasioned by the democrats "demanding half the time" at a republican meeting, as they have been successfully doing in other portions of the State. In this unreasonable demand the republicans refused to acquiesce, when they were fired upon by a white line mob. The republicans being largely in the majority, determined to stand their ground and play awhile at the white line game. The result was the killing of several democrats. The order of things is, for the first time, reversed in this Charleston affair. Hitherto in the South forty or fifty negroes always bit the dust, the whites escaping without injury. The editor of the News and Courier is said to have been one of the leaders of the mob, and he is also the Associated Press agent there.

The Champion Pardoner.

Harper's Weekly publishes a full list of the pardons granted by Gov. Tilden to the jail-birds of New York during the year and a half of his administration, giving the name, sentence, crime, and date of pardon in each case, and the grand total is one hundred and eighty-six! The cases cover every conceivable grade and shade of crime. Here is a robber, sentenced to twelve years, and pardoned in two years. Here is a burglar, sentenced to eight years, pardoned in one month. Another robber got twenty years and was let out in a year and a half. Another burglar got five years and was let out in sixteen months. A seducer, sentenced for three years, gets out in one. A perjurer, sentenced for two years, is let out in fourteen months. A railroad wrecker, jailed for eighteen months, steps out in ten months. Two scoundrels, guilty of arson and sentenced for seven years each, are pardoned at the end of three and four years respectively. A murderer, sentenced for life, obtained his freedom at the end of eight years.

The list of one hundred and eighty-six is exclusive of nine convicts who were sentenced to be hanged, but whose sentences were commuted to imprisonment for life; and of four others who were sentenced for life, but whose sentence was commuted to imprisonment—one for twenty-five years, one for eighteen years, one for fourteen years, and one for eight years. Since the 1st of January, 1876, Gov. Tilden has restored seventy convicts to citizenship, the larger portion of them during the last three months. In each case it is marked on the record, "Not to be published." In view of such a horde of criminals, many of them of the worst class, let loose on the community, it is no wonder that the honest citizens of New York begin to declare with great unanimity that they have had enough of such a reformer.

New Hampshire Items.

Captain Samuel Towne and wife of Keene celebrated the 50th anniversary of their marriage by a gathering of several hundred friends at the Second Congregational Church on Monday night, the 4th.

The New Hampshire Medical Society, with their wives, and delegations from Maine and Massachusetts, had a good time at the Pavilion Hotel in Wolfeboro', Thursday and Friday.

Colonel Ephraim Cross, an esteemed citizen of Lancaster, eighty-one years of age, died Wednesday night. He was father of Colonel Edward E. Cross of the New Hampshire "fighting Fifth."

The summer residence of Moses Randall in Orange, was burned, with a portion of its contents, Wednesday; insured.

The exercises of the second reunion of the New Hampshire Posts, G. A. R., closed Thursday at Great Falls, with a grand parade, followed by a clambake at the Riding Park, after which Chaplain Adams delivered an oration. About 200 veterans were in attendance.

The new Board of Inspectors of Elections of Manchester, provided for by an act of the last Legislature, were sworn in on Thursday by the Mayor, and organized by electing Joseph Haynes, Chairman, and H. D. Lord, Clerk. Ward officers, elected by the City Government, as provided for by the Legislature, to take the place of those chosen at the annual March election, were qualified and will assume their respective duties at once.

Two tramps, giving the names of George Williams and wife, claiming to hail from North Adams, Mass, were arrested at Nashua on Thursday for obtaining goods under false pretences.

The annual conclave of the Grand Commandery of Knights Templar and appendant Orders in New Hampshire will be held in Masonic Temple, in Concord, on Tuesday, Sept. 26.

The State Temperance Camp-meeting at Weirs Camp-Ground, Lake Winnipisaukee, begins to-day, and closes on Friday, the 15th. Distinguished speakers will be present each day, and good music by the bands and excursions on the lake will add to the attractions. Allotments of time have been made so as to give one half day to the woman, the meeting to be conducted by them; one half day and evening to the Reform Clubs, and one half day to the other temperance organizations of the State.

The United States Centennial Commission having suggested that certain days be set apart for individual States, especially the original thirteen, of which New Hampshire stood at the head in the Continental roll, Gov. Cheney has designated Wednesday, Oct. 11, as the New Hampshire day and appointed Gen. A. F. Stevens of Nashua orator. A large number of prominent citizens will attend.

Political.

Maine election to-day. Sanguine republicans look for 12,000 majority. Sanguine democrats say it won't be half that, nor near it. We shall see what we shall see.

The election returns of Vermont are all in. The republican majority on the Governor vote is 24,000, against 20,000 in 1874; on the Congressional vote, 28,000, against 8,000 in 1874. The Senate is unanimously republican, while in the last Senate the democrats had one member; in the last House there were 59 democrats, while this time but 30 have been elected. The tremendous endeavors of the democrats to cut down the republican majority do not seem to have amounted to much. In 1874 the democrats elected one of three Congressman; this time the republicans elect all their candidates. This is what the Boston Post calls "A substantial victory for the democrats."

Public opinion and not the democratic party made the nomination at Worcester last Wednesday.—Globe.

The "New York managers" were more successful with the democratic nomination in Massachusetts than they were in their own State.—Globe.

Hon. George J. Ferry, a leading democrat of Orange, N. J., and twice Mayor of that city, has announced his support of Hayes and Wheeler.

One Mr. Sweetser having been mentioned as a good candidate to run against Gen. Butler, the Lawrence American suggests the proper method for him to take to supplant the probable democratic nominee, as follows: "If Mr. Sweetser would like to be the candidate for Congress against Gen. Butler he should apply immediately to the firm of Tilden & Kelly, Tammany Hall. Candidates promptly removed from nominating conventions without pain."

Governor Vance once asked Ben. Hill how it was that Georgia had got so far ahead of North Carolina in putting down radicalism. Hill replied, "The reason is very obvious. When a man of social position joins the radical party in Georgia we not only brand him with infamy but we put him in coventry, and all social intercourse with him is broken off. But in North Carolina you meet him and treat him as you formerly did! In the one case he feels his infamy and is deterred, and in the other case he does not." This remark is worthy of all consideration, and let every true democrat act upon it.—Greenville (S. C.) Enterprise.

A republican meeting in Baltimore was broken up by democratic roughs, Friday night. Pistols were freely used and several men shot, and the speaker of the evening was knocked down and badly wounded.

These prohibitory politicians are not working so much for their own ticket as they are to defeat the republican ticket. They are perfectly content to have "free rum" with the democrats if they can't have "prohibition" with the republicans. A very odd sort of moral movement theirs, and one which will do them and their cause not a particle of good, but, on the contrary, harm. But it is in progress; and we repeat, it ought to be recognized and met.—Globe.

The republicans of Wilmington, Del., feel happy over the result of their municipal election, last week, in which they carried eight of the ten wards by 1,207 majority, against 68 democratic majority for Mayor, last year.

A week ago exultant editors declared that the only democrat had been nominated who could beat Morgan. Now that Seymour has declined, what use is there in holding a convention?—Tribune.

Blanton Duncan, the leader of the "straight-out" democratic movement in 1872, and who is now supporting the Cooper-Cary ticket, in a recent letter says: "I find thousands of democrats who voted for Greeley now refusing to vote for Tilden and party, and many supporting outright Gov. Hayes. I find thousands of the liberals who left Grant in 1872 now zealous in support of Hayes. A corporal's guard still stick to Tilden."

The Brooklyn Argus, in a long article giving the reasons for its defection, enumerates the crooked and disreputable doings of the "great reformer," and calls attention to the fact that the charges all originated in democratic quarters and were used at St. Louis to prevent his nomination by many leading members of the party. "But they were overpowered by the mercenaries and felons in the convention. The facts were certain to beat their candidate as soon as they became generally known, and long before election day. Hence do we see newspapers like the New Haven Union, the New York Herald, the Staats Zeitung, the Graphic, and the Brooklyn Argus fall away from him. Hence do we see fourteen democratic papers in the single State of Indiana repudiating Tilden and coming out boldly for Cooper and Cary. And hence do we see statesmen like Horatio Seymour and Sanford E. Church refusing to be candidates for Governor of this State, the effect of their acceptance being to strengthen Tilden." The Argus further says: "Tilden is still busy sending off documents and disbursing money which he became possessed of through swindling the Government and getting relief bills through Congress. All this will do him no good. He might as well undertake to row up Niagara rapids as to stem the wrath of the American people when thoroughly aroused against a traitor, a swindler and a hypocrite."

The Misdirection of the Bile.

The misdirection of the bile, a consequence which ensues when the liver is inactive and the bowels torpid, produces a number of bodily evils. The blood becomes contaminated with the bilious fluid, causing the skin and the whites of the eyes to assume a yellowish tinge; dyspepsia and nausea supervene, the tongue becomes furred, the breath fœtid, there are pains in the side and between the shoulder blades, the urine is high colored and scalding, and in aggravated cases jaundice and inflammation of the liver ensue. All these consequences may be prevented or obviated by using Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a vegetable alterative tonic which stimulates the inactive liver to exert itself in secreting and directing the bile, acts naturally upon the bowels and removes every trace of indigestion.

SULPHUR AND MOLASSES, the old-fashioned internal remedy for the Itch, is obsolete. That and other obnoxious skin diseases are cured in half the time, without disordering the stomach, by GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP, the great external anti-scorbutic.

A Fragrant Breath and Pearly Teeth

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. STOCK SALES.

On Saturday, at noon, Col. William H. Hackett sold, by order of the assignee of the Rockingham Ten Cents Savings Bank, seventy-one shares in the stock of the several Portsmouth Banks, (none of the Ten Cents Bank stock included,) seventeen shares in the Lake National Bank of Wolfeborough, two shares in Concord Railroad and three in Eastern Railroad in New Hampshire. Also, by order of an executor, three shares in Portsmouth Aqueduct. There was a very large concourse of buyers, and the bidding was spirited.

The auctioneer opened the business by stating that Mr. Kimball, the assignee, had consented to the sale of the stock in small lots, and twenty shares Mechanics and Traders Bank were then sold in four lots, as follows: to Samuel Langdon, five shares, E. C. Spinney, five shares, $112.50 each; a third lot, $113.75; fourth lot, to E. C. Spinney, $117.75.

First National Bank, C. A. Hazlett, ten shares at $152.50; Thomas E. Call, two shares, $151.50; Henry Lowd, five shares, $152; John Stavers, ten shares, $155.

Rockingham National Bank, Chesley Brothers (Rye,) six shares, $68.75; same, six shares, $70; A. W. Haven, six shares, $68.75; (par $50.)

Concord and Portsmouth Railroad, two shares, Joseph R. Perkins, $116.75.

Eastern Railroad in New Hampshire, three shares, bought by Boston parties at $26 per share.

Lake National Bank, of Wolfeborough, seventeen shares, Thomas E. Call, $105.50.

The Aqueduct Co. stock was then offered, and much speculation existed as to how much it would bring, none of this stock having been sold by auction for many years—never, for aught we know to the contrary. Many private offers had been made for this stock, but they were all refused. The first bid was $300, and the next $350; the competition was sharp, and at length the bidding reached $604 per share, at which price the lot was knocked down to Marcellus Eldredge.

Seven shares Mechanic and Traders Bank were then sold on private account to Joseph Sise, at $114; and the balance owned by the Bank (twenty shares) were sold—five to E. C. Spinney, at $113.25, and fifteen to William Ward, at $113.

HAYES AND WHEELER CLUB.

While the republicans all over the State have been forming clubs and getting ready in earnest for conducting a lively campaign, the republicans of Portsmouth have kept so quiet that it appeared to many as though they proposed to rest on the laurels won in the late municipal contest, and let the Presidential election run itself, so far as they were concerned. But on Saturday evening they took a new departure, and Franklin Banquet Hall was occupied by fully two hundred republican voters, (though the meeting was only called on Friday morning,) and a Hayes and Wheeler Club was organized with the following officers:

President—Hon. W. H. Y. Hackett;

Vice Presidents—Ward One, James W. Emery; Ward Two, Samuel Adams; Ward Three, Daniel H. Spinney; Ward Four, William H. Rollins;

Recording Secretary—William A. Ashe;

Corresponding Secretary—Wm. Russell Foster;

Treasurer—William H. Sise;

Executive Committee—Ward One, E. G. Peirce, Jr., John Pender, John H. Locke; Ward Two—A. F. Howard, C. Morris Tredick, Daniel L. Randall; Ward Three—S. Storer Whidden; Ward Four—Charles W. Gardner, Gardner M. Goodrich.

It was decided to at once procure a suitable hall for a club room, and to prosecute the campaign with vigor from now to election day, that Portsmouth may give at least as good an account of herself at the Presidential election as she did at the late municipal one. The meeting was not only entirely harmonious, but the enthusiasm djsplayed on all hands was refreshing to those republicans who had commenced to fear the party in this city had gone to sleep, and wouldn't waken until it received some unpleasant shock. We feel safe in now promising our brethren in other parts of the State that the republicans of this city will do their full share toward repudiating the sham "reformer," Tilden, on election day, and toward making the canvass lively from now until that date.

POLICE COURT.

Saturday, Sept. 9, before Batchelder, Justice.

James Morrill, Michael O'Connor and Jerry Marr were brought before the Court at the morning session, charged with having been drunk. All pleaded guilty, and each received a fine of $3, with costs taxed at $6.90.

The Court sat again in the afternoon, to hear evidence concerning a brawl at a colored people's ball in the South ward room on Friday night.

Two young white men, named Quinn and Randall, and a colored man named Shepard, were charged with complicity in the affair, which seems to have been a sort of free fight, occasioned by an attempt on the part of the managers of the ball to expel a woman they did not want there, which was objected to by Quinn, who interfered, with the result of raising a general row. A crowd of lookers-on was in attendance at the trial, which resulted in Randall and Shepard being discharged, while Quinn was fined $5 and costs, from which he took an appeal.

JOTTINGS.

The high school opens this morning.

The Light Artillery, Capt. Marvin, accompanied by the Fife and Drum Band, start for the Centennial to-day.

The survivors of Company A, First Regiment of Heavy Artillery, meet at Fort Constitution to-day. They were in camp there before they went to the war.

We desire to call the attention of our readers to a new article of Graham flour, made from first-class winter wheat for J. Pearson, Jr., of Newburyport, and put up by him at his bakery in 20 lb. packages for family use. The constantly increasing demand for Graham flour has brought into the market a vast amount of flour made from a medium or poor class wheat; now as this kind of flour is largely used by dyspeptics and others of poor health, it is of the first importance to obtain a pure, wholesome and nutritious article, and this can be obtained by calling at your grocer's for Pearson's Graham flour.

Col. H. W. Blair, commander of the Boys in Blue, department of New Hampshire, has appointed Capt. Wm. O. Sides of this city one of his aids.

Rechabite Hall was well filled on Sunday night, the attraction being the announcement of an address by the well known and steadfast apostle of temperance, J. Horace Kent, Esq. Mr. Kent did not disappoint any of his hearers, but gave them an earnest and even eloquent (eloquence born of personal knowledge of the tempter) address of three-quarters of an hour in length, the leading idea of which was that none were so competent to tell of danger as those who had experienced it. In other words, none were more efficient in the work of temperance than those who had reformed from their drinking habits. The vivid pictures drawn by the speaker in strong and fitting words were aglow with the intense earnestness of one whose hair-breadth escape from ruin and death commissions him to "cry aloud and spare not." We understand that Mr. Kent has recently had calls to lecture abroad, but has been compelled to decline all such invitations on account of pressure of business.

The grand reunion and clam-bake of the Veteran Artillery Association takes place to-morrow at Hotel Wentworth, Newcastle, and a big time is laid out for. The Association and invited guests will leave the headquarters, over Frye's store, at 9 o'clock, headed by the Cornet Band, and after a short march about the city will proceed to Newcastle, halting at the residence of the commander, Capt. George W. Towle; after partaking of his hospitality, the command will continue on to Hotel Wentworth, where the day and evening will be spent. Barges for the ladies will leave Market square at 8:30 and 10 o'clock A. M., returning in the evening. A limited number of tickets at two dollars each, admitting a gentleman and two ladies, have been placed at Preston's and Briant's, and also with Orderly Sergeant William Kennedy, Lieutenant Frye, Quartermaster Sergeant Wells and Quartermaster Evans, members of the committee.

A large fleet of vessels, including two hundred and nineteen seineing schooners, were in the lower harbor on Saturday afternoon for shelter. Plenty of the fishermen were on shore during the afternoon and evening, and there were three fights on Water street before six o'clock, resulting in much profanity and a few black eyes, but no serious damage. The station house was pretty well filled with drunken sailors during the night, but all were released on Sunday morning except a couple who were not in a condition to get on board their vessels.

Old Porcelain.

Among the centennial relics on exhibition at the Maine State Fair were some fine specimens of ancient porcelain table ware. A correspondent of the Porland Press says they formerly belonged to Sir Wm. Pepperell. But the probability that they were a part of the plunder captured at Louisburg in 1745 adds much to their value as relics. It is evidently of French pattern. In the Sayward mansion at Old York, built by Jonathan Sayward in 1718, who afterward commanded the sloop Seaflower in Pepperell's expedition against Louisburg (his commission from Gov. Shirley being in the parlor,) is a corner "beufet" filled with ware of the same patterns of many angles, which is known to have been brought from Louisburg in the sloop, and has occupied the same closet 130 years. The house, with its ancient furniture, portraits and other rich furnishings, just as it stood at that time, is now the property of the Misses Barrell, two aged maiden ladies who are great-grand-daughters of Capt. Sayward the builder. "To the victors belong the spoils" was the rule then, and the spoils of Louisburg were immense and rich—each soldier's share amounted to more than his wages. There are many samples of porcelain in New England of the same pattern and origin, but none so well authenticated as that owned by the Misses Barrell. The ware exhibited in the Fair undoubtedly descended through Charles Frost, a nephew of Sir Wm. Pepperell, who lived at Stroudwater.

—General Jackson swore occasionally, but he never swore so crooked as Tilden. There was a certain consistency in his oaths.

—Mary Finley was a Richmond beggar who died a few days ago, leaving a husband somewhat notorious for his bad habits—so bad, indeed, that the two had lived apart for years. When a few charitable neighbors came to lay the body out for burial, a half dozen bags and boxes were found in the squalid room, and opened by the curious visitors. In them were found costly laces, mildewed silks, brocades, moire-antiques and other styles in vogue twenty years ago, besides some $4,000 or $5,000 in gold and currency. The husband was probably the most surprised person in Richmond at this unlooked-for discovery, but he promptly announced that he would treat the old lady to a first-class funeral, which he did by the aid of a handsome burial casket, forty hacks, and an imposing headstone for the grave. Then he gathered in the remaining ducats—being the only heir—and betook himself to the Hot Springs of Virginia, "where," we are informed by the local papers, "he announces his intention of spending the summer."

—An exemplary minister of the gospel residing in Raleigh, N. C., was busy at his sermon the other evening when a caller came to disturb him. It was a stranger, and he said his name was Dolsocker. He extended his hand for a shake, sat down as if in his own house, and presently began: "I called to see if you would give me a little spiritual advice?" "Certainly I will, and be glad to," was the reply; "are you a professor?" "No." "Then you are thinking of turning your feet into good paths, I hope?" "Well, perhaps," was the hesitating reply. "Don't you want to be a Christian?" asked the good man. "I'll tell you how it is," said the stranger, after quite a long interval; "I've got a ticket in a lottery, and I wanted to ask you if you thought it would stand any better chance of striking the big prize if I was sort o' good than it would if I kept on being sort o' bad?" The clergyman didn't labor with Mr. Dolsocker very long.

—Nothing will undermine one's faith in the sincerity of friendship more completely than to have a friend ask you to "take something," and after the glasses have been emptied, to hear him exclaim, as he runs his hands deep into his pockets, "I've got on my other pants."

—The postal card manufactory at Springfield is running ten hours a day, turning out about 500,000 cards per day, and is 3,500,000 behind its orders.

COOKED CORNED BEEF.

Articles are being published calculated to prejudice the public against using Cooked Corned Beef, and we would say in answer to them that in no instance has positive proof been established to show that such is the case.

Our goods are packed in a manner very similar to that of Corn, Tomatoes, Fruit and canned goods generally, (which have long been tested) and we use nothing whatever of a poisonous nature in their preparation.

In addition to our own statement we have the strong endorsement of Prof. Hosford of Cambridge, one of the most eminent Chemists in the country, who has fully tested and is familiar with the entire details of the preparation of our goods.

We would also state that we use none but the choicest of Beef that our Chicago market affords, and trust that with these statements the rapidly growing popularity of our Corned Beef may be increased.

For the information of those not knowing the fact we would state that in the process of canning there is a liability of imperfect sealing, which causes the can to expand. Meat contained in such cans is unfit for use and will be cheerfully paid for when returned to any grocer selling it.

—Do not pick early apples before they are ripe, for, like peaches, they are never so good as when allowed to ripen on the tree. It is not always possible to let them ripen and drop, though the Williams and other early apples never are so good as when a good mulch of hay is spread upon the ground under the trees, and the fruit is allowed to ripen and drop. Pears should never be allowed to ripen on the tree, for if they do they are never so good. Peaches, like apples, should be left until they drop, or are just ready to drop. Of course, when intended for market, they must be picked before they are mellow, in order to bear transportation.—J. F. C. Hyde.

—A certain rural dean said to his bishop that he thought it rather hard, as the dean was entitled to be styled "The Very Reverend," and the archdeacon "The Venerable," the rural dean—who had as the bishop knew, very grave and responsible duties attaching to him—was merely "The Reverend." The prelate, reflecting for a moment with apparent seriousness, said he saw the grievance, but was at a loss for the remedy, unless styling the rural dean "The Rather Reverend" might meet the difficulty.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

s no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolately pure and unadulterated.

MAGIC

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.00.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effects. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of your Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been so free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them away. They are what they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could not get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most incessely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they had advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

CHILDREN TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW'S

SOOTHING SYRUP!

For Children Teething, greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is Sure to Regulate the Bowels.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and Relief and Health to Your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT TO BE ALLEDGED A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in

Thousands of Cases.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY and DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudices, nor the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief it will be SURE—yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle.

BUTTER IN 20 MINUTES.

Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a celebrated English recipe, and now in daily use by many of the most noted farmers in the butter counties around Philadelphia.

It not only makes the Butter much better much firmer and sweeter than it usually is, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, weeds, corn stalks, cotton seed, etc.; and the increased yield of butter much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

Household Water Supply.

The importance of a full supply of pure water to every dwelling can hardly be overestimated. In large cities aqueducts are usually found, which afford a copious flow of lake or river water which is pure enough for domestic uses. Some sections of cities and large towns aqueducts do not reach, and other sources of water supply are sought for. The ordinary cistern, constructed of bricks and cement, and fed from the rainfall upon the roofs of buildings, is the usual method of securing soft water in the better class of houses in city and country out of reach of aqueducts. This is a very good device, but owing to want of experience is often defective. During this exceedingly dry summer a great many families have been short of water, and immense inconvenience has been experienced in consequence. Now, this trouble can be obviated in only one way; that is, by constructing larger cisterns. It is folly for a family of perhaps eight or ten persons, in this climate, to depend upon a cistern holding no more than two or three thousand gallons. For a family of this size the water cistern should hold ten thousand gallons, and no moderate-sized house, even, should have one of much less capacity. This quantity of water, stored in a good cistern, will seldom or never fail. The cost of construction is but little more than for a smaller one, and in house building or purchasing, the size of the water cistern should be carefully considered. A cistern is better placed in a yard in the open air than in a cellar. In the cellar, if not closed tightly, the water is apt to absorb from the air any foul vapors it may contain, and thus become impure.

Wells must be placed away from dwellings, so that no possible contamination from waste, drainage, or sewage is possible. This is of the first importance, if heads of families desire exemption from the most dangerous forms of disease. Look to your wells and cisterns often, and be constantly certain that your water supply is not defective and unsafe.—Boston Journal of Chemistry.

Phrenological View of Gen. Hayes.

As the democratic papers are just now publishing lengthy phrenological estimates of the character of Mr. Tilden, perhaps it would not be amiss to re-publish a like estimate of the character of Hon. R. B. Hayes, published in the American Phrenological Journal for March, 1867:

Mr. Hayes is a good-sized, well-formed man. He is between the extremes of large and small, or lean and stout. He is every way well made, has a handsome head on a rather handsome body, and a face which would introduce him favorably anywhere. His complexion is light, skin florid, temperament composed of the vital-motive and mental in almost equal proportions. He is neither too slow nor too fast, excitable or sluggish, but he is at once sufficiently energetic, original, comprehensive, dignified and resolute. He is more profound than showy, has more application than versatility. He will finish what he begins, and make thorough work. He has a hopeful, happy, loving nature; is eminently social, fond of home and all that pertains thereto; indeed, when surrounded by wife, children, and friends, he is as happy as a king on his throne, and as hospitable to all as he is thoughtful and considerate. But to be more specific. This gentleman is comparatively young in years, and young in spirit. Though he has already accomplished much, he has by no means reached the climax of his fame. He is a rising young statesman, and if spared, will, in the course of a few years, be found in the front ranks of the best minds in the nation. We base our predictions on the following points: First, he has a capital constitution, both inherited and acquired, with temperate habits. Secondly, a large and well-formed brain, wite a cultivated mind, with strong integrity, honor, generosity, hopefulness, sociability, and ambition, and all well-guided by practical good sense. At present he may seem to lack fire and enthusiasm, but age and experience will give nim point and emphasis. Mark us! this gentleman will not disappoint the best expectations of the most hopeful.

—The proverbially long arm of justice was felt by a merchant of Hull, England, who decamped with the proceeds of a forged note. His description having been forwarded to all parts of the world, and $100 offered as a reward for his capture, a Feejee Island detective nailed his man, but could not keep him in prison for want of evidence. He dodged him from island to island, however, till the Hull authorities could send an officer, who identified the forger and took him to England.

—They were fond of each other, very, and had been engaged. But they quarrelled; and were too proud to make it up. He called a few days ago at her father's house—to see the old gentleman, on business, of course. She answered his ring at the door bell. Said he, "Ah! Miss ——, I believe? is your father within?" "No, sir," she replied, "Pa is not in at present. Did you wish to see him personally?" "Yes, Miss," was his bluff response, feeling that she was yielding, "on very particular personal business." And he proudly turned to go away. "I beg your pardon," she called after him as he struck the lower step, "but who shall I say called?" He never smiled again.

Daily Chronicle.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 12. 1876.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT.

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

Republican Electoral Conventions.

Republican conventions for the nomination of Hayes and Wheeler Presidential Electors will be held for all the Councilor Districts of the State at Concord, on Thursday, the 21st day of September at 11 o'clock A. M.

Each town and ward will be entitled to twice as many delegates as it sends representatives to the General Court; and all voters who believe that the election of Rutherford B. Hayes and William A. Wheeler will best promote the welfare of the whole country, are invited to join in the selection of such delegates.

The electoral conventions will be followed by a Grand Mass Meeting, which will assemble at 12 M., at the State House, and be addressed by some of the most distinguished republican orators of the United States. Half-fare arrangements will be made with all the railroads, and be announced seasonably.

Let the republicans of the entire State come forth in their strength, and make this what it is confidently expected to be, the largest political gathering ever held in New Hampshire. DANIEL HALL,

Chairman Republican State Committee.

B. F. PRESCOTT, Secretary.

Political.

"The people," says Mr. Tilden, "have paid in eleven years the enormous sum of $4,500,000,000 for taxes." The Milwaukee Sentinel hits the nail squarely on the head when it retorts:—"It must be confessed that Sam has rather got the people on this point. They can't say he did it, or any large part of it."

The grangers of New Hampshire, many of them, are to make an excursion to the Philadelphia Centennial sometime in September.

Says Mr. Hendricks: "Are you quite sure that these hard times are inevitable? * * * Some answer should be given by those who demand yet longer to control public affairs and to fix our policies. If no answer be given, or if the answer be an insult to their intelligence, the people will wisely resolve upon a change." Are you quite sure that the potato bug, or the grasshopper, or hot weather down East, were inevitable? If you were not sure of it, then there is a great responsibility somewhere. If the fellows who want yet longer to control public affairs can't give account of these things, the people will wisely decide to give another set of fellows control of public affairs. Mr. Hendricks' twaddle about hard times may go down in Indiana, but it will excite only ridicule elsewhere. Most people know that the present industrial depression extends to Canada, England, Germany, and many other countries, and they are too sensible to hold any political party in this country responsible for it all. Mr. Hendricks should bear in mind that he is a candidate for Vice President, and that when he talks he addresses the people of the whole country, and not merely some sleepy rustics in Indiana.—Chicago Times (Tilden organ.)

The New York Times publishes a fac simile of Tilden's sworn affidavit of his taxable income in 1862 amounting to $7118, with a tax at 3 per cent. of $213.54. Set against this interesting document are various items of his real income, fees and salaries from different railroads and other sources, and this statement (though incomplete) foots up $89,000. Mr. Tilden therefore fraudulently concealed $81,882 of his income and cheated the government, at a time when it most needed it, of $4236, his income being really subject to a tax of 5 per cent., instead of 3 per cent., because it was over $10,000. This is a very serious charge, to which Mr. Tilden ought to give his attention at once. It does not require a stern moralist to decide that a man who returned less than a tenth of his income in war times is not a fit person to be made President of the United States. It is just this class of rich swindlers who by trickery contrived to throw the burden of the taxes on laboring and salaried men. An income of $89,000 will seem large at first sight, but to a railroad lawyer it is much more likely to be true than $7000. The Times proposes to follow up the subject. Its reproduction of original documents proved in the case of the Tammany ring, startling and convincing arguments. People do not deny the evidence of their own eyes.

—In England a society has been formed for "united prayer for the protection of animals from cruelty." But faith without works is dead; and prayer will not make much headway against savagery and selfishness, unless backed up by the strong arm of the law.

—California is a precocious locality. The SacSacramento girls under fifteen have been arrested for burglary.

—A ship should not be made to depend on one anchor, nor life on one hope.

Maine Election.

State election in Maine came off on Monday. Both parties had worked hard,—the republicans striving to bring out a majority which should encourage their party friends and dishearten the democracy in other States, and the democrats aiming to cut that majority down to the lowest possible point, also for political effect in other States. Maine was of course conceded to the republicans, the question being one of majorities only. On the Congressional ticket there were splits in the republican party in the First and Fifth Districts, but it was generally considered that the republican candidates would be elected, although a democratic victory in York County was looked for. On the Governor vote, sanguine republicans expected 12,000 majority, while most announced that they would be satisfied with 10,000; the democrats conceded from 6,000 to 8,000 majority for the republican candidate. The republican majority in 1875 was 3,872, in a total vote of 110,298.

Kittery gave 242 republican majority, a net gain of 78 over last year.

Eliot—Connor, r., 180; Talbot, d., 200; republican gain of 46.

In York, the contest was mainly between the representatives: Moody, dem., 285; Bragdon, rep., 293; democratic last year. For Governor, Connor 295, Talbot 286. Congressman: Reed 284, Goodwin 298, Burleigh 6.

Portland—Connor 3380, Talbot 2824.

South Berwick—Connor 255, Talbot 334. Reed 217, Goodwin 343, Burleigh 18.

North Berwick—Connor 242, Talbot 176.

Kennebunk—Connor 343, Talbot 259.

Saco—Connor 887, Talbot 592.

Biddeford—Connor 966, Talbot 1047.

There is no truth in or foundation for the Paris Figaro's story of the mutiny on board the United States frigate Franklin. The Franklin arrived at Villa Franca on Sunday morning, from Spezzia, all well. Rear-Admiral Worden will transfer his flag to the Marion, and the Franklin will sail for home on the 14th inst.

Governor Hartranft of Pennsylvania has issued death warrants for the execution of Thos. Munley, James Carroll, James Boyle, Hugh McGehan and James Roarty, the Molly Maguires who were recently convicted in Schuylor county of murder in the first degree. The execution takes place October 31st.

In Willington, Conn., on Thursday, two silly girls, aged respectively fourteen and seventeen years, took strychnine. The younger girl died in four hours, the other still living though in a precarious condition. Two young men were present when the girls took the poison, and were invited to have some, but declined although they supposed it all a joke.

Boss Tweed has really been captured, and also a man said to be his nephew. They first took refuge in Cuba, but finding out that the American consul was endeavoring to secure their capture and extradition by Gen. Jovellar, they started for Spain in a sailing vessel, the Carmen, and were arrested on board before landing. It is said Spain will at once grant the request for Tweed's extradition, so it is possible he may get back in time to vote for Tilden and reform for President.

An old Indian trader, who furnishes the facts to the St. Paul Pioneer and Press, rather knocks the pins from under certain stalwart stories concerning our red enemy of the plains. Sitting Bull, according to this authority, was never a West Point cadet; is not a fluent French scholar; neither is he a brave and thoughtful son of the forest, with the genius, strategy and foresight of Napoleon, but "a full-blooded Indian, and the illegitimate offspring of an Uncpapa squaw. His name in Sioux is Lame Bull, owing to a permanent lameness in his right leg. He dresses as plainly and is as dirty as any Indian of low degree; he has a powerful appetite for whisky, and will get drunk whenever an opportunity offers." The man who says this has been among the Sioux for thirty years, speaks their language as well as his native English, and "has known Sitting Bull from the time he went on his first war-path."

Ship Garibaldi, Thatcher, at San Francisco 7th from New York, reports having lost overboard four men. Their names are Fred. Cummings, Thomas Blumlane, Edward Dodds, and Pat. Connolly.

A list is published of the forty-six clerks removed from the Treasury Department, their average age being 62 years. Thirteen are 70 years old and over. One has been in continuous service since 1819. Thirty of them were appointed by democratic administrations previous to 1860. The reduction in appropriations has necessitated the removals, as with a limited force, only the more active and efficient men can be retained.

Venison vs. Steam.

An exciting scene took place last week in the long snow shed this side of the summit. As the eastern bound freight train had just emerged from the tunnel the engineer saw a deer some way ahead on the track. The frightened animal was flying before the engine at a breakneck speed, and the attention of all hands was immediately called to the fact. The whistle began screaming, and then followed a highly exciting scene. There was no alternative for the pursued and timid animal but to keep straight on down the track. The gloomy cavern formed a narrow race track, and the flitting openings through which the gleaming light entered added to the wildness of the adventure. For over half a mile the engine rushed onward toward its victim. For a time the result seemed almost certain; the pursuers gained steadily on the pursued. The deer never left the track, but sped onward as straight as an arrow. The game was almost within the clutch of the iron horse and in a few moments would have laid mangled beneath the wheels. The brakes were loosened and full steam applied, when just ahead a small opening, caused by last winter's heavy snow, was seen by the frightened animal. Like a dart it shot through it and up the steep side of the rocky mountain, while a shout of good-natured disappointment went up from the crew of the train.—Truckee (Nev.) Repub.

—A lady from Texas is on a visit to her mother in this city. She married and went to Texas twenty-five years ago, and although having a comfortable competence she has never had a new bonnet since she left, but wears home one which she took when she was married. She brings back with her a daughter and grand-daughter, who with her mother make four generations in the same house.—Newburyport Herald.

—Mrs. Mary A. Livermore says that girls are not particular enough about the men they marry, but there is a woman in Chelsea who is so particular about the man she married that she takes her sewing to his office and sits there all day till he is ready to go home.

—"So," said a lady recently to an Aberdeen merchant, "your pretty daughter has married a rich husband?" "Well," slowly replied the father, "I believe she has married a rich man, but I understand he is a very poor husband."

—A newspaper man has been visiting the Centennial Exhibition, and during his sojourn at that place he dined at one of the French restaurants. When the bill for the meal was presented to him he meekly intimated that his boiled egg contained a chicken. The polite waiter said that he would have the bill corrected, and soon returned with a new bill, upon which the charge of thirty cents for "eggs" had given place to an item of sixty cents for chicken.

The Misdirection of the Bile.

The misdirection of the bile, a consequence which causes when the liver is inactive and the bowels torpid, produces a number of bodily evils. The blood becomes contaminated with the bilious fluid, causing the skin and the whites of the eyes to assume a yellowish tinge; dyspepsia and nausea supervene, the tongue becomes furred, the breath fœtid, there are pains in the side and between the shoulder blades, the urine is high colored and scalding, and in aggravated cases jaundice and inflammation of the liver ensue. All these consequences may be prevented or obviated by using Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a vegetable alterative tonic which stimulates the inactive liver to exert itself in secreting and directing the bile, acts naturally upon the bowels and removes every trace of indigestion.

SULPHUR AND MOLASSES, the old-fashioned internal remedy for the Itch, is obsolete. That and other obnoxious skin diseases are cured in half the time, without disordering the stomach, by GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP, the great external anti-scorbutic.

JOTTINGS.

Morse & Ilsley will sell at noon to-day the two-story dwelling No. 19 Russell street. See advertisement.

On Saturday, at the auction sale of stocks by Col. Hackett, six shares New Hampshire National Bank were bought by E. A. Peterson, Esq., of Greenland, at $121 per share.

On Monday the Light Artillery, Captain Marvin, started for the Centennial, accompanied by the Kearsarge Fife and Drum Band. The company made a very creditable appearance, forty-eight members going on the excursion.

Rear Admiral Alfred Taylor and Commodore Andrew Bryson, U. S. N., with their families, are stopping at the Rockingham House. Dr. Alfred Elwyn, of Philadelphia, is also at the Rockingham.

Professor Hitchcock of Dartmouth College and his assistant, Mr. Upham, have been in this vicinity for several days, making geological investigations for State publications, more especially relative to the gravel deposits. It is their belief that the ridges of gravel across this State were formed by streams of water issuing under the ice at the time of the final melting of the ice during the glacial period.

Isaiah Hanscom, Chief of the Bureau of Construction, U. S., N., made an official visit to the Navy Yard Saturday. He ordered surveys on the frigates Congress, Lancaster and Sabine, and inspected the contract ship Enterprise, which will be fitted for sea during the early winter.

The petition of Hardison Foss and others for a new highway in Rye, over a route which has been discussed in the town for many years, and which was laid out by the County Commissioners two years ago, has recently been again confirmed by the Commissioners, who declined to grant the petition of the town for a discontinuance of said highway. Frink for petitioners, Marston for the town.

The only instance that has come under observation in which the New Hampshire democracy recognize that Thomas A. Hendricks is on the democratic ticket at all, is in the name of the "Tilden and Hendricks" club of this city; but Mr. Hendricks has sweet revenge in the West, particularly in Indiana, where he heads the democratic ticket, and Tilden is but an insignificant appendage.

Among all our seaside and mountain resorts none is more popular than the Appledore House, Isles of Shoals. While a large portion of the summer hotels were virtually closed at the end of last week, the Laighton Brothers were entertaining 150 guests, many of whom will remain until the 1st prox., to inhale the bracing atmosphere of Appledore.—Globe, 11th.

POLICE COURT.

Monday, September 11, before Batchelder, Justice:

Business was good in this quarter to-day, as will be seen by the following:

Henry Hill, for being drunk, was assessed $9.90, fine and costs, and not happening to have that amount handy went to Brentwood.

Patrick Quinland was brought up charged with being a common railer and brawler. Patrick said he wasn't guilty but the Court thought he was in error in so saying, and sent him to Brentwood for two months, and enough longer to work out $8.04 costs.

Thomas Philbrick and William Nolan each entered a plea of guilty to a charge of drunkenness; fine and costs, $9.90 each; Brentwood.

James Peirce, Samuel Marden and William H. Malonson were accused of drunkenness, acknowledged the accusation to be but too well founded, and each handed over $9.90 rather than go into the country now the season is so near its close.

William Quinn, one of the parties before the Court on Saturday charged with complicity in the disturbance at the colored people's ball, was again brought up, this time charged with an assault on Carl Joseph. The plea entered was "not guilty," but the decision of the Court was "guilty," and Quinn was fined $10 and costs for the assault, from which he appealed and gave bonds for his appearance at a higher court.

Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D, C., Sept. 9.

The attitude of democratic party was never more disgraceful, its determination to win through fraud, violence and bloodshed more evident, or its deadly hostility to a republican form of government more marked, than in the present campaign. By its virtual endorsement of Tilden's alleged perjury and deliberate swindles upon the government it has forfeited all claim it ever had to the regard of its honest supporters; and its attempts to meet the charges against its candidates by explanations so pitiable as to make their offenses against honor, honesty and patriotism the more glaring, merits the contempt and indignation that is moving the masses all over the country to a realizing sense of the dangers of a democratic triumph in November. The ill-concealed chuckles of the leaders, because a prosecution is barred by the statute of limitations, are not calculated to impress intelligent men very favorably with the standard of democratic morality.

Every breeze from the South is heavy and sickening with the dying wail of the victims of Ku-Klux raiders and the "rifle clubs." The Southern democratic press is practically unanimous in demanding a solid electoral vote for Tilden, and inculcates a resort to the most heroic measures with that end in view. Every day's mail brings intelligence of some new outrage upon the white and colored republicans south of the Potomac. Every pretext to murder unoffending citizens to insure the requisite state of terror is seized with hungry avidity, and slight offenses against the law are visited with capital punishment. The leaders in the North and West have no word of condemnation for this sanguinary method of their Southern associates, in conducting the Tilden canvass. Not one hearty warning to desist from their savage barbarities has been uttered by their press or speakers, but the Government is the objective point of all their spiteful attacks, for its efforts in behalf of a fair election and its avowed purpose to bring to speedy punishment all offenders against law and order. No man in the democratic conventions South, can be nominated to the smallest office, unless he is a known and sincere mourner at the grave of the "lost cause;" any expression that can be construed in favor of the equality of the late slave with his master before the law, is visited with the most complete social ostracism; and if to this is added the exasperating transgression of favoring educational facilities for the colored citizen, the criminal is likely to feel the general disapprobation by a summons from the Ku-Klux to leave the country within a given date, on suffer death.

The nominees of almost every democratic State convention in the North, as well as those designated at St. Louis, are men who rendered themselves odious to the loyal sentiment of their respective States, during the war, by their sympathy for the rebellion, their opposition to reinforcing the Union armies, their encouragement of draft riots, their defense of rebel incendiaries who attempted the destruction of Northern cities by the torch, and of the Confederate authorities who starved our soldiers in Southern prisons. This tendency of the Northern democrat was emphasized in the late convention at Saratoga by the demand for a life-long democrat as their candidate, and their insults to Mr. Dorsheimer, who has served them with abjectness rarely equalled, since his desertion from the republicans. No one imagines Mr. Adams would have been nominated had there been any hope entertained of a democratic sweep in Massachusetts. As it is, Tilden is simply using him for his own selfish purposes.

The recent letter of instructions of Attorney General Taft for the guidance of United States officials during the present campaign, receives the unqualified commendation of his own party. There is probably not one well informed democrat out of every thousand in the country who apprehends any interference of the administration with the elections, save to preserve the peace and to insure to every man the right to vote as he pleases. Yet I can name a half-dozen democratic papers which have come under my own observation which are stirring up the smouldering fires of the late rebellion and advise that force be repelled by force; and the evidence that these pestilent organs are heeded is too abundant to be denied.

It is intimated that work on the Washington monument will be resumed in a few days. The association which has had nominal possession of it has transferred it by deed to the Government, and it has been accepted.

Many of the discharges designated to take place on the 10th of October have been already made, although the pay of the victims will extend up to that date. Almost every one discharged is making strenuous efforts to have the decision against them reversed. But without very strong influence, their prospects for reappointment are not flattering. Many democrats have been struck. Hence these maledictions.

MAXWELL.

New Hampshire Items.

All necessary arrangements are being made for the success of the races which are to come off at Glenmore Park, Nashua, the last of this month.

A new independent newspaper is to be started in Exeter, in a week or two, name unknown and parties incog. as yet. This will make three newspapers to 4000 souls.

The beautiful black trotting stallion formerly owned by Mr. William G. Brown of Stratham, and called Fearnaught Second, is now the property of Mr. Lewis J. Sanborn of Hampton Falls, who has changed his name to Saul, and as such will probably enter him to trot at the State Fair at Manchester. Saul is a full brother to the late famous Fearnaught, and a very promising horse, but has never appeared upon the track.

The sale of the Belknap Mills at Laconia has been completed, but the names of the purchasers are unknown. The name will be changed to "Laconia Mills," to be run by the firm of Putnam, Marshall & Co. The price paid was $85,000. The mills will soon be put in operation.

The Grand Jury for Strafford County came in Saturday morning, with ninety-two indictments, the most of which are for violation of the liquor law. The Attorney-General has been in attendance at every session of the Grand Jury, with the foregoing results.

The Trustees of the State Normal School met at Concord on Saturday, the 9th inst., and elected Prof. A. P. Kelsey, A. M., Principal of that institution. The new principal is an accomplished scholar, and thoroughly familiar with the best methods of instruction, derived from an experience of eleven years in Normal Schools and other institutions of learning. We understand he was the founder and first Principal of the Maine Normal School, at Farmington, Me., and more recently Professor of Mathematics and Natural Sciences in the New York Normal School at Albany. Under the instruction of Mr. Kelsey we doubt not but that our Normal School will take high rank as a training school for those who desire to qualify themselves as teachers in our common schools.

Saturday night, as George Lovejoy was crossing one of the Saco bridges, North Conway, his team backed off the bridge, drowning both himself and horse.

William Hall, a blacksmith, was found drowned in the river at Dover on Sunday, near the Portsmouth and Dover Railroad bridge. He was probably intoxicated and fell from the bridge. He was about forty-three years of age and leaves a small family.

John Johnson, of Centre Conway, committed suicide Sunday afternoon by hanging himself.

—There is a great change in dances. The galop has become a glide waltz, and the waltz has a brisk exercise, a cross between the movement of the legs, induced by colic, and hop scotch set to music. The polka is in high favor again, and the minuet is to be danced at all balls and parties next winter. Why can we not dance as we used to—say ten years ago?—Boston Gazette.

—Liszt, the pianist, found himself in the company of a number of ladies, who begged him, in hyperbolical terms, to procure for them "the ecstasies, the artistic raptures," which his magnificent talent inevitably produces. He obligingly seated himself at the piano and played. When he had finished, some of his admirers had fainted. "Well," said Liszt, "I played wrong notes all through, intentionally—so badly indeed that I should have been turned out of doors at any elementary school."

TO my patients and the patients of Dr. Stevens: I deeply regret being compelled to abandon practice in Portsmouth owing to threatened ill-health, but feeling obliged to return to Salem I have secured for you a successor who I trust will merit the same kindness which has been shown to me since Dr. Stevens' departure from Portsmouth. I know of no one whom I could get to take my practice here, whom I can better recommend than my successor.

COOKED

CORNED BEEF.

Articles are being published calculated to prejudice the public against using Cooked Corned Beef, and we would say in answer to them that in no instance has positive proof been established to show that such is the case.

Our goods are packed in a manner very similar to that of Corn, Tomatoes, Fruit and canned goods generally, (which have long been tested) and we use nothing whatever of a poisonous nature in their preparation.

In addition to our own statement we have the strong endorsement of Prof. Hosford of Cambridge, one of the most eminent Chemists in the country, who has fully tested and is familiar with the entire details of the preparation of our goods.

We would also state that we use none but the choicest of Beef that our Chicago market affords, and trust that with these statements the rapidly growing popularity of our Corned Beef may be increased.

For the information of those not knowing the fact we would state that in the process of canning there is a liability of imperfect sealing, which causes the can to expand. Meat contained in such cans is unfit for use and will be cheerfully paid for when returned to any grocer selling it.

—Talk of "dissolving views," will you? Here's a 'Frisco miner who, being drunk, kicked viciously at a can of nitro-glycerine, and immediately disappeared.

—There is a cat in Council Bluffs which goes into a drug store and helps itself to catnip from the shelf. The trick of taking a nip in a drug store did not originate with the feline species.

—"Speaking of bathing," said Mrs. Partington, "some can bathe with perfect impurity in water as cold as Greenland's icy mountains and India's coral strands; but for my part, I prefer to have the water a little torpid."

—A carpenter who was always prognosticating evil to himself was one day upon the roof of a five-story building upon which rain had fallen. The roof being slippery, he lost his footing, and as he was descending toward the eaves, he exclaimed, "Just as I told you!" Catching, however, an iron spout, he kicked off his shoes and regained a place of safety, when he thus delivered himself: "I know'd it; there's a pair of shoes gone?"

—The reappearance of Martin McAllister's name in recent Turner's Falls police court records, says the Springfield Republican, recalls a reminiscence of him, fully vouched for by "prominent citizens." Martin had tried most of the pleasant diversions of wickedness accessible to an inventive genius, when, being absent from home, and having spent a little matter of $200, the laborious accumulation of his wife, he concluded to get a letter written home that he was dead. His spouse naturally mourned for the unexpected loss of both her lord and fortune, so much so that her friends organized a "condolence party, "at the close of which each left in her hands a pecuniary trifle, the whole amounting to some $150. The dead consort, hearing of the success of his little game concluded to go home. Two or three evenings after the party, a friend who had not been able to attend it, called at the house to contribute his mite, entering the room just as the forewarned Martin had retired beneath the bed. But, alas! the visitor's suspicions were aroused during the call, so much so that at last he raised the valance and pulled out the discomfitted McAllister by the heels with the self-evident remark, "You ain't dead yet!"

PULMOCINE.
BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL
is a no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.
Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.
Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.
CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve Your Lungs.
For the terrible diseases engendered by the luxurious trying climate of New England,
PULMOCINE CORDIAL
is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not know ing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.
For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, etc.,
USE
Buchman's Pulmonic Cordial.
The Pulmonic Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

CONDITION PILLS!
The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!
No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:
Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.
WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1
MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $5.50.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.
Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.
WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875
MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.
Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.
WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.
MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cured them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.
Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."
EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.
MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving other praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in the weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. Was he helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I care not, for rather I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.
Wonderful Effect of Four Doses of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills upon Neuralgia of Twelve Years' Duration—Testimony of Rev. J. S. Patton.
DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.
MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was going to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.
Later Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.
LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.
THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

BUTTER IN 20 MINUTES.

Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a celebrated English recipe, and now in daily use by many of the most noted farmers in the butter counties around Philadelphia.

In hot weather this Powder makes butter much firmer and sweeter than it usually is, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, garlic, cottonseed, weeds, etc.; and the increased yield of butter much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

A Funeral with Fun in It.

Professor Nixon, the "Egyptian Prophet and Enchanter," proposed to be buried and to rise again after the manner of enchantment known only to those who were cotemporary with that mythical individual who is supposed to have "piped before Moses." He had so advertised, and had set the curiosity of the Charlestonians on fire. For ten days the excitement increased, and when at last the prophet, arrayed in all his toggery, with earrings in his nose and lips, and other kinds of rings hanging from all sorts o impossible places, paraded through the streets in a rickety baggage wagon with a dismal drum and fife, Charleston could scarcely stand it. People began to handle their silver half dollars uneasily and to long and pine for Monday to come. Monday was a long time coming—ages in fact, but come it did at last, and as early as three o'clock the awe-stricken multitude began to wend their way to Belvidere Farm, the scene of the prophet's resurrection.

After performing a few simple conjuring tricks he harangued the assemblage, and holding out two small vials stated that for a brief space the affairs of the world would have small interest as far as he was concerned. Then he swallowed the contents of both of them, and threw them to the ground. They were eagerly snatched up and examined. One smelt of whisky, the other of rain water. Bah! After swallowing these "chemicals," the professor stood on the floor of his coffin, with a negro man on each side of him, while the crowd looked on in breathless anxiety. After standing about four minutes, he became apparently unconscious, and was laid on his back, and the lid promptly put on and screwed down.

Now, there was no mistake about it. Under the lid of that coffin he seemed as tightly fastened as if he were a corpse in reality. The coffin was picked up, carried to the grave, and lowered to the bottom. Then the grave-diggers began to shovel in the earth as fast as two spades and a hoe could do it, and the crowd made a rush for the grave. An effort was made to keep them back but it could not be done. In vain a disinterested spectator, perched on a tree limb, shouted, "Stand back, gentlemen, and give the corpse a chance." They wouldn't stand back. The inclosure was soon torn down, and a dense mass of humanity closely packed around the grave, barely gave the shovellers room to work in. One old shoeless colored man, as he saw the earth pile up on the coffin, turned away with a sigh to exclaim, "Ef he git out dere my murra name ain't Peggy." Another suggested to those who were shovelling in the earth: "Spose dat man dead, you hang for shure."

The filling of the grave occupied about ten minutes. As soon as it was filled the prophet's wife, arrayed in a blue dimity wrapper, and leading the prophet's offspring, a little girl about seven years old, entered the ring, and begged the men to "dig him out." But the time-keepers announced that twelve minutes had to elapse before the trumpet could sound, and so they waited.

In about twenty minutes the bugler was instructed to blow. It was a failure; the negro was either frightened to death or else his trumpet was hoarse. So the bugle was passed over to a white man, who blew a regular cavalry blast on it loud enough to resurrect a hundred prophets. Then the darkey recovered himself and performed a wheezy fantasia, in the midst of which a strange muffled knocking was heard under the earth. For the first time the spectators were silent. At length the ground was seen to move. There was a yell and a rush from the crowd. A moment later the prophet's head was seen to smash a board covered with earth, and about two feet from the head of the grave. Another moment he was lifted out—there was a universal shout of "Sold," and the crowd made for the prophet, who was dusting along at the rate of sixty miles an hour toward the stand.

Here he was speedily surrounded by a crowd who demanded an explanation, which he proceeded to do, but it was lost amid the murmurs of the crowd, who saw the joke and went homeward wiser, if no better, men. The plan was this: A grave is dug, and about eight inches from the head a blind well is excavated, some four feet square and six feet deep. This is covered over by thin boards about a foot and a half below the surface, and these boards are covered over with earth. The trick must, of course, be done in a clayey soil, as great care must be taken in the construction of the grave and the well so as to prevent the thin partition of earth which separates them from caving in or being detected. The coffin is made large enough to allow one to turn over in it, and is so constructed that the head-board can easily be burst open, or can open with a spring.

All the preliminaries having been arranged, the prophet gets in the coffin, the lid is screwed down, and the coffin lowered in the grave. The earth is hurriedly thrown over the head, so as to conceal the movements of the man inside. This takes about three minutes, the air in the coffin being sufficient to sustain life fully five minutes. As soon as the earth covers the head of the coffin, the prophet knocks out the head-board, and quickly grubs his way through the six or eight inches of earth that separate him from his blind well. Then he crawls through into it, and quietly sits down or stands up, his head being near the surface, and having plenty of air to support him several hours. Then he contentedly waits until the signal is given, when he breaks the thin boards above his head, and emerges not from the grave, but from the dry well at the head of the grave.

Republican Electoral Conventions.

Republican conventions for the nomination of Hayes and Wheeler Presidential Electors will be held for all the Councilor Districts of the State at Concord, on Thursday, the 21st day of September at 11 o'clock A. M.

Each town and ward will be entitled to twice as many delegates as it sends representatives to the General Court; and all voters who believe that the election of Rutherford B. Hayes and William A. Wheeler will best promote the welfare of the whole country, are invited to join in the selection of such delegates.

The electoral conventions will be followed by a Grand Mass Meeting, which will assemble at 12 M., at the State House, and be addressed by some of the most distinguished republican orators of the United States. Half-fare arrangements will be made with all the railroads, and be announced seasonably.

Let the republicans of the entire State come forth in their strength, and make this what it is confidently expected to be, the largest political gathering ever held in New Hampshire.

DANIEL HALL,
Chairman Republican State Committee.
B. F. PRESCOTT, Secretary.

Maine Election.

The returns on Tuesday morning show a sweeping republican victory, Conner's majority being certainly 12,000, and probably more, against 3,872 in 1875.—a gain of over 9000. The republicans have elected all their Congressmen, twenty-nine of thirty-one State senators, and from three-fourths to four-fifths of the representatives. The victory is complete, and all the twaddle of the democratic organs about "relative gains" for the democrats on the vote of four years ago will not suffice to keep up the hopes of the masses of the party, or break the crushing force of the defeat on the democracy of other States. Knox county, which the republicans conceded to the democrats, gave a republican majority, and Lincoln county is very close. In the First Congressional District, where the democrats (relying on the aid of Hon. John H. Burleigh) expected to defeat the republican candidate, Mr. Reed has 1100 majority, the other republican candidates for Congress receiving majorities as follows: Frye, 2500; Lindsey, 3000; Powers, 1000; Hale, 3000.

Those Tax Returns.

Some weeks ago the New York Times published two sworn statements made by the great "reformer," Samuel J. Tilden, which flatly contradicted each other. In one of these affidavits he said that his entire income (subject to income-tax) in 1862 was $7118; in the other that he received in 1862, from one railroad alone, $20,000. The contradictory affidavits were published side by side in the Times, accompanied by unequivocal charges of perjury and swindling against Tilden, and a challenge by the great newspaper to the great reformer to "take it up" in the courts of law. This matter of course created a great sensation, and some of Tilden's most prominent and influential supporters acknowledged that he must clear himself or give up all hope of election; but up to the present time he has neither given any explanation tending to reconcile his opposing oaths, nor accepted the challenge of the Times.

As Tilden made no move to clear himself, his supporters recognized that they must do something for him; and as they could not show that Tilden acted honestly regarding the National income-tax in 1862, the next best thing to do would be to show that Gov. Hayes acted with equal dishonesty in 1874, '75 and '76, with regard to his local taxes. So one Gen. Steadman, editor of the Toledo Democrat, undertook the job; he was well fitted for it, having been a collector of internal revenue at New Orleans under President Johnson, a position from which he was removed by President Grant, having the following record of balances due from him to the United States: cash, $203,622; taxes on lists, $11,530; taxes on bonded goods, $147,492; and spirit stamp missing, $1; so of course, with this record, Gen. Steadman is an earnest shrieker for Tilden and reform.

So this reformer, Steadman, comes out with a charge that Gov. Hayes' horses, carriages and other personal property were undervalued, and that in other ways he had defrauded the State of its revenue. The following is a sample of Steadman's charges: "He returned a gold watch, $500, in 1874, and in 1875 and 1876 returned three watches, including one returned in 1874, at $200. He did not return a piano in any one of the three years, although he had one in his parlor all the time, and it is the boast of his admiring neighbors that she one now in his parlor cost $800. He returned in 1875 and 1876 three horses at $800, when his neighbors know that he values one of his horses at $500. He returned in 1875 four carriages at $260, when it was well known that he paid a manufacturer in that city $500 for them, and had a photo that cost $350."

What does Gov. Hayes do in this case? Although the charges were made by a wholesale swindler and cheat, and based on such good old democratic "evidence" as "it is the boast of his admiring neighbors," "his neighbors know," "it is well known," etc., but two days were allowed to elapse between the appearance of the charges in the obscure sheet edited by Steadman, and the appearance of Gov. Hayes' statement flatly refuting every item in the accusation. The horse "valued at $500," cost $125; the three watches, one of which was returned in 1874 at $300, he never owned nor "returned" in any year of his life; and the piano which "the neighbors know" is worth $800, was a hired instrument, Gov. Hayes having never in his life owned one. All the other charges are answered in the same open and convincing style, and the documentary evidence cited to prove the truth of everything said.

But Tilden, openly charged with being a perjurer, and on the strength of his own affidavits and not on the "it is known" or "his neighbors know" of an irresponsible adventurer and swindler, is silent yet. The democratic papers promise that he will explain to the New York State convention on the 13th; it is high time he did,—for if he dealt honestly with the government it need not have taken him a month to find words in which to say so.

Republican Mass Meeting at Concord.

In connection with the conventions for the nomination of Hayes and Wheeler candidates for electors, to be held in Concord on the 21st instant, there is to be a grand mass meeting at the State House, which will be addressed by some of the most eminent speakers in the country. Every preparation is being made by the State Committee for rendering the occasion the grandest affair of the kind ever held in the State. A large number of the most eminent speakers of the country have been invited and are expected to be present; among them are Hon. James G. Blaine, Hon. Benj. H. Bristow, Hon. O. P. Morton, Hon. Marshall Jewell, Col. Robert G. Ingersoll, George Wm. Curtis, Esq., and Gen. Edward F. Noyes of Ohio. Mr. Blaine has accepted the invitation and will surely be present. We hope that every republican in Rockingham County will consider that he is personally invited, and, if possible, accept the invitation and go. Hayes and Wheeler clubs ought to be organized at once in every town in the county, and the active work of the campaign be vigorously prosecuted until the day of the election. Do not fail to be at the mass meeting. Go singly and in clubs. Let it prove a rousing and enthusiastic meeting,—one whose influence will be felt all over the State—making every republican realize that the campaign has begun in earnest, and it is time for him to be up and working. With zealous and unceasing efforts we can carry the Granite State for Hayes and Wheeler by even a more overwhelming majority than we secured last Spring. But it will require active, earnest work to do this. New Hampshire is often reckoned among the doubtful States. There is not, however, a particle of doubt about her. When her republican sons are alive to their duty, she is thoroughly republican. It is all the more important, therefore, that she should not fail to return a verdict next November in accordance with the real sentiment of a large majority of her people.

News and Notes.

During the progress of a play near Eafaula, Kansas, a colored Creek Light Horse tried to quiet him and drew a revolver. The officer, in a struggle to disarm him, struck him over the head with the pistol, which was discharged. The ball struck and instantly killed a bystander named Crawford. The officer then shot the colored man through the head for his continued resistance.

Great Britain is desirous of having an immediate attempt to formulate another extradition treaty with the United States, and when Mr. Fish and Sir Edward Thornton return to Washington after vacation, the subject will be tried once more. Secretary Fish feels impelled to take high American ground on the question, acknowledging the arbitrary construction of the English Home Government upon treaty rights and stipulations, and in this he is fully sustained by President Grant. He will not, therefore, it is understood, consent to any ex-parte or purely English view being taken, nor any provisions to be made in any treaty submitted which will not in all things equitably place the United States and her officials exactly on the same footing, according to the spirit of international law and comity, as may be claimed by Great Britain. This, he has contended, the foreign department of Great Britain, as conducted by Lord Derby, failed to appreciate heretofore, and he has felt that the United States are placed in a quasi secondary or subordinate position in laying down the doctrine upon the Ashburton treaty and rules of Parliament.

Among all the curiosities of advertising in this or any other country, we doubt if any man can recollect an advertisement calling for a second-hand cupola for a barn. Such an one appears in our columns this morning.—Globe.

About a year ago an account was widely copied from the St. Louis newspapers of experiments with dynamite near the city. Frederick Julian, an agent for the explosive, burned it in a bonfire, hurled it down a precipice, and in other ways satisfied the spectators that it could only be exploded by means of fulminating caps. We now read of Mr. Julian and his dynamite again. He started for the city with a wagon load of it, and sat smoking on the front seat. He smelled something burning, and saw that the sawdust packing was afire. He got off the wagon to procure water with which to extinguish the flames, but made no haste, because he believed there was no danger. Suddenly there was a terrific explosion, utterly demolishing the wagon, killing the horses, and stunning Mr. Julian. When he recovered consciousness he had changed his belief about dynamite.

Mrs. "Brick" Pomeroy, who has adopted the stage as a profession and taken "Louis Heath" for her name, will make her public debut at the Academy of Music in a tragic role, October 16. She is a woman of fine personal appearance, of commanding, well-formed figure and beautiful features of the blonde type; is a woman of culture, a good elocutionist, and has a pleasing voice.

Political.

The Boston Post of Monday undertook to "hedge" a little on the Maine election, by announcing that a republican majority of anything less than 18,000 would be a democratic victory! As the republican majority in 1875 was less than 4,000, they are very well satisfied with a majority of 12,000 this year—won in spite of the desperate endeavors of the democracy, and Tilden's "bar'l o' money."

In 1864, just after the battle of the Wilderness, a party of gentlemen were assembled in a room at Willard's, and in the course of an animated conversation one of them used the following language: "Gentlemen, the mistake we made was that we did not turn McClellan with his fine army on Washington and clean out the whole thing"—meaning the administration of Mr. Lincoln. He who gave utterance to this patriotic remark was Samuel J. Tilden.

Tilden and the Tweed Ring.

The Brooklyn Argus is the most independent of democratic papers. It keeps neck and heels with the New York Times in the raid on Tilden. In its last issues, after complimenting the Times for its presentation of the facsimile of Tilden's sworn income return of $7118 for 1862, and placing in juxtaposition to it a table of items, showing that his net income was $89,000, it goes on to deliberately charge that Mr. Tilden was the principal of the Tweed, Connolly and Sweeny crowd. That he was the head of the confederation, the counsellor of the banditti. It declares that on the 15th of September, 1871, after the publication of the proofs of the plundering of the ring, he was seen in conference with the thieves, at which time he persuaded Connolly to resign from the Comptroller's position, so that the storm might pass over him and beat upon others. Connolly, the Argus says, followed Tilden's advice. He resigned. The partnership papers were destroyed, and Connolly sailed for Europe. Tilden, the Argus goes on to say, could afford to wink at a $14,000,000 Court House and a $100,000,000 city debt, for Tweed and Connolly's successors only allowed the very richest man in the pool to pay taxes on average assessments of $27,000 per annum. These are grave charges, and they should not be made recklessly. The Argus says that the partnership facts will all come out one of these days. Let them come out now if they exist. Tilden's friends and supporters, during all this warfare of abuse and slander profess to be calm, and say they propose in good time to show, when all the charges are in, that he was a member of the famous committee of seventy, and prove that he has all along been an honorable man, simply tolerating Tweed, but not taking a hand in his schemes. If they don't begin soon they will find their task very difficult. Those who are familiar with the fight against the Tammany Ring and recall the exciting times following the Times' exposure, persist in recalling Tilden's position then. It is insisted that while he was shrewd enough to keep from getting into the mire, he hung on the edges of it; that he came out against Tweed only when it was safe to come out; and that he became a reformer when it was policy to be a reformer; that he was simply farsighted enough to see the clear track quicker than his fellows of the democratic management in New York, and bold enough to push them aside and follow it. The promised defence of Tilden is anxiously awaited. It should be made without delay.—Boston Globe, (ind.)

The Misdirection of the Bile.

The misdirection of the bile, a consequence which ensues when the liver is inactive and the bowels torpid, produces a number of bodily evils. The blood becomes contaminated with the bilious fluid, causing the skin and the whites of the eyes to assume a yellowish tinge; dyspepsia and nausea supervene, the tongue becomes furred, the breath fetid, there are pains in the side and between the shoulder blades, the urine is high colored and scalding, and is aggravated cases jaundice and inflammation of the liver ensue. All these consequences may be prevented or obviated by using Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a vegetable alterative tonic which stimulates the inactive liver to exert itself in secreting and directing the bile, acts naturally upon the bowels and removes every trace of indigestion.

THE VET. ASS'N REUNION.

The reunion of the Portsmouth Veteran Artillery Association on Tuesday, at Hotel Wentworth, will long be remembered by the participants, over two hundred in number. The company, forty-one strong, headed by the Cornet Band, left their armory at 9:30 A. M., and after a short march about town proceeded to Newcastle, where they halted to enjoy the hospitality of the commander, Capt. George W. Towle, after which the march for the hotel was resumed, the company arriving there at noon,—other members of the Association and the ladies, having previously arrived in carriages.

For some time all interest seemed to centre on the preparations for the clambake, not many of the party having ever attended one before; and after the bake was fairly under way much interest was expressed as to how soon the clams would be ready to eat. Tables had been put up in the grove near the hotel by Messrs. Jewett and Campbell, who are both members of the Association; coffee and tea were provided in abundance; and at about 2 o'clock the welcome announcement was made that the clams were ready, the hungry party took their seats without urging, and destruction commenced.

The clambake—the feature of the day—was superb, and consisted of 25 bushels of clams, a barrel of sweet potatoes, a bushel of Irish potatoes, 20 doz. corn, 150 lobsters, a bushel of crabs and 40 dozen eggs, and so delicious was the feast that hardly a remnant was left. The bake was engineered by Mr. Hanson, of Dover Point, and a better one was never built.

After discussing the clambake the time was passed in strolling about, dancing on the verandah to the music of Turner's band, etc., until 5:50 P. M., when there was a dress parade, at which well present were accounted for; after which the party had tea in the spacious dining hall of the hotel, the company being so numerous as to fill it. After tea the dining hall was cleared and a merry party of dancers occupied it until a late hour, the last of the party not reaching this city until long after midnight.

A more thoroughly enjoyable occasion, and one more thoroughly enjoyed, rarely occurs; and to the judicious and energetic committee of arrangements are due the hearty thanks of all who participated in the day's pleasure.

POLICE COURT.

Tuesday, September 12, before Batchelder, Justice:

Thomas Hurley entered a plea of guilty to a charge of drunkenness, and was fined $3, costs being taxed at $8.04. His bank account unfortunately happening to be overdrawn, he had to go up country.

JOTTINGS.

The bank stocks of the Rockingham Ten Cents Savings Bank brought full prices on Saturday last, as reported previously, and if all the assets of that institution turn out as well proportionately, the loss of the depositors will be less than has been feared. We are informed that it is proposed to call a meeting of the depositors on Friday evening, Sept. 22d. at Portsmouth Court House.

The Portsmouth Light Artillery, Captain Marvin, 43 men, passed through this city Monday afternoon, headed by the Kearsarge fife and drum band, for Philadelphia. The company is very handsomely uniformed in red and blue, with hussar helmet. The company visited the Old South Church and the band performed a quaint medley of popular music on the floor of the church, and the concert was appreciatively listened to by a large number of visitors. The artillery will act as escort to the Boston Druggists' Association at Philadelphia, and is accompanied by Mayor Broughton, Postmaster Pierce and other prominent citizens of Portsmouth. The trip will occupy ten days.—Boston Globe.

OUR CITY.

A correspondent of the Cincinnati Times writes that paper a long and interesting letter from this city, from which we make a few extracts, as we always like to know how others speak of us even though we may not be over-pleased with their manner of speech. He says:

"The town stretches along the river perhaps three miles, and to a visitor unacquainted with the geography of the place, would hardly be set down as a seaport, unless, indeed, his eyes recognized the sea rust upon the buildings, and his nose sniffed the salty flavors that hang over the place. At high tide the water is a broad and beautiful sheet of water, more like a lake, in fact; but at low tide its beauty is gone, for in place of clear, rippling water, one sees unromantic old tin cans and ancient hoop skirts. * *

In this, as in other New England towns, the oldest houses are all of wood and can always be found nearest to the water, because the old-timers thought more of being handy to their fishing boats and their wharves than they did to high lands farther away. To this point I first directed my way, and taking council with an ancient mariner, whose frontispiece was ornamented with a proboscis that only time and New England rum can bring to such a ruby color, was told where the most important landmarks of the good old time could be found. Sit down with me on this old wharf, whose timbers have been bathed in salt water for two centuries, and let us look a bit into the past.

On every hand are great barn-like warehouses, most of them minus doors and windows, and lacking all the evidences of ownership. The ropes have long since rotted from the pulleys that hung from the windows, the rust has eaten deep into the anchors that lie about; the planks are going back to earth, and between the staring cracks which separate them, coarse tufts of grass are claiming a place, and, in fact, all the surroundings suggest little else than death and decay.

But it was not always so, for we know that at one time these now silent wharves were alive with busy sailors, noisy stevedores, swearing mates, blustering captains and pompous, round-bellied old merchants. There was a time when these grass-grown planks were heaped high with the treasures of the Indies, so high, in fact, that New York and Boston merchants grew green with envy, but, after a time, the India trade fell off, Portsmouth as a seaport fell down, and its covetous rivals went up and were exalted.

During the war of 1812, the town did its duty as patriot and turned an honest penny at the same time by sending out, a fleet of well manned privateers which played the very ——— (angel) with the bulky merchantmen of old England. * * * * *

There are scores of other places of interest along the wharves, and there are scores of bad smells likewise, and stuffy little drinking dens, and bleat-eyed wrecks of sailors, and cobwebs, and Tilden banners, and other useless odds and ends, but let us leave them for the more congenial sights that so abound on beautiful elm-lined Pleasant street. Verily, it is rightly named, for with its splendid rows of trees, excellent road-way, fine old houses and well-kept door-yards, what else could it be but a pleasant street? * * * *

In wonderful contrast to this pleasant resting place of the dead, [St. John's,] is the burial place known as Point of Graves, which is located near Liberty Bridge, and a little way from Water street. This graveyard was given to the town in 1671, and for a long time was used as the burial place of many of the most prominent people of the neighborhood. The yard contains perhaps an acre of ground, which is enclosed by a low brick wall which is now rapidly crumbling away. If you care to push aside the rank weeds and tangled grass that grow so luxuriantly in the dark, black soil, you can see the remains of richly cut tombs and monuments, upon which are emblazoned the royal lion and unicorn or much prized coat of arms, together with the names of those whose deeds while in the flesh made them worthy a more appropriate resting place. The yard is a waste, the surroundings utterly dreary, and the place as a whole a disgrace to the town.

There is a peculiar charm to me about these old-time towns, with their well kept streets, the grand shade trees, the substantial old wooden houses, and their general air of comfort and intense respectability. Of course the houses are not all old, but on the contrary there are many disgustingly new houses, tricked out in all the appendages of modern architecture, and seemingly built more for the neighbors to look at than for the comfort of the people who occupy them. They are also handsome stores, fine blocks, and plenty of modern features, but it is the relics of long ago that make the old town a place of interest and beauty to me. It is indeed, a beautiful old town by the sea, and if its trees have thus far failed to yield the Elixir of Life that the commander of the Speedwell so earnestly sought, it at present possesses in its old houses and fine streets that which is as an elixir to the lover of the curious and beautiful."

Nesby on Reform.

We had a meetin last nite to instruct the democratic nominee for Congress in this Deestrick, as to wat we ov the Corners shood expeck uv him in the event uv the elecshun of Tilden and Hendrix. His elecshun is certain enuffs ez in this Deestrick we don't allow the niggers or carpet-baggers to vote. All whites wich vote the republikin tickit is carpet-baggers. We adopted this rool that we mite hev peace, which is wat we want in the South. By simply shootin everybody wat don't agree with yoo, yoo kin git a state uv harmony, a onen's of sentiment, that is trooly delileful. The member elect received us corjelly, and welcomed us hartily in the name uv Reform. Deekin Pogram wuz the fust to speak. The old saint remarkt that various people had various idees of wat reform rely meant. The Bible sed, "Many men of many minds," and he hed his mind ez to to reform. In Noo York the reformers wantid the custom-houses and post-offises, which wuz well enuff. Here we want the Yoonited States Government to pay us the losses we incurred at thier hands doorin an unholy and fratracidle war. That wuz his noshen uv reform, and without that it wuz all soundin brass and tinklin cymbles. His bill agin the Government wuz not a large one, but he felt it shood be paid all the same. When the Fedrels okkepied this seckshun, a party of pickits okkepied his farm one nite, and burned up a seckshun of the fence, for a fire, and confiscated a parcel of sweet potatoes. He didn't expect pay for the niggers, Linkin hed unconstooshnelly robbed him uv, but he shood say that for that fence and them potatoes he ought to receive say $600.

The member sejested that he hed better make out the bill for $2,000. In the reform Congris which he hoped wood be electid, with a reform President at its hed, ther wood hev to be a good deel uv divvyin. By making the bill $2,000, the good Deekin wood probably git his $600. He thought the remaining $1,400 wood be enuff for a reform Congris. And akkordinly the Deekin made his bill over agin for $2,000. Isaker Gavitt wantid $800 for a lot uv wood burnt by the Fedrel pikkits, and shood therefore put in his claim for $5,000. He bleeved that a reform Congris was not only entitled to its whack, but he bleeved in makin it liberal. The member remarked that he wuz glad to see the sperit uv liberality that pervadid the peeple uv the Corners. It mite look ez tho $1,000 to the claimant, and $4,000 for gitin' it, wuz rather large, but they must remember that the Reform party hed a bitter fight on 'em, and that them wich wuz spending the money wood hev to be reimbursed out uv this fund. Our noble reform standard-bearer, Tilden, wuz pourin out money like water, but he coodent be expected to pay out uv his own pockkit for carryin so many States. There wuz Injeany and Ohio, Noo York and Pennsylvany, Maine and Noo Hampsheer, all uv these wood require barrels apeece, and it hed ben decided that the expense must be made good out uv the Southern Claims. This must be taken into akount.

A CARD.

TO my patients and the patients of Dr. Stevens: Deeply regret being compelled to abandon practice in Portsmouth owing to my failing health, but feeling obliged to return to Salem I have secured for you a successor who I trust will merit the same kindness which has been shown to me since Dr. Stevens' departure from Portsmouth. I know of no one whom I could get to take my practice here, whom I can better recommend than my successor,

Edgar M. Jewett, D. M. D.

DR. JEWETT has been with me in Salem for three years and is a graduate of Harvard University Dental School. He is a young man of much promise in the dental profession. He will take up his residence here and be in the office daily after Sept. 1st.

COOKED

CORNED BEEF.

Articles are being published calculated to prejudice the public against using Cooked Corned Beef, and we would say in answer to them that in no instance has positive proof been established to show that such is the case.

Our goods are packed in a manner very similar to that of Corn, Tomatoes, Fruit and canned goods generally, (which have long been tested) and we use nothing whatever of a poisonous nature in their preparation.

In addition to our own statement we have the strong endorsement of Prof. Hosford of Cambridge, one of the most eminent Chemists in the country, who has fully tested and is familiar with the entire details of the preparation of our goods.

We would also state that we use none but the choicest of Beef that our Chicago market affords, and trust that with these statements the rapidly growing popularity of our Corned Beef may be increased.

For the information of those not knowing the fact we would state that in the process of canning there is a liability of imperfect seeling, which causes the can to expand. Meat contained in such cans is unfit for use and will be cheerfully paid for when returned to any grocer selling it.

Directions for Restoring Persons Apparently Dead from Drowning.

I. Lose no time. Carry out these directions on the spot.

II. Remove the froth and mucous from the mouth and nostrils.

III. Hold the body, for a few seconds only, with the head hanging down, so that the water may run out of the lungs and windpipe.

IV. Loosen all tight articles of clothing about the neck and chest.

V. See that the tongue is pulled forward if it falls back into the throat. By taking hold of it with a handkerchief it will not slip.

VI. If the breathing has ceased, or nearly so, it must be stimulated by pressure of the chest with the hands, in imitation of the natural breathing; forcibly expelling the air from the lungs, and allowing it to re-enter and expand them by the elasticity of the ribs. Remember that this is the most important step of all. To do it readily, lay the person on his back, with a cushion-pillow, or some firm substance, under the shoulders; then press with the flat of the hands over the lower part of the breast, bone and the upper part of the abdomen, keeping up a regular repetition and relaxation of pressure; twenty or thirty pounds may be applied with safety to a grown person.

VII. Rub the limbs with the hands, or with dry cloths, constantly, to aid the circulation and keep the body warm.

VIII. As soon as the person can swallow, give a table-spoonful of spirits in hot water, or some warm tea or coffee.

IX. Work deliberately. Do not give up too quickly. Success has rewarded the efforts of hours.

MAGIC

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Billiousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not know ing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

MAGIC

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Billiousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to the Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 19, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a long story, but I remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was ready to go to Florida, where through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

SEC. 5. The contes. of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores, over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 15. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein: and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a celebrated English recipe, and now in daily use by many of the most noted farmers in the butter counties around Philadelphia.
In hot weather the Powder makes butter much firmer and sweeter than it usually is, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, cow's stalks, cotton seed, etc.; and the increased yield of butter much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

BACHELOR BROWN'S COURTSHIP.

AN ENGLISH STORY.

Richard Brown had lived a bachelor for forty years and declared his intention of continuing in the state of single blessedness for the remainder of his life—greatly to the satisfaction of his relatives, the Hinkles, with whom he resided, for be it known Uncle Richard was worth a cool half million, and the Hinkles were his only living relations, and unless, as Mrs. Hinkle said, some "nasty charity" came in for his property, who should he leave it to but to his own cousins or their children?

Hopeful as poor human nature is of longevity, Mr. and Mrs. Hinkle scarcely expected to survive their cousin, who was their junior by ten years, but Adelaide, and Rose and Charles, and William, might in all probability be his heirs, and to this end the parents labored. Uncle Richard had the best room in the house, the best chair, the most particular consideration. All his wishes were deferred to and his advice taken on every occasion, and he actually came to be loved; for with all his quaint, old-fashioned ways, and his habit of sitting as utterly silent as though he had been deaf and dumb, he was a loveable man. Matters progressed smoothly enough, until it was habit and not hypocrisy which made Uncle Richard master of the house.

He was very obliging—wonderfully so in most respects. He would attend to anything for anybody—match ribbons when nobody else could—escort the girls to places of amusement—go dutifully to church with their mamma—attend to marketing and the posting of letters, and the gas meter, and the turning off the water in frosty weather. He was always ready to search the house with a poker at the dead of night, when any one "heard a noise."

He went to the dentist with people who wanted their teeth drawn, and he always seemed to have sugar-plumbs in his pocket. But one thing Uncle Richard would not do, and that was to exhibit the least signs of politeness to visitors.

He never saw one home. He never even spent the evening in their company. He invariably shut himself up in his own room and had his tea there when one of these individuals was reported to be in the house, and, when travelling, had been known in a train to shut his eyes tight when a young lady entered, and remain with them closed till she left the carriage. As a general thing, indeed, he always chose a carriage where he need not be intruded upon.

"It was just as well, after all," said Mrs. Hinkle but it was a peculiarity not quite as agreeable to Mr. H., when he found the pleasant task of "seeing" Miss Jones, imposed upon himself. He argued that such duties were Cousin Dick's though he never told him so. It would not have been pleasant to provoke him, and if anything could have offended Bachelor Brown mortally, it would have been to insist upon his offering any gallant attentions to the softer sex.

However a day came at last which set the whole household in commotion.

Miss Amanda Dove had been invited to spend a week with the Hinkles, and Miss Dove, being a stranger, was to wait at the station until some one came for her in a carriage.

The Hinkles resided some miles out of town, and had not occupied their residence for many months, so that people were not always properly directed by the neighbors.

It was decided that Mr. Hinkle should escort Miss Dove, but before the day of her arrival dawned, business had called that gentleman to Sheffield. Moreover, Mrs. Hinkle had the influenza, and the two boys were at boarding school. No one was to be found to drive, and neither Rose nor Adelaide could handle the reins. Miss Dove was to come at nine, and what would she think of them if no one came for her?

"Indeed," said Mrs. Hinkle, "it would be shocking treatment for the dear girl. I must ask your cousin Richard."

"You never dare, mamma," said Rose, aghast.

"In such a case, you know—" said Mrs. Hinkle.

"He'll not do it," said Adelaide.

"Of course not," said Rose.

Mrs. Hinkle shook her head.

"I fear he will not," she said, and, assuming an expression which would have done credit to Joan of Arc, mounted the stairs to cousin Richard's study.

"Are you busy, Richard," she asked as she entered.

"Not at all—sit down," said Bachelor Brown.

"You see how ill I am," said Mrs. Hinkle; "I can hardly hold up my head, much less drive, and Mr. Hinkle is away, and the boys too, and no one can handle the reins, and—"

"Well," said Bachelor Brown.

"And there is poor Miss Dove at the station with her trunk by this time," said Mrs. Hinkle, with a gasp.

"Ah," said Bachelor Brown, "What a pity."

Mrs. Hinkle felt she had not begun yet. Bachelor Brown could not understand what she wanted.

"It's a great favor—a great favor to ask, I know," she said, "but couldn't you just for once do it?"

"Do what, Maria," asked Bachelor Brown.

"Go for her," said Mrs. Hinkle.

"For Miss Dove?"

"Yes."

"Oh, dear, no," said Cousin Richard.

"But, —" began Mrs. Hinkle.

"Maria," said the old bachelor, "young ladies, my little cousins excepted, are my abomination. An affected, conceited, absurd set of creatures. I never had anything to do with them, and I never will. No doubt she's capable of finding her way here. They all appear to be. I shan't go for her."

Mrs. Hinkle retreated.

"What will she think of us?" she said sobbing.

"Don't cry," said Bachelor Brown, "I'll see if any of the hands over at the Oats place can drive over for her."

And out he went; but all the hands on Oats' place were busy with the hay, which stood in danger from a coming shower. Richard returned without the least success.

"A shower, too," said Rose. "Poor dear Amanda, I'll try what I can do with my cousin."

And in the study she spent an hour teasing and worrying without effect.

"Let her get lost," said Bachelor Brown. "No doubt she'd like it. And as for her trunk, why don't girls travel with a portmanteau as we do?"

And Rose departed pouting. She found Adelaide in an extremely merry mood.

"Don't laugh," she said, "think of poor Amenda."

"I'm thinking of her," said Adelaide, "and cousin Dick shall go. I'll tell a fib."

"For shame!" said Rose.

"One ought to make some sacrifice for a friend," said Adelaide. "I'll tell him she's a child. He's always good to children."

"It will never do," said Mrs. Hinkle; "he'll never forgive you."

But Adelaide ran up to her cousin's study and burst in with an exceedingly theatrical laugh.

"What a mistake!" she said, "and so stupid of them all. You think Amanda is a grown lady, don't you?"

"Isn't she?" asked the bachelor.

"As if a child of nine years could be!" said Adelaide. "Poor little thing."

"Poor little thing, indeed," hurrying on his coat and hat. "Bless me, why didn't you mention it? Poor little soul."

And in a few minutes the light wagon was driven down the road, and the Hinkles stood looking after it.

"I'm half frightened" said Rose.

"So am I" said Adelaide. "But it's done and it can't be helped now. I'll manage to coax him to forgive me, and it wouldn't do to leave a friend in such a position, you know; and I didn't say she was a child."

Meanwhile Bachelor Brown drove to the station. It was a long drive over a bad road but he kept on his way very cheerfully. He was extremely fond of children.

When on reaching the station, he saw no signs of her presence, he grew alarmed. If she had been lost through his neglect he could never forgive himself. He ran his fingers through his curly hair and peeped into the ladies' waiting room. Only a very fine full-grown young woman sat there, and he retreated. The woman who waited in the apartment came out of her nook with a courtesy as she saw him, and he addressed her:

"Have you seen a little girl waiting for some one?"

"No sir" said the woman. "There were two came down, but they are gone."

"Oh, dear! oh, dear!" said Bachelor Brown; "I hope there's no mistake. It's a little Miss Dove, and if the dear little soul has gone astray I'm entirely to blame. Please make enquiries—there's a good woman!"

As he uttered these words the full grown young lady in the waiting-room was seen to blush violently and arise.

"I'm Amanda Dove," she said, "and I expect some one from Mr. Hinkle's."

Bachelor Brown stood aghast. He had spoken of this lady as a "dear little thing." His face almost turned scarlet.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1876.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

Republican Electoral Conventions.

Republican conventions for the nomination of Hayes and Wheeler Presidential Electors will be held for all the Councilor Districts of the State at Concord, on Thursday, the 21st day of September at 11 o'clock A. M.

Each town and ward will be entitled to twice as many delegates as it sends representatives to the General Court; and all voters who believe that the election of Rutherford B. Hayes and William A. Wheeler will best promote the welfare of the whole country, are invited to join in the selection of such delegates.

The electoral conventions will be followed by a Grand Mass Meeting, which will assemble at 12 M., at the State House, and be addressed by some of the most distinguished republican orators of the United States. Half-fare arrangements will be made with all the railroads, and be announced seasonably.

Let the republicans of the entire State come forth in their strength, and make this what it is confidently expected to be, the largest political gathering ever held in New Hampshire.

DANIEL HALL,
Chairman Republican State Committee.
B. F. PRESCOTT, Secretary.

Democratic Testimony.

The Augusta Constitutionalist gives a report of a democratic meeting in Aiken, S. C., which, shorn as it is of the proportions which the occasion demanded, permits us a glance of the fervid oratory, and the ulterior purposes of the men, who, in their military visits to the North emphatically "accept the situation." One of the speakers, a candidate for the State Senate, made a "telling speech." The account of it is generalized, but now and then we have the words of the speaker. He said the whites owned the State and intended to keep it; that the democrats intended to "carry this election at all hazards, and the sooner 'Sambo' was aware of it the better." But Gen. Gary was the popular orator; "he came forward amid deafening applause," his address was frequently applauded, and he closed amid the greatest enthusiasm. "He used the plainest language" in defining "the true position of the negro to the white man." He deprecated violence, but the negro race was the subordinate race. The Caucasian race was chosen of God to rule; he rather pitied the negro, but could not fly in the face of Divine Providence; as a compromise he advised that "if the long-talked-of war of races should come, the leaders should be shot," and the negro reserved for that subordinate position which he was created for. The report concludes thus: "The radicals did not attend the meeting, but it is reported that certain officials, with their families, were seen, while it was going on, making for the woods. This is a great victory and Aiken is safe." We confess our inability to comprehend this sentence. Why it should be deemed either necessary or advisable for anybody to leave a town, and particularly why women and children should feel any fear because of the meeting of a democratic convention, is something which we in the North are not quite able to comprehend. The arguments of our Northern democrats are so soft, and the absence of any other weapons so unusual, that republican girls and boys never think of being harmed by them. It would seem that they do things otherwise in South Carolina.—Providence Journal.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

Who does not like an elm tree anywhere? But we speak of it now as an ornament and shade in cities, villages, near country residences and by the road-side. It grows large and majestic, has a top often wide-spreading, with branches with graceful bends. To be sure, its leaves are small, so the shade is not so good as some other kinds, but its trunk and limbs are tough, the winds cannot break them, nor the thunderbolt rend them. In several sections of Exeter village there are fine elms. On front street is a very large one. It is a little way southerly of Gorham Hall, which was formerly the Swamscot House, and on the same side. It stands before the residence of Hon. C. H. Bell.

Putting a line around this tree a little time ago, we found it sixteen feet in circumference. Its diameter therefore is five and one-third feet. It is not round like most trees, there being projections here and there. We have no doubt if cut down, in some directions the stump would measure six feet.

Up a little way it is divided into two parts. Up much higher there are six or eight large branches, growing quite upright. Then very numerous small ones. Its top is not so large as that on many elms of smaller size, and its high parts have some appearance of decay.

In the spacious dwelling where Mr. Bell resides, Mr. Joseph T. Gilman formerly lived. For eleven years ending in 1846, he was engaged in successful trade in Canton, China. After returning, he was for a time President of Exeter Bank, and Treasurer of Phillips Exeter Academy. He died April 4, 1852, aged 50 years. Mr. Bell afterwards married his widow.

This Joseph T. Gilman was son of Nathaniel Gilman, who lived in this dwelling, we suppose, or one on the same spot. He was a younger brother of John Taylor Gilman, for several years Governor of the State. He was born in 1759 and died Jan. 26, 1847, aged 87 years. Dr. William Perry of Exeter informs us, that it is a tradition that this Nathaniel Gilman could remember when this tree was not large. Suppose that his memory of it was at the age of seventeen, that was in 1776. It might then have been growing twenty-five years. So now it is 125 years old. This may be a near approximation of the age of this venerable tree. Exeter is 237 years old and this tree must have lived more than half of the existence of the town.

News and Notes.

R. B. Porter, of Sutton, formerly a republican but for some years past a good democrat, broke into the railroad station at South Newbury, Vt., and stole a lot of tickets. He has confessed his guilt, and has been placed under $10,000 bonds for his appearance at a higher court.

Ex-Gov. Henry A. Wise, of Virginia, died in Richmond on the 12th. He was first elected to Congress in 1833, and served three terms. From 1844 to 1847 he was United States Minister to Brazil. In 1855 he was elected Governor of Virginia on an anti-Know-Nothing platform, and one of his last official acts was to order the execution of John Brown, in 1859. During the war he served as a Confederate Brigadier-General, and was in command at Roanoke Island, N. C., when his forces were defeated by General Burnside, and his son was among the killed. Since the war he has lived a very retired life. While in Congress he served as second for Mr. Graves of Kentucky in a duel with Mr. Cilley of Maine, in which the latter was killed.

The remains of the late Theosoph, Baron J. H. de Palm, whose extraordinary funeral last June at Masonic Temple, New York, with Egyptian rites, caused no little interest, on account of their novelty, throughout the country, are shortly to be cremated. This is done in consonance with the wish of the late Baron.

If Governor Tilden has anything to say about that income tax business he had better say it. A good many people have caught at the charge and believed it without waiting for proof. There is a strong prima facie case against the Governor, and if he cannot explain it he is not the man for President. Governor Hayes has met the charge made against him and crushed it. Governor Tilden can do no less if he wishes to stand well with his countrymen.—Boston Herald.

Following so closely upon the Saratoga blunder and the result in Vermont, the Maine election cannot fail thoroughly to dishearten the democracy, making Indiana as certain for Hayes as Ohio and Pennsylvania.—New York Herald.

The Servians still hold Alexinatz. There was severe fighting on the 10th and 11th, between Deligrad and Alexinatz, in consequence of the Turks attempting to throw a bridge across the Morava. They were unsuccessful. This movement indicates that the Turks despair of taking Alexinatz by a direct attack, and are seeking to get to the rear of its fortified lines.

There is a little item in the history of tobacco that will be fresh to a good many old smokers and chewers amongst the tribe of gardeners:—"Tobacco was brought to England in 1560. Jean Nicot, the French Ambassador in Portugal, received it from Fleming, who came from Florida, and it was he who offered the first example to Catherine de Medicis. The Queen took a fancy to tobacco, the Court followed her example, and the plant, which had been formerly called Nicotina, from the name of Nicot, was named Hebe de la Reine, and became celebrated as a panacea. The taste for tobacco became so general that Kings were alarmed at it. James I., King of England, in 1619, launched a pamphlet against the use of tobacco. Pope Urban VIII., in 1624, fulminated a special bull against it, and in all the churches the beadles were authorized to take possession of the tobacco boxes which they found in the hands of the faithful."

Brig Isaac Eppinger, from London, at Aspinwall, was struck by lightning when off Manzanilla Point, Aug. 29, which split topmast and injured deck. She had on board about thirty tons gunpowder.

Ship Hertfordshire, Thompson, from Liverpool for Valparaiso, was spoken in the Strait of Lemaire (between Staten Land and Terre del Fuego) June 24, and reported having been boarded by pirates from Staten Land.

New Hampshire Items.

On the 11th, in Great Falls, a girl calling herself Susie Grant, an inmate of the Fair-play saloon, a place of questionable character, committed suicide by taking a dose of bedbug poison. She belonged in Beverly, Mass., and was about twenty-two years of age.

Two barns in New Ipswich, belonging to Stedman Horton, were destroyed by fire Saturday morning, the 9th. Loss $1500; no insurance. It is supposed to be incendiary, from the fact that the stock was turned loose.

James B. Howe, a bachelor, who resided on a farm with his mother at Meredith Neck died recently under suspicious circumstances, indicating poisoning, and it is thought he either committed suicide or was given a dose of slow poison. As he had a falling out with a young woman, an inmate of his mother's house, which resulted in her withdrawal from the farm, it is thought by many that the fact preyed on his mind and drove him to self-destruction. An investigation is in progress.

A retort, in the dental office of Dr. Ira Russell of Keene, exploded Tuesday, severely burning his son, Burt Russell, and a comrade named Petts, who were taking nitrous oxide gas. Young Russell had both hands and arms badly burned. Petts' burns were mostly confined to one arm.

Morphine Eating.

The habit of morphine eating is increasing at an alarming rate. A druggist writes to the Louisville Ledger that ounces are now sold where grains were formerly disposed of. Many use it habitually, especially among the more respectable classes. As a general thing, the habit commences through the following of physician's prescriptions. Its soothing effects cause it to be resorted to when pain occurs, without medical advice, and so the habit is formed. When once the system becomes accustomed to the daily dose it is almost impossible to discontinue the practice. Sulphate of morphia is the preparation generally used, but some take green opium. The writer states that on one occasion he saw a victim take one once of opium at one mouthful, which the latter stated was his customary daily dose. He at first took the drug to alleviate the pain of a wound, and by the time his injuries were healed the appetite had become too strong to resist. He would pawn all his clothing in cold weather rather then undergo the horrors of a deprivation of this dose. The effect of morphine or opium taking is to rob its victims of all energy and ambition, and reduce them to a listless, apathetic condition. It would be well if physicians were more guarded in prescribing a drug whose ultimate effects are often so pernicious.

A Remedy That Defies Competition.

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters defy competition. Of the host of rival tonics that have cropped up during its long career, not one has gained and retained such a large share of public favor, though many have enjoyed an ephemeral popularity. The reason is this, that whereas many of these medicines were advertised to perform cures of the most startling nature, they have when tested, almost invariably turned out to be of little or no value, while the great invigorant, whose reputation they were intended to rival, has never disappointed those who have placed their confidence in it. It has vindicated in the strongest manner its claims to be considered a positive specific remedy for liver complaint, dyspepsia, malarious fevers, debility, constipation, and numerous other maladies arising from general weakness and disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels.

The new Atlas Hotel, Philadelphia, Pa., has the most superior location of all the Centennial hotels near the grounds.

"Hark, from the tomb a doleful sound." Tis the long train of consumptives, going down to untimely graves. They might be saved to earth—cured—by Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam.

THE NEW ROUTE TO PHILADELPHIA, via the New York and New England Railroad and Steamer Maryland, is endorsed by the Boston Commercial Club and leading gentlemen throughout New England. Business men and the public generally appreciate the efforts made by this line for their accommodation.

SIMPLE AND INEXPENSIVE as it is, GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP is a most efficient remedy for certain obnoxious diseases, to be cured of which those afflicted with them often spend thousands of dollars to no purpose.

Flashing in their pearly sheen,
From the glorious coraline,

JOTTINGS.

The notice in another column concerning the organization of a uniformed company of Hayes and Wheeler men for street parade, at the Court House on Friday evening, has reference to a meeting for the same purpose previously appointed for this (Thursday) evening, but postponed for one day. We are particularly requested to call attention to this charge in the date of the meeting.

This afternoon at 3 o'clock, and this evening at 8 o'clock, the original Tom Thumb and his wife, with Miss Minnie Warren and the skatorial phenomenon and comic genius, Major Newell, will appear at the Temple. Admission only 25 cents; children under 15 years, 15 cents. Go and see the little people and the comic delineator, and take the children with you.

The survivors of Company A, First N. H. Heavy Artillery, had an informal reunion and general good time at Fort Constitution on the 12th. Mr. Samuel A. Joy, of this city, was a member of that organization.

The Portsmouth Light Artillery arrived at the Centennial Tuesday, and at 2 o'clock P. M., marched to the Exhibition grounds, and subsequently went into camp on the grounds formerly occupied by the Seventh New York Regiment, to the north of the enclosure. The showy and somewhat novel uniforms of the company attracted much attention. On Wednesday they visited the exhibition under arms, and remain in Philadelphia till Monday next. Their camp is named Camp Hall Jackson, in honor of the patriot who commanded the company during the revolutionary war.

The steamer Major has ceased running to the Shoals for this season, and went to Boston Wednesday morning.

The large two-story dwelling house, No. 19 Russel street, was sold at auction on the 12th by Messrs. Morse & Ilsley, to Mr. William Morrissey, for $1730.

Mrs. Eliza Rowe, wife of Hon. Albert Rowe, formerly of this city, now of Alexander, N. Y., died suddenly at her residence on Wednesday, September 6, aged 57 years. Mrs. Rowe had been a severely afflicted invalid for several years, but appeared as well in the morning of her death as she had for a long time. Her son, who was about to leave home for a few days, stepped into her room to bid her good-bye and found her sitting up on the couch she slept on, apparently asleep; and it was not until he came near her that he discovered she was dead.

The Boston Globe says "the members of the Portsmouth Heavy Artillery, Captain Williams, propose to go to the Centennial and be present New Hampshire Day, October 11."

The Veteran Artillery Association, on their march to Hotel Wentworth, Tuesday, halted for a few minutes near the cottage of Mrs. I. S. Fletcher, at Newcastle, while the ladies from the cottage fastened a bouquet in the button-hole of each one of the company, the organization then (after giving three cheers for the ladies) advancing to storm the clam-bake.

The Granite State base ball nine played with the War Eagles at the Navy yard, Tuesday afternoon, defeating them by a score of 33 to 16.

Capt. Rufus A. Preble offers for sale his staunch and fast-sailing pilot-boat, schooner "Carrie L. Payson," better known as "No. 2," — a rare chance for any one wishing to secure a good boat for fishing purposes. See advertisement.

Street Commissioner Sides goes to work as if he understood what he was about. The new crossing at the head of Richards avenue is done in good shape, and will be fully appreciated by the numerous walkers in the avenue.

We are informed that Capt. Marcy has contracted with Mr. Neal of Kittery for a ship of 1400 tons, which will be commanded by Capt. Ross, the first master of ship Frank Jones.

A number of Odd Fellows will leave this city Saturday to join with others from this State in the Odd Fellows' parade at Philadelphia on the 20th.

POLICE COURT.

Wednesday, September, 13, before Batchelder, Justice:

James Todd was brought up for being drunk. Mr. Todd is a tramp, begged money to procure food, and then took the food in liquid form. He acknowledged his error, but entreated the Court to let him off, in which case he would hasten to go off. The Court made sure he would go off by sending him to the county boarding house at Brentwood to board out $9.90.

FATAL ACCIDENT AT YORK.

The children of the Sabbath school of the First Christian Church in York, on the 13th visited Bald Head Cliff for the purpose of holding a picnic. While there a photographer suggested taking views of the school on the cliff. He had taken one view and desired the scholars to take another position for another view. In making the change and locating, a young man named Herbert Moulton, aged eighteen years, while ascending the cliff lost his hold, and fell backward twenty feet on the solid rocks, killing him instantly. Mr. Moulton was a son of Mr. Jonathan Moulton, and was a young man of good habits, kind-hearted and of much promise. This sad blow will fall heavily on his mother, (an excellent woman who has been suffering from sickness for two years,) and upon his father and only brother. His loss will be deeply mourned also by his every day associates.

Political.

The Maine election returns come in better and better. Gov. Conner's majority will probably be above 15,000, a gain of 11,000 over last year's majority. The total vote will probably reach 136,000. The republicans of York county elected their county ticket. Knox county is republican by 63 majority. The democratic "tidal wave" has receded to pretty near the low-water mark.

Judge Niblack of Indiana says Blue Jeans Williams will carry that State for Governor by at least 15,000 majority.

John I. Baker, of sewing machine fame, is three candidates for Governor of Massachusetts,—on the prohibitory, labor reform and woman suffrage tickets. His chances of being elected Governor of Massachusetts are no better than Tilden's of being elected President of the United States.

The recalled democratic State convention of New York met at Saratoga on the 13th. The attendance was not large, and it was expected the Tammany and anti-Tammany fight would not be revived, both factions recognizing the absolute importance of trying to undo the harm done the party by the Seymour fiasco.

Republican Congressional conventions were held in the Seventh and Ninth Districts of Massachusetts, on the 13th. Gen. B. F. Butler was nominated in the Seventh and W. W. Rice of Lowell in the Ninth.

The Connecticut green-backers have conventioned and unanimously renominated their State ticket of last Spring. A full electoral ticket was also nominated.

A Vermont Boy and "Tiger Dogs."

On Sunday, August 13, Mr. Mason Sage, who lives about a mile and a half south of West Wardsboro', Vt., was in his potato field digging potatoes, he being a Seventh Day Baptist and working on that day. His little boy, three and a half years old, was with him for a time, but left him, as he supposed, for the house near by. On Mr. Sage's return to the house the boy was missing, and Mr. Sage started to look him up. He tracked him into the road, from the road to another potato field, across this field to grass ground where the trail was lost. Keeping on, however, in the same direction toward an oat-field, he soon found him crying, saying that his "mamma had gone and he could not find papa." His mother had gone to church. The father took the boy in his arms and carried him home and thought no more of the occurrence. After the mother had returned home the boy began to tell about having met two "tiger dogs," but of this Mrs. Sage thought nothing, as their neighbor, Mr. Bills, had a large, black dog named Tiger, which the boy had often seen and played with. The next day, however, Mr. Sage was over to the oat stubble near which the boy was found, where, in the edge of the field, by the woods, were plainly to be seen the tracks of a bear or bears and the marks made by their lying down. It was pretty clear that the "tiger dogs" were bears, and the boy was questioned closely about his interview with them. He was asked what they did, and he said that the big one came up to him and smelled of him, and he patted him; then he said he went off into the woods. The boy was then taken to the spot where he met them, and he described the occurrence with sufficient accuracy to make it certain that he had met some sort of an animal or animals there. The term "tiger dogs" was used in conversing with him, so as not to confuse or frighten him. The evidence is very conclusive that he met two bears and was not harmed by them. Sheep had recently been killed by bears in the immediate vicinity, and the bears, not knowing the superior quality of boy meat, left Bertie Gage unmolested.—Cor. Boston Globe.

—A stylish priestess in the temple of fashion looks very much like a perambulating conflagration. Lurid ribbons leap about her shapely limbs, glowing tissue envelops her head and clasps her white throat in blood-red coils; startling lines of flame dart in and out, up and down her dark garments, and even shines between the soft kid of her little boots. As this angel of light and darkness wobbles along, her plumes bobbing in the breeze, she makes a wildly exciting picture for any bucolic bull that should chance to be in her pathway.—Boston Sat. Eve. Gazette.

—In a thriving town of Michigan, a year or two ago, when the country was full of agents, and almost everybody was agent for something or other, a certain infant of that town, being blessed by the advent of a baby brother, was very inquisitive as to where the little stranger came from. Being informed that Dr. S—— had brought it, he stood in a brown study for a moment, when with the intelligent look of one who has solved a difficult matter he asked: "Say pa, is he agent for them?"

—A laboring gentleman of Arbroath recently beat his wife after his champagne. In the morning he forgot all about the quarrel, and called to his wife: "Jean, gie me some water." "Ay will I, gude man." Rising and seeing his wife's face in such a state, he said: "Lord preserve us a', lassie, whaur haa ye been?" So he was told it was himself that did it last night, on hearing which he exclaimed in agony: "Oh dear, oh dear me, it's an awful thing ye winna keep out o' harm's way."

COOKED
CORNED BEEF.
Articles are being published calculated to prejudice the public against using Cooked Corned Beef, and we would say in answer to them that in no instance has positive proof been established to show that such is the case.
Our goods are packed in a manner very similar to that of Corn, Tomatoes, Fruit and canned goods generally, (which have long been tested) and we use nothing whatever of a poisonous nature in their preparation.
In addition to our own statement we have the strong endorsement of Prof. Hosford of Cambridge, one of the most eminent Chemists in the country, who has fully tested and is familiar with the entire details of the preparation of our goods.
We would also state that we use none but the choicest of Beef that our Chicago market affords, and trust that with these statements the rapidly growing popularity of our Corned Beef may be increased.
For the information of those not knowing the fact we would state that in the process of canning there is a liability of imperfect sealing, which causes the can to expand. Meat contained in such cans is unfit for use and will be cheerfully paid for when returned to any grocer selling it.

*THE LOSS OF THE CHESAPEAKE.

BY GEORGE OGOOD.

A gallant ship with sails all spread,
Along the ocean billows sped,
While o'er her brave and hardy crew
The flags of battle proudly flew;
For she had heard the foeman's gun,
And to the fight sailed bravely on.

Slowly the hostile fr gates meet,
And shot on shot, in thunders greet,
While the full broadside's fearful roar,
Re-echoes from the rocky shore.
They grapple, soon, in desperate strife,
And many a hero yields his life.

The decks are stained with streams of gore
The youthful Lawrence' course is o'er;
And though he lies all faint and weak,
He scorns to yield the Chesapeake,
And wept to see her pennon lie
All stained and torn before his eye.

While England's cross of fairest white,
Triumphant waves in evening's light.
Yet from his closing lip
Came the command, that long shall thrill
The patriot's heart in hour of ill,
His "Don't give up the ship!"

Let those, who would our loss deplore,
Remember, that the night before
In drunkenness and glee,
Reveled the brave and reckless crew,
Until their strife and discord grew,
To open mutiny.

Thus were their chief and comrades slain
Their gallant ship was lost, in vain;
And they as hapless prisoners ta'en
Far o'er the trackless sea.
They, who from friendly hill and tower
Watched through the battle's dreadful hour
Might deem that Britain's skill and power
Had laid our bravest low;
And yet tradition's tongue must tell
That these our hapless seamen fell,
Before a mightier foe.

*The Chesapeake was taken by the Shannon, June 1st, 1813, most probably because the seamen were unfit for duty, from the dissipation of the previous night.

A Clerical Brute.

The Society of the First Congregational Church at Amherst, Mass., has begun, in secret session, the trial of Rev. Mr. Lothrop, a retired minister and one of its members, for cruelty to his family. The accused, although notified, was not present. The testimony covered the training of the three daughters from their infancy up, and was of the most revolting character, involving brutal horse-whippings for trivial offences, systematic starving, feeding on rotten meat and positive dishonesty and faithlessness in his family relations. The climax of this family history was the determination to commit suicide, last Spring, on the part of Mary, eighteen years old. The reading of a letter to her older sister to that effect before the church produced the profoundest sensation, melting many to tears. Rev. Mr. Jenkins, pastor of the church, testified how he saved the girl's life by the greatest effort and by finally taking her into his own home. Her arms were found to be all black and blue from recent beatings, and her clothing miserably insufficient, and he induced her to promise not to take morphine as long as she was cared for. It was also brought out that Mr. Lothrop's threats to relatives, who have heretofore known of his inhumanity, have kept the matter secret.

—Bishop Morley was fond of a joke. Once, when the footman was out of the way, he ordered the coachman to fetch some water from the well, to which the coachman made a grumbling objection that his business was to drive, and not to run errands. "Well, then," said Morley, "bring out the coach and four, set the pitcher inside and drive to the well;" a service which was several times repeated, to the great amusement of almost all the village.

—A would-be swell, wishing for an excuse to speak to a beautiful woman in the street with whom he was unacquainted, drew his nice white cambric handkerchief from his pocket as he approached her, and inquired if she hadn't dropped it. She glanced at the handkerchief, nodded assent, took it, thanked him, and marched on, leaving the exquisite to be laughed at by his companions.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive, and organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not know ing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

—USE—

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty-two, and I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of your Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 23d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty-two, and I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of your Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will be so good as to advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. Attacks would so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head, or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story I am. But remember I am not giving high but praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, 75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well, but I still advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mobley, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure any, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LAGONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

BUTTER IN 20 MINUTES.
Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a celebrated English recipe, and now in daily use by many of the most noted farmers in the inner counties around Philadelphia.
In hot weather this Powder makes butter much firmer and sweeter than it usually is, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, weeds, corn stalks, cotton seed, etc.; and the increased yield of butter is much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

Portsmouth Chronicle.

Concluded from last issue.

"I beg your pardon, ma'am," he began.

"I expected to find a little girl—I wouldn't have used such expressions for the world—I—"

"I comprehend," said the young lady; "don't mind in the least. I—"

"Is this your trunk, ma'am;" said Bachelor Brown, in a hurry.

"Yes, sir," said the lady, looking down.

In a few moments the two were driving toward the Hinkle's country seat. Never had Bachelor Brown found himself so close to any young lady, save his cousins, before. He was woefully confused, but somehow he liked it. How pretty she was, he thought. How pink and white; how golden her hair was. How the blue ribbons on her bonnet set it off. Then he began to wonder what she thought of him. Wondering thus, he forgot the road, and suddenly found that he had lost himself. To add to the dilemma, the storm, which had been threatening for hours, burst at the very moment when Bachelor Brown found it impossible to tell whether the left road or the right led homeward; and the horse was afraid of lightning and grew restive. Miss Amanda Dove was afraid of lightning also. She gave a little scream and clung to Bachelor Brown's coat sleeve.

Bachelor Brown looked down at her. It was such a soft, plump hand. Her eyes were so round, and so blue in her terror that he forgot she was a young lady.

"I'll take care of you," he said; a flash of lightning, a roar of thunder, an attempt on the part of the horse to run away, interrupted him.

Miss Dove turned pale. Bachelor Brown looked terrified. He cast a glance about him. Near the road was a parsonage connected with its church by a garden.

"I'll tell you what we'll do," he said. "We will ask for shelter until the storm is over. A clergyman ought to be a Christian enough to take us in."

And driving to the gate, he assisted Miss Dove to alight. As he did so, two hired men rushed out and began to attend to the horse and vehicle, and an old lady and gentleman appeared upon the steps.

"So glad you're early enough to escape the worst of the storm," said the gentleman.

"Do come in," said the old lady. "We were expecting you—for on such an occasion people always keep their appointments rain or sunshine, I believe.

"What on earth does she mean? said Bachelor Brown. "But it's very kind of them," and so while the old lady hurried Miss Dove away to dry things, he sat with the old clergyman in the parlor.

"Do you feel at all nervous, sir?" said the old gentleman after a pause.

"No, sir, thank you," said Bachelor Brown.

"Most men do, sir," said the clergyman.

"Yes, lightning is a nervous sort of thing," said Mr. Brown.

"I did not allude to the storm."

"Indeed, sir."

"But to the approaching ceremony."

"Eh? said Bachelor Brown.

"In your note you know, you told me that you were too nervous to stand before the whole congregation in the church, and preferred a quiet wedding at my house," said the old man.

Bachelor Brown stared at him in astonishment. The truth dawned upon him.

"You expected—a young couple?" he said.

"Oh, you are quite young enough, sir," said the innocent clergyman. "And I must say the young lady appears a very charming person."

Bachelor Brown felt himself blush.

"Should you think she'd make a good wife?" he asked.

"Undoubtedly," said the clergyman.

"And you think a man is—happier—for—for entering the nuptial state?" he inquired.

"No man can be happy without so doing, and it is every man's duty," said the old gentleman, believing every word he said.

"She is a dear little thing," thought Mr. Brown to himself. "I never liked a girl so much. It's very awkward to explain. I wonder whether—"

And just then Miss Dove entered the room, looking angelic without her bonnet to Mr. Brown. Bachelor Brown drew her aside.

"I have something to say to you, Miss Dove," he said.

"Dear me," said Miss Dove.

"They've made a mistake," said Bachelor Brown. "They think we—we—we—are—are people they expect—a—a—young couple, you know about to—"

"Oh, dear, do they?" whispered Miss Dove.

"Yes," said Bachelor Brown. "Now it would be very awkward to explain. And I like you so much, couldn't you like me, too, and let him do it—eh?"

"Do what, Mr. Brown?" said Amanda.

"Marry us," said Bachelor B.

"Of course not," said Amanda. "What would the Hinkles say?"

"They'd be delighted," said Richard, growing bolder. Then he put his arm around her waist.

"I don't know much about this sort of thing, but you are the only nice girl I ever saw. Please do. I'll be good to you."

"I know you are good," said Amanda, "but—"

"But then I'm ugly, eh?" asked Richard.

"Ah, no, not at all."

"Well?"

"It would be so odd."

"Well," said Bachelor Brown, "that's my fault, and they know I'm odd, my dear."

Four hours after the Hinkles heard the light wagon drive to the door, and rushed out to meet Amanda.

"We've been so alarmed," said Mrs. Hinkle.

"Such a storm?" said Rose.

"Were you frightened? asked Adelaide. But Amanda said nothing.

Uncle Richard, too, shrank back, as though he were afraid of something.

"Tell 'em, Amanda," he said.

"No; you tell them, Richard," said Amanda.

The Hinkles listened in amazement.

"What is there to tell?" asked Mrs. Hinkle. "What is all the mystery about?"

And cousin Richard answered, sheepishly:

"Nothing—only we've been getting married. This is my wife, Mrs. Brown."

It was the only explanation ever offered. The Hinkles never comprehended it. It was always a mystery to them; and though they were profuse in their congratulations, and always continued the best of friends, the fortune which might have been Rose's or Adelaide's rather troubled Mrs. Hinkle; and she always declared in family councils that she was perfectly sure Uncle Richard married out of spite to punish Adelaide for the trick she played upon him.

Daily Chronicle.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, 1876.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

Republican Electoral Conventions.

Republican conventions for the nomination of Hayes and Wheeler Presidential Electors will be held for all the Councilor Districts of the State at Concord, on Thursday, the 21st day of September at 11 o'clock A. M.

Each town and ward will be entitled to twice as many delegates as it sends representatives to the General Court; and all voters who believe that the election of Rutherford B. Hayes and William A. Wheeler will best promote the welfare of the whole country, are invited to join in the selection of such delegates.

The electoral conventions will be followed by a Grand Mass Meeting, which will assemble at 12 M., at the State House, and be addressed by some of the most distinguished republican orators of the United States. Half-fare arrangements will be made with all the railroads, and be announced seasonably.

Let the republicans of the entire State come forth in their strength, and make this what it is confidently expected to be, the largest political gathering ever held in New Hampshire. DANIEL HALL,

Chairman Republican State Committee.

B. F. PRESCOTT, Secretary.

News and Notes.

At Lawrence, Mass., on the 13th, Mrs. William Malley fell from a fourth-story window of her residence head first through a skylight into the Grand Central clothing store. She struck upon a pile of clothing on a table, breaking the table, but escaping herself with no fracture of bones or injury which is likely to prove serious. Her head and arms were badly cut, but physicians say she will recover. She was alone at the time of the fall and the occasion of it is not known.

A London correspondent writes: "We are having terrible times in town still. In fact, it is getting from worse to worse. Not an atom of anything in the shape of business is doing anywhere. Half the city is away, as it is really cheaper for men to keep away from their offices and employ a small youth or two to look after the desks and stools. A stock broker told me recently that he should be saving money if he closed his office, gave his three or four clerks a holiday—paying them the same—and went out of town for a few months himself. This depression is beginning to tell upon everything. A third of the houses and apartments, which are usually let each season at the West end, remained this summer quite empty. At Cowes, the chief yachting station, there were on last Friday no less than seventy-three yachts of various dimensions for sale or hire. As a rule, these are hired long before the London season is over." Well, why don't the English people turn out the radical administration that has made the hard times, and go in for Tilden and reform?

Mme. Ollivier, the widowed mother of the noted French duellist Ollivier, has been condemned to pay all the expenses of the suit which she had instigated to try and free her son's name from dishonor. She had better have let the tomb remain silent. There were doubts before; there are none now, as it came out very clearly that the bully was a coward and fought protected by a cuirass.

Within two years there have been three shoe shops lost in Massachusetts, so the records state, from the use of lampblack. A hand damp with perspiration, a drop of water, a bit of grease, or a sprinkle of oil will create the combustion which will start lampblack aglow like charcoal, and so ignite the package; and hence the blaze. In lampblack factories, while great precaution is taken to prevent fires, a rainy day or a sharp frosty day will start a dampness upon the inside of a window pane, and the flying particles of dust lighting upon this creates the spark, which, communicating to the pile, sends a glow of fire with wonderful rapidity through the galleries of the shop. In cleaning up the smoke galleries, if the men let a drop of perspiration fall into a pile, they instantly scoop up the black in and about where it lodges, and take it out of the house.

By an explosion at the Warren Powder Mills, near Rockland, Me., on the 13th, one man was killed and another fatally injured.

The work of charging with dynamite the rocks at the Hell Gate excavation has commenced, and will probably be completed in about two weeks.

New Hampshire Items.

The Fall term of the State Normal School was opened on the 13th, about 100 students being in attendance. Prof. Kelsey will be assisted by Miss Smiley, for a number of years a teacher at Vassar College, New York, Mrs. Rhodes, one of the old and favorite teachers, and Miss Whitcher, a graduate of Tilden Seminary. The indications now point to a very successful term.

A fatal accident occurred on the 13th, at North Concord station on the Boston, Concord and Montreal Railroad, about nine miles from Concord. Mrs. Mary E. Foster and her daughter, Hannah K. Foster of Canterbury, were driving to Fisherville with provisions for market, and when crossing the track a detached engine following the regular passenger train struck the carriage, completely demolishing it and killing the horse. The occupants were thrown out and Mrs. Foster was instantly killed. Her daughter lived four hours.

A. W. Dunton, formerly publisher of the Camden (Maine) Herald, has become associated with J. D. Wingate, in the printing of the Newmarket Advertiser.

A young hawk recently made an attack upon a cage of canary birds hanging in the door-way of a house in Laconia, with such violence as to nearly kill one of the young songsters. It was driven off by the lady of the house, and killed with a revolver.

The "Salisbury Beach Gathering" took place on the 13th, and was attended by the largest crowd that ever collected there. Caleb Cushing, Congressmen Tarbox and Thompson and Hon. George B. Loring made speeches.

Hon. Nathaniel B. Baker, who was governor of New Hampshire in 1863, died at Des Moines, Iowa, on the 13th, aged 57 years.

Political.

A week ago we were told that Tilden would give to the democratic post mortem convention of New York a full explanation of the income-tax perjury business. Now it is to be made public in a few days; but the style of defence is "foreshadowed" in the New York Herald and (if that paper is correct) will be that Tilden lent his two brothers a good deal of money in the perjury year, and lost it all, which reduced his income to $7118. If the great reformer has no more satisfactory explanation than that to offer, he had better not offer any.

The Maine election news is good reading, and improves with age. On Thursday the republican majority had grown to 15,289, in a total of 125,771. There were about ninety small towns to be heard from, but they will not greatly increase the majority. In the First District the majority for Mr. Reed (with two towns to hear from) is 953; Burleigh received only 116 votes; total vote of the district (without the two towns before mentioned,) 31,065.

We are not giving as much attention to the democratic candidate for Vice President as we expected, but we will say this much for him, that so far as we know, he paid his income tax.—Burlington Hawkeye.

What is the matter with the New York Sun? This bright Tilden luminary is not at all satisfied with the outlook and raps Uncle Sammy sharply for his bungling management of the campaign. It informs him that his chief representatives are a set of "nincompoops," and this has caused "great dissatisfaction"—especially among visiting democrats from other States. The Sun is anxious that Tilden shall at once "bounce" the crazy-headed snobs by whom he is now surrounded and advised, stop exhibiting his spleen towards democrats who will not meekly bow to his will, and choose men of "weight and character to the more immediate representation of him in the campaign." Mr. Dana is really vexed. He had set his heart on a democratic triumph, and now feels that he is doomed to disappointment.—New Haven Union.

Mr. Dorsheimer says that Governor Tilden is preparing a reply to his "income" matter. It will be to the effect that from 1857 Tilden had to redeem the New Lebanon homestead, and that he advanced half a million dollars to his brothers. The "homestead," we understand, is worth about $10,000. But if a thousand times this sum were paid for it, so much the worse for Tilden. If Tilden made $100,000, which he invested in a "homestead," and $500,000 which he invested with his brothers in the whiskey business, it is a pretty plain admission that he should have paid taxes upon it. Five hundred thousand dollars is $320,000 more than he paid taxes on for the ten years in which the income tax was in operation. If a man has an income of a half million dollars and then chooses to burn up his greenbacks, that is his business, the Government was entitled to its tax upon it, the same as if the owner invested it in a distillery or in bonds and mortgages. One thing is very evident, that Uncle Sammy had better do his own talking, and manage to shut Brother Dorsheimer up in some way.—Brooklyn Argus, (dem.)

Sam McBride, of Pueblo county, Colorado, is a reformer. He was a delegate to the St. Louis convention and a member of the committee to inform Tilden of his nomination. He was recorder of Pueblo county and treasurer of the school fund. He has just run away with $13,000 of that fund.

The democratic managers in Washington endeavored to offset the influence of the glorious republican victories in Vermont and Maine, so damaging to democratic prospects, by announcing that Carl Schurz had been "shelved" or "muzzled" by the republican managers. The latter simply say there is not a word of truth in the story, which was "made out of whole cloth." The same democratic discoverers of mare's nests announce that Bristow has withdrawn from the republican canvass, "for the same reasons that Carl Schurz withdrew." Schurz hasn't withdrawn or been withdrawn yet, and there is no proof—save the assertions of the democratic fuglers, which are mighty poor proof of anything—that either Schurz or Bristow intend to withdraw.

The democratic State convention of New York, at its post mortem meeting on the 13th, nominated Lucius Robinson for governor, by acclamation. There was no shouting for "a life-long democrat," this time, as there was at the Seymour-nominating convention; the Tammany "reformers" evidently consider the chance of their carrying New York not worth quarreling about. John Kelly resigned his position as candidate for elector at large, and Horatio Seymour was nominated in his place. The democratic papers say Robinson should not be called a liberal republican but only a liberal democrat. All the same,—he won't be governor of New York next year.

Pawning a Daughter.

We read in the London Globe: It appears that, in some parts of India, an editor, when he is "hard up," and has pawned or sold everything he has, can fall back upon a last resource, provided he be a married man and have children, and have no scruples. He can pawn his own daughter! At first sight the very mention of such a possibility in an Englishman—in an Englishman in India, amongst foreigners who have to judge of England by the specimens of our race they see there—and in an Englishman of education, as we presume even in a remote Indian province an editor should be, seems utterly absurd. But the simple fact is, that a man—if we can call him so—of the name of Verner, editor of the Rajpootana News, appears to have pledged a daughter of his, with the consent of his wife, and all in due (or quasi) legal form. The documents relating to this transaction have fallen into the had of the editor of the Star of India, a new paper published in Ajmere, and he has most properly published it, and drawn the attention of the Government of India, and his brethren of the Press in India, to it. In the course of his article occurs the following paragraph, which speaks for itself, and has been widely quoted in India:

"We subjoin a copy of the bond by which Mr. Verner pawned his own daughter Alice for 100r:

No. E. 766487.

I acknowledge to have received as a loan from Mr. John Mason, of Kurar, the sum of rupees one hundred, for the security of which I leave with him my daughter Alice Verner; upon payment of the above mentioned sum, he the said John Mason will return my daughter back to me again. Sighed at Kurar on the seventh day of May, 1875.

(Sd.) CHARLES H. VERNER, Father.

(Sd.) BRIDGET VERNER, Mother.

This Mr. Verner is the present editor of the Rajapootana News; he never paid the bond, consequently the girl was abandoned, and although no punishment is provided by the Penal Code for pawning a girl, there is punishment for abandoning a daughter, and under this section Mr. Verner is liable."

When such abominable scandals as these obtain wide currency in India, we know what we must expect. The acute Bengalee or Parsee stores up in his brain all such incidents; and when they become numerous he recalls them to our recollection, perhaps just when we least desire it. One of the great traits of Hindu character is a love for offspring. And here natives are told of a European, who, they imagined, was a leader of English opinion in one part of India, pawning his daughter for a miserable ten pounds, and afterwards deserting her entirely. The story is a most humiliating one.

A Bull and a Balloon.

Earth, air and sea, each has its dangers which may be expected, and in a degree prepared for; but when they interchange, so to speak, and a ship at sea is run into by a meeting-house, as it is said happened years ago off the Massachusetts coast, the sense of incongruity makes it extremely ludicrous. Scarcely less funny is a recent occurrence in England, where a balloon that ascended from the Alexandra Palace, and had escaped all the dangers of its natural element, was savagely attacked by a bull on its descent in a meadow in Kent. One of the aeronauts threw out the last two bags of ballast, and the balloon rose in time to escape the horns of the bull. While goring the bags and scattering their contents, the animal's horns came in contact with the grapnel rope, setting free the balloon and throwing one of the men out of the car. He seized the netting and was hauled into the car before the balloon had ascended many hundred feet. The air-ship finally anchored a mile to leeward of the bull. The animal evidently regarded the monster as a destructive comet, and intended to perish in the defence of his native planet.

—Rev. P. A. Nordell, pastor of the Baptist church in Lee, Mass., spends his vacation in frescoing the church, and does it, too, in a very workmanlike manner.

—As Mr. Oldfashion's children were frolicking while their father was lounging in his Sunday nap, Uncle Peter suggested: "Charley, your father wants to sleep, and you had better keep quiet." "I've looked out for that," replied young hopeful; "I thought perhaps we should be noisy, and I went in and stuffed his ears with cotton while he was asleep." And he went on with his sky-larking.

A Remedy That Defies Competition.

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters defy competition. Of the host of rival tonics that have cropped up during its long career, not one has gained and retained such a large share of public favor, though many have enjoyed an ephemeral popularity. The reason is this, that whereas many of these medicines were advertised to perform cures of the most startling nature, they have when tested, almost invariably turned out to be of little or no value, while the great invigorant, whose reputation they were intended to rival, has never disappointed those who have placed their confidence in it. It has vindicated in the amplest manner its claims to be considered a positive specific remedy for liver complaint, dyspepsia, malarious fevers, debility, constipation, and numerous other maladies arising from general weakness and disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels.

The new Atlas Hotel, Philadelphia, Pa., has the most superior location of all the Centennial hotels near the grounds.

"Hark, from the tomb a doleful sound." 'Tis the long train of consumptives, going down to untimely graves. They might be saved to earth—cured—by Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam.

SIMPLE AND INEXPENSIVE as it is, GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP is a most efficient remedy for certain obnoxious diseases, to be cured of which those afflicted with them often spend thousands of dollars to no purpose.

Flashing in their pearly sheen,
From the glorious coraline,
See those teeth untarnished!

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot. dawtu1277

JOTTINGS.

The U. S. S. Tallapoosa left the navy yard Thursday with a full cargo of stores for the different navy yards. She also takes the boats made at this yard for the U. S. S. Essex, now fitting out at Boston.

Republican Electoral Caucuses in Wards Four and One, this evening at 7:30 o'clock. Republican meeting at the Court House to organize a company of Hayes and Wheeler Guards, this evening at 8 o'clock. See calls in another column.

A large number of people intended to go to the Shoals in steamer Appledore on Thursday, but she did not make her usual trip, but went to Boston with a number of boarders who have been at Appledore all summer. To-day at 11 she starts from the wharf on her last trip for the season, and will leave the Shoals at 3 o'clock. Fare for the round trip, 50 cents.

Gen. and Mrs. Tom Thumb's levee at the Temple was largely attended, Thursday.

The Republicans of Ward Two on Thursday evening chose the following delegates to the Electoral Convention: John H. Bailey, Robert C. Peirce, Thomas E. Call, Joseph P. Morse, Washington Freeman, Samuel Adams, William H. Sise, Alfred F. Howard.

Parlor Games and Recreations.

There is a way of making our homes a hundred fold more attractive than they are now. Those parents cannot expect to keep their children away from outside dissipations unless they make the domestic circles brighter than anything they can find outside of it. Do not, then, sit in your homes surly and unsympathetic and with a half-condemnatory look, because of the sportfulness of your children. You were young once yourself; let your children be young. Because your eyes are dim and your ankles are stiff do not denounce sportfulness in those whose eyes are in the first lustre, and in whose foot there is the bounding joy of robust health. We thank God that in our drawing-rooms and in our parlors there are innumerable games and sports which have not upon them the least taint of iniquity. Light up your homes with innocent hilarities. Do not sit down with the rheumatism wondering how children can go on so. Rather thank God that their hearts are so light, and their laughter is so free, and that their cheeks are so ruddy, and that their expectations are so radiant. The night will come soon enough, and the heart-break, and the pang and the desolation—it will come soon enough for the children. But when the storm actually clouds the sky, it will be time enough for you to haul out your reef tackles. Carry, then, into your homes not only the innocent sports and games which are the the inventions of our own day, but the games which come down with the sportfulness of all the past ages. Chess and charades, and tableaux, and battledore, and calisthenics and all those amusements which the young people of our homes know so well how to contrive. Then there will be the parlor socialities—groups of people assembled in our homes with wit and mimicry and joviality, filling the room with joy from the door to the mantle and from the carpet to the ceiling. Oh, is there any exhilaration like a score of genial souls in one room, each one adding a contribution of his own individual merriment to the aggregation of general hilarity!—Exchange.

Brought to Terms.

"Sweetcake William," cried Judge Cox, of Virginia, yesterday.

"Yer," answered a slight young gentleman, rising to his feet and stroking a dyed moustache with a hand burdened with rings.

"You are charged with assault and battery," said His Honor, "in having belted a man over the head at the Diamond Grotto Saloon last night."

"Jesso," calmly answered Sweetcake William. "Ye see, Jedge, I walked back to the game and took out a twenty in two-bit chips. I bet five on the four and six to win, and coppered the queen to take the eight with two and a half. Then I put down two on the ace straight, for I was bound to make a scratch, being down to my seams, as it were, with the hashman and the landlady. The five on the four and six was raked in. I got away with my bet on the queen and eight, and looked around to see how the ace was gettin' along, when I saw a stiff walkin' away with it fur a sleeper. I didn't say nothin,' but took it outen his fist, all in good natur, and won a ten by copperin' the jack. By this time the deal was nearly out, and the deuce, tray, nine, eight, seven, and ten spot was cases. 'Copper the odd and take the even,' sez I, layin' down all I had—just twenty-eight big dollars. Well, yer Honor—"

"My very good fellow," interrupted the Judge, "you are speaking Greek to me. I know nothing of this jargon."

"What's that, Jedge?" asked William, slightly puzzled.

"I say, my good fellow, that this hasn't anything to do with your case of assault and battery. You gamblers are becoming too turbulent, altogether. I have a good mind to make an example of you, sir. It would be well for men of your class to remember that you are allowed to carry on your immoral trade merely upon sufferance. When civilization, sir, advances somewhat in these western outposts, the country will be mortified by the spectacle of legalized vice which now disgraces the State of Nevada, and renders it so difficult a task to keep the rising generation from following the evil examples which are constantly before their eyes. Proceed, sir, but drop your professional slang, and remember that the Court knows nothing about the game of faro or any other gambling device."

"Oh, ye don't," said William, "Pr'aps ye don't call to mind the night you and me snatched a $15 sleeper when a drunk didn't savy enough to pick up a split on a bet of thirty. Pr'aps ye don't remember when I staked you at three this mornin' over in the Dew Drop Inn? Pr'aps you and Jake Small ain't snacks in ropin' in snoozers? Pr'aps——"

"Silence!" roared the Court, glaring at the grinning crowd of caricatures outside the rail. "There seems to be nothing in this case, William. You leave the Court to infer that you were being cheated and you lifted the stiff under the ear. You're discharged."—Virginia (Nev.) News.

Management of Kerosene Lamps.

The following directions for using kerosene lamps are issued by a famous lamp manufacturer, and seem worth publishing for general information:

Dry the wick before the fire. Use none but best oil. Fill the container with oil each time before lighting. Cut the wick the same curve as the top of the cone. When the wick is well saturated with oil, light with wax taper, turn it below the cone until the flame appears only about half an inch above cone, put on chimney, and then turn the pinion slowly until the flame is the required height. The wick must always be below the cone when burning. The flame must never be allowed to remain less than three-quarters of an inch above the cone, or the lamp will smell. Cleanliness is imperative to the well burning of the lamp. Keep all perforations perfectly clear from wick cuttings, paper ash, etc.; all burners take to pieces to gain access to interior. To extinguish light, turn it down until a small blue flame appears; it will then begin to flicker, and eventually go out.

—Cartouche, the notorious French robber, who flourished during the last century, on being told that a young man was desirous of becoming a member of his band, put the aspirant under examination, and asking him where he had served, was answered, "Two years with an attorney, and six months under an inspector of police in Paris." "Then," said Cartouche, with transport, "I shall consider it the same thing as if you had ridden all that time in my troop;" and the young man took rank accordingly.

—Five of the foreign commissioners in Philadelphia, have become engaged to girls in the city. It proves to be a city of more than "brotherly love."

—A Nevada man who does not carry a revolver is called reckless.

COOKED
CORNED BEEF.
Articles are being published calculated to prejudice the public against using Cooked Corned Beef, and we would say in answer to them that in no instance has positive proof been established to show that such is the case.
Our goods are packed in a manner very similar to that of Corn, Tomatoes, Fruit and canned goods generally, (which have long been tested) and we use nothing whatever of a poisonous nature in their preparation.
In addition to our own statement we have the strong endorsement of Prof. Hosford of Cambridge, one of the most eminent Chemists in the country, who has fully tested and is familiar with the entire details of the preparation of our goods.
We would also state that we use none but the choicest of Beef that our Chicago market affords, and trust that with these statements the rapidly growing popularity of our Corned Beef may be increased.
For the information of those not knowing the fact we would state that in the process of canning there is a liability of imperfect sealing, which causes the can to expand. Meat contained in such cans is unfit for use and will be cheerfully paid for when returned to any grocer selling it.

The Latest Idea in Pets.

One of the oddest pets that ever existed, says a lady writing to the Arcadian belongs to a little girl on Seventy-first street. A visitor met her at the gate last summer with what she suppposed to be a funch-box under her arm. To the lady's surprise a snake-like head ran out a litlte way from the lunch-box, and the pet turned out to be a common mud-turtle. Some one had brought the creature home a year or so before, and let it loose in the garden. When the children began to play there, out from its hole came the turtle, and singing out this child, gave evidence of intelligence beyond belief. The turtle was called Pedro, and the little girl had but to call that name two or three times at the back door, to see the old box waddling up from the bottom of the garden directly. Any one else approaching or attempting familiarities, the clumsy feet were drawn promptly in, and the wise old head retired within its shell, and no sign of life would Pedro give. But let the child take it, and the claws close around one of her fingers, and the head run out to its fullest extent of neck, would be waggled against her with every token of love a turtle could give.

There came a time during the summer when the little mistress was sick. The mother sitting in the dusk, thought she saw a dark object moving in the room, and shortly after, hearing a bumping on the stairs, went out, and found it was Pedro returning to his hole in the yard. Each day, for weeks, with the opening of the outside door, in would waik Pedro. The girl generally found him witing on the steps. He would go to the stairs, stand upright in a corner, and setting his little feet into the stair above, pull himself up. This operation he would repeat until he reached the landing. If the door into the sick child's room was closed, he waited patiently to be allowed to enter. When taken up and laid beside its mistress, it made no effort to move, but laid for hours with its solemn head wagging from side to side. At night it waddled to the stairs, and then the racket commenced, as it fell off each step in a clumsy fashion, sounding like that famous clock in the Ingoldsby legends that went hopping after Mr. Ap Jones.

—This is the obituary of the late General Jeff Thompson, in the New Orleans Times: "General Jeff Thompson is dead. At St. Joseph, Mo., at 5 o'clock last evening, that genial, whole-souled, devil-may-care personification of eccentricity climbed the golden stair. Known and very generally liked the length and breadth of the land, scarcely an act of his life challenged criticism, and certainly none was provocative of lasting enmity."

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lungs trying climate of New England

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

—USE—

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and write you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them, direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship in the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. Remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS are put up only by the AMERICAN MEDICINE CO., Manchester, N. H., THOMAS W. LANE, Agent.

LINCOLN BUTTER POWDER.
Good Fresh Butter All The Year Round.
BUTTER IN 20 MINUTES.
Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a celebrated English recipe, and now in daily use by many of the most noted farmers in the butter counties around Philadelphia.
In hot weather this Powder makes butter much firmer and sweeter than it usually is, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, wild onions, cottonseed, etc; and the increased yield of butter much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

A Greek Wedding.

A correspondent of the London Standard says: I was fortunate enough to be in Patras on the occasion of a Greek wedding, which is an interesting and peculiar ceremony. Weddings among the Greeks are for the most part solemnized in the evening at home, and from the nature of the rite must be very trying to the persons principally concerned. A small table is placed in the centre of the room, on one side of which stand the bride and bridegroom, each holding a long lighted candle, on the opposite side the officiating priests. Behind the former the best man takes his place; he has an important part to fill in the ceremony and is ranked as a relation from the time of the marriage. The room is of course brilliantly lighted, and the numerous guests throng as closely as they can toward the centre in order to gain the better view. Many prayers are chanted by the priests and their assistants, unintelligible even to the ears of a classical scholar, with the exception of the often repeated, "kyrie Eleison," which forms so prominent a part in almost every Greek service. There is a very elaborate ritual—the signing of bride and bridegroom on the forehead three times with the ring, the blessing of two wreaths which are afterward placed on their heads by the best man, and, at a later part of the rite, interchanged over and over again, the drinking of wine three times from the same cup, the kissing by both of the office book and of the priest's hand who has made them one, and finally, the strangest part of the ceremony, when the clergy, closely followed by the bride and bridegroom hand in hand, the best man and the nearest relatives of the newly married couple, make the tour of the table three times. This is said to be a relic of heathen days, while the drinking of the wine from the same cup has been continued from the Jews.

When the ceremony, which lasts three quarters of an hour, is over and the young couple have been duly kissed and congratulated by their assembled friends, the festive part of the evening begins. Servants appear on the scene, carrying large trays heaped with bonbons, sugar plums and artificial fruit of different sorts. These are presented to the guests, who are expected to help themselves liberally and to take to their friends at home as much as they care to carry. Cooling drinks of various kinds also brought in never-ending supply, and the evening ends, sometimes with a ball, sometimes with the departure of the bride and bridegroom for their own home.

Courtship and Marriage.

It is a singular fact, says a Parisian writer, that a man generally requires very different qualities in a wife from those he admires in a sweetheart. While a lover, he expected to see his future wife neatly and stylishly dressed whenever he chose to call, either morning or evening, and the girl busied her little brain all day in efforts to please his taste. If he left town for a few days, he sent letters full of sweet nothings that filled her soul with joy. Then came delightful rambles in the moonlight, and hours spent in charming tete-a-tetes after the family had retired, when the two saw no one but each other in their world of love.

Alas! that such bliss must ever be dispelled. Time brought preparations for the approaching wedding; for this devoted couple imagined that their happiness could not be complete until the hymeneal knot was tied.

So the wedding and honeymoon were soon over, and the parties settled into the matter-of-fact part of life. The bride knows nothing of housekeeping. Since her school days she has spent her time in studying the tastes of her lover, which certainly seemed to incline toward dress and sentimentality.

Now, alas! she discovers that his stomach demands food of the best quality; and because she knows not how to cater to his palate his love seems to be waning. While he is vainly trying to appease his hunger with sour bread and burned steak, little does he appreciate the sweet nonsense and honeyed words which used to be so satisfying to his sentimental nature.

Ah, men are so unreasonable! They expect to find every quality of excellence in the women they marry, yet have not penetration sufficient so choose the most worthy. To shine in society, to exhibit every feminine accomplishment, both at home and abroad, are duties which they require in the women they marry; and what have they to give in return? It seems impossible that those delicate attentions which characterize the lover should be so withdrawn by the husband.

The other day, when I heard a neighbor demanding his dinner in not the most pleasant tone, I thought: "Can it be possible that he ever played the ardent lover to that pale, dejected woman, whom he calls his wife?"

The lover who could scarcely tear himself away from his sweetheart at midnight is the same man who now leaves his wife to spend her evenings as best she may, while he passes the hours in doubtful enjoyment.

Ah! how soon men forget the solemn vow to love and cherish till death! And how many women regret that the charming delusions of courtship were ever exchanged for the unpleasant realities of marriage.

Daily Chronicle.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1876.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

Republican Electoral Conventions.

Republican conventions for the nomination of Hayes and Wheeler Presidential Electors will be held for all the Councilor Districts of the State at Concord, on Thursday, the 21st day of September at 11 o'clock A. M.

Each town and ward will be entitled to twice as many delegates as it sends representatives to the General Court; and all voters who believe that the election of Rutherford B. Hayes and William A. Wheeler will best promote the welfare of the whole country, are invited to join in the selection of such delegates.

The electoral conventions will be followed by a Grand Mass Meeting, which will assemble at 12 M., at the State House, and be addressed by some of the most distinguished republican orators of the United States. Half-fare arrangements will be made with all the railroads, and be announced seasonably.

Let the republicans of the entire State come forth in their strength, and make this what it is confidently expected to be, the last great political gathering ever held in New Hampshire.

DANIEL HALL,
Chairman Republican State Committee.
B. F. PRESCOTT, Secretary.

Wonderful Metamorphoses.

It is strange how very greatly circumstances alter cases in the eyes of the democracy. When Carl Schurz was a Union general, and later a leading republican, he was "only a Dutchman" anyway; then he came out for Greeley and opposed Grant, and at once became "the great German statesman" and irreproachable gentleman and patriot; then he took the stump for Hayes and Wheeler, and immediately the democratic press discovered that he was but a venal corruptionist after all, and had sold himself for a promised Ministership to Germany in case Hayes should be elected,—and that his influence with the Germans was nix, and his opinion not worth noticing. More recently it was reported that he had written a letter to a friend in which he predicted that Ohio and Indiana would go democratic, and at once every democratic paper in the country hastened to quote that letter as proof positive that the republicans could not carry those States; but now it turns out that he never wrote any such letter, and that what he did write was to his own newspaper, the Westliche Post of St. Louis, saying that it behooves the republicans to redouble their efforts in both those States—which is good, sound advice and should be and doubtless will be followed, with the result of satisfactory republican victories in both of them. What the democrats will say of Mr. Schurz now we need not speculate upon.

The Metric System.

At Creedmoor terminated in favor of the American team, which won by twenty-two points, the total score for the two days' shooting being as follows:

American	3,126
Irish	3,104
Australian	3,062
Scotch	3,061
Canadian	2,929

The score at the close of the first day's long-rang shooting was as follows:

Scotch	1585
Irish	1582
American	1577
Australian	1545
Canadian	1490

There was some wonderful marksmanship displayed during the two days' contest. On the first day, Johnson, of the Irish team, made fifteen bull's-eyes at 800 yards; Mitchell, of the Scotch team, made fourteen bull's-eyes at 1000 yards, out of fifteen shots, scoring 73 out of a possible 75. On the second day, Milner, of the Irish team, made fifteen bull's-eyes at 1000 yards,—the greatest shooting feat ever recorded.

The news of the victory was received with excitement and enthusiasm in New York City. Heavy bets were lost and won on the result. The Centennial trophy is entirely original in design, is seven and a half feet high and two feet wide. The banner proper is of iron, inlaid with gold tracery, with the following words in silver letters: "In the name of the United States of America to the riflemen of the world." The banner is suspended from copper rods, above which is a delicately wrought bar of copper inscribed "Palma." Over the whole is a burnished copper eagle, grasping a laurel sprig and arrows in his talons. The prize is to be shot for in each subsequent year upon the terms on which it was won, and each member of the winning team is to receive a medal representing the trophy and also the medal of the United States Centennial Commission.

The International Rifle Match.

There has been recently incorporated in Boston an association of teachers and others interested in the introduction of the Metric weights and measures, under the name of the American Metric Bureau. Art. 2 of its constitution reads as follows:

"The object of this Bureau shall be to disseminate information concerning the Metric System; to urge its early adoption; and to bring about actual introductions wherever practicable. To this end it will secure the delivery of addresses; publish articles; circulate books, pamphlets and charts; distribute scales and measures; introduce the practical teaching of the system in schools; and in all proper ways, as far as the means at its disposal will allow, the Bureau will urge the matter upon the attention of the American people till they shall join the rest of the world in the exclusive use of the International Decimal Weights and Measures."

This Bureau already includes among its members many of our prominent educators, and its numbers are rapidly increasing. An office has been opened at 13 Tremont place, Boston, and as soon as suitable arrangements can be made, branch offices are to be opened in New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and other central localities, where all persons interested are invited to call or to write freely in regard to any matter pertaining to the work of the Bureau.

News and Notes.

Commodore Vanderbilt is very sick again, and it is not thought he can recover.

The Centennial travel from the East is becoming immense. Trains and boats are now crowded, staterooms are engaged one or two weeks ahead, and there is really danger that people will be turned aside from the manifest duty to see the great Exposition by the trouble and annoyance incident to the journey thither. The Old Colony and Norwich lines are putting on extra steamers, and we suppose the convenient and popular Stonington line will increase its facilities by additional boats if needed for the comfortable accommodation of its patrons.

Mrs. William Malley, who fell from the fourth story of her residence in Lawrence, died from her injuries. Concussion of the brain was the cause of her death.

A report comes from St. Thomas, W. I., to the effect that the American barque Idella Berry, Captain Turner, is missing. The captain was found dead. The Idella Berry was chartered at St. Thomas to load with salt at Turk's Island for New York.

Provisions are reported scarce in the Fiji Islands, and there is much suffering in consequence. We must send those benighted people more bibles and missionaries—especially missionaries.—Norristown Herald.

Among the immigrant passengers by the steamship Leipzig on Saturday was a Swiss family of seventeen persons, which would seem to possess resource enough to populate a Western American State with far less hardship than the famous "Swiss Family Robinson" experienced when cast away on a tropical island in establishing their little patriarchal government. The head of the present Swiss family is Alfred Mathys, aged 42 years. His wife Veronica is one year his senior. The two oldest of the fifteen children are Marie and Alfred, twins, aged 20 years. The ages of the others follow in pretty regular order—viz.: 18 years, 17, 16, 14, 11, 10, 9, 8, 6, 4, 3 and 2 years, ending with a baby of 9 months. They all started West, and will form a fair nucleus upon which to found a Swiss settlement. Of the juniors eight are males and seven females.—Baltimore Sun.

At Rowley, Mass., on the 13th, Frank Manuel, 69 years old, from the Quincy Sailors' Home, while visiting an old shipmate fell down stairs and broke his neck, killing him instantly.

Sol. Smith Russell, the famous comedian, was married to Miss Alice M. Adams of Boston on Wednesday.

"Life and character of Rutherford B. Hayes; by William D. Howells; with a biographical sketch of William A. Wheeler, and portraits of both the republican candidates;" 1 vol., 12mo, cloth, $1; paper covers, 75 cents. In this volume Mr. Howells has not only given a clear and succinct account of Governor Hayes' public life, including his career at the Bar, in the Army, in Congress, and as the Governor of Ohio, but has also been enabled, from the ample original materials at his command, to present a view of his character and personal qualities which will surprise and delight all who peruse and gain their first knowledge of the man from it. An interesting glimpse is given of his opinions on the great questions which absorbed public attention during his early manhood; while his convictions on the living topics of to-day are shown by extracts from letters, speeches, and his private journal to be of no mushroom growth, but to have been held and emphatically expressed years before these subjects came into the arena of politics. The biographical sketch of Mr. Wheeler has been prepared by an able and competent hand, and adds to the value and interest of the book at this time when both its subjects are so prominently before the public. It is issued in cloth and paper covers. The paper-covered edition is especially adapted for campaign clubs. Address H. O. Houghton and Company, Boston.

It appears that both the silly young girls who took poison in Willington, Conn., left notes to their parents, but as the contents are not known outside of their families, no certain reason for the act can be stated. The surviving young lady states, however, that she was induced to take the poison by Rosie, who was an intimate friends of hers, and who thought that she had no other friends, and that every one seemed to feel unkindly toward her. She also says that they sang "Nearer, my God, to thee," and then Rosie poured out the fatal draught in a wine-glass, taking part of the contents and giving the rest to her, which she took. In a short time they were found writhing in convulsions on the floor of their room. Owing to the distance from which remedies could be obtained it is somewhat remarkable that one even was saved. Poor young fools.

The Richmond (Va.,) Enquirer, a very prominent democratic journal, which had reached its 70th volume, has suspended publication, "in view," as it explains, "of the resignation of the editors, in consequence of difficulties in connection with the business management."

Yellow fever is increasing at Savannah.

Politics.

Gov. Chamberlain, of South Carolina, was nominated on the first ballot, having 88 votes to 34 for all others.

"What! an atheist!" screamed a red-nosed democrat, while Colonel Ingersoll was speaking the other night, "An atheist, is he? No such Godless man as that can come into my household, or teach me how to vote;" and he indignantly went out and won $100 on the first turn of a neighboring faro bank.—New York Commercial.

The editor of the Bangor Commercial is a genius. With the republican majority in Maine staring him in the face, he shouts that the Maine election "seals the doom of Hayes and Wheeler and indicates the triumphant election of Tilden and Hendricks!" Mark Tapley is nowhere.

A large pile of brush-wood, as big as a barn, which Hon. William Aspinwall had collected upon his estate in Brookline, Mass., to be burned in the celebration of a democratic victory in Maine, was set on fire by some boys about half-past nine on Tuesday night, and entirely consumed. It made a splendid blaze, but Mr. Aspinwall didn't like the appropriation of his pile under the circumstances, and offers a reward of $100 for the detection of the incendiaries.

The democratic Courier-Journal calls Goss and Allen "two republican prize-fighters," and says that they are "perfect types of northern Christianity and civilization." The editor must have got more water than usual in his whiskey the day he wrote that; but then his whole article has the true antebellum "Southern-ring." Goss and Allen are both Englishmen, and neither they nor any other prize-fighters in the United States are anything but democrats politically; and if the facts could be got at there is no doubt it would be found that not a man of the swarm of thieves, gamblers, bullies and brothel-keepers that went into Kentucky to see the Goss-Allen fight and incidentally do a little stealing, ever voted any other than the democratic ticket.

The Dallas (Texas) Herald, in noticing the cold-blooded murder of seven persons near Montague, Texas, warns Gov. Coke that unless he shows his ability and inclination to suppress the existing lawlessness, the people must call on the national government for protection.

The New York Times intimates to Mr. Tilden's friends that if they do not like its repeated charges that Governor Tilden has committed perjury and fraud, it stands ready to justify in a suit for libel. But Slippery Sam will risk no such defence as that; he would rather hire his Literary Bureau to write a defense of him for the Financial Chronicle.

Tilden dictated the nomination of the democratic candidate for Governor of Massachusetts. His adherents were black in the face at the mere hint of the untrue story that Governor Hayes had spoken favorably of one of the candidates for the republican nomination for Governor of New York.

By the way—Mr. Proctor Knott—has anybody heard aught of him since Congress adjourned? If some of his friends will kindly send us the great statesman's address, there is a sick man in the next room we would like to have kicked.—Burlington Hawkeye.

Timothy Cooney, a republican of Rockford, N. Y., persisted in putting up a flag pole on his barn and hoisting thereon a Hayes and Wheeler flag, although warned not to commit such an outrage on the feelings of his Tilden-reform neighbors. So his barn was burned, as had been promised. The radical tyrants will find out at last that the reform democracy are determined to have peace, even if they have to assassinate every republican in the South and stone every republican procession in the North to secure it.

Rumors are afloat in Massachusetts that Charles Francis Adams will decline to act as figure-head for the democracy of Massachusetts in order to help the cause of Tilden in other States. The matter will probably be settled in a few days; in the meantime the Massachusetts "reformers" are in an agony of suspense.

It is about time the republicans of Maine stopped sending in reports of their majority being further increased, or the republicans will yet win a victory even on the Boston Post's reckoning. On Friday morning the majority had climbed up to 16,598, with fifty-four small towns to hear from. The House of Representatives will be 120 republicans to thirty-one democrats; the Senate, twenty-nine republicans to two democrats. The legislative majority on joint ballot will be 116; last year it was thirty. There was a scattering soft-money vote in Androscoggin County of about 400, which is not included in the above estimate.

The Logansport (Ind.) Star has kicked the democratic ticket overboard and come out squarely for the republican ticket.

A one-armed republican candidate in Ohio was said by the democrats to have lost his arm in a threshing machine. Colonel Comly, of the Ohio State Journal, was called in as a referee and gave this characteristic decision: "The threshing machine that wounded Van Sickle was located on the top of South Mountain, September 14, 1862. Did any of those fellows who are talking about Van Sickle ever feel its teeth?"

An eminent political authority in New York said the other day: Tilden's campaign opens brash. It will break down like Greeley's, in two months, and be given up in October. The sly vote will be dropped for Hayes. Many a man smiles deferentially at the name of Tilden whose ballot will be cast against him. No person of property, or decent lover of order, or apprehensive for his own life will vote a ticket nominated and carried by a sale to the rebels. This is the rebellion fought out within the Union, and that is patent to enough people who might be captured by the idea of the great reformer.—New Orleans Republican.

The Marysville Eagle, a democratic journal, makes this startling statement in regard to the security of life in Kentucky; "It is safe to say that since the war there have been three thousand homicides in Kentucky, and the hangings have scarcely been one per cent. of the number of murders."

Gen. Farnsworth, who has been stumping Indiana for Tilden and Hendricks, is reported as substantially giving up that State. He admits that the charges against Tilden in connection with his income returns have had a very marked effect on the minds of many doubtful voters.

The Indianapolis Journal asserts that it has positive evidence that the work of importing democratic voters from Kentucky to Indiana has already begun, the plan being to colonize them in democratic counties where they may become somewhat known before the election and gain a sort of residence.

A saloon keeper in Erie, Pa., exhibits the following above his door.

"Tilden, Hendricks, and Reform, 10 drinks for fifty cents."

—"How beautiful it worked!" exclaimed a Nevada widow who had just been to see her husband hanged.

—The girls of Gilead, Conn., have formed a base ball club and challenged the men to play them.

A Remedy That Defies Competition.

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters defy competition. Of the host of rival tonics that have cropped up during its long career, not one has gained and retained such a large share of public favor, though many have enjoyed an ephemeral popularity. The reason is this, that whereas many of these medicines were advertised to perform cures of the most startling nature, they have when tested, almost invariably turned out to be of little or no value, while the great invigorant, whose reputation they were intended to rival, has never disappointed those who have placed their confidence in it. It has vindicated in the amplest manner its claims to be considered a positive specific remedy for liver complaint, dyspepsia, malarious fevers, debility, constipation, and numerous other maladies arising from general weakness and disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels.

The new Atlas Hotel, Philadelphia, Pa., has the most superior location of all the Centennial hotels near the grounds.

"Hark, from the tomb a doleful sound." 'Tis the long train of consumptives, going down to untimely graves. They might be saved to earth—cured—by Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam.

SIMPLE AND INEXPENSIVE as it is, GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP is a most efficient remedy for certain obnoxious diseases, to be cured of which those afflicted with them often spend thousands of dollars to no purpose.

JOTTINGS.

There will be divine service on Rollins' wharf on Sunday afternoon at four o'clock, weather permitting.

The Bow Mission services will be resumed on Sunday afternoon, Sept. 24th, at Mechanic's Hall.

Messrs. Hill & Carr, whose boot and shoe establishment is of forty years standing, have been obliged to close their doors and file a petition in bankruptcy.

On Monday evening, the 18th, Spaulding's Swiss Bell Players and Ladies' Cornet Band will give one of their pleasing entertainments at the Temple, in which Miss Georgie Dean Spaulding, the celebrated harp and cornet soloist, will take part. Popular prices. See advertisement.

Capt. O. G. Robinson, of Greenland, having sold his beautiful estate in that town to Mr. Henry L. Garrett of this city, will take up his residence in New Bedford, Mass., where he formerly lived for many years. By Capt. Robinson's removal the town loses a good citizen.

We have heard mention made of Marcellus Eldredge, Esq., as a probable candidate for elector on the democratic ticket. We believe he would strengthen the ticket—and it will need a mighty lot of strengthening in this State before it will amount to much.

Steamer Stamford took a large excursion party from Newburyport to the Shoals on Friday.

By a runaway accident, Thursday, in Dover, Nathan F. Mathes, Esq., of this city, and wife, were somewhat injured, the lady's collar-bone being broken. The horse took fright at the cars.

The usual temperance meeting of the Reform Club will be held at Rechabite Hall to-morrow (Sunday) evening, commencing at half past seven o'clock, when the second lecture of the campaign series will be delivered by Mr. Charles W. Gardner. Subject, "Influence." The hall is filled every Sunday night, and the meetings are increasing in interest nightly. An admission fee of five cents will be charged.

A correspondent of the News Letter, writing from Greenland, says: "The 'Old Brick Mansion,' of which so much has been said in the papers of late years, has undergone a thorough renovation on the outside, giving it almost the appearance of a new house. The walls have been covered with a heavy coating of cement, oil and sand; the inside also has been renovated. This is undoubtedly the oldest house in the State, being over two hundred and fifty years old. Under its present garb it looks quite modern. In this house there resides the seventh, eighth and ninth generations: Robert B. Weeks being the seventh; John W. Weeks the eighth and Charles Hall Weeks (the yeungest) the ninth. Property hardly ever goes beyond the fourth generation, so this proves quite an exceptional case."

Duprez & Benedict's New Orleans Minstrels and Burlesque Opera Troupe will sing in Portsmouth on Tuesday evening, Sept. 26. Their wide-spread and well established reputation is owing to the uniform success and superior talents of the company. They are no imitators, but have struck out a new and original manner and style for themselves. As comic delineators they are unsurpassed and have taken the lead of all other travelling Troupes in the country. They introduce a new system for selling Secured Seats. Their popular prices of admission are 50 and 35 cents. No extra charge for Reserved Seats if bought before the day the Concert is to take place. Reserved Seat Tickets sold six days in advance at 50 cts. each. For sale at the usual place. On the day and evening of the entertainment, Reserved Seat Tickets will be 25 cts. extra as usual. Secure your Reserved Seat Tickets in advance and avoid the extra charge.

We have received from White, Smith & Co., Music Publishers, No. 516 Washington street, Boston, "Murray's Songs for Sunday Schools and Gospel Meetings," by James R. Murray.

The County establishment at Brentwood has 240 inmates—paupers and prisoners. A goodly proportion of the latter are from this city.

The republicans of Ward Four on Friday evening chose as delegates to the Electoral Convention Messrs. William H. Rollins, Oliver H. Locke, William B. Randall and Alonzo Wise.

SURPRISE PARTY.

City Missionary Loyne was surprised on Thursday evening by the Woman's Temperance League, about thirty members of which organization called upon him at his residence, bringing with them some sixty packages of articles useful in housekeeping, including twenty dollars in greenbacks, groceries, etc. The President of the League, Mrs. Philbrick, made a neat and most appropriate address, and the party very pleasantly spent a short time before taking their departure. This donation party was very agreeable to Mr. Loyne, as his first missionary year closed on that evening, and he was not exactly sure that he was coming out with a balance on the right side of his housekeeping ledger, but the generous remembrance of his friends brought it out all right.

NEWCASTLE.

NEWCASTLE, Sept. 15.

A large and enthusiastic meeting of the republicans was held here last evening; a club was organized for Hayes & Wheeler, and the following elected officers of the same:

President—John W. Bickford;
Vice Presidents—N. W. Yeaton, John E. Yeaton, Rufus A. Preble, Jr.;
Secretary—Wm. A. Meloon;
Treasurer—Albert H. White.

An executive committee of sixteen was chosen, viz: Wm. A. Meloon, (Chairman,) Geo. Vennard, N. P. Campbell, J. Mahlon Bickford, M. R. Curtis, J. M. Meloon, John W. Amazeen, Chas. S. Whitehouse, J. K. Card, Benjamin J. Batson, Llewellyn Trefethen, Chas. A. Card, Conrad Push, Leander Garland, Jesse White and James White, 2d.

Immediate steps will be taken to raise a Hayes & Wheeler flag, and such other plans will be set on foot and work done as shall roll up an increased republican majority in this town.

The meeting closed with three rousing cheers for Hayes & Wheeler, and for the officers of the new-formed club, all present believing in the success of the party and principles to which VOTA VITA MEA.

CAPT. JOHN MASON.

We take the following from the Traveller; Several well-known citizens of New Hampshire have contributed funds to defray the expense of a memorial to the memory of Capt. John Mason, founder of that State, in the Church of Domus Dei, in Portsmouth, England. Archdeacon Wright, chaplain of the royal forces on that station, and having present charge of the memorial department in the church, has attended to procuring the memorial and to setting it up. The archdeacon has caused a brass tablet to be set up in the chancel of the church, with the following inscription:

To the glory of God and in memory of Captain John Mason, Captain in the Royal Navy, Treasurer of the Army, Captain of South Sea Castle, Governor of the Cplony of Newfoundland, Patentee and Founder of New Hampshire in America, Vice-Admiral of New England. Born, 1586. Died, 1635.

This faithful Churchman, Devoted Patriot and Gallant Officer, of whom England and America will ever be proud, was buried in Westminster Abbey.

Good Joke on a Wife Poisoner.

The Wilmington (N. C.) Star has the following: An involuntary suicide took place in Alamance county under the following circumstances: A Dr. Hooper, a dentist, living in the northern part of the county, went to the breakfast table prepared to poison his wife, for what reasons we have not learned. They were seated alone at the table. After pouring out the coffee Mrs. Hooper was dispatched out of the room on some pretext, and in her absence the husband poured into her cup a deadly mixture. She returned, and it happened that the doctor himself was called from the room for a moment. In his absence a fly fell into his cup, and Mrs. Hooper, wife-like, exchanged cups. The doctor returned and drank his coffee almost at one swallow. He at once detected the singular taste of the beverage, and asked his wife if she had exchanged cups. She replied that she had, giving her reason for it, when he exclaimed: "Then I am a dead man," and in a few minutes was a corpse.

COOKED
CORNED BEEF.
Articles are being published calculated to prejudice the public against using Cooked Corned Beef, and we would say in answer to them that in no instance has positive proof been established to show that such is the case.
Our goods are packed in a manner very similar to that of Corn, Tomatoes, Fruit and canned goods generally, (which have long been tested) and we use nothing whatever of a poisonous nature in their preparation.
In addition to our own statement we have the strong endorsement of Prof. Hosford of Cambridge, one of the most eminent Chemists in the country, who has fully tested, and is familiar with the entire details of the preparation of our goods.
We would also state that we use none but the choicest of Beef that our Chicago market affords, and trust that with these statements the rapidly growing popularity of our Corned Beef may be increased.
For the information of those not knowing the fact we would state that in the process of canning there is a liability of imperfect sealing, which causes the can to expand. Meat contained in such cans is unfit for use and will be cheerfully paid for when returned to any grocer selling it.

"Hushing" in Montreal.

Montreal is the favorite resort of those who leave the United States for the good of the United States, being so accessible. It is barely two hours from the frontier. Accordingly, hardly one week passes that some American citizen does not put up at the hotels who travels under a false name and in possession of some one else's property. Hence lawyers who effect extradition cases have a large and lucrative practice. Not very long ago there occurred a very scandalous case that, of course, hasn't been made public yet, and won't, in all likelihood. A young man at Boston robbed his employer of some $85,000 worth of jewelry and watches and a considerable sum in cash—$11,000, I believe—and fled to Montreal. His first step was to engage a leading criminal lawyer to defend him, giving him a retainer of $1,000. His employer followed him and consulted a veteran adviser, who said, "Let's go and see his lawyer." They did, and the consultation was held with closed doors. "Now," said the adviser, "this gentleman has been robbed and wants to recover his property. You can make trouble of course, but if you don't so much the better. What did so and so (naming the fugitive) give you?" "A thousand," answered the lawyer. The Boston merchant counted out five crisp new treasury notes of one thousand dollars each, and said: "When he (naming the fugitive) is over at St. Albans in my custody these are yours." "It's a go," said the lawyer, and he trotted over to the hotel where his client was stopping. "See here, my friend," said he, "your employer and a detective are here. Now, if I want to take your money for nothing, I can keep you in jail here for three or four weeks before they can get the necessary papers to extradite you, and put them to a good deal of bother, but you'll have to go at last. If you agree to surrender yourself informally and wave any scandal, I guess you can compromise." His client took his advice, and at 3:30 o'clock that afternoon the thief, the merchant, the lawyer and the detective went to St. Albans together, where the matter was compromised. The lawyer got $6,000 of the stolen money; the detective got some, so did the culprit, the merchant got the remainder and the jewelry, and all was hushed up.—Cor. Chicago Times.

—A London woman with a babe in her arms provoked her husband in some way, and he shied a knife at her. It killed the baby, entering two inches deep into the head. The jury acquitted the father by rendering a verdict of "accidental death," and severely reprimanded the mother for having aggravated her husband. Discipline must be maintained among wives.

PULMOCINE

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lungs trying climate of New England

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Billiousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try your pills. I enclose $1.00.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills. Effected in Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and write you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have no fears I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for regular cure to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the Soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise, so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The improvement here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a celebrated English recipe, and now in daily use by many of the most noted farmers in the Middle Counties around Philadelphia.

In hot weather this Powder makes butter much firmer and sweeter than it would be, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, weeds, corn stalks, cotton seed, etc.; and the increased yield of butter much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

Portsmouth Chronicle.

The Silent Benefactor.

Mr. Cooley suffered a good deal last winter from rheumatism in his breast, and his wife was badly frightened about it for fear it should end in consumption. Mr. Cooley could not be induced to try any remedy for the trouble, and Mrs. Cooley was nearly worried to death about it. At last she determined to try strategy. She made a dry mustard plaster and one night while he was asleep she sewed it upon the inside of his undershirt so that it would just cover the rheumatic place. Cooley dressed himself in the morning, wholly unsuspicious of the presence of the plaster, and went down stairs. At the breakfast table, while he was talking to his wife, he very suddenly stopped, looked cross-eyed, and a spasm of pain passed over his face. Then he took up the thread of the conversation again and went on. He was in the midst of an explanation of the political situation, when all at once he ceased again, grew red in the face, and exclaimed:

"I wonder what in the—no, it can't be wrong."

Mrs. Cooley asked what was the matter, and Cooley said:

"Oh, it is that infernal old rheumatism again—come back awful. But I never felt it exactly the same way before. Kinder stings me." Mrs. Cooley said she was very sorry.

Then Mr. Cooley began again, and was just showing her how the ravages of the grasshopper in the West last summer, and the potato bug in the East would affect the political result next fall by making the people discontented, and so likely to strike at the party in power, when he very suddenly dropped the subject, and jumping up, exclaimed:

"Thunder and lightning, what's that? Ouch! O Moses! I feel as if I had a shovel of hot coals inside my shirt."

"Must be rheumatism, getting worse," said Mrs. Cooley, sympathetically.

"Oh, gracious, no! Its something worse than rheumatism. Feels like fire burning into my skin. Ouch! Ow-wow-wow. It's awful. I can't stand it a minute. I believe it's cholera, or something, and I'm going to die!"

"Do try to be calm, Mr. Cooley."

"Calm! How can a man be calm with a volcano boiling over his shirt. Get out of the way quick, while I go up stairs and undress. Murder-r-r-r, but it hurts. Let me get out quick."

Then he rushed up to the bedroom and stripped off his clothes. His chest was the color of a boiled lobster; but he couldn't for the life of him tell what was the matter. Then his eyes rested on something white on his shirt. He picked up the garment and examined it. Ten minutes later he came slowly down stairs with a dry mustard plaster in his hand, while thunder clothed his brow. Going up to Mrs. Cooley, he shook the plaster under her nose, and said in a suppressed voice:

"Did you put that thing in my clothes?"

"I did it for the best, John," she said. "I thought—"

"Oh, never mind what you thought, you idiot! Never mind what you thought! You've taken the skin clear off my bosom, so that I'm as raw as a sirloin steak, and I'll probably never be well again as long as I live. That let's you out. You play any more tricks like that on me, and I'll put you in the coal bin and keep you there till you starve to death. Now mind me."

Then he slammed the door and went out. Mrs. Cooley doesn't know to this day exactly what effect the grasshoppers are going to have on the Fall elections.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

The Bulgarian Atrocities.

One of the most remarkable documents which have come from the East in relation to the war appeared in the Pall Mall Gazette of August 25, from Hobart Pasha, Admiral of the Turkish navy. Hobart Pasha is an Englishman, who left his own country and entered the Sultan's service, for reasons best known to himself. His letter is as follows:

To the Editor of the Pall Mall Gazette:

SIR—Are the days of fair play over? Is the world to believe that fanaticism is as great among Christians as it is supposed to be among Mohammedans? One certainly would be led to belive such to be the case, judging by the conduct of a certain set of people in Europe, especially in England, who seem to propose a sort of religious crusade against Turkey. I would ask, was a sacred war proposed against Russia when her Generals flogged women at Cracow, when her troops massacred thousands of people and destroyed countless homes in Poland? Was a religious crusade proposed against England when her executive officers blew hundreds of men away from the muzzles of guns in India? against Spain for the many atrocities committed by her troops during the late war? or, lately, against the Christians in the civil war? or, lately, against the Christians in the Herzegovina, when they carried about Turks' heads on poles, when they destroyed everything Mohammedan that came in their way; or in many other instances where civil war has broken out in civilized nations, with all its attending horrors? Civil wars are always terrible; why, then, this exceptional outcry about Turkey? Can it be because the Turks are people of different religion from the rest of Europe? If so, fanaticism has its weight with the charitable people I above referred to. The Bulgarian affair, which was commenced by Christians, egged on by the unscrupulous foreign policy of a great neighbor, has been most shamefully exaggerated for the purpose of exciting a religious outbreak. The atrocities complained of (and justly, I admit, complained of), were committed by mercenary troops who had hastily replaced those of the regular army, the latter having been shortly before sent to the war in the North. The will to commit atrocities was, I venture to say, equal on both sides, but the power rested with the troops of the government, and if that power was sadly abused, the perpetrators of such atrocities have been severely punished. The government were little aware how terrible a weapon they were employing when they sent Bashi-Bazouks and Circassians to stamp out rebellion. I think, however, that it will be found by the independent investigators now examining the case that instead of 20,000, about 4000 lives were lost by this sad affair. Turkey can and will put down the revolt in her northern provinces. Those who think that Turkey will die easily make a great mistake. Christians looking on at the fearful struggle should beware how they arouse the fanaticism of the Turks by action proceeding from their own narrow-mindedness, or they will have much to answer for. A nation that can put from 800,000 to 1,000,000 of men into the field, who will fight to the death for their religion, is not to be despised. At present the war is merely a question of the action of a government against its revolted provinces. Let those who sit at home at ease and make pretty speeches, founded on false reports, take care that they don't excite other feelings which may set in a blaze all Europe—may start into fanatical action the Queen's Indian subjects, and give rise to the greatest disasters. The wily political enemy of Turkey rejoices to see that this unhappy war is becoming a religious war—that a portion of the Christians swallow greedily the lying reports daily and hourly spread. And with the English, especially, ideas formed on the first impression that is made by these rumors are difficult to change, when a month or so after the dispatch of the ambassador or a casual look into the blue book exposes the real truth. I am, sir, yours truly,

HOBART PASHA, Admiral.

CRETE, Aug. 13.

Daily Chronicle.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1876.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

Republican Electoral Conventions.

Republican conventions for the nomination of Hayes and Wheeler Presidential Electors will be held for all the Councilor Districts of the State at Concord, on Thursday, the 21st day of September at 11 o'clock A. M.

Each town and ward will be entitled to twice as many delegates as it sends representatives to the General Court; and all voters who believe that the election of Rutherford B. Hayes and William A. Wheeler will best promote the welfare of the whole country, are invited to join in the selection of such delegates.

The electoral conventions will be followed by a Grand Mass Meeting, which will assemble at 12 M., at the State House, and be addressed by some of the most distinguished republican orators of the United States. Half-fare arrangements will be made with all the railroads, and be announced seasonably.

Let the republicans of the entire State come forth in their strength, and make this what it is confidently expected to be, the largest political gathering ever held in New Hampshire.

DANIEL HALL,
Chairman Republican State Committee.
B. F. PRESCOTT, Secretary.

News and Notes.

The U. S. frigate Franklin sailed from Villa Franca, Italy, for home, on Friday. She will touch at Gibraltar and from there sail direct for Hampton Roads.

Victoria C. Woodhull has obtained a decree of absolute divorce from her husband, Colonel Blood.

Capt. James Brown commanded a company of militia at Bunker Hill, and served all through the Revolutionary War. After it was over he moved to Nova Scotia. Eighteen years ago his grandson, William Edwards, now of Blackstone, Mass., declared his intention to become an American citizen, in the U. S. Court in Providence, R. I.; and on the 13th inst., he took out his final papers and became a citizen, circumstances having prevented his doing it before. We thus have the curious spectacle presented of a lineal descendant of a Bunker Hill patriot becoming an adopted citizen.

An excellent and honored citizen of Louisville was going home one night tipsy, for the first and last time in his life, as he protests, and no doubt truly, when he met Prentice reeling from one side of the walk to the other. "Prentice," exclaimed the elated novice, "I'm drunk!" Staggered anew by this amazing announcement, the veteran slowly drew himself up, with the aid of a neighboring picket, and, surveying his disguised friend, said, severely: "Well, Josh, I have been guilty in my time of many scandalous things, and some outrageous ones, and some mean ones, but thank God, I never was drunk!"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Bridgeport, Conn., was visited by a cyclone Friday morning before daylight. Trees were uprooted and buildings unroofed in the track of the tornado, which was about two hundred yards wide; but no lives were lost.

Orono, Me., had a $50,000 fire on Friday, three large saw-mills being burned.

Nine thousand people were present at Gilmore's Garden, New York, on Friday evening, when the prize-trophy was presented to the American team of riflemen.

Base ball, Friday. Chicagos 9, Bostons 3; St. Louis 6, Hartfords 2; Mutuals 2, Cincinnatis 1; Louisvilles 3, Athletics 0.

Dr. George B. Winship, better known as Professor Winship, the strongest man in the world, died in Boston last week at the age of forty-two.

Baltimore had fifteen cases of yellow fever last week.

Politics.

Charles Francis Adams has formally accepted the democratic nomination for governor of Massachusetts. Mr. Adams cannot be charged with having sought the nomination; Mr. Tilden ordered his nomination to strengthen the democratic party in other States, and the Massachusetts democracy meekly obeyed and threw Gaston overboard. The possibility of Mr. Adams' election is not contemplated by any democrat, no matter what the Boston Post and Springfield Republican may say.

The political fight in Indiana is whether brains or breeches shall be governor of the State; Harrison, the republican candidate, has the brains; and Williams, the democratic candidate, has the breeches—made out of "blue jeans." Williams' claims for public support are that he was an avowed secession sympathizer during the war, is illiterate and boorish, and dresses like a laborer of the poorest class. Harrison was an earnest Union man, and is an educated gentleman.

"I have done more in the State of Maine than any other man ever did," says Bob Ingersoll. "I have made the democratic party pious, pious, pious! and now all the time that they can get between drinks they use in quoting Scripture."

Immense pressure was brought to bear on President Grant to secure the pardon of McKee and Avery, but he refused to move without the recommendation of the prosecuting officers and the Judge. Very heavy pressure was brought to bear on Governor Hayes to secure the commutation of Murphy's sentence, (recently hung for murder,) but he refused to grant it without the recommendation of the prosecuting officers and the Judge. But Tilden secretly pardons and commutes 186 thieves and murderers in one year and a half, and endorses each pardon "Not to be published." He needs their help in his election campaign.

New Hampshire Items.

Two highwaymen robbed a traveller in Bow, of $47, Thursday. The robbers were arrested and locked up in the Suncook lobby, but managed to escape.

The time is not remembered when the water was so low in the Nashua Manufacturing Company's canal as it is at the present time. The steam engine is constantly employed in running the machinery and even then the full time is not made.

The mill of Morse, Kaley & Co., at Milford, although with orders ahead, has been stopped the past week for want of water. Not for sixteen years has the Souhegan been so dry.

Gentile Developement in Utah.

When I say that the non-Mormon population, which did not exceed 1000 in 1869, now numbers at least 15,000, and that four-fifths of these are men, the reader will doubtless feel curious as to the effect on Mormonism. The first effect, of course, was a furious effervescence—a social phenomenon similar to the chemical action when acids rouse a dormant alkali. The Saints (which is the modest self-designation of the Mormons) were the most conservative people in the world, the new comers the most restless and innovating; the Saints complete devotees of a theocracy, the Gentiles furiously democratic; the former perfectly willing to have all their voting done by a priesthood, the latter determined on organizing political parties and discussing public questions as in the communities from which they came. Of course there was trouble. The Mormon Church officials appoint all the Territorial officers, and then have the people elect them by a unanimous vote. Every ballot is marked and numbered, and if, as rarely happens, any Saint votes against the Church ticket, he (or she!) is promptly disciplined. A gentleman who was present and saw it, states that John D. Lee, the butcher of Mountain Meadows, stood at the polls in his town and cast three hundred and fifty votes—for himself and each of his eighteen wives, for his thirty sons and their wives, for his daughters and their husbands, and for all the neighbors who sent their ballots along by him! The Gentiles paid more than half the taxes, but had no voice in the government. The Saints had absolute control of all the courts and juries, and laughed at those who talked of punishing Lee and his fellow-assassins. The first fight of the Gentiles was against the Mormon Probate Courts. In this they were victorious before the Supreme Court of the United States, and now only the United States District Courts have general jurisdiction. But the Saints still have a majority of the jury; so the Mountain Meadows assassins can be brought to trial, but can not be convicted. Meanwhile free speech and a free press were established. Eight years ago we were hedged in at every point. There was literally no safety or liberty for a non-Mormon here, except in silence and submission. Z. Snow, Esq., attorney for the Church, gave notice, in his speech before the United States Court, that if the Mormon Probate Court were not allowed criminal jurisdiction, "streams of blood would flow in the streets of this city." Brigham Young I have repeatedly heard curse every official here, announce that they could only stay by sufferance, and had no legal rights here whatever. The change cost the blood of some good men. Eight years ago we published our little daily paper in the upper story of a stone building, with a hatchway ready to be thrown open at any moment to cut off a mob; and when the editor went out at night he took the middle of the street, and kept his hand on his revolver. Now there is not a valley in Utah so remote but a man may speak, write or print what he pleases, and they dare not touch him. The first Gentile who married a Mormon's "plural" wife was shot dead on Main street. Now such a marriage is as safe in Utah as it would be in Ohio. The first Gentile who ventured to contest a case with the city was brutally murdered by a band of the "secret police." Now such a case can be tried on its merits with perfect safety.

A liberal party has been organized, and cast 5000 votes in 1874; it controls one county and half a dozen towns, and if Congress could only be persuaded to guarantee us a free ballot, would soon have a healthful minority in the legislature. Three things the liberals intend to have, and will keep up the fight till they get them; a free ballot, free trade, and a system of accountability among public officials. But, aside from these, there is an irreconcilable difference between theocracy and republicanism; and no matter how able the officials the President sends to Utah, the trouble will continue all the same till the question as to which is to be paramount is settled. I know many of the young Mormons are delighted with the change; the old ones resist it most stubbornly, and with a great deal of ingenuity. Congress ought to give the Territory an amended jury law and a free ballot, then the minority would hold its own and increase.

As to polygamy, I am sure it is on the decline. Indeed, there has been no subsequent period in Mormon history when there were so many polygamous marriages as from 1852 to 1857. The young people are disgusted with it. One phase of the subject is especially repulsive—the mixture of blood relationship. Some cases within my knowledge have given rise to consanguineous puzzles that will bother the Master in Chancery, if the estates ever get into court.—J. H. BEADLE, in Harper's Magazine for October.

"Blue Jeans" Williams.

The Cincinnati Times has the following "description" of Mr. Jesse D. Williams. He is a difficult man to describe. Abraham Lincoln was an Admirable Chrichton in comparison, and Richard Smith would look like an Apollo Belvedere alongside of him. The English language would never recover from the shock of a detailed and accurate description of his general appearance, and it would take Uncle John Robinson, in his most energetic and capable moments, to properly emphasize his political points and peculiarities. He is as handsome as a black india-rubber baby drawn out to its greatest possible length and itt face pinched out of shape. His head, in shape, is of the sugar-loaf order, and is covered with a short, stumpy growth of bristling iron-gray hair. His only whisker is a little bunch of the same description of hair grown upon his "Adam's apple" and sticking out between the hard, yellow-starched ends of his cotton "side-boards," that serve on each side of his head to support the heavy dew-laps of his enormous ears. His eyes are small, and closely set against the high, narrow bridge of his long, sharp, inquisitive nose. His mouth looks as though it had been put on warm and ran all over the lower part of his face before it got set, and it opens like the opening of navigation in the spring. Looking him full in the face gives one the idea of a narrow loaded hay barge, with broad side sails set, coming down stream with the front cabin doors wide open. His long, lean legs part with each other in disgust at the hips and pursue separate and diverging paths to the knees, when negotiations for a reconciliation are entered into, which takes place finally at the ends of the two great feet, which join each other lovingly, while the heels still remain estranged and keep away from each other as far as possible.

All About the Clouds.

Whenever, on account of some topographic circumstances, the sun heats any locality on the surface of the earth more than the surrounding region, a gentle current or column of heated air rises, and its invisible moisture is condensed into small masses of clouds called cumuli, which spread and produce the mottled appearance commonly known as "mackerel sky." But when, as is frequently the case in summer, a valley, or plain, or island, or any other place, is much more highly heated by the sun than the surrounding region, the heated air over such locality rises more rapidly and with more ascensional momentum, and as it reaches the higher and cooler regions of the atmosphere its moisture is condensed into large rounded volumes of mountain-like masses of cumulus clouds. Such cumulus clouds always precede and characterize a local summer storm or shower.

When the warm horizontal current from the south, as in winter, meets with the cold current from the north it slopes upward over the cooler current, and forms stripes or bands of stratus clouds along the horizon. These stratus clouds indicate to the observer the fact that a warm current is coming northward. When in summer a cool current is moving southward it encounters the warm equatorial or tropical current, which again glides upward and over it and forms horizontal bands of stratus clouds along the upper line of contact, as in winter storms; but in addition, the denser cold air from the north moving with more momentum, will lift up the warm and saturated air from the tropics, and its moisture will be condensed into masses of cumulus clouds banked up against the top of the cold current, and arranged over the horizontal stratus clouds. Thus is produced the combination of cumulo-stratus cloud, which is characteristic of progressive summer storms.

To the tornado cloud produced by a whirl of air, and resembling an inverted cone, Professor Blaisius gives the name of conus, which is both distinctive and appropriate. These four typical classes of clouds—viz.: cumulus, stratus, cumulo-stratus and conus—indicate and characterize the four different classes of storms.—Popular Science Monthly.

A Remedy That Defies Competition.

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters defy competition. Of the host of rival tonics that have cropped up during its long career, not one has gained and retained such a large share of public favor, though many have enjoyed an ephemeral popularity. The reason is this, that whereas many of these medicines were advertised to perform cures of the most startling nature, they have when tested, almost invariably turned out to be of little or no value, while the great invigorant, whose reputation they were intended to rival, has never disappointed those who have placed their confidence in it. It has vindicated in the amplest manner its claims to be considered a positive specific remedy for liver complaint, dyspepsia, malarious fevers, debility, constipation, and numerous other maladies arising from general weakness and disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels.

"Hark, from the tomb a doleful sound." 'Tis the long train of consumptives, going down to untimely graves. They might be saved to earth—cured—by Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam.

SIMPLE AND INEXPENSIVE as it is, GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP is a most efficient remedy for certain obnoxious diseases, to be cured of which those afflicted with them often spend thousands of dollars to no purpose.

HAYES AND WHEELER GUARDS.

There was a large meeting of republicans at the Court House on Friday evening. Hon. Jeremiah F. Hall was called to the chair, and made a capital speech of ten minutes' duration,—the only fault to be found with it was that it was too short. It was then voted to organize a battalion of Hayes and Wheeler Guards, officers being chosen as follows:

Major, Daniel J. Vaughan;
Adjutant, Wm. Russell Foster;
Quartermaster, William H. Sise;
Paymaster, John Laighton.

First Company—Captain, David Urch; 1st Lieut., James E. Ford; 2d Lieut., Henry H. Ham, Jr.

Second Company—Captain, Charles A. Hazlett; 1st Lieut., Jacob H. Haddock; 2d Lieut., Edwin H. Leslie.

Third Company—Captain, George E. Hanson; 1st Lieut., Lorenzo T. Burnham; 2d Lieut., Clarence B. Mason.

Fourth Company—Captain, D. Webster Barnabee; 1st Lieut., Charles W. Gardner; 2d Lieut., Hall Varrell.

The style of uniform was not decided on at this meeting, but will be immediately and the uniforms procured at once. The spirit displayed at the meeting was just about right, and it is evident the republicans of this city do not intend to allow the coming election to run itself or to be run entirely by the democracy.

The republicans have secured the large room on the lower floor of the building on the corner of State and Pleasant streets, beneath the Journal office, and on Saturday men were at work cleaning it out and fitting it for use as the republican headquarters.

A meeting of the Hayes and Wheeler Guards will be held in the republican rooms (as above) this (Monday) evening at half past seven o'clock. All intending to join are requested to be promptly on hand.

JOTTINGS.

This evening, at the Temple, Spaulding's Swiss Bell Players and Ladies' Cornet Band will appear. Miss Georgie Dean Spaulding will play two melodies upon the harp, and sing a third, all at once; she is acknowledged to be one of the greatest harpists that ever graced the stage. Popular prices: see advertisement.

Tickets for reserved seats at the Rudolphsen English Opera Company's entertainment, at the Temple on Wednesday evening, can now be procured at Preston's, price 50 cents each. Mendelssohn's opera, "Son and Stranger," and the comic opera "Box and Cox," will be presented.

Duprez and Benedict's Ministrels will give an entertainment at the Temple on Tuesday evening, Sept. 26th.

The republicans of Ward One on Friday evening elected the following delegates to the Electoral Convention: James W. Emery, George W. Pendexter, Samuel D. Foye, William R. Martin, John Hodgdon, 2d, Richard H. Waldron, Elbridge G. Peirce, Jr., John Pender.

George E. Hodgdon, Esq., who has the temerity to announce himself one of the progressive democracy, and to raise the standard of revolt against the old time Bourbon element of his party, was rebuked by the democratic members of the city government under the lead of Alderman Russell, who manipulated the patronage of the late city fathers. On the occasion of an election of City Solicitor, last week, the name of Mr. Hodgdon was dropped, though he had discharged the duties of his office acceptably, and been one of the most efficient workers in the party, and a new candidate was brought forward. Mr. Hodgdon, it is said, is tired of the dictation of the fossil element of the party, and in common with many others of like sentiment, has joined a club which contains the more vigorous portion of the democracy and will contend for recognition in the councils of the unterrified hereafter. Whether such an entire new departure from time-honored democratic tactics will be suffered to continue, we have our doubts. It is evident, however, that there is a strong under current setting against the patriarchal members of the faithful, who have usually arranged the details of party management, however much a few of the prominent men of the party about town may pretend to ignore it.—Journal, 26th.

The republicans of Ward Three on Saturday evening chose Messrs. Clarence B. Mason and Jacob H. Haddock delegates to the Electoral Convention.

The Philadelphia papers speak in most complimentary terms of the Portsmouth Light Artillery, Capt. Marvin; and the Kearsarge Fife and Drum Band has been very favorably noticed on several occasions. The Philadelphia Times says the company on arriving "marched through the Centennial grounds—making a fine display with their glittering brass helmets, flaming red coats, long swords and accurate movements—and went into encampment on the southern slope of George's Hill, just outside the grounds." The Philadelphia papers all seem to have mastered Capt. Marvin's name, not one of them referring to him as "Geo., "Leo," or "Theo.," as the Boston papers for a long time persisted in doing.

The Kearsarge Mills shut down for two weeks, Saturday night.

Albert R. Hatch, Esq., declines to accept the position on the High School Committee to which he was recently elected.

A special meeting of the Veteran Artillery Association will be held at the armory this (Monday) evening, at 7:30 o'clock, at which a full attendance is earnestly requested, as business of importance is to be acted upon.

POLICE COURT.

Saturday, September 16, before Batchelder, Justice:

John Parks was brought up, charged with having committed an assault on George Woodard. After patiently listening to a lot of contradictory evidence, in which somebody lied magnificently, the Court adjudged the charge not proven and Parks was discharged.

Reporting a Prize Fight.

The reporters at the Goss-Allen prize-fight passed through a season of tribulation and imminent peril that still retains a strong hold upon their remembrances, accompanied by a vivid consciousness that they are not even yet secure from further trouble from the authorities of Kentucky. They had spent most of the night previous to the fight in the evil atmosphere of Eph Holland's place, waiting for the momentarily expected signal for a start to be given by the proprietor of the place, who was the master of ceremonies. It was not until after two o'clock in the morning that the signal was given, and then many of the lawless crowd by whom the reporters were surrounded were fighting. At the Miami railroad station a long train was quickly filled by about four-fifths of the mob, who had no tickets, and by Eph Holland's directions the engineer of this train ran it out fifty miles beyond the place selected for the fight. The reporters and about three hundred persons who had tickets had, however, been privately instructed to wait for a second train, which went out two hours later. One car had been set apart for the representatives of the press. At its door stood Ed Henderson of the Cincinnati Commercial, lantern in hand, to identify the reporters, and with him were a protecting body guard consisting of Jim Glass of Brooklyn, Barney Aaron, and "Red" Leary. Goss was in the reporters' car.

It was at the second ring that the reporters' miseries were begun in earnest. There, in as in the first ring that was pitched, they were squatted under the ropes, but the crowd was more aggressive by this time. The mob not only trampled upon them but snatched their note books from them and finally tossed them over the ropes into the ring. Meanwhile, the fighters in the ring were continuing their operations upon each other with blithe indifference to everything else, jumping, dodging and prancing hither and thither, and aside from devotion to duty, the reporters had to keep a sharp lookout to escape the long sharp spikes in the soles of the pugilists' shoes.

After the fight the train was divided into two parts. In the foremost was Allen, weeping and cursing Eph Holland. With him were his friends. In the other train, over a mile in the rear, were Goss and his friends and the reporters. About seven miles from Covington a man on the track flagged the train and said:

"They've took in everybody but me on that first train, and the best thing you fellers can do is to get off and skip through the woods, if you don't want to get the grand bounce."

Then everybody in the train made a mad rush for the friendly shelter of the woods. Joe Goss' eyes were so swollen that he could scarcely see, he was so stiff and sore that he could hardly walk, and his lips were so swollen that he could not swear. His friends seized him by the arms and rushed him along with the reporters at his heels. They dashed over the brow of a little hill, down into a little valley, and thence they saw at a distance of probably a mile and a half the military marching off a crowd of captives to prison. Across the valley and up another hill the reporters ran. At the top they paused, for before them advancing at a double-quick, they descried another body of infantry. Thereat the reporters redoubled their speed toward Covington and the Suspension Bridge. Mile after mile glided from beneath their nimble feet. At length they entered the town.

"Don't go to the bridge. The police and sojers are there waitin' to gobble ye," was the warning from a friend in Covington. Then the reporters scattered into stores, private houses, saloons, tobacco shops—everywhere, in short, to hide their heads. For an hour or two they lay quiet, taking breath, and learning, to their increasing terror, that the laws of Kentucky were even more severe upon the reporters of a prize fight than upon the fighters themselves. Meantime, Johnny Dwyer got a skiff in the Licking river and rowed Goss over to Cincinnati. Ed Henderson went to Newport, hoping to get across the river from there unsuspected, but was seized and put in jail. At length some farmers' wagons were procured. The reporters took off their coats, vests, and neckties, tucked their pantaloons in their boots, scattered some hay seed in their hair, and, looking as bucolic as possible, rode down to the bridge, one or two at a time, in the guise of farmers' hired men. The bridge was guarded, but the disguised reporters passed without exciting suspicion, and in a few minutes more were clamoring for the wires in the Cincinnati telegraph offices.

Color of Riflemen's Eyes.

There has not been a better opportunity to observe the peculiarities of marksmen, for there have not been five such teams together before. A marked peculiarity is the eye. It has been said that the best shots are blue-eyed. Observations at Creedmoor show that this is true in a great measure, and show that it may be put down as an axiom that the best shots have light eyes. The Irishmen have two men, Ward and Dyas, whose eyes are rather dark, but Ward's are hazel, a good color among riflemen, and Dyas has dark gray. The rest of the team have blue or gray eyes. Lieutenant Fenton, who, yesterday, made a total of 211 out of 225, has eyes of "Irish blue," that can see wonderfully well. There is not a dark-eyed man in the Scotch team, if Boyd be excepted, and his are dark gray. Dr. Mitchell, of the team, gives it as his experience that the best shots have light eyes. Judge Gildersleeve has light hazel eyes. "They are as good as a telescope," said one of the riflemen. Fulton's eyes are as blue as the sky, and Farwell's are a little lighter. Dakin has blue eyes, and Colonel Bodine splendid gray eyes. Allen, who shoots remarkably well, has blue eyes. Rathbone's are gray, as are Weber's. The Australians all have light eyes, blue, gray and light hazel. The Canadians are darker-eyed as a team, but there are no black eyes there.

The "far away," steady look of the best marksman is noticeable. When they look at an object they "look at it," no "glance at it." And they are all quiet, reserved, self-contained gentlemen. Rifle-shooting seems to be one of the "gentle arts," judging from the quiet gentlemen who excel in it.—N. Y. Sun.

COOKED

CORNED BEEF.

Articles are being published calculated to prejudice the public against using Cooked Corned Beef, and we would say in answer to them that in no instance has positive proof been established to show that such is the case.

Our goods are packed in a manner very similar to that of Corn, Tomatoes, Fruit and canned goods generally, (which have long been tested) and we use nothing whatever of a poisonous nature in their preparation.

In addition to our own statement we have the strong endorsement of Prof. Hosford of Cambridge, one of the most eminent Chemists in the country, who has fully tested and is familiar with the entire details of the preparation of our goods.

We would also state that we use none but the choicest of Beef that our Chicago market affords, and trust that with these statements the rapidly growing popularity of our Corned Beef may be increased.

For the information of those not knowing the fact we would state that in the process of canning there is a liability of imperfect sealing, which causes the can to expand. Meat contained in such cans is unfit for use and will be cheerfully paid for when returned to any grocer selling it.

Tweedledee.

The New York Sun has some gossip about Boss Tweed and his reported capture. It says:

An ex-Alderman who was encountered walking about the corridors of the City Hall said: "Depend upon it, it's all true. It's a job put up by the people in power to defeat Tilden. The bargain is that Tweed shall be brought back, arraigned again before Noah Davis, his bail is to be reduced to a nominal sum, and he will then tell such stories about the corrupt bargains between himself and Tilden as will create such an immense excitement right on the eve of the election as will do Tilden serious injury, and at so late a day that the damage cannot be repaired in time to be of any service. It's fixed, believe me."

Another well-known ward politician said: "Don't you believe a word of it. Tweed is much nearer the City Hall than he is to Spain. He sets his watch every morning by the clock in the Tall Tower. Twenty men at least in this building and the Court House can put a finger on him at any time, with twenty-four hours' notice."

"Why don't they do it, then, and claim the large reward?" was asked.

"Because," was the answer, "Tweed has a little book, and in it are many names, and following these names are many funny stories, and if any of the knowing ones should 'give the old man away,' he would read from that little book the story relating to that particular man, and he would have to 'light out,' as abruptly as the Boss did some months ago."

The Narrow Seat.

Some time ago there lived in a certain city a young gentleman and lady who, for convenience sake, we will call Ned and Kitty. They were frequently seen together exhibiting unmistakable evidences of a tender attachment which was fast leading them toward the vortex of matrimony. Buggy riding was a favorite pastime with the young lovers, and there was scarcely a woodland glen or a prairie flower for miles around that did not, at some time, witness their happy love-making, as they rode by or stopped a moment to bill and coo and exchange vows. When the young man wanted a buggy, he invariably wrote about as follows to the livery man:

Mr. Mc.—. Please send the narrow seated buggy to my door at 5 P. M., and oblige, yours, NED.

P. S.—If you can't send the narrow seated buggy, don't send any. NED.

In course of time they were married, and a few weeks after the event transpired, Ned presented himself at Mc's office and told him that he wished to take Mrs. Ned to the country for a few days' recreation, and desired him to get ready a buggy.

"All right, old boy; I'm glad to see you around again, and I can let you have your favorite buggy."

"Which?"

"Why, the narrow seated rig, of course."

"Never mind it, Mc; that one will do," and he pointed to a buggy that two persons could have sat in with about a yard's space between them.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

—USE—

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 23, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all you claim for them and are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 20, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I know in a month I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would hit so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of them. I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, 75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic C. ndition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

TROS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 16. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier of the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decayed, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

SURNAMES.

Men once were surnamed for their shape or estate,
(You all may from history worm it,)
There was Louis the Bulky and Henry the Great,
John Lackland, and Peter the Hermit;
But now, when the door-plates of misters and dames
Are read, each so constantly varies
From the owner's trade, shape, and calling, surnames
Seem given by the rule of contraries.
Mr. Wise is a Dunce, Mr. King is a Whig,
Mr. Coffin's uncommonly sprightly,
And huge Mr. Little broke down in a gig
While driving fat Mrs. Golightly.
At Bath, where the feeble go more than the stout,
(A conduct well worthy of Nero,)
Over poor Mr. Lightfoot, confined with the gout,
Mr. Heavyside danced a bolero.
Miss Joy, wretched maid, when she chose Mr. Love,
Found nothing but sorrow await her;
She now holds in wedlock, as true as a dove,
That fondest of mates, Mr. Hayter.
Mr. Oldcastle dwells in a modern-built hut,
Miss Sage is of mankind the archest:
Of all the queer bachelors Cupid e'er cut,
Old Mr. Younghusband's the starchiest.
Mr. Child, in a passion, knocked down Mr. Rock,
Mr. Stone like an aspen-leaf shivers;
Miss Pool used to dance; but she stands like a stock
Ever since she became Mrs. Rivers.
Mr. Swift hobbles onward, no mortal knows how,
He moves as though cords had entwined him;
Mr. Metcalf ran off upon meeting a cow,
With pale Mr. Turnbull behind him.
Mr. Baker's as mute as a fish in the sea,
Mr. Miles never moves on a journey;
Mr. Gotobed sits up till half after three,
Mr. Makepeace was bred an attorney.
Mr. Gardner can't tell a flower from a root,
Mr. Wild with timidity draws back,
Mr. Ryder performs all his journeys on foot,
Mr. Foot all his journeys on horseback.
Mr. Penny, whose father was rolling in wealth,
Consumed all the fortune his dad won;
Large Mr. Le Fever's the picture of health;
Mr. Goodenough is but a bad one;
Mr. Crutchfunk slept into three thousand a year
By showing his leg to an heiress;
Now I hope you'll acknowledge I've made it quite clear,
Surnames ever go by contraries.

Two Vessels' Crews Murdered.

The schooner Dancing Wave arrived at Sydney, from the Solomon Group, July 4, with the news of a massacre that had been perpetrated by the South Sea natives, Captain Harrison and all hands, excepting one, on board the Dancing Wave, having been murdered. On the 22d of April last the Dancing Wave called at Florida Island to obtain native labor for Somerset. Natives were engaged and brought on board, and there were also others who had received tomahawks and other articles from the Captain in barter. Without warning, the natives rose upon the crew, attacking them with tomahawks. Captain Harrison was almost instantly killed, together with some of his crew, while the chief officer and steward, after being wounded, reached the cabin, where they shot themselves. A seaman named Broad (or Boerd) jumped overboard, and got to Sayau, forty miles off, in a boat, when the vessel was recovered by the crew of the bark Sydney, and it was then found that the natives had plundered her. It is said that the natives took two heads and one body ashore. Broad, before escaping, shot several of his assailants, and several natives from another island, engaged on board, were also killed.

Subsequent to the receipt of this intelligence, Commodore Hoskins received a communication from Consul Layard, at Noumea, dated June 17, to the effect that he had just heard from Captain Lind, owner of the Laura Lind, that he fell in with the Rev. Mr. Inglis, in the missionary vessel Dayspring, who reported that an English vessel from Queensland had run ashore at Tanna, at a place called Vagoos; that the crew fired at the natives, who attacked them in return, burned the vessel, then killed and ate the crew. Captain Lind has been in Port Resolution, and he says that all the natives who came in agreed as to the destruction of the vessel and her crew. —Melbourne (Australia) Argus.

Angling for Eyeless Fish.

At the Dickinson place, on Bullard Creek, near Six-Mile Station, is a 10-acre field which is nothing more nor less than a subterranean lake, covered with soil about 18 inches deep. On the soil is cultivated a field of corn which will produce 30 or 40 bushels to the acre. If any one will take the trouble to dig a hole to the depth of a spade-handle they will find it to fill with water, and, by using a hook and line, fish four and five inches long can be caught. These fish are different from others, in not having either scales or eyes, and are perch-like in shape. The ground is a black marl, alluvial in its nature, and, in all propability it was at one time an open body of water, on which has accumulated vegetable matter, which has been increased, from time to time, until now it has a crust sufficiently strong and rich to produce fine corn, though it has to be cultivated by hand, as it is not strong enough to bear the weight of a horse. While nooning, the field hands catch strings of delicate fish by merely punching a hole through to the water. A person raising on his heel and coming down suddenly can see the growing corn shake all around him. Any one having the strength to drive a rail through this crust will find on releasing it that it will disappear entirely. The whole section of country surrounding this field gives evidence of marshiness, and the least shower of rain produces abundance of mud. But the question comes up, Has not this body an outlet? Although brackish, the water tastes as if fresh, and we have no doubt but that it is anything else than stagnant. Yet these fish are eyeless and scaleless—

similar to those found in caves. It is a subject for study; and we would like to have some of our "profound" citizens to investigate.—Monigomery (Ala.) Bulletin.

Daily Chronicle.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1876.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

Republican Electoral Conventions.

Republican conventions for the nomination of Hayes and Wheeler Presidential Electors will be held for all the Councilor Districts of the State at Concord, on Thursday, the 21st day of September at 11 o'clock A. M.

Each town and ward will be entitled to twice as many delegates as it sends representatives to the General Court; and all voters who believe that the election of Rutherford B. Hayes and William A. Wheeler will best promote the welfare of the whole country, are invited to join in the selection of such delegates.

The electoral conventions will be followed by a Grand Mass Meeting, which will assemble at 12 M., at the State House, and be addressed by some of the most distinguish republican orators of the United States. Half-fare arrangements will be made with all the railroads, and be announced seasonably.

Let the republicans of the entire State come forth in their strength, and make this what it is confidently expected to be, the largest political gathering ever held in New Hampshire. DANIEL HALL,

Chairman Republican State Committee.

B. F. PRESCOTT, Secretary.

Editorial Peccilloes.

AURORA, ILL., Sept. 14.

With the close of the campaign in New England by the elections in Vermont and Maine, the political contest is transferred to the West; and if the Tilden democracy have no better luck in Indiana than in the East, the Presidential question is already practically settled. Vermont did handsomely with her 23,000 and more republican majority, and Maine spoke most earnestly in the unexpected 15,000 majority, following the meagre 4000 of last year. And yet with such orators as James G. Blaine and Robert G. Ingersoll to arouse the latent enthusiasm of the Pine Tree State, it is not to be wondered at that the grand old State so emphatically reiterated her belief in the principles upheld so continuously for a score of years.

THE CAMPAIGN

in the West is in full blast, with the democracy discouraged at the imbecility of their New York brethren, and the republicans jubilant over the recent election returns, and aggressively forcing the fighting. With New York practically abandoned to the republican State and National tickets along with the large majority of hard money States, the Western democracy are becoming more and more convinced that they would have been stronger before the people with straight-out soft money nominees and an unambiguous platform. Your true Western democrat is not a hard money man by instinct, and appears so only for policy. He undoubtedly has ninety per cent. of conviction that although the interest on the public debt must be paid in coin, the principal should be paid in greenbacks. When more than fifty per cent. of his convictions have been temporarily suspended, hidden or smothered for policy's sake and the policy fails to win, the revulsion of feeling he undergoes is simply natural, although he is inwardly and outwardly as thoroughly disgusted as any gourmand with the remnants of a feast.

THE WESTERN DEMOCRACY

now regret the nomination of Tilden and firmly believe that with ancient William Allen at the head of the ticket they could have won the Presidency. That amount of lacteal fluid having been hopelessly spilled, their next is only a forlorn desire, but eminently practicable in their way of thinking. One can hardly realize the extent of the feeling in favor of a of the government until he has mingled with the people of the West. And yet the West suffers less than the East by the business depression. The soft money "heresy" permeates a large percentage of the republican party in the three great States of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, which cast 58 electoral votes. With these central Western States detached from the republican column, Governor Hayes would lack five votes of an election to the Presidency were every other Northern and Western State and South Carolina to vote for him. New York with its 35 electoral votes would be powerless to name the President unless it should unexpectedly choose anti-republican electors.

CHANGE IN THE FINANCIAL POLICY

THE STRUGGLE

for the ascendency in the democratic ranks is a constant one. The hard money element has been on trial and has lost ground steadily since it culminated in Tilden's nomination. Demoralization immediately set in, and every step taken since leads toward the inflation camp. The true democrat desires above all things success. He has longed for it, hoped for it, expected it confidently, and almost prayed for it. He has been fed so long on vegetables that the scent of meat haunts his nostrils as the cookery does a half-famished vagrant. The two-edged instrument drawn on an indulgent public at St. Louis had nothing for a sheath except democratic palms and digits, which the effort to withdraw while in a state of rust wounded at each edge. The success of democracy of the modern variety on the hard money tack is no longer furnishing inspiration to the meat hunters, and if Governor Hayes' defeat can be accomplished they care not how it is brought about.

NOW COMES

the mooted proposition for a change of base, and the worthy disciples of the greenback creed see themselves the leaders in a new movement. Their feeling is beginning to display itself. Tilden cannot be elected—let him be withdrawn. Make the South and the States of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois the battle-ground. Withdraw your Tilden electoral candidates and unite on Peter Cooper. If any democrat thinks the plan not feasible let him watch for the October elections. The attitude of the soft money men is that of a strategic character. They desire Ohio to choose the republican State ticket, and their energies are to be concentrated on Indiana to prevent a republican victory there by encouraging republicans to vote the independent ticket; the democratic intention, as now appears, being to withdraw the Tilden electoral ticket and go over en masse to the Peter Cooper organization, which already boasts of more than 100,000 members. With a sudden change of base, they hope in the event of the defeat of Gen. Harrison, the republican nominee for Governor of Indiana, to project a campaign for soft money in the adjoining States for the remaining four weeks of the Presidential campaign which they confidently trust may sweep away all obstacles and carry them triumphantly through. If Gen. Harrison shall be elected, however, their schemes will prove futile, and all accounts go to show that Indiana will be fought for on the part of the republicans as never before. Messrs. Ingersoll and Blaine make their appearance there on the stump next week.

Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 13.

Evangelist Dana, of the New York Sun, who stands in a pastor relation to the New York city democracy, jointly with the editor of the World, is sorely distressed lest the atheistic tendencies of Colonel "Bob" Ingersoll's views may corrupt and lead captive some of the followers of his party, who are not well rooted and grounded in the faith; and both he and the World man yesterday took occasion to point out the dangerous character of Mr. Ingersoll, (who, the evening previous, addressed one of the largest and most enthusiastic political gatherings ever assembled in the empire city,) and to exhort the democratic hearers of his masterly speech to steadfastness in the name of "Tilden and reform."

The same papers, with a forced facetiousness of manner refer to the probable return of the "Boss" to the scene of his gigantic robberies in the interests of democracy and reform; but their apprehensions of trouble from this source to the great "reformer," are apparent in every line.

The Sun dismisses the result of the Maine election with the statement that the returns are too incomplete to justify a comparison with the vote of former years; and the World concludes that "if the democratic gain has not been so marked as to warrant hopes of carrying Maine two months hence, it is sufficient to show that even in radical strongholds the democrats are unfaltering'y aggressive and fight none the less gallantly because they have no chance of winning a victory at home, though they contribute to the encouragement and assistance of their comrades at other points along the line." The truth is that no single event of the present campaign has so brought home to every intelligent democrat in this city the disastrous defeat awaiting them next November, as the Maine election has done.

Tilden's record during the war; his intimate relations with Tweed and his gang of thieves; the exposures of the New York Times touching his fraudulent practices in regard to his income tax returns; the revolutionary character of the utterances of the Southern democratic press; the murders of political opponents already accomplished in the South, and the wholesale slaughter advocated; the nomination for the highest offices of participants in these outrages or those who encourage and approve of them, and the silence of Tilden and his managers relative to this Ku-Klux method of conducting the campaign, have all contributed to arouse the masses of the country who espoused the Union cause in 1861, to the perils involved by a democratic restoration in 1877.

From every section of the country where the campaign has been vigorously inaugurated comes the intelligence that it is a hand to hand fight between those who fought for or sympathized with the Union, and those who actively sought its destruction by service in the rebel armies or cowardly plotted to the same purpose by inciting draft riots, interposing legal obstacles to the reinforcement of our armies, conspiring to liberate rebel prisoners, organizing and arming Knights of Golden Circles and other treasonable conspirators, intriguing to involve the Government in a foreign war and inviting rebel invasion.

As there were but two classes recognized in this country, from 1861 to 1865—its friends or its enemies—it is held that Mr. Tilden and Mr. Hendricks must have stood with one or the other; and it argues very badly for both that not one single act during that period can be satisfactorily pointed to, identifying them as patriots. Long and labored speeches and newspaper articles have been deemed necessary by the democratic leaders in order to explain away utterances which at the time were held to be incompatible with patriotic sentiments designs, and these vindications have fallen upon incredulous ears.

The evidences of a general revival of business multiply upon every hand. A buoyancy of feeling is reported in business circles to which they have been strangers since the panic of 1873. Mills that have been idle for months have recently started up and are running on full time. Operators in some instances are reported to have voluntarily increased the wages of their employes, increased prices of their products justifying the advance. The tumble in coal has given gratifying impetus to manufacturing business of all kinds, and has been an immense relief to railroads. Crops are more abundant than for many years; and the thousands of intelligent business men visiting Washington every week from East, West and South all bear witness to the improvement noticed in their sections of the country.

Secretary Morrill is receiving the commendations of intelligent men for his eminently satisfactory administration of the Treasury Department. His success with the new loan, it is claimed, vindicates the high estimate of his abilities by the President; and he has apparently won the confidence of the country during the few weeks of his incumbency.

The arrest of Tweed creates some dismay in certain circles; but it is probably devoid of any political significance. Still the Boss may be tempted to make some damaging statements in retaliation for the many hard things said against him by his ungrateful pals. MAXWELL.

"Bartering Pardons for Votes."

The New York World has stated that "in Pennsylvania Gov. Hartranft is strongly suspected of bartering pardons for votes." The truth is that Gov. Hartranft has no power to grant pardons except upon the written recommendations of at least three members of the Board of Pardons, which is and has been composed of two republicans and two democrats since Jan. 1, 1874. All the talk in the democratic newspapers about pardoning Molly Maguires for political purposes is unfounded. The new Constitution, which went into effect two and a half years ago, contains this salutary provision for the composition of the Board of Pardons. Further, Gov. Hartranft has signed the warrants for the execution of the convicted Molly Maguires, who are to be hanged early in October.

But in the State of New York the pardoning power is vested solely in the Governor; and Governor Tilden has improved it immensely, in pardoning or commuting the sentences of one hundred and eighty-six of the very worst classes of criminals in a year and a half, and restoring to citizenship seventy burglars, thieves, violators of women, etc. Does the World "strongly suspect Gov. Tilden of bartering pardons for votes?"

New Hampshire Items.

Mr. Daniel D. Dodge was ordained as an Evangelist to the South, at Nashua on Sunday.

John V. Barron has been appointed a trustee of the New Hampshire Asylum for the Insane, vice Hon. Josiah Minot, resigned.

A two-story building at East Rochester, owned by Eli Blaisdell, was burned on Saturday. Insured $3000. Fire supposed incendiary.

Political.

The Hayes and Wheeler Battalion of Boston Highlands had a street parade on Friday night, and when entering their armory on their return were brutally assailed by a crowd of Tilden and reform roughs, with stones and other dangerous missiles. Several of the republicans were injured, one named Kelly being knocked senseless and probably fatally hurt. The "Missippi plan" of electioneering has never seemed so popular among the northern democrats as during this "Tilden and reform" campaign, in which all the rowdies and scoundrels in the country appear to be engaged heart and soul, judging from the unusual number of unprovoked and brutal assaults on republican meetings and processions occurring all over the country.

John F. Duncombe, of Iowa, who was the candidate for Lieutenant Governor on the democratic ticket with General Tuttle, for Governor, has signified his intention to vote for Hayes and Wheeler.

The lady that Mr. Tilden proposes to marry is the widow of Captain David H. Todd, who, during the war, was the commander of Libby Prison. He died in Huntsville, Ala., about 1869.—Louisiana State Register.

Captain John Greenville McNeil, a noted Texan pioneer, and one of the little squad which captured Santa Anna, after San Jacinto, as he was creeping on all fours through the tall-bladed grass, died recently at an advanced age.

The democrats are evidently terribly frightened lest Boss Tweed should peach on his old pal, Tilden, as they announce that Tweed's capture just at this time is a republican trick, and that Tweed is to surrender $1,000,000 and then be allowed to go clear on condition that he implicates Tilden as a participant in and adviser of the Ring robberies. Per contra, the republicans assert that there is no political significance whatever in Tweed's capture.

Centennial Christian Homes.

This arrangement to provide for Centennial visitors to Philadelphia good accommodations at low rates in private families, is proving quite a success. By letter or in person, from five hundred to one thousand persons are daily seeking for assignment to a home. As accommodations are thus offered for twenty thousand people, churches, Sunday-schools, and other large parties are being provided for in houses adjacent to each other. Near one thousand of these homes are along the steam car routes by which the Exposition is reached in from ten to twenty minutes for about eight cents. As prices for board range from $5 to $14 a week, and from $11 to $2.50 a day, all classes are suited, and the comforts and convenience of a home enjoyed. Rev. Edwin M. Long superintends this movement. Apply by letter or in person at his Office, S. E. corner of Twelfth and Berks streets, Philadelphia, Penn. The Office is directly east of the Exhibition—is open day and night, and can be easily reached by street-cars from any Depot.

A Remedy That Defies Competition.

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters defies competition. Of the host of rival comics that have cropped up during its long career, not one has gained and retained such a large share of public favor, though many have enjoyed an ephemeral popularity. The reason is this, that whereas many of these medicines were advertised to perform cures of the most startling nature, they have when tested, almost invariably turned out to be of little or no value, while the great invigorant, whose reputation they were intended to rival, has never disappointed those who have placed their confidence in it. It has vindicated in the amplest manner its claims to be considered a positive specific remedy for liver complaint, dyspepsia, malarious fevers, debility, constipation, and numerous other maladies arising from general weakness and disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels.

The new Atlas Hotel, Philadelphia, Pa., has the most superior location of all the Centennial hotels near the grounds.

"Hark, from the tomb a doleful sound." 'Tis the long train of consumptives, going down to untimely graves. They might be saved to earth—cured—by Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam.

SIMPLE AND INEXPENSIVE as it is, GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP is a most efficient remedy for certain obnoxious diseases, to be cured of which those afflicted with them often spend thousands of dollars to no purpose.

Flashing in their pearly sheen,
From the glorious coraline,
See those teeth untarnished!
White alike, the back and front.
Yes, by the Fragrant Sozodont,
May beauty's mouth be garnished.

Spalding's Glue mends Headless Dolls, &c.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot.
